Truck flips at Copper Creek turn

At approximately 3:00 a.m. on Thursday, October 22, a 1989 Freightliner tractor trailer unit was eastbound on Highway 3 near Copper Creek when the driver failed to negotiate a corner and flipped onto its side into the ditch. The driver and his passenger, both of the lower mainland, were injured. They were taken to Princeton General Hospital for treatment of injuries that were not life-threatening.

The cause of the accident is under investigation by police.

Black ice wrecks

cab-over

"It looks like it went through a meat grinder," Bob Bouvette described the truck that went off the road last Thursday morning near Bromley Rock.

A cab-over "Peterbuilt" tractor unit, towing an almost empty "Alloy" van trailer, was westbound on Highway 3 when it jack-knifed on black ice around and inside curve. The accident happened at 7:15 a.m.

The vehicle skidded across the highway and went off the road to the left. It collided with large rocks, spinning the tractor around and pinning the trailer against the ditch.

Driver David Lacroix, age 36, of Squamish, B.C., was wearing his lap and shoulder seat belt. He walked away from the accident with minor cuts to his face and a sore back.

The tractor, owned by MTF Transport Ltd., was demolished while the trailer sustained minor damage.

Mayor joins RDOS EDC

Mayor Randy McLean has been appointed to Regional District of Okaanagan Similkameen Economic Development Committee. He made the announcement at the October 19 Princeton Town Council meeting.

"I've been working toward this for a long time," he said.

Ultra-lite crashes in field

At 8:40 am, Monday, October 19, Ed Ottas crashed his ultra-lite plane in John and Ruby Bey's pasture. He hit the power line (which burnt the ground and was extremely dangerous) and knocked out power on Cedar Creek road. Ottas was not injured in the crash. He said the sun was in his eyes and when the plane engine began to sputter, he looked for a field in which to land and did not see the power line. Above, Ed and Pam Ottas begin to dismantle the plane to take it home for repairs. In background, a worker from Princeton Light and Power. Photo courtesy of Ruby Bey.

Lali looks at road problem

Harry Lali, MLA for Yale-Lillooet and Minister of Transportation and Highways, met with members of Princeton Town Council on Saturday morning before heading south to meet in Keremeos with Upper Similkameen Indian Band. Lali's visit was welcome and proved to be a challenge for him as Highways Minister.

Councillor Dan Sulentich told Lali, "I want you to come and look at Tulameen Road, and you'll see why we don't want devolution. We have asked Highways people to come with us to look at the problem, but they say they looked, but not when we were there with them."

Councillors Jim Manion, George Armstrong and Kathleen Clement agreed that devolution of Tulameen Road within the Town of Princeton presented Town Council with considerable concern, in view of the million-dollar price tag on another area of the road which sloughed into the river in the spring of 1996.

Councillor Sulentich asked, "How would the Town find that kind of money out of our taxes?"

Lali was accompanied by Kamloops regional manager John Buckle, District Manager Bill Bedford, and Associate Deputy Minister Claire Dansereau. At the end of the meeting, the entire group went to the west end of Luard Street to look at the problem area with councillors.

According to Councillor Manion, nothing significant was said after the inspection. Councillors were told the situation would be discussed. Council will await the decision. Harry Lali made one statement during the meeting about future plans for B.C. highways. He and staff had been touring highways in B.C. to establish priorities.

"We do not intend to build any new highways," the Minister said,"We will take care of what we have."

Linda Allison, Area H Director, had some questions for Lali about the Peterson Bluffs area of the Tulameen Road.

Bill Bedford indicated plans to move the road up the slope in that area, but doubted it would be paved before next spring. It will be widened for winter.

Allison expressed some concern about the way weed control had been done along the highways. The department personnel agreed to meet with the RDOS commit-

Snowmobilers want races at PXA grounds

Timberline Cruisers snowmobile club attended the October 21 meeting of Princeton Exhibition Association to request the use of Sunflower Downs for snowmobile races. Bob Reichert outlined the group's needs, and said the club would clear the rocks out of the infield and do the work necessary to adjust the track rails to meet the snowmobile race needs. This was merely a temporary adjustment for starting the races.

Reichert explained Princeton's opportunity to become a race destination in the wintertime, and the club's need for a facility offering spectators a good view of the races. The grandstand would give the view.

Stan Thompson discussed the water requirements. If the weather is very cold, the PXA would find it difficult to prevent the water from freezing if the washrooms were in use, as the concession building is not winterized and is not heated.

Reichert said the club could haul in water and portable outhouses.

Poppy Day

Poppy Day in Princeton will be November 6. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion will canvass the downtown area between 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. to sell poppies and receive contributions toward the Poppy Fund used for veterans.

Bill Smith, who owns a home at the corner of Harold Avenue and Lime Street had his fence and retaining wall wrecked at 7:40 pm October 22. His wife, Ruby, rushed out to see a "huge light colored truck" going down the street. Smith was distressed to learn that repairing the damage will cost $2500 to $3000. Fortunately it is covered by insurance. The identity of the trucker is unknown.

Premier rejects Nisga'a court challenges

Two court challenges to the Nisga'a treaty will be "vigorously defended", Premier Glen Clark announced last week. Opposition political parties and what the government describes as "a special interest lobby group" have challenged the Nisga'a treaty as amending the Canadian Constitution.

According to Premier Clark, "These two challenges are clearly an attempt to stop the Nisga'a treaty from proceeding and to undermine the treat process."

He went on to say, "This treaty is not about amending the Constitution, it's about the Nisga'a exchanging their legal rights for treaty rights. It attains the certainty and finality that all British Columbians desire. If the Liberal opposition wants to take the position that making treaties is not necessary, its leader should be honest and say so."

A legal opinion rendered by Peter W. Hogg, Dean of Osgoode Law School, states clearly, "The Constitution of Canada is a defined term in s.53(3) of the Constitution Act, 1982. The definition lists the Constitution Act, 1867, the Constitution Act 1982, and other constitutional instruments. None of these documents

Snowmobilers

......from front page stated that the ice for a weekend event is $1,000.

Jim Manion, speaking for the snowmobile club, took exception to that high a fee.

"I realize that's what you charge for summer events," he said, "But they use all of the facilities. We're only using part of the facilities. I don't think we should pay full price."

There was considerable discussion as to what the fee ought to be, and Manion offered $500. The PXA agreed to that amount will be amended by entering into the Nisga'a treaty. Nor will the treaty become part of the Constitution of Canada. There are no Indian treaties in the list, and I am quite sure that the Supreme Court of Canada will not expand the list by adding Indian treaties." (The News Leader has, on file, a copy of the letter sent by Dean Hogg giving his expert opinion.)

Hogg goes on to say,"It is true that once the Nisga'a treaty has come into effect it will be constitutionally protected by s.35 of the Constitution Act, 1982, which recognizes and affirms 'aboriginal and treaty rights. Section 35 is not amended when a treaty is entered into. Nor does the treaty become part of the Constitution of Canada."

The opponents of the treaty are calling for a provincial referendum. Dean Hogg says, "As a matter of law, therefore, there is no requirement that the Nisga'a treaty be approved in a provincial referendum."

