

'In your face' races win crowd

Princeton - Top competitors, top machines, fast action, great facilities, excellent sound - all combined at Princeton Exhibition grounds to make a top-notch Sno-X event on Saturday and Sunday. Despite a bitter wind on the first day and a way-below-zero Sunday, the crowd turned out to gasp, cheer, scream and sit back in awe of one of the most exciting competitions local spectators have seen in years. Pro Sno-X is spectacular entertainment! (More on back page)

Spectators do not get much more up close and personal at a snowmobile race than at the exhibition grounds in Princeton last weekend for the Timberline Cruisers Snowcross races. The new location proved Princeton can make great use of the racetrack, rodeo grounds and grandstand in the middle of winter.

DID YOU SEE THIS MURDER VICTIM?

Princeton RCMP have released a photo of the recently deceased JOSEPH KENETH DRUSHKA, better known as "PHEN" to the people of Princeton and area. Drushka's body was found at his home on the evening of December 5, 1998. Princeton RCMP are hoping that anyone who was unsure who "Phen" was will be able to determine whether or not they have any information that might assist in the current homicide investigation. The file is currently being investigated by the local Princeton RCMP office and the Major Crime Unit based out of Kelowna. If anyone has any information in regards to this investigation, please contact the Princeton RCMP at (250)295-6911 or Crimestoppers at 1-800-222-8477.

Business meeting draws negative, positive

PRINCETON - The negative and positive met head to head Friday morning in an effort to try to promote what is economically best for Princeton and area.

Over 70 people attended the business breakfast sponsored by Town Council. Mayor Randy McLean welcomed business people and promoted a partnership between Council, Chamber of Commerce, Skill Centre and business community to work toward projects or incentives to be identified during the meeting.

Mayor McLean gave the latest information on the business park. The development plan is done, and is in Victoria awaiting approval. The land cannot be developed until services are in place.

Councillor Jim Manion spoke about the projects achieved by the Chamber of Commerce, and the importance of Town Council, business and Chamber working together.

"Many voices are greater than one voice," he said. "It will take a full community effort to promote Princeton."

Gerri Logan explained briefly what the Community Skills Centre can do for business.

Recreation Director Lyle Thomas led into the participation portion of the meeting. He began by noting that the arena generates $400,000 per year through tournaments, proof that community activities bring in money.

He suggested the Trans Canada Trail can generate a lot of money. Myra Canyon, a short portion of the trail open last summer had 2,700 visitors per week.

A page of ideas had been presented to persons attending the breakfast. Thomas reviewed the ideas, which ranged from promoting signage through creating a town square to hiring a marketing spe-

Otter Valley members elect 1999 executive body

TULAMEEN - Otter Valley Fish and Game Club elected a new slate of officers at their annual general meeting in Tulameen on January 15.

Ron White was returned as President, with Vice-Presidents Myra Brewer and Paul Adams. Armjit Howarth is Secretary and Tina Tessier is Treasurer. Directors are Trina Adams, Marlene Robinson, Arnie Powell, Dale Gouger (Sleepy Bear), and Barrie Wright.

The next meeting will be held at the clubhouse at 7:00 p.m. on February 21. Plans for coming events will be discussed at that meeting.

A great deal of negativism at the business people's breakfast ignored the development and expansion of the business sector (and the number of jobs) in recent years, which includes Princeton Plaza, Dairy Queen, the Community Skills Centre and Best Western Motel in this one location. As one speaker pointed out, every job means another consumer for all businesses.

cialist. There were sheets of paper on the wall for each idea and green sticky dots for people to place on the sheets to select their favourite ideas. There were additional sheets labeled "other ideas" for people to write their ideas.

After people had made their choices, Barry Cook made a short speech in which he said Princeton looks like a slum from the highway. He had been in Princeton for 26 years, and noted the difficulty in attracting health professionals to Princeton. He said he had been promoting a community center with an indoor pool, but it had not been built.

"Princeton hasn't gone up, it's gone down," Cook said. "How can we be a community without a community center? We have to ask ourselves what kind of a community we want to be and what kind of people we want to attract."

He referred to "welfare" as our biggest business, with retirement in second place. He suggested an air park at the airport. He offered a source of funding. He said billions of dollars in logs have gone out of Princeton and we should blockade the logging trucks on the highway until we see more dollars coming back.

At the end of his speech, Barry Montgomery asked Cook if, during the past 26 years, anything positive had happened.

Cook said, "No."

At that point, when it appeared an argument was ensuing between the two, Steve Brodie stood up and called a halt to the dispute. Brodie attacked Council for not keeping the edges of the highways clean, and said more must be done to bring people off the highway.

Wen Wong said he had his own problems in attracting a pharmacist to Princeton, and said a community center is important to him.

The owner of The Maze described how she and her boyfriend had moved here, against her better judgement, and had begun a ski hill operation, only to have it vandalized and entered by thieves.

Chris Pond described how badly his motel business had suffered in the past six months, saying he would likely not be paying property taxes, and wondered what would happen to the town if more businesses were unable to pay their taxes.

Dave Kyle said he would not have stayed in Princeton if it had remained the way it was when he first came here to work at the mine. He emphasized that revitalization, which was done in 1987, was a good beginning, and the townspeople should continue to build on that beginning.

"Let people know what we have here," he said.

