B-13 wins $10,000 for Princeton Resident

Sharon Usher of Princeton won $10,000 on a BONUS BINGO Scratch and Win lottery ticket.

Ushers explains, "I was watching TV when I scratched my ticket. All I needed for $10,000 was B-13.... it was the last number I scratched. I've never won anything on my own before, it was a nice surprise."

The news was shared with her husband, Arnie and many friends and relatives.

Plans for the windfall include purchasing a computer.

The lucky ticket was purchased at the Ouick Pick Grocery in Princeton.

CRASH KILLS NE, INJURES TWO MORE

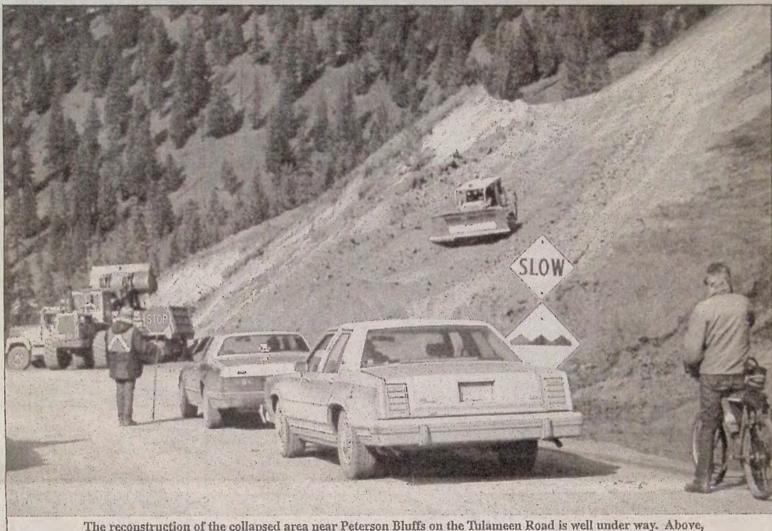

Larry Allison was pronounced dead at the scene of a motor vehicle accident in Cawston on Saturday, March 14. Keremeos police were called to the crash site at the junction of Barcelo Road and Highway 3 at 3:25 p.m. Three men were found outside the vehicle.

Dean Terbasket of Hedley and Shaun Turcotte of Keremeos were taken by ambulance to Penticton Regional Hospital for treatment. Their injuries were not believed to be life-threatening.

Vandals hit news stand, car wash

On Sunday, March 15, at 8:00 m., police received a complaint at two young males were attempting to break into a news stand at the bus depot. They were unsuccessful, but damaged the stand. The males appeared to be late teens. One wore a dark hooded sweatshirt with a dark ball cap. They were seen driving a red hatchback.

An hour later, police received a report of vandalism at Willy's Car Wash on Bridge Street. Cash boxes were stolen. The same type of tool appears to have been use and police believe the two incidents may be related. Anyone having information related to these events, please contact Princeton RCMP or Crimestop-

The reconstruction of the collapsed area near Peterson Bluffs on the Tulameen Road is well under way. Above, Linda English flags traffic as Jim Thomas pushes road - building material to be loaded into dump trucks. Controlled traffic will continue until the project is complete.

Thomas predicts Trade Show success

Lyle Thomas, Chair of the Princeton Trade Show committee, predicts this year's show will be jam-packed and sold out.

"The secret of the success of this show is the professionalism," Thomas says.

Vancouver Display is a company dealing in trade show organization. For the past two local trade shows, Vancouver Display has set up the arena floor like a convention centre, and Thomas is pleased with their work.

This year, floor space will be organized to provide more corner booths. The stage will be in a different location, diagonally opposite the entrance.

"This is better for the exhibitors," Thomas says, "We want our show to be exhibitor-friendly."

Making exhibitors feel at home includes a courtesy cart service before and during the show, offering exhibitors coffee, juice, donuts and other snacks as they work their booths.

The Trade Show is a fundraiser for the Chamber of Commerce, and a rental for the arena, but it provides a forum for local businesses to present their products.

Chamber members pay a reduced fee for floor space. For members, the fee for a 10'X 10' booth is $225, or $250 for a corner, and a discount for multiple booths.

Non-members pay $235 for an inside booth, $260 for a corner booth, and receive a discount for multiple booths. Space outside the arena is available for $110 per vendor, regardless of the space required.

The show provides 24 hour security service.

Potential trade show participants receive a package that tells about the show and promotes Princeton. Prior exhibitors will receive their packages first. A week later, packages go out to potential new participants.