Dean Peter Hogg adds a more interesting opinion.

"As a matter of policy, in my opinion, it would be undesirable to hold a referendum every time a treaty is entered into with aboriginal people," he says, "These treaties are intended to provide clarity and certainty to aboriginal rights that have been held by aboriginal people since before European settlement."

Hogg adds, "If a referendum were held and the treaty was defeated, the problem of achieving clarity and certainty would not go away. The aboriginal people would have to use the courts to vindicate their rights to land, resources and self-government. The Supreme Court of Canada said in the Delgamuukw case it was willing to do that, but that it was better for governments to reach negotiated agreements with aboriginal people. I agree with the Court."

Footprints in the sands of time are never made by sitting down.

Actress Lynn Redgrave "jumped at the role" of Carrie in the movie Shegalla, filmed in Keremeos and Cawston during the past month.

In an interview with Terry David Mulligan of CHUM television network, she called herself
'lucky' to play the part.

Redgrave described the character she portrays as a "suicidal descent".

Redgrave said, "Carrie leaps off the page."

According to her none of the characters had to be "invented" by the actors.

"We have full-fledged characters combined with a terrific story."

Redgrave said playing the part of an alcoholic is just a matter of "getting the physics of it to play it sober."

The actress' career in Europe, on television and stage has created a 13-page biography. Redgrave can be seen in 'Gods and Monsters' due to be released November 4.

Between set changes during the filming of Shegalla, Tighe Runyan pauses a moment to catch his breath. He was busy most of the day on numerous takes of a scene where he runs after a truck driven by Lynn Redgrave. Runyan as "Shawn" is the young man who melts "Carrie's" heart. "We are the ones who strayed away like sheep, we who have left God's paths to follow our own, yet God laid on Him (Jesus) the guilt and sins of every one of us" Isaiah 53:6)

Just as surely as sheep stray when they have no shepherd to lead and gudie them in the right way, so it is with us. Straying sheep will ultimately find themselves getting into all kinds of difficulties, probably hurting themselves to the point of endangering their lives. Likewise, many times we find ourselves bruised by the thorns, tangles and snares that life offers us. We find ourselves lost and off the right path. The goodness of God sent Jesus Christ to come and show us the way back into that relationship that he has for us. Just as the shepherd goes and looks for his lost sheep, so today God is calling and looking for us to lead us back to the fold, where there is security and safety. The word stray means going about without fixed direction and purpose. God desires for us to have a direction and a purpose. Straying does not mean something that we have set off to do on purpose, but one day we just find ourselves lost and unable to find our way back. The wisdom of God says "you shall know the truth and the truth shall set you free." Free means to be relieved or released from something unpleasant. This can apply to a believer or an unbeliever. You might ask this question "free from what?", and the answer is everything that has kept you from the blessing of God that He has desires for you to have. He wants to give you health for sickness and disease, joy for your depression, He waats to give you prosperity for your poverty, an abundant life for an empty and meaningless life. In short, He wants us to understand the truth so that we can be free to be led and guided by Him. Preedom for you is one choice away. God is good:

Keremeos says all pay for leaky condos

by Laura Lawson, South Similkameen reporter

The cost of Vancouver's leaking condos could be passed on to the rest of B.C. municipalities. At the October 19 Village Council meeting, Mayor J.C. Stranart reported a $1,000 surcharge may be levied on building permits.

A Regional District meeting he attended on October 15 revealed an increase of insurance premiums. Stranart said costs will rise anywhere from 45 to 75 per cent.

Keremeos is part of the municipal insurance agency, which is a co-op coverage service for municipalities. In 1988, the cost of claims was $13,000. Last year, the agency spent $34,000 in settlements. May stranart said the problem currently is that there are no limits to how far back a building's inspection is valid. Technically, a claim could be made on a building erect in 1914. This applies to all municipalities' except Vancouver.

"Vancouver has their own set of rules," Stranart said.

The Vancouver limit is seven years.

The issue of recycling came up at the Regional District meeting.

Chamber of Commerce members attended the meeting and asked about the access from Highway 3 to the strip mall. They were told the planning was stalled with the developer and the engineer working for the developer.

Minister Lali made some general statements about the direction his government plans to take. He noted a plan for a balanced budget next year and reviewed this year's job growth incentives, such as the reduction in stumpage. He stated there would be a continuing maintenance of education and health care as top priority items for B.C.

- children should be taught to obey traffic safety rules
- use make-up rather than visionobstructing masks
- a child should wear a reflective or light-coloured costume.

POINTS OF VIEW

Our View — — Watch the game

Is it pure coincidence that David Black and the Liberal Party have raised the Nisga'a issue, and there is one more year before a provincial election may be called?

Politics does make strange bedfellows, without question, but who would have suspected the BC Liberals would have crawled into bed with the press? Who would have suspected News Group would have crawled into bed with the politicians? One thing most real news people do not want is to make a commitment to any political party.

We have expressed our view on the Nisga'a treaty. We now have a copy of that treaty and anyone who wants to know its contents can come to our office and take a look. We have not, like some other news people, just discovered the Nisga'a negotiations. On the contrary, we have been well aware of the negotiations in the news for the past four years. Our reaction to the Final Agreement was a sense of relief, like "wow, they finally did it!"

The News Group and the Liberals act as if the government suddenly produced the agreement out of thin air. Perhaps Black and Campbell were too busy playing politics to hear all of the speeches we heard last year when the agreement was signed. Are we supposed to suddenly forget the past and pretend we just heard about the Nisga'a treaty?

We guess the Liberals want an election on a hyped issue, and they just got around to discovering the Nisga'a treaty for their own use. There are other more important issues, but perhaps none that could be fogged by fear and prejudice as easily as the Nisga'a treaty. With the help of their community press bedfellows, the BC Liberals may believe they can continue to hype the treaty to the point where they can win the next provincial election. They must believe, as well, that they can fool all of the people all of the time.

Between toll free numbers, e-mail, and books, those of us who really want the truth can find it without Liberal help.

Your VIEW

A native gives another view on treaties

Dear Editor;

The native Indian side of my education came from my mother, family, elders and friends. They taught me that originally there were two kinds of laws made by the white man: one to make him rich and the other to make natives poor. They warned me there was not much difference between the original white arrivals and the new arrivals: they came here to get rich.

The B.C. land claim question is not about how much it will cost the white man. Indeed, it is about what it will cost the natives! Remember the old supposed joke of the elder native chief saying, "When the white man first came here, we had the land and he had the Bible. Now, he has the land and we have the Bible."

Well, it was no joke! Perhaps the land claim question should be phrased: how did the white man get all the land, how much did he pay, and who got paid? How many politicians, let alone B.C. resident, can answer that question?

Firstly, to avoid warfare upon his arrival, the gold-seeking white man promised all natives a treaty and payment for land occupation. He then proceeded as follows: in 1858, the first and many revisions of the Pre-Emption Acts specifically precluded "Indians and Chinamen" from pre-empting lands, leaving natives with absolutely no land-base in their own nations! Then the white man took all of the best land, and every other resource that could possibly be used by natives to eke out a living: water rights, grazing rights, timber and mineral rights, social rights, and most tragically in 1878, our most valuable historic rights to our commercial fisheries.

Years later, after he had taken all of the best arable and strategic lands, he agreed, as a temporary measure, to natives getting tiny left-over lands as Indian Reserves. While all of this was happening, we natives were stripped of our languages, religions, history, customs, cultures, and self-respect. Being deprived of the right to vote for the first 100 years when we were in population majority, did not help either.

During the past 140 years, we needed someone like Bill Vander Zalm, or Gordon Gibson, or Rafe Mair to stand up and demand fairness and equality, and decency, and democracy on our behalf. No one showed up! And even now, when many of the wrongs could be righted, no one shows up!

Settlement of land claims is about a great deal more than money and righting of past wrongs. Given that, to all B.C. natives, this province is their "Holy-land" and that their main values are for respect of all the resources, hopefully land claim agreements will plant the seeds necessary to have all those wishing to have this province as their homeland, to cherish the resources with that same respect. Just as if it were their holy-land too! And just like their original countrymen treat their homelands and resources with respect.

Normally and legally, a landclaim settlement or treaty would determine what each side paid for what they got. But the white man already has the whole province for free. The natives got less than Continued on P.7

Dear Editor;

What a wonderful wedding. The clouds parted and the sun came out Saturday, October 10, 1998, right on time for the ceremony outside under the willow tree.

People from near and far attended the blessed union of Sandi and Dixon Terbasket,

I'm not a stranger to the Cawston/Keremeos areas but the event enabled me to see the communities in a different light, Because of the colder weather, the dinner and reception were at the Cawston Community Hall. I love community halls and down-home weddings, so I was excited to be able to spend an evening there.

The fantastic spread of food, the warm vibes, the great music from a local band, created a memorable visit in a beautiful valley.

Thank you all.

Lali claims

Black "protests too loudly"

by Harry S. Lali, MLA Yale-

Lillooet
"Methinks David Black protests too loudly". That's the first thought that comes to mind after reading and hearing the recent comments made by Mr. Black on the Nisga'a Treaty. Mr. Black states that he is only trying to tell "the other side of the story". I think he is doing something else again.

Simply put, Mr. Black is trying to stifle our basic fundamental right of freedom of expression by ordering his editors to give only a biased, one-sided and negative view of the Nisga'a Treaty and Aboriginal people. Mr. Black has been caught, and he knows it.

His sorry attempt to justify his actions just won't cut it. Now, here is the other side of the story.

The Nisga'a Final Agreement is a full and final settlement of the Nisga'a land claim. It provides everybody – B.C. citizens, the Nisga'a people, as well as investors and workers – with the certainty they meed to get on with building our province and creating jobs and prosperity for all British Columbians to enjoy.

The Government of B.C. made a

Lions sponsor pumpkin contest

Princeton Lions Club is sponsoring a great pumpkin carving contest. The contest is open to youngsters up to age 14, and is limited to 40 contestants. The first 40 who come to Cenotaph Park on October 29 between 3:30 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. will receive a free pumpkin to enter in the contest.

Judging will be done at 1:00 p.m. on October 31 at Cenotaph Park. An entry form is required. There will be prizes for the best decorated pumpkins.

commitment that all British Columbians be fully informed about all aspects of the Treaty. This commitment includes a variety of public information materials ranging from advertisements and fact sheets to a complete text of the Treaty.

Public demand for Treaty information is high. For example, since July of this year we have received over 5,866 phone calls on our 1-800 line. Our website has received over 56,000 "hits" since August 4th.

Full copies of the Nisga'a Final

Agreement, along with summary and background information, are available on the Internet at www.aaf.gov.bc.ca/aaf or by calling 1-800-880-1022. You can also request a copy through your local MLA.

I believe the more people learn about the treaty, the more likely they are to conclude it's a fair, balanced and honourable settlement that works for all British Columbians. Stifling debate, as Mr. Black is trying to do, is both unfair and undemocratic.

Native gives viewpoint

nothing and they paid a tremendous price for that. So the treaty is already in place. The only incomplete part of the treaty is the payment to the natives. And that payment has now deteriorated down to how much of their own lands and resources they will get back for having given up the whole thing! Can you believe it: for some white people, the natives didn't give up enough?

If the natives vote on the payment portion of any treaty it would represent the very first time they could vote on the whole subject matter. Remember: they couldn't vote for the first 100 years when all of the land-grab and resource-grab laws affecting the treaty were put in place. So much for equal voting rights!

Notwithstanding that a treaty is already in place except for signatures and payment to the natives, obviously any demand now by the non-natives for a referendum must be interpreted as an opening-up of the treaty process whereby we all got back to square one and re-negotiate (i.e. as it was in 1856, the white man starts with his bottle of rum and suitcase in which, of course, he carries his Bible and we Indians start with all the land!) And oh yes, this time it's done in a language both sides understand! Of course, the same rules continue to be applicable if a referendum is actually held and defeated.

Eureka! Do you think maybe these referendum guys might be just trying to help use Indians out? Do you think maybe we should join force4s with them? Wow! Maybe they really mean it when they say they want a fair deal for everyone! Maybe their Gods wouldn't let them speak with a forked tongue on an issue so important to their fellow human beings! Do your think we should believe them again? Don Ursaki,

Band Member, Cooks Ferry Indian Band, Spences Bridge, B.C.

Ralf rites: a dog's view

Dear Editor;

Whut prompted me to rite wuz this guy in Tulameen whut knows this Jack Russel Terrier whut also reads the Nooz-Leader. This may be nooz to yew, but I've known we can read, for dong's ages. I would like the J. Russel to know that I can also rite. Rite and Think!

Tonite I wuz lying by my boss on the carpet as he wuz listening to the nooz, and I hurd them say on the Seabeesea that there wuz a earthquake of 5.4 in Ohio, and it crossed over into Canada. Can't them Yanks keep their earthquakes at home? I think we don't want them in Canada. Whut really bugs me (darn fleez) is, they stop our lumber at the border. Us dogs play tit for tat. Why don't Canajuns?

My boss tells me we got all this water that runs down over the border and they don't even try to stop it. It seems they need it to run some Grand Collie Dam (Must be the Dog Queen of the Yewessay).

I believe if yew Canajuns were dogs, you would play that 'tit for tat' game. Yew know, yew don't give us dogs enuf credit. Us dogs like sammin, for instance. But yew let them Yanks catch your sammin before they get home and soon there won't be no more sammin. Even poodles know that!

I know this big black bear. Every nite he raids my boss's garden. He is very skinny. I tell him "Yew must be awful hardup to eat carrots. Why not go to the Yewessay and maybe yew can get some of our sammin?"

He says, "No thanx, with my luck they'll stop me at the border and send me back. I think I'll just starve to death at home."

I think bears must be as smart as Canajuns. Do yew Canajuns not stand up to them Yanks cuz they're bigger? Well, someday maybe I'll tell you about this big Rottweiler I know.