The deadline for booking space is April 15. Anyone interested in participating in the trade show may obtain a package at the Chamber of Commerce office in Princeton, visit or call 295-3103, or fax 295-3255, or write to Box 540, Princeton, B.C. VOX 1W0.

funding for education is a bonus.

Premier Glen Clark announced March 12 that education in B.C. would receive a $93 per pupil increase in funding over last year.

"I think it's good news, a good news budget for education. As school boards, we've been pushing the point of view that when you have increased enrolment, inflation, and contractual obligation costs, you can't sustain the level of funding that was there before," Comeau stated.

Gordon Comeau says the new better than it really is. Last year, the government allocation per pupil was cut $43 per pupil. The Nicola-Similkameen Board Chair While the news is good, it sounds $93 increase makes up for the loss, with a little extra, but the district expects to lose further money on a special education grant as a result of amalgamation.

"We still anticipate some increase," Comeau says, "We shouldn't see any reduction in services, and there could be more flexibility."

The increase amounts to $270,000, but the amalgamation reductions knock back the budget gain to $180,000, not a big gain in a multi-million dollar school district budget.

Local Man Loves wood

Reg Linder loves the smell and feel of wood. He has done woodworking for 50 years and has gained some fame due to his clock with wooden gears, featured in B.C. Report Magazine in January.

Linder started building his first wooden clock six months ago. He has another started. The timing needs careful adjustment, as wooden gears do not work quite the same way as metal gears. Linder says he must adjust the clock regularly, and has been fine-tuning the clockworks.

Linder knows of only one other person who makes clocks with wooden gears, an American man who lives in the midwest.

Annual Fair set for April

Education is the goal of the 47th Family Fair. The annual fair raises bursary money for Princeton Secondary School graduates who plan to continue their education.

The Family Fair is a community event, a huge flea market featuring games, bake sales, white elephant tables, plant sales, books, and recordings. Students sell hot dogs, popcorn, drinks, and goodies in a tea in the cafeteria.

There will be a baking contest in the schools, and the products will be sold at the bake table. A Mystery Table offers prizes in sealed bottles.

Sometimes there is money bread (bread baked with money in it) if volunteer bakers can be found.

Convenor Lynn Willis says, "In the past, we have had wonderful support from community members who no longer have students in the schools."

Willis is referring to numerous people who volunteer to set up tables, sort goods, pick up goods for delivery to the school, and who act as salespeople during the

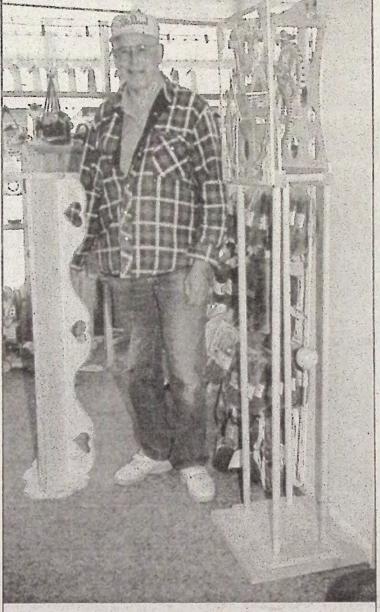

The fair begins in PSS gym at 1:00 p.m., Thursday, April 30, and goes on until 4:00 p.m.

For the fifth year, the Family Fair will feature a "Taste of Princeton" raffle. The winner receives gift certificates to most of the eating stablishments in Princeton Games for youngsters include a "cake walk", which is something like musical chairs. Winners receive a cake! Other games are geared to elementary and intermediate age groups.

There is one item not sold at the Family Fair: old clothes. All other items people wish to donate will be gladly accepted.

Anyone wishing to volunteer their help for the fair may contact Lynn Willis, evenings, 295-7345.

Reg Linder displays some of his woodwork, a shelf and a clock with wooden gears on display at Happy Crafters.

Paris comes to Princeton

The fashion runways in Paris have discovered the beauty of the "western" look. Fashions for spring and summer in Paris will include cowboy shirts and jeans. The designers in New Mexico and Arizona anticipate making more money this year as demand for their products soars.

Most of the New York designers have gone for the slim, simple styles of the 1970s, although one New York designer has identified the Paris trend with a cowboy shirt styled dress.

In the real west, designers like the tiered skirt of broomstick cotton, in southwest colours such as sand, straw, stone, ochre, and rust, as well as Aztec colours: pure reds, purples, yellows, indigo, and every shade of orange.