If you would like sum more canine filosophy, tell Dawn, down at the Nooz-Leader. Maybe someday I could try sum hiway 40 humor. Being a collie, I can't do filosify and humor at the same time.

I think it's not fare, but my boss sez this filosify will not get printed unless he sines his name on the bottom.

A question of confidence

by Joe Schwarz, local philosopher and humorist

One of the most important issues to be resolved today is the longoverdue honourable resolution of native land claims. At the moment, Premier Clark is committing $5 million to promote the acceptance of the Nisga'a treaty. He says it's that good. That's the scary part. For many of us, we are not familiar with its contents or consequences. It would be far better to debate the treaty in our legislature and media by our elected and well-paid MLA's and let the citizens make their own determination and use the $5 million slated for advertising toward the restoration of services that have created so much stress, anxiety and hurt among our people (which has been chronicled almost weekly in the News Leader).

The issue here is more than the acceptance of the Nisga'a treat, it is the issue of lack of confidence in Premier Clark's leadership and judgement. Thousands of dollars were spent on advertising health's New Directions. We now have an eroded "lost Directions" result. Thousands were spent on "Forest Renewal and 40,000 new jobs" It didn't happen. Indeed, it is not yet certain that Premier Clark and his people realize that money does not grow on trees. Millions of dollars were spent on the ancient Prince Rupert Skeena Cellulose, which may close now.

Two hundred thousand dollars were spent investigating the salmon dispute when federal Fisheries Minister Anderson is already following the findings of a joint federal-B.C. salmon report. The list, like our provincial debt, goes on. No wonder business does not want to invest in B.C. There is no confidence.

There is a solution, a) Call an election. b) Mr. Clark's party install a new leader as soon as Other options: 1) Appoint Vander Zalm Finance Minister 2) Have Premier Clark and President Clinton exchange places. 3) If time and permission allow, install Ms. Gillian Guess as interim Premier. Why? First, she could not do worse and more importantly, she has a proven record of producing results that make history. 4) Never in the history of B.C. have so few done so much so successfully to bring the province to its economic knees, or more politely stated, forced early retirement on so many, as our present provincial administration. Best. take this moment and pray for deliverance.

As for ratifying the Nisga'a agreement, it's a question of confidence.

Outdoors inspires summer wedding theme

The Semiahmoo Fish and Game Club property was the setting on August 22, 1998, for a beautiful summer wedding that united Tara Lee Middleton and Christopher Joseph Weissbach in marriage.

The ceremony was performed in the game club's gazebo, which was decorated with blue and white tulle streamers and flowers. A piper led the way for the bride, on her father's arm, over an arched bridge down to the gazebo. Tara wore a gown of white eyelet over baby blue lining. She was attended by her sister, Tannis Irving, and by the groom's niece, Louise Weissbach. They wore matching knee-length dresses. All three dresses were hand-sewn by Tara and Tannis.

Christopher wore a black tuxedo and was attended by his best Prespatou, near Fort St. John.

friends Yati Singh and Fred Grausam.

An excellent dinner followed ain the game club's banquet room. In keeping with the setting, the menu included roast venison and moose.

Party favours were chocolatecovered almonds in blue tulle sachets. The wedding cake was uniquely decorated with a forest scene, including selective logging, a stream and deer all on a snowy background.

Over 100 people were present to celebrate this memorable occasion with the very special couple. Guests came from Everett, Washington, Hope, Princeton and the Lower Mainland.

The happy couple will reside in

Biosolids bother illage councillors

October 19, Keremeos Village Council discussed the proposed use of biosolids in the Keremeos area. Mayor Strangrt has received numerous calls concerning Bill Bush's property, Stranart wonders how GVRD can afford the cost of analysis and trucking the product free of charge. He said that, in the past, He was told by staff that local biosolids are removed to the dump because the Village could not afford the required tests.

Councillors Hecocks and Gurevitch are both suspicious and want samples tested from each truckload.

Hecocks commented, "It's a long way from Vancouver, It could be anything when it gets here."

Gurevitch sees 'red flags' because elected officials have applied for permits to use biosolids. He said it would be "easy to slip another truck in" through a bribe.

"We already know how hard it is to get it out once it's here."

Public works sub-foreman Bob Stanley was also in attendance and noted "nothing will be done until December."

Council decided to ensure extensive public consultation.

Student writes letter home from Denmark

This letter was written by Rotary exchange student Eric Laursen from Gadbjerg, Denmark. Dear Princeton Rotary;

Greetings from Denmark. I can't believe I've already been gone for two months. Time is going too fast.

Well, the weather is still cold and rainy, but the Danes are warm and friendly, so I don't notice.

I've met a lot of great people here. It's not hard to make friends at all. Everyone here speaks English really well, so communicating is not a problem. I am picking up the language, if only a little at a time. I can understand quite a bit, but I still have apprehensions about speaking Danish. They say Danish is harder to learn than Chinese, so trust me when I say it's no picnic. I am doing quite well though.

School is still very boring. I don't understand enough that I can follow the lesson yet, so I have to find things to do to occupy my time, like writing letters. The teachers don't mind, they know it'll take some time before I can fully participate in class. They just work around me when they have to, and try to include me whenever possible. My class often make a point of it to get things explained to me in English.

My class consists of the same twenty students, and we take Danish, English, Latin, History, P.E., music, Biology and Nature Science together. I'm in a smaller Advanced French class, and a separate Art class. I also have two free periods a week, during which I can answer e-mail, so be sure to get in touch. My e-mail at my school is: 98cEL@tag-gym.dk

Even though I've only been here for a short time, I've already gotten to see so much of this beautiful country. I've been to Silkeborg for a Rotary exchange student conference, where we went boating across the lake and climbed the second highest "mountain" in Denmark. I've been to Billand and flown in what I think was the world's smallest airplane. I've also been to Legoland, also in Billand. I've been to Copenhagen twice, seen the Royal Palace and the Tivoli Gardens Amusement Park. I've been to Fredericia and Middelfart where my grandparents were born. And I've been sailing to the island of Samso for a class trip. There is still so much more to see, and I can't wait to go to so many more places. I just hope there's enough time in the year.

I'm having a really great time here, and I really enjoy the Danish culture. It has its differences, but nothing that I'd call shocking has hit me yet, except when some girls let out a loud belch. I haven't quite got used to

CS-FORCE™

"On Sale Now"

CS Force™ is the exact ratio of the two nutrients, Chondroitin Sulfate and Glucosamine Sulfate recommended in "THE ARTHRITIS CURE" as a safe, non-toxic formula for arthritis sufferers of all ages. Chondroitin Sulfate helps cartilage retain its elasticity and fluidity, thereby increasing the joint's pain-free range of motion. Clinical studies have shown that Chondroitin Sulfate exerts potent anti-inflammatory and regenerative action on connective tissue and degenerative joint disease.

Glucosamine Sulfate is an amino sugar essential for the healthy synthesis of connective tissue and synovial fluid. It is used extensively by the human body in the process of all tissue building and is one of the nutritional building blocks of cartilage. There is significant research to demonstrate that treatment can actually reverse the effects of cartilage and joint damage and repair connective tissue.

Back Talk..... by Dr. Warren Gage

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself, my name is Dr. Warren Gage and I am a Chiropractor from Merritt. I recently graduated from the Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College in Toronto Ontario. I have been practicing Chiropractic in Merritt for one year and have recently opened a new office in Princeton at #1 - 130 Harold Ave. The Princeton office is open every Tuesday and Thursday.

I was talking with the Similkameen News Leader staff and agreed that a column in the paper would be an excellent medium to provide information on various health-related subjects. So, starting this week, I will be submitting short essays for publication which I hope you will find informative and entertaining. Topics will vary each issue as I will attempt to provide information on a wide variety of issues not just chiropractic issues. Also, should anyone have any topics on which they would like some more information, I can be reached Monday through Saturday at 295-7015. Starting immediately, look for my "BACK TALK" column in the Leader.

As this is my first article for the paper, I guess I should write about something that comes to mind when one hears the word "Chiropractor". More specifically, I wish to address our bones and Osteoporosis. Although osteoporosis may affect men, women, and children of all ages, it is most common in postmenopausal women, affecting one in four. In all, osteoporosis affects approximately 2.5 million Canadians. What is Osteoporosis?

Just like your hair and skin, your bones are alive and constantly changing. In normal bones, cells are constantly breaking down (removing calcium) and forming new bone (adding calcium) at an equal rate. When this fine balance is disrupted and bone is broken down faster than it is formed, bones become brittle and weak resulting in osteoporosis. Osteoporosis is further complicated by fractures occurring after only minimal trauma.

Due to natural aging, as we all approach the mid-thirties, the rebuilding process in both men and women begins to slow and we begin to lose bone mass.

Normally, this is not a problem as long as we start out with enough bone mass and the rate of loss is not too high. Osteoporosis occurs when bones have not stored enough calcium during adolescence to afford the natural loss which occurs, or the rate of calcium loss is higher than normal later in life.

Some factors which increase one's risk of osteoporosis are:

•female
•post menopause
•over 50 years of age

over 50 years of age prolonged hormonal imbalances ovaries removed or menopause before age 45

*smoking
*calcium deficient diet
*limited exposure to the sun or lack of vitamin D in the diet
*excess use of some medications (cortisone, prednisone, thyroid hormone, anticonvulsants, and aluminum containing antacids)
*lack of physical activity

*family history of osteoporosis
*thin, small body frame

 white or Asian ethnicity
 high consumption of caffeine or alcohol (more than 3 drinks per day)

So, what can we do to prevent

The most important preventative measure is to ensure one has the maximum possible amount of formed bone. This is referred to as peak bone mass and it is reached by the age of 25. As peak bone mass is determined early in one's life, adequate calcium and

You can cure winter blahs

A study done in 1997 showed that the majority of Canadians suffer from what is commonly called "the winter blahs". In some cases, the winter blahs is severe, and is called Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD disease).

The 1997 study linked the winter blahs to lack of sunlight, and deficiency of Vitamin D. The symptoms are feelings of depression, lack of energy and initiative, and fatigue (a strong need for sleep). In most people, there is a tendency to eat more than usual, in the form of binging on sweets and unhealthy snacks.

There are many nutritional supplements which can help the body cope with the symptoms. B vitamins, especially B12, Vitamin C and Vitamin D plus calcium can relieve many of the symptoms. Outdoor exercise in the winter can be beneficial, as what the body lacks most is daylight and sunlight. The 1997 study indicated Vitamin D as an essential supplement (Grandma was right!) as it helps the body absorb Vitamin C and calcium. Calcium plays a part in calming nerves and giving "happy" feelings, while Vitamin C is essential for a strong immune system.

Vitamin D is commonly known as cod liver oil, a substance which most people do not want to take due to its taste. Today's cod liver oil comes in tasteless capsules. Halibut liver oil is equally good, and does not tend to "repeat" with a fishy-tasting burp.

Eat a healty, balanced diet during the winter. vitamin D intake and regular physical exercise during the adolescent and early adult years is extremely important.

Limiting the loss of bone mass later in life is the other form of prevention. This again can be achieved through regular weight-bearing exercise, eating a well balanced diet, supplementation especially with calcium and vitamin D, and possibly hormone replacement therapy (for postmenopausal women).

Early detection is also of great benefit. If you have several of the above risk factors, you may wish to consult your chiropractor, medical doctor, or call the South Okanagan Osteoporosis Program at (250) 492-4000 for bone density screening and further education

Operation Christmas Child 1998

It may be early to be thinking about Christmas, but one organization is kicking off something special for Christmas 1998. Princeton Baptist Church has agreed to be a collection point this year for Operation Christmas Child, a project now in its sixth year. It is a practical way for Canadians to share God's love with children living in countries ravaged by war, poverty or natural disaster.

The idea is simple: you take an old shoe box and fill it with things like toys, school supplies and hygienic items such as a toothbrush or a comb. Once the box is filled, Samaritan's Purse delivers it and thousands of others, to places like Bosnia, Rwanda, Croatia, Jordan and Nicaragua. Last year, more than 2,750 churches and 1,500 schools across Canada were involved in the program resulting in over 233,000 shoe boxes being prepared. This was part of an international effort that saw a total of over 1,600,000 shoe boxes collected.

All of this began on October 10, 1990, when David and Jill Cooke of Wrexham, North Wales, were watching a broadcast about Romania and the horrors of the orphanage system there. They had a vision of how they could help the victims, the children, who live in these situations day after day. Together with friends, they filled a convoy of nine trucks with medical supplies, food, clothing and Christmas gifts for children, and headed into Romania to distribute these items. This was the beginning of what we know today as Operation Christmas Child.

Each carefully packaged shoe box gift that is sent overseas is a reminder that in the midst of all the pain, suffering and violence, someone still cares. It is more than a box of toys; it is a gift of hope and love.

Doing a box is simple. Find an empty shoe box. You can wrap it. If so, wrap the lid separately. Decide whether the gift will be for a boy or a girl and the age category: 2 to 4, 5 to 9, or 10 to 14. Label as to gender and age. Fill the box with a variety of gifts using the following suggestions: toys, school supplies, hygiene items, and miscellaneous items such as hard candy, lollipops, mints, gum, sunglasses, flashlights with extra batteries, ball caps, socks, T-shirts, etc. Do not include toy guns, knives or warrelated items, chocolate, perishable or canned items, used items that are stained or worn out, breakable or liquid items, vitamins, cough drops or other medications. You may include an envelope with a note or card. Five dollars or more may be included to Samaritan's Purse to help cover shipping costs. Cheques are preferable and donations are tax deductible.

Princeton Light & Power's TRANS-X RATE DESIGN PROGRAM

How is ENERGY Priced with Trans - x Rates?

Under the TRANS - X ("TX") Rates the cost of the actual electricity ("ENERGY") which you the customer will pay, will be the actual cost of the ENERGY purchased by PLP, passed straight through and adjusted only to allow for the losses incurred within PLP's own distribution system. As the prices will vary each month due to the time-of-use ("TOU") purchasing, the price on the bill will reflect the "average" price per KWH over the last 12 month period.