Both Paris and the real west like the yoke shirt, but Paris has discovered fringes, silver jewelry, and all of the traditional decorative touches that make western fashion so interesting.

In our little corner of the world, we can say world fashion has finally caught up with us. As the Europeans go western, we can enjoy the idea of high fashion on he jeans scene, Cowboy fashion has always been exciting, colourful, and comfortable. The appeal of western fashion is its durability. Western wear grew out of the need for common sense clothing that looks good but is practical, durable and meant to be worn to work in any weather.

With Princeton Rodeo Club promoting a "western pride" week in May, perhaps we will see some real western pride in the high fashion look out of Paris.

School Trustees hear Proposal

Connor Clarke, a retired teacher working on behalf of Gold Trail School District, presented a new concept to school trustees on March 12. Clarke has been working on the idea of mobile learning laboratories for small secondary schools. The mobile labs could be used at one school one part of the year, then go on to another school.

The goal is to equalize opportunities for students in schools where course choices are limited.

"We cannot have equality of opportunity in schools in B.C.," Clarke said, "Big city schools have an advantage."

To do a feasibility study would require $20,000. Clarke hoped to raise $5,000 from each of four school districts.

Trustees did not give an immediate response, saying they would prefer to study the proposal, have their questions discussed, and give it further consideration.

Historic building ages gracefully

Located next to the Court House, the mine rescue building was constructed as a storage place for mine rescue equipment, a place to train mine rescue crews, and a location for information on local mines. It was built in the 1920's, and had a long, busy career right into the 1950's.

As mines closed, and the nature of mining changed, the old mine rescue crews were not needed. The building fell into disuse.

Boy Scouts, Cubs, and Air Cadets soon found a use for the building as a meeting place.

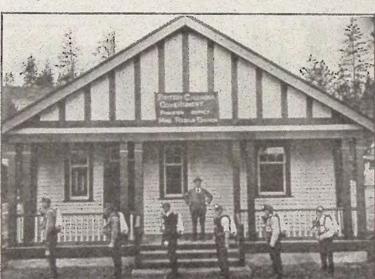

The provincial government owned the building, but spent almost nothing on maintenance. The floors were sturdy, but were of oiled wood. The structure was strong, but paint peeled, plumbing did not work well, and deterioration continued.

In 1974, the building became The Activity Centre, under a Local Initiatives Program. Volunteer labour and donated furniture, as well as a small grant, turned the building into a more attractive, more usable space.

In December, 1974, Princeton and District Community Services Society was chartered to continue the work begun on the grant. The building was further improved to include a kitchen, and Meals on Wheels were prepared from that facility. Money came from bazaars, craft sales, contract baking, and catering. The building was a training centre for developmentally impaired adults. Eventually, Community Services bought the old mine rescue building from the government.

During the 1980's, The Achievement Centre operated as a restaurant, and further renovations turned it into the Mini-Chef, Home of the Magic Muffins. The workers in the Mini-Chef became the fond friends of habitual cus-

The renovations included construction of a patio porch under a shade tree, and a quiet dining room adjacent to the patio, along with a conference room for the staff.

The workers in the Mini-Chef were becoming tired. The Society decided the time had come to retire them, and the restaurant which had been their training ground, their activity, and their achievement. The Mini-Chef closed its doors on May 31, 1997. Dave and Lol Anderson saw possibilities for the restaurant. They leased it from Community Services and operated it as it was until January, when they closed the doors and began renovations

The latest round of renovations removed the wall between the dining room and the staff room, making the dining room much larger. A fireplace has been installed in the dining room and the kitchen has been streamlined.

The old mine rescue building is the new Belaire Restaurant. In many ways, the old building is like most people of that age: it has seen a lot, lived through some tough times, but came through looking good.

The old mine rescue building takes on a brand new look as the Bel Aire Restaurant converts the dinning area to a larger, brighter atmosphere with renovations including a fireplace.

What happened?

Anyone over age fifty will remember a time when British Columbia was a "have not" province. Our lives could be measured in terms of what we did not have. We did not have paved roads, hospital and medical insurance, central schools, good wages, water and sewer service, garbage pick-up, and rural electrification. Most rural people did not have telephones.

During the 1950's, we changed. We went from a "have not" province to a "have" province. We built new roads and paved them. We built schools, municipal infrastructure, set up a health care system with medical insurance, our pay scale increased, and rural people began to enjoy electrical power. Rural people were able to hook up to telephone service. We built dams to produce more electrical power. We lived in a booming economy.

We became a "have" province. We had so much that we had to fork over tax dollars to other provinces for "equalization".