WHY IS THE ENERGY CHARGE "AVERAGED" OVER 12 MONTHS?

This is done to take the severe seasonal swings out of the monthly ENERGY charge. Without the 12 month averaging, the monthly ENERGY Charge would swing from as high as about 5.5 cents per kilowatt hour in the Winter Months to as low as 1.9 cents per kilowatt hour in the Shoulder Months. This is a 300% swing in the ENERGY price throughout the year and would certainly cause much confusion and hardships for many of our customers. The 12 month averaged price would be about 3.6 cents per kilowatt hour. The actual charge each month will move very slightly as the cost of power purchases will vary each month thus changing the 12 month averages.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN TOU AND THE REGULAR BLENDED "AVERAGE" COST?

Using the past 12 months as a model, the averaged cost of power was 3.7 cents per kilowatt hour with our present blended purchasing method. If we had been on TOU purchasing, the averaged cost per kilowatt hour would have been 3.6 cents per kilowatt hour. This represents a 3% decrease in the average cost of purchased power without changing anything else. The overall effect on the average power bill would be greater than a 1% reduction.

Are there other advantages to purchasing ENERGY on TOU Rates?

You bet ... As all PLP Customers become more familiar with the 'on peak' and 'off peak' hours in the TOU Schedules, without much thought, we will all start to try and do more activities which involve the use of electric power during the 'off peak' hours. For example, most modern dishwashers are equipped with a delayed operation timer. If it is set to run after the 'on peak' hours each day, not only the power it uses, but also the associated hot water tank operation will occur in the 'off peak' hours. In the Winter and Summer months this can create significant savings without having to do anything differently other than setting the timer. This is only one simple example and we will have many, many more for you in the days ahead.

Its Time to Move On

The Coynes are long term Princeton residents.

Letter from Denmark..... from page 9

They're a lot more open about some things, but at the same time, they don't have a word for 'please".

The attitude that is the most different here is the one toward drinking. People here start drinking around the age of thirteen. You have to be fifteen to buy alcohol in a store, and eighteen to go into a bar or club, but they hardly ever ID you, because it is so relaxed. I'd be lying if I said that I've never had a beer while I've been here, but it has been with my host family's permission, and I'm not going out every weekend to get drunk.

The food is so good here. Even though a lot of it is fatty, so far I've avoided putting on those exchange student pounds. I don't know how long that will last though. I've eaten more potatoes here than I think I've ever eaten before. They have potatoes with dinner S or 6 times a week. That means almost every day, I eat potatoes, but I like it.

Another thing I eat almost every day is liver paste. You may say yuck, but there are few things I enjoy more than an open-faced liver paste on rye bread sandwich. However, they think I'm weird because I put cheese on my sandwiches. They just don't do that here. Cheese is very under-used bere but I can't live without it, even if they do call me weird.

Now, the best thing I've had to eat here is the vanilla ice cream. I don't know why or how, but it is just so good. I think it has more fat in it too, so I try not to eat it very often. When I do, I eat a lot of it, I love it.

The candy here is different, too. Mostly it's all licorice, but candy like Skittles, or Gummy Bears is less sweet than it is in North America. I don't eat very much candy here.

The roads aren't as wide here. It's quite a task if two buses want to pass each other. One has to pull half off the road while the other one squeezes by, driving on the shoulder. The thin roads don't stop people from driving fast, though. I'm sure there's a speed limit somewhere, I just wish I knew what it might be. I don't think the police mind though, because I never see them anywhere. I'm told they do exist, somewhere.

Most of the TV programs here are in English, with Danish subtitles, so I have learned a bit of language off the TV. Some of the TV shows here are in German, and that's just really confusing. You haven't lived, however, until you've seen a Japanese Godzilla movie dubbed into German.

The other day, a friend of my host parents celebrated his 25 year jubilee working for Lego. We went to a reception at Lego, and then he gave us a private tour of the building. I got to see things that very few people are permitted to see. And let's just say that I now have one of my biggest childhood dreams come true. I got to see them putting together giant displays made out of Lego for the new Legoland opening in California next year.

I got to see some of the new Lego that will be coming out soon, and although they didn't have any sort of secrecy waiver, I'm pretty sure I'd be putting my life in danger if I told you more. I wasn't even allowed to take pictures.

This country is wonderful, despite the weather, and it doesn't take long for it to grow on you. I already feel comfortable here, and more danish than I was when I first arrived. Danish is not just a language and a culture, but it's also an attitude. And it's a positive, friendly attitude that I could easily adopt as my own.

Thank you again for allowing me this great opportunity. It has already changed my life forever.

Atom team grabs two wins

Last weekend, the Lynch Bus Lines Atom hockey team saw action both days. The team played their first season league game on Saturday at home against South Okanagan #2 team. Princeton Atoms scored seven goals in the first period, and the final score was 19-0 for Princeton. Goalies Rylan Mogge and Tanner Gunn saw little action. Sunday put the team on the road to Merritt. Ten minutes into the game, Princeton scored. This game was exciting end to end. Princeton was able to dominate in the offensive zone owing to the solid strength of its defensive lines. Halfway through the game, the score was 3-1 for Princeton, a slim lead. Then, as this group of boys has proven time and again, the floodgates opened. Merritt was hit by a barrage of break-aways and great teamwork. Princeton won 9-1.

Weekend scorers were: Jake Greening 8, Lewis Smith 5, 'Hatrick' LePoidevin 5, Josh Scarpelli 4, Shaine Clifton 4, Brandon Adams 1. Assists went to: Lewis Smith 7, Shaine Clifton 4, Jake 3, Patrick 4, and single assists to Josh, Kevin Blank, Beau Wilkinson, and Donavin Costa and Reid Bicknell.

The season is young. Once again the boys have a strong contingency of followers at each game. Come watch them Oct, 31 and Nov, 8 noon.

Three lonely gerbils

by Kathy Morton

Far, far away in a pet store there once were three lonely gerbils. Their names were Freddy, Eddy and Neddy. It was a fine pet store with big windows for the warm sun to shine in. They were well cared for with clean shavings and fresh food and water everyday. But, they were lonely - so very lonely! On the weekends they delighted in visits from lots of people and especially children. How they loved children!

Unfortunately, through the week all the children had to go to school. It was so quiet - and so lonely. How they missed the children's' laughter and chubby little hands reaching through their cages to pick them up and cuddle them.

One morning a woman in a bright red coat came in and bought them. How excited they were! Freddy, Eddy and Neddy watched closely as she also bought a fine square wood gerbil cage. It had interesting doors for gerbils to scoot in and out of. She even bought some colorful toys from off the shelf. As they listened, they heard the pet store owner tell her how to care for music concert Living Water Foursquare Gospel Church sponsors a concert on October 28 featuring Chuck Girard, a musician who made his mark in show business before becoming a "born again" Christian during the 1970's. The concert will take place at the OAP Hall on Billiter Ave, in Princeton at 7:00 p.m. There is no admission charged, but a freewill offering will be accepted.

Girard is well-known among ose who prefer Christian music. He has albums to his credit, most recently Voice of the Wind and Name Above All Names, and has appeared frequently on television with the 700 Club and 100 Huntley Street. He has worked through Trinity Broadcasting Network.

Girard has toured the United States, Europe, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Canada, to present a renewed vision for evangelism.

them. Then they were off to their new home!

Their new owner was very kind and took good care of Freddy, Eddy and Neddy. She gave them clean shavings and fresh water and food every day. But, they were still lonely - so very lonely. How they missed the children that used to come and visit them at the pet store.

One morning they heard a familiar sound. They perked up their ears and wriggled their little noses at each other. Could it possibly be what they think it is? Could it possibly be some children?

Just then the door swings open wide and bangs into the wall! They hear feet running and excited laughter. Before they know it there are two beautiful little redhaired girls peering thru the cage at them.

Their eyes are gleaming, their smiles seem to stretch right from ear to ear. They are so eager to hold and cuddle their new pets.

Little Scoop

Movies these days sure are terrible! Everyone use to have their straight forward love stories and. their straight forward action movies and our straight forward horror movies ... you get the picture. Then the people in charge of making our movies noticed that their stories were getting a little boring and done to death so they thought " Let's take the EXACT same story and just switch around the plot a bit." Which led us to movies where the hero ends up being the bad guy and the bad guy the hero, and the two you thought were in love were in love with other people but all ends up happy. Let's take the movie "Wild Things" for example. If you haven't seen it here's the story, its a sexual harassment case that turns into a blackmail case that actually was a trick to exploit a rich lady but in the end all the people involved are killed except one who takes all the money. Years ago, a movie about a rape case would have been fine, but now we have to turn it into a story that makes you dizzy with plot twists all in the name of making a movie that sells. Instead of people making quality movies, we make movies that sell, and it is a rare case when we actually get an original story that may move you to emotion. I hope you all have seen "Good Will Hunting", and if you haven't I recommend you should. This is a movie that was written by Matt Damon and Ben Affleck, two big time stars now, but when they wrote this screenplay they were struggling actors. That movie was written without the influence of Hollywood and the need to be a success, but instead written by two friends with an original heart warming story in mind. It was made with a small budget and in the end won an oscar, and was nominated for best picture. I sure hope Hollywood realizes that people want to see something new, not the same ideas no matter how you mix them up.

Freddy, Eddy and Neddy can't wait for the door to open.

In a flash the door flies open and they are scooped up and held tight. They are flipped upsidedown and backwards and every which way. After what seems like forever the girls put them back in the cage. "Phew!" they say to each other and run for cover!

Freddy claims the spot under the wheel and Eddy runs under one of the toys. Neddy sends sawdust flying in every direction as he buries himself under it.

They have never been so tired nor so happy! They all agree that this is the home for them. They know now that they will never be lonely again!

Trout Talk

Fishing 'Tom Thumb' in lake and river

by John Sandness, Similkameen Valley outdoorsman.

Last column, I talked about the dragonfly nymph and how we had good success fishing it slowly over weed beds. Dragonfly larvae are not speedsters unless really frightened! Then they "jet propel" themselves by squirting water, like the squid and octopus. Normally, they creep very slowly over the weeds on the lake bot-

Caddis fly larva, also known as periwinkle or penny winkle, also creep slowly along the bottom. They hatch out to adults throughout the year and emerge as the flycommonly called the sedge. Some . are green-bodied, others, brown. One sedge which used to be very common, and which I personally have not seen much recently, is the travelling sedge. This is a large caddis fly, and when I have seen them hatch, have had lots of trout chasing them. Being large caddis flies, they have lots of food value. I believe that big fish, unless they can't find anything else, would rather use their energy to catch big insects or minnows. It makes sense to me, anyway!

I really don't know who the genius was who came up with the Tom Thumb. It represents the adult sedge. I say, "represents" lit- especially in the cool fall erally, as it doesn't exactly imitate evenings at Allison.

A travelling sedge reminds me of river is quite a different story! I carnivals and amusement parks. Remember how you scooted around in all directions? People bumped into you from all directions. Lots of fun then! But if I did that now, I'd be ready for the chiropractor! Anyway, I digress

How do you imitate the action of these sedges? The greatest asset of the Tom Thumb is its floating ability. Made with hollow deer hair, they act as if they had life preservers on them. As a sedge swims, it forms a tiny wake, much like a boat. Retrieving the Tom Thumb at a slow speed - say two or three feet in ten seconds, often works for me. The trout really "hammer" a Thumb on the strike. On lakes also, those of you using spinning rods can fish the Tom Thumb with a clear torpedo bobber. I call it the T and T. Casting the fly out and slowly retrieving it gives the spinner two wakes, one from the bobber and one from the fly. You can often reach out to areas the fly caster cannot reach. A 35 to 50 foot cast is about average with a fly rod. A spinner can get his T and T out 70 to 100 feet easily. Try the T and T from the shore at the north end of Allison Lake. My cousin, Bob Johnston, used to catch large trout that way, Fishing the Tom Thumb in the the old bumper cars they had at like to fish the fly on a "dead drift". Insects in a river really can't get very far toward shore, and certainly don't go upstream! Also, before they go far, a trout usually grabs them.

So whether it is a grasshopper imitation, a Black Gnat, or a Tom Thumb, let the fly drift naturally with the current. You will, I think, find it the best way. Of course, there will always be the odd trout that will "clobber" your dragging Tom Thumb as you pull it upstream for your next cast, but that is what keeps us guessing and makes the art of fly fishing just that - not a science, but an art, where rules are broken every time we go out.

Hope you are getting out for some successful fall fishing these

The first years last forever

by Elaine Wilson, Public Health 5) Encourage safe exploration Nurse, OSHR, Penticton and play - Parents should

Just as a child needs food to grow, a child needs positive emotional, physical and intellectual experiences in his/her early years for the growth of a healthy brain. Science now tells us that the experiences in childhood actually affect the way a child's brain develops.

At birth, the brain is remarkably unfinished. The parts of the brain that handle thinking and remembering, as well as emotional and social behaviour, are very underdeveloped. The fact that the brain matures in the world rather than in the womb means that young children are deeply affected by their early experience. The period from preconception to age five is known as the "investment phase" for child development - nurturing care during this time has lifelong consequences for brain development. The Canadian Institute of Health recognizes principles of brain development and lists guidelines to help parents and caregivers raise happy, healthy children and capable learners.

1) Be warm, loving and responsive – The expression of love – touching, rocking, talking, smiling, singing – affect how the young child's brain is "wired" and helps to shape their ability to form trust for future relationships.

2) Respond to child's cues and clues - A parent who responds quickly to the needs of a newborn baby is helping a newborn create trusting, secure attachments with the parent. Studies show that children who receive attentive, loving care produce less of the stress hormone cortisol, and when they do become upset, they turn off their stress reaction more quickly. Infants and young children who are exposed to abuse and neglect are more likely to produce a strong stress response, even when exposed to minimal stress.