The people who are the "experts" told us we must stop being resource-based "hewers of wood and drawers of water". We had to be better-educated and work in jobs where education is important. Other experts told us we had to stop doing megaprojects like dams. Union people told us we were underpaid, and we had strikes, known as "job action" (why do we not call them "job inaction"?) Other experts said we have too many government employees, and the government began contracting out "for greater efficiency" (meaning we would save money).

All this advice went to our heads, and we took a pro-active approach. We did everything the experts said we ought to do. Look at us now.

We cannot have more, and we may have to have less. As we approach the 21st century, it seems we had our cake, ate it, and forgot how to bake another.

Doctor's wife talks back on doctor issues

Dear Editor;

"What is the Real Rural Doctor Issue?". Fourteen years of extensive and intimate observation persuade me that the real issues are extreme physician exhaustion and an unrelenting system that has entirely failed our medical practitioners and ultimately will fail our community.

Nostalgia for the old rural practitioner will neither address today's realities nor help us work together for tomorrow's solutions. The idealized view of the 'old time country doctor' fails to reflect our uncomfortable irony; those very physicians who committed a lifetime of service to the health care of our community, too often, in the process, were deprived of their personal health and well-being.

Today, rural practitioners have the added pressures of a colossal amount of paperwork, ever present threats of litigation, and the rapidly advancing frontiers of medical knowledge, which require constant study and upgrading.

I share, whole-heartedly, your deep respect for the dedicated team of individuals who work together in providing Princeton's health care and other essential services. You intimate that doctors do not realize that they are part of a team. In fact, nobody knows this better than doctors do! Without the support of skillful nurses, ambulance crews, and other ancillary helpers, doctors could not succeed in their hospital work. But, this skillful and indispensable support team have rules which regulate their hours, as do various other members of our community. When driving along the Hope-Princeton, no one wants to meet a truck driver who has exceeded his legally limited hours! No one wants to be flown across the Atlantic by a pilot suffering from sleep deprivation! Yet, in Princeton, one may have to be treated for a heart attack Continued on Page 7......

Electoral system needs reform

Dear Editor;

It is almost past time we reformed our electoral system in Canada, so our future governments will always represent the will of the majority of the people, not necessarily that of the political party holding the majority of the seats in the House of Commons.

It can be accomplished with the single alternative ballot. Under our present system we have international finance manoeveuring our elections and ruling our country, with their foreign investments.

As a result, we have no debt-free Canadian money employing our people. Instead, we have tremendous unemployment, a large increase in crime, excessive taxation, hunger-driven immortality and dope in our municipalities, etc. etc. etc.

Our blind but wealthy leaders are conspiring in lavish international meetings trying to find remedies to our bitter economic troubles.

In my opinion, the solution is creating, evaluating, owning and distributing our domestic money and using it at home.

The purpose of foreign trade is not to create local or foreign millionaires but to satisfy human needs. Local employment and industry will do a better job and will not leave the nation in debt to any other country.

There is no doubt we are giving away our sovereignty in United Nations meetings, in multilateral agreements on investments, world bank meetings, foreign trade seminars, etc.

It grieves me to see us giving away our national authority to these monopolistic international pirates.

The internationally owned liberal and conservative political parties perfected world monopoly when they gave away our parliament's power to create and control the nation's money supply to private interests in 1913. We have been living in repeated fluctuations of economic poverty and war ever since.

Yours respectfully, Roy Thomas

Sure signs of spring.

Western Meadowlarks are back, and so are Western Bluebirds. Naturalist Jerry Herzig spotted them last week. The gaggle of local Canada geese arrived on the weekend. Spring is springing.

Doctor's wife talks back attack by a doctor who is doing his third night on call and has been working every day in between! Heavy weekends on call, followed by busy offices and continued hospital care, on a daily basis, wears down even the strongest person. It is inhumane to expect anyone to carry this burden year in, year out.

Dawn, you liken your own "on call" to that of a busy rural practitioner. I sympathize with you. As a mother of five, grandmother of six, full-time teacher and youth group co-ordinator, I know what it is to be busy and always on call. It is hard, very hard and very wearing. However, I also know that this type of "on call" cannot be compared to that of a rural practitioner. They are called out to terminally ill patients; to mangled bodies; to violently psychotto abusive drunks ic patients; and to young people attempting self-annihilation with drugs, etc.!

All of these traumas can occur during one night on call! This type of on-call responsibility is in a realm of its own, and creates its own unique exhaustion!

The Similkameen News Leader printout of the government document entitled "Help for Rural Doctors" may help doctors in the future. It does, however, fail to resolve the present crisis. Despite your wistful hopes, Dawn, adequately trained doctors (young or otherwise), do not appear to want to come to Princeton. The advent of walk-in clinics where many doctors can earn the same money, without the stress and exhaustion of on-call/the trauma of emergency medicine, appears to be taking away young applicants.

Competition among rural practices for young applicants is fierce. Almost every rural community is trying to find new doc-

Doctor says our hospital could be the best rural hospital in B.C. 'if' ...

Dear Editor;

I would like to make it clear that my stance on the standards of care at Princeton General Hospital are not a personal attack on anyone. I have been very proud to make Princeton my home. I have great respect for the nurses at our local hospital and for all they have to endure under their present working conditions. All the staff at Princeton General Hospital are dedicated, caring and long suffering. I am extremely grateful to our community for giving so much in the way of personal time, equipment and money to the hospital (without these generous donations the situation at the hospital would be much worse!).

I firmly believe that if you are faced with entering our hospital having been involved in a motor vehicle accident, are pregnant or requiring surgery, the staff attending you (including doctors) should have the same level of training and skills as those in urban centres, e.g. Kelowna.

If you enter Kelowna General Hospital, the physicians and nurses who assist you are required to be trained in Advanced Cardiac and Trauma Life Support (neonatal resuscitative medicine and other courses where applicable). At Princeton General Hospital, the nurses who assist you are only required to have basic level C.P.R. and the doctors are not required to have any upgrades to their basic education.

This is no fault of the nurses or doctors of Princeton. In Kelowna, the hospital requires, organizes, and pays for these courses. Is money the problem in Princeton? If so, why did the Princeton Hospital Administration recently spend $50,000 on a management course?

Time constraints and exhaustion are obviously factors when it comes to studying and under the present working conditions neither doctors or nurses could be expected to be able to achieve necessary training. This does not mean that we shouldn't demand that our work load is lightened to ensure that our hospital staff have time to acquire essential skills.

Princeton General Hospital has the potential to become the best rural hospital in B.C. or it can fade into obscurity. The administration have active plans to cut our acute beds by 20% which in practice means that, when busy, you or your loved ones will end up in beds in the corridors, visitors' room or emergency room with commodes but no washrooms. Our hospital has, to date, escaped this fate, but it is about to become reality!

We cannot allow exhaustion, complacency and apathy to overwhelm us!

Yours sincerely, Dr. John M. Adams

tors. Many doctors are leaving, or are about to leave, rural practice because the lifestyle is so hard.

What is needed is adequate provision for reasonable on-call duty, study leave and holidays. If more money is needed to create a fair differential between walk-in clinics and rural practice, then so be it. We are not a dictatorship. We have to attract, not commandeer, doctors into Princeton.

Dawn, you ask whether young doctors have been told of the benefits of rural practice. The answer is that enormous amounts of time and money have been put into advertising, introducing new doctors to the community and taking in student doctors for training. To all these individuals the virtues of rural medicine are extolled: the satisfaction of practicing a very demanding and complete form of medicine; the self-fulfillment of trying to be a true healer; and as you point out Dawn, the feeling that the enormous personal sacrifices which are made are truly appreciated by the community.

Young doctors need further convincing to relocate to Princeton. Perhaps rural practice opportunities that address the health and well-being of its rural physicians might be a more attractive proposition. Such a solution would ultimately secure better care for us

> Yours truly, Sylvia Adams

We live in a "Stroke Zone"

Princeton is situated in an area called, by some medical researchers, a "stroke' zone. The name means there is an excessive number of strokes among long-time residents of the area, but to researchers, the name means a lack of selenium in the soil.

Princeton is in a geological area called 'the copper triangle' due to the high concentration of copper in the area. There is no selenium in usable form in the soil, and the presence of copper makes the situation worse, as copper prevents the beneficial action of selenium.

Since 1973, when Dr. John Rotruck of the University of Wisconsin discovered how selenium works in the body, more research has been done on the effects of selenium deficiency.

Locally, selenium is used as a supplement in block salt for live-

Looking Back

by Leona Brewer

Wednesday, February 20, was a day of reflection as we made our way to St. Patrick's Church to bid our farewell to Agnes Catherine (Rice) Bourque.

Agnes was born in Princeton on March 19, 1917. She was the daughter of Euphemia and Ernest Rice.