3) Talk, read and sing to your child—Infants don't yet grasp the meaning of words, but it is through these early "conversations" that language capacity grows. When babies hear words repeated over and over (such as the repetitive reading of a favourite story), the parts of the brain that handle speech and language develop.

4) Establish routines and rituals- Daily routines and rituals associated with pleasurable feelings are reassuring for children (ie: a toddler knows that a parent will soon be picking her up because the childcare provider has given her the juice and crackers snack). Repeated positive experiences provide children with a sense of security to help them learn what to expect from their environment. Children who have safe and predictable interactions with others have also been found to do better in school later on.

5) Encourage safe exploration and play – Parents should encourage a child to explore space beyond their caregivers, and be receptive when the child needs to return to them for security. For a child, playing is learning.

master the small challenges of everyday life, they feel good about themselves, particularly when their accomplishments are acknowledged with specific praise.

9) Choose quality child care and

6) Make TV watching selective— Very young children are still learning about the difference' between what is real and what is pretend. Whenever possible, parents should sit and watch programs together with their children, and talk about what is being viewed. Studies show that children who learn best in school have families who limit TV watching and are selective about which TV shows are seen.

7) Use discipline as an opportunity to teach—Discipline is about learning. A child learns negative things from hitting/shaking—fear, humiliation and rage, and that violence is an acceptable way of reacting.

8) Recognize that each child is unique — Children's ideas and feelings about themselves reflect, in large measure, a parent's attitude about them. When children stay involved — Invest time and effort in seeking out and deciding about childcare options. Parents should stay involved in evaluating the quality of childcare their child is receiving — make unannounced drop-in visits and ask for frequent "progress reports".

10) Take care of yourself – A parent or caregiver's health and welfare are extremely important in determining their ability to meet the needs of young children. When parents feel overwhelmed they need to reach out and get some help.

Research informs us of the vital importance of the relationships between caregiver and child in the first years of life. We have an opportunity to help children realize their full potential when we realize that the "first years truly last forever."

Princeton's coach, Mike Bertram, said, "I feel the girls played down to Logan Lake's level instead of playing at their own level."

Keremeos works for healthy schools

by Rachel Gurevitch,

Similkameen Secondary reporter Few people are aware that for the past two years, Similkameen Elementary Secondary School has been involved with a program called Healthy Schools.

Healthy Schools is governmentfunded and provides grants for schools to make positive healthy changes and additions for the benefit of students, staff and the entire community. Over the past two years, they have provided S.E.S.S. with $800 in funds. With the help of further fundraising within the school, two projects have been completed.

Six shade trees have been planted in the courtyard, and four park benches have been installed near the playground.

The Elementary Student Council made their decision for the '98 Healthy Schools Program. They plan to purchase an outdoor water fountain and outdoor playground equipment such as a parachute, tether balls – to replace two vandalized over a year ago - basketballs and a large rubber ball which will reach over four feet from the ground up.

The ideas have been through the first approval and now the school must send in a proposal of what they plan to do. The final decision will be made at the end of November by the Healthy Schools board.

Lions praise Lions

Lions work hard and play hard. Princeton Lions had a little of both on Saturday, as they held their district cabinet meeting and celebrated the twenty-eighth anniversary of their charter night. District Governor Bev Bradford, the first female District Governor, presided at the cabinet meeting, but her husband, former District Governor Bob Bradford, shone as guest speaker at the evening festivities.

The cabinet meeting was an opportunity for the 71 Lions in attendance to share their past year's activities and their plans for the future. New Lions projects were proposed and discussed. It was not "business only" as the Lions enjoyed good fellowship.

There was nothing but fun at the evening celebration, particularly with John Haayer as Master of Ceremonies. He poked fun at the American visitors, but they fought back with a remark about coming to Canada for "a really cheap vacation".

Councillor Jim Manion gave the official welcome to Princeton, after taking a few of Haayer's shots himself, and commended Lions on the good work they do for their community.

"They are good ambassadors for Princeton through their network. I wish them every success in the future," Manion said.

Buck Davis was presented with the 100% Treasurer Award. Davis is Princeton's club treasurer.

Charter members George Judd and Chuck Longdo were recognized, along with John Sandness, who was not present.

John Haayer received his medal for having achieved the Brian Stevens Award a year ago. The medal is awarded for exceptional service to club and community.

Tail Twister Gerry Vinthers caused a great deal of apprehension with his "prizes". The last three names to be drawn required a public performance by the winners.

Bob Bradford ended the list of speakers and awards with a clever speech which summed up the achievements of Princeton Lions. He noted their assistance to minor ball, to Scouts, Cubs and Beavers, the construction of a concession stand, wheelchairs and an ECG machine for the hospital, the Asp Creek foot bridge, and numerous other projects.

"Look what this club has meant to this community," Bradford said, "I've only scraped the surface."

He referred to Lions clubs as "action units" and asked Lions to go into the future "brightly" following their motto "We serve"

Students seek new school spirit

PSS Student Council By Steven Tory

This year's Princeton Secondary Student Council consists of Co-Presidents Tina Costa, and Sheryl Petschl, Vice President Lauren Gibson, Treasurer Jen McConnell, Activities Coordinator Alisdair Reid, as well as Sandy Crockett, Sarah Liberatore, Dwayne Costa, Dan Whitford, and myself, Secretary Steven Tory. We have another busy schedule this year including several dances, teacher appreciation events, spirit days (hat day, PJ day, etc.), Remembrance day ceremonies, an air band contest, a talent show, a food bank competition between grades, and other fun events.

One project we are currently focused on is our spirit shirts. A contest was run in which students submitted possible logos of their own design to be voted on by their peers. The winning logo, drawn by Leticia Stacey, has been printed on T-shirts which will be given to students, staff, and volunteers who participate in activities, and show pride in our school. On Thursday October 22 the first spirit shirt assembly was called and six spirit shirts were awarded to: Aleena Lay, Kerwin Morton, Brent Blank, Dane Lockwood, Colin Timms, and Mrs. Ortwein for being great members of our school. The assembly also featured activities such as duct-taping students to the wall and blowing up latex gloves. Nominations for spirit shirt winners can be made by filling out a form, available in the school office. If you know a student who you think deserves recognition, feel free to stop by the school and nominate

Keremeos dump fire was timely

A stockpile of wood waste material at the Keremeos Sanitary Landfill began smouldering on Thursday, October 22.

David Duckworth, Regional District Public Works Manager, said "the material appears to have self-ignited." The local fire department was dispatched to assess the situation and recommended igniting the material to allow it to burn itself out.

The Regional District was planning to burn this material within the next two weeks, as it recently received a burning permit from the Ministry of Forests.

"In accordance with the burning permit, we were waiting for the Venting Index to reach an acceptable level before proceeding with the burn," said Duckworth, "However, due to the circumstances, we felt it was prudent to proceed at this time."

Burning is usually only permitted when the Venting Index is 55 or greater. The October 22 index was 33.

The Ministry of Environment, Lands and Parks and the Ministry of Forests gave RDOS permission to proceed immediately with the burn, which was extinguished Sunday, October 25.