Being the eldest child, Agnes was given a lot of responsibility. She learned the art of milking cows, feeding cattle, helping collect eggs, weeding the garden, cooking, and housekeeping. To most young people today, it would seem she was an abused child, but these chores were to prepare her for the future.

A great deal of her schooling was by correspondence - another plus for Agnes. At age 16, one of her first positions was tutoring a couple of children in the Douglas Lake area.

Agnes married young. She took her vocation as a mother very seriously, and her sons, daughters, and grandchildren attribute to that.

Agnes was raised on a mixed farm in the serene Tulameen River valley. Agnes had a family of eight children, twenty-one grandchildren, thirteen greatgrandchildren, and two greatgreat-grandchildren.

Besides raising her family, Agnes took a great interest in politics. She was proud of her heritage. She was a founding member of the Native Friendship Centre in Canada.

She had a deep faith, she loved music, and encouraged any young hopeful in his or her endeavours. To quote Agnes: "Every life is a bucket, and we each fill ours with the treasures that life gives us. Mine are filled with tears of joy and pain; and although I willingly share my bucket of tears with you, I would not give up a single stock, to keep cattle strong and healthy. Selenium is considered especially helpful to livestock during the birth process, as lack of selenium contributes to muscle weakness. Animal research has also indicated lack of selenium in pregnant livestock contributes to poor immune systems in their offspring. Ranchers know selenium is essential for a healthy herd.

In the 'stroke' zones of the world, such as the Carolinas and Georgia in the United States, Zaire in Africa, and one of the central provinces of China, heart disease and strokes are a common cause of death or disability.

Selenium-rich soils seem to offer more than healthy hearts. Rapid City, South Dakota, has the lowest overall cancer death rate in the United States, and it has one of the highest levels of selenium in the soil. Is this coincidence? Not likely, as selenium is a trace element in water that seeps through the soil.

Selenium prevents the body from transforming LDL cholesterol into a more harmful substance in the arteries. It also protects against the damaging oxidizing effects of copper, which hastens the change of LDL into harmful fats. In combination with vitamin E, the benefits are three times greater than with selenium alone. Selenium has been used successfully to prevent arthritic inflammation, to treat hypothyroidism, fibrocystic breast disease.

Researchers at the University of Georgia, U.S.A., are exploring the link between the strong HIV1 and Ebola fever viruses and a lack of selenium in Zaire, where these diseases kill quickly. They speculate that Zaire may be a virus 'hot zone' because of the low levels of selenium. Researcher E. Will Taylor believes that when a virus exhausts the selenium in a cell, it breaks out to feed on another cell. He feels availability of dietary selenium may account for why some people can live a long time with HIV and others die rapidly.

Living in a selenium-poor area poses certain health hazards of which we were unaware 25 years ago. However, dietary supplements of selenium are readily available and inexpensive.

Woodruff has attended a course experience at the Chamber of Commerce office, helping with the work of preparing for the Trade Show and making an inventory of local businesses.

At the same time, the experience the Chamber offers will be a big help to Woodruff.

PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA MINISTRY OF FORESTS

SNOWMOBILE OPERATORS

While operating your snowmobile in the forests please remember the following:

A PERSON MUST NOT OPERATE A SNOWMOBILE ON A FOREST ACCESS ROAD IF IT APPEARS THAT THE ROAD HAS BEEN SNOWPLOUGHED, OR THAT THE ROAD IS OTHERWISE FIT FOR TRAVEL BY MOTOR VEHICLES OTHER THAN SNOWMOBILES.

Forest roads that are not currently being used for timber harvesting operations may have been deactivated. Without road deactivation, unmaintained roads may suffer serious erosion and contribute to forest, stream and wildlife habitat degradation.

The objective of road deactivation is to control water flow, prevent washouts and, wherever possible, maintain limited vehicle access. Road deactivation is a stabilization process, not necessarily a closure. Deactivation techniques such as cross ditching and waterbarring may significantly alter the road surface making the road impassable for some vehicles and creating a driving hazard for the unwary road user.

TO ENSURE YOUR VISIT TO THE FORESTS IS A SAFE AND ENJOYABLE EXPERIENCE IT IS ESSENTIAL THAT SNOWMOBILE OPERATORS EXERCISE THE UTMOST CARE AND CAUTION WHEN USING UNPLOUGHED FOREST ACCESS ROADS.

For more information contact the Merritt Forest District Office.

PXA looks for money

Money and how to raise it was a major topic at the March 10 meeting of Princeton Exhibition Association. The bills for maintenance and capital improvements totalled $9,455 last year, including a bill for $609.90 to clean concession.

PXA President George Elliott suggested a letter be sent to groups using the concession kitchen to share the cost of cleaning. The problem is not the ordinary cleaning, but the special cleaning done to the vents twice a year. Members agreed to send out a letter.

The issue of clean-up after events brought a variety of ideas. Members offered the idea of a refundable deposit to ensure clean-up would be done. This met with agreement because it seemed fair to everyone. If a group leaves a mess, then that group would forfeit the deposit, and the deposit would pay for a worker to do the job.

There was some discussion of the need to present a budget to Town Council and Regional District to justify the need for an annual grant. The grounds belong to the Town of Princeton but the PXA does the maintenance and pays the utilities, unlike other publicuse land in Princeton. The Town crew does assist with major um project is the completion of the B.C. portion of the Trans-Canada Trail.

Premier Glen Clark has appointed Andrew Petter minister esponsible for planning B.C.'s millenium celebrations.

Clark said that, as the Year 2000 approaches, people across the country and around the world are starting the millennium countdown.

"With less than 700 days left before the year 2000, we want to encourage British Columbians to come together to celebrate in ways that express our history and leave a lasting legacy for the future," Premier Clark.

B.C.'s section of the Trans-Canada Trail will establish a multi-use corridor across the province as part of the 15,000 km. trail stretching across Canada. It is expected that the trail will pass through Princeton, Coalmont and Tulameen as a result of the abandonned Kettle Valley Railway site being designated for use as a trail.

The vision behind the Trans Canada Trail is to build a trail from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island, linking Canadian communities, parks and wilderness areas.

PXA continued from page 13 events, but most of the work is done by volunteers.

Money for capital projects was one of the considerations on the budget. Some of the stables must be replaced, as the supporting posts are rotten. Raymond Huey said he had a list of repair projects that would eat up the budget in no time. George Elliott offered another few items, and Stan Thompson reminded members of possible utilities problems.

Ruby Bey brought insurance problems to the table. She outlined the situation in which each user group pays insurance for an event, the Town and PXA have insurance on the property, and it

The idea to build the trail came forward in 1992 during Canadaa's 125th anniversary celebrations.

The vision sees this new symbol of Canadian unity connecting Canada's regions and serving as a tremendous recreation seems there is far too much insurance being paid for one site. Other members agreed. George Elliott will go to a number of insurance agencies to compare coverage and to see where overlaps may be occurring in various policies.

The concept of an artisans' village development at Sunflower Downs will be discussed at a meeting with Lyle Thomas, the Princeton representative on the regional Trails Council. The concept would mean a linking trail between Sunflower Downs and the abandoned railroad which is under consideration for a portion of the Trans Canada Trail.

The Trans Canada Trail will be the world's longest trail. It will follow abandoned railway lines, federal and provincial parks, existing rail lines, private land that grants rights of way, and wherever possible, existing trails. The Trans Canada Trail will be a shared-use trail accommodating five main activities: walking, cycling, horseback riding, crosscountry skiing, and snowmobiling where that is possible and desired.

Novice Flyers are still flying high

On the weekend of March 1, the Mac's Auto Parts Flyers travelled to Osoyoos for a match against the always big and tough South Okanagan Novice Hockey team. It was evident early that it was going to be a hard-fought battle all the way.

South Okanagan opened the scoring, but Patrick took only three minutes to tie it up. Princeton then took the lead with Captain Lewis' goal, Osoyoos buckled down and tied the game early in the second period but that was as close as they would get. Josh, with a pass from Shaine, made the score 3-2. Tyson's relentless work around the net paid off as he slapped in a rebound of Patrick's. Osoyoos persisted, but Pat took the wind out of their sails when he scored three straight goals (assists to Reid and Lewis). With the game clearly out of red, Tyson notched his second goal to make the score 8-3. Josh rounded out the scoring (assists to Shaine and Tyler). Kyle had a tremendous game in net. Strong defensive games by Beau and Braydon kept Osoyoos at bay for most of the game.

Early in the morning of March 7, the Flyers made their final road trip of the season. They journeyed to Kamloops to play one of their four all nine year old teams. This season Kamloops handed our boys one of their rare losses in an exciting, close game. Our boys met them in the Oliver tournament and battled back in the last few minutes of the game by scoring three goals and stealing a 4-3 victory from them.

The early morning travel did not deter our young players from doing their best. From the drop of the puck it looked as if Kamloops would have their hands full. Just 17 seconds into the game, Patrick (from Braydon and Lewis) scored on a wrist shot! Princeton then jumped into a 2-0 lead on a goal from Josh (from Tyson and Beau). Kamloops was not going to accept this outcome and quickly evened up the match.

The Princeton boys were slightly stunned by this quick turnaround of events and dug deep within to take their hockey to another level.

Pick-up player, Jake Greening, put Princeton ahead 3-2 with assists from Beau and goalie Mogge. This lead was never relinquished. Lewis went on a rampage and scored four goals, assists to Patrick, Shaine and Clifford. Pat then added another goal on a nice pass across from Lewis. Braydon, Josh and Shaine rounded out the scoring for Princeton with assists going to Josh, Jake, Clifford and Shaine. The final score was 11-3 for Princeton.

The last two seasons this team has proudly worn the Mac's Auto Parts jerseys. Their stats are an amazing 51 wins, 5 losses, and 2 ties. Some of the Flyers will round off their season on the big hockey jamboree planned for Princeton on March 27,28, and 29.

THE TADPOLE CATCHERS

After the long winter, everything was coming back to life. The snow was quickly melting and the frozen ponds had thawed. Grass had begun to grow again, and new leaves were beginning to appear.

Kevin Anderson and his younger brother Michael were at the edge of the pond in back of their home, trying to catch new baby tadpoles.

"Can I have some of your tadpoles?" asked Michael. "I can't catch any!"

"I don't know," said his brother, Kevin. "I'll think about it." He squatted down flat-footed, folding his slender legs beneath oversized green shorts, and peered intently into his bucket. Propping his arms upon his knees, he dipped the fingers of one hand into the water in his bucket.

Suddenly, Kevin stood up, jammed both hands into his pockets and, frowning, marched away, kicking at stones as he went, and nearly tripping over the untied shoelace dragging along his left sneaker. He pulled his hands from his pockets and began twisting his long, baggy t-shirt until the dinosaur pictured on the front all but disappeared.

After several moments, Kevin turned toward his brother. "Hey!" he shouted. "I don't want to give you any of my tadpoles, but I'll help you get some of your own!" He bent down to tie his shoelace before walking toward Michael. "I don't have enough tadpoles yet," he said. "Get your bucket. I'll show you the best way to catch them."

Michael grabbed his own bucket and raced toward his brother. At the edge of the pond, Kevin held up his finger. "Watch this," he Kevin crouched down low, the toes of his sneakers dipping into the pond. He waited a few moments for the water to still, then deftly scooped up some tadpole-filled water into his bucket, without spilling a drop of what he already had.

"I can't do that!" said Michael. "It's too hard! They all swim away from me!"

"You have to do it quickly," said Kevin. "Like this." He took Michael's arms, with the bucket, in his own and positioned the bucket just above the surface of the water. "Ready.....Now!" Together the boys scooped water,

Basketball plus fun featured in annual · Somewhere between the alleyoop passes and shot clocks of the NBA and Dr. James Naismith's 1891 peach crate baskets are the home courts of the Rocky Mountain Basketball Championship tournament.

Organized to give mens' basketball teams a chance to play fast clean ball with other competitive teams, this tournament is now into its sixth year, and going strong. Prize lists are growing with more and more sponsors every day. Individuals, businesses and organizations are behind this unique sports event of the Okanagan, to provide excellent prizes for all-stars, most valuable player, high 3 pointers and the tournament's overall winners.

Returning with the sculptured trophy, a Jay Begaye original, are the LTI LOPAS from Nespelem, Washington. As returning Champions, they are automatically in the March 20,21,22, 1998 tournament in Penticton. They will have an opportunity to play by double elimination sudden death rules from Friday afternoon to the Championship game on Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

Look for good sportsmanship and lots of tough moves below the hoops on March 20 to 22nd at the Rocky Mountain Basketball Tournament. Spectators are welcome, admission fee at the door. Complimentary passes are available for media and sponsors.

For many of the players on the floor, and up and coming young basketball players in the stands, basketball is more than a game. Rocky Mountain basketball fosters the ideal role model of a good player who has always been in sports, does not drink, does not smoke, and believes in good sportsmanship. It is a lot more than fast breaks and grabbing rebounds. Basketball, for some, is a passion.

Trout tips

by John Sandness

Use the lightest lines and leaders you are confident with. My recommendation is to start with 6# to 8# test. As you gain more experience, you will find more success with 4# or even 3# test. The lighter leader is less visible to the trout, and more importantly, more flexible. This added flexibility will allow a more natural action to your fly or lure.