Ross Ferguson told the meeting that he had seen all kinds of people while in the auto towing business, and reminded people that every time Princeton projects a negative image, it defeats itself.

Gary Sicker ended on a positive note, saying he had moved back because of "the people". He had seen people bickering, but he had also seen them give their utmost when a flood occurred or other emergency situation.

(Editor's note: There was a lot of repetition of the words "this town". Perhaps if we changed "this town" to "my town" or "our town" we could make a difference.)

requested letters be sent to Council complaining of the deterioration so that Council can prove to Highways that the problem is growing worse.

Plaque stolen

PRINCETON - The heritage plaque at the Belaire Restaurant was unveiled on August 24, 1998 by the Chamber of Commerce. It was secured to a post in front of the restaurant. The sign was torn down not long after it was installed and thrown onto the lawn outside the building.

Belaire management picked up the sign and fastened it onto the wall of the building.

On or about December 15, the sign was pulled off the building. It has never been found.

Princeton RCMP are requesting the public's assistance 295-6911.

Council hits bumpy highway 'devolution' issue

PRINCETON - Town Council is still opposed to taking over the cost and responsibility for maintenance of the in-town portion of Tulameen Road. Councillor George Armstrong responded to a letter sent to Council by saying he was still waiting for some answers. Councillor Dan Sulentic added support to Armstrong's position, saying Council had asked specific questions regarding the area above and to the rear of the Wanner residence located on Luard Avenue. Those questions have not been answered.

Councillor Armstrong requested that a letter be sent to MLA Harry Lali expressing Council's dissatisfaction with the lack of response from the highways department.

On learning of further deterioration on the corner to the rear of the Wanner residence, Council

Toastmasters break ice

by Avril Tory

The podium at Princeton Toastmasters Club has not been empty often in the past season. President Sue Steele has had her hands full in 1998/99 with several new members and plans for the club this year.

A meeting on December 15 featured an informative "icebreaker" speech by new member Carol Walker, who spoke about her experiences in becoming a Justice of the Peace. Another new member, Avril Tory, gave her "icebreaker" on January 12, with the topic being the perspective of a short person.

Sue Steele received a trophy for the best impromptu speech for her timely anecdote about a Christmas tree stand, and Don Darel handled Table Topics with the memory-provoking topic of "I fixed it..." Jokemaster David Badger had members clutching their sides before he had reached the punch line. Councillor Kathleen Clement toasted the Twentieth Century.

One of the major jobs the Toastmasters perform yearly is speech training for the Royalty Candidates. For several years, the task of training these students has rested on the very capable shoulders of Maggie Trehearne. This year's Ambassadors will be sharing the floor soon with other new members and seasoned pros while they learn the virtues of a smooth speaking voice, effective body language, and how to give constructive evaluations of other members. Ambassadors are invited to participate in activities such as Table Topics, the improvisational session of every meeting, during which members learn to think on their feet.

Did you know public speaking is one activity that most people fear more than death? Are you aware that your community offers an enjoyable program to help anyone overcome that fear and become a competent, confident public speaker?

Princeton Toastmasters meets on the second and fourth Tuesday of every month, at 7:00 p.m. in the Senior Citizens' Hall on Angela Avenue. The next meeting is on January 26. If you would like more information, call Sue Steele at 295-6683.

objections raised by the Band, who were annoyed that they had not been contacted earlier. The land in question is near Wolf Lake Reserve, and USIB is looking for some assurance of protection for archaeologically significant sites.

Council axes Christmas tree

PRINCETON - The balsam fir tree decorated each year for Christmas is in unhealthy condition. It is slated for removal in February. At this time, Town Council has no idea what kind of tree will be planted in its place.

To stand trial

PRINCETON - Following a preliminary hearing held in Provincial Court in Princeton on January 21, Daniel Thomas Hogg was ordered to stand trial in Supreme Court on a charge under section 348 of the Canada Criminal Code.

Willis ranch plan reaches semi-finals

PRINCETON - The plan to turn part of Princeton Stock Ranch into a resort has passed another hurdle. On January 7, Regional District okayed third reading of the change in Land Use Bylaw 1895 which will create the new zoning necessary for the project.

According to Linda Allison, Director for Area H, the amendment now goes the round of other governmental departments and the Ministry of Municipal Affairs. If all goes well, it will be returned by spring for fourth and final reading, and approval, by RDOS. The other hurdle the Stock Ranch project must jump is the Agricultural Land Commission petition to conduct an exchange of land that would remove one parcel from the ALR and replace it with another parcel. This may take up to five months, Allison says, but she is hoping for less time, as this proposal is not setting a precedent.

Arm and chest pain may be serious

by Dr. Warren Gage

It is common for a chiropractor to treat patients complaining of chest or arm pain. In almost all situations, the pain is due to sprains, strains, nerve irritation, or joint trauma; however, it is the responsibility of the chiropractor to ensure that chest or arm pain is not the sign of something more serious.

There are two main arteries - the Coronary arteries, on the surface of the heart which supply oxygen-rich blood to the heart muscles. When these arteries become partially or completely blocked for a sufficient length of time, the oxygen supply to the heart muscle is inadequate and portions of the heart muscle will die. This is the process involved during a heart attack and is usually accompanied by a crushing pain in the chest and pain in the left arm and shoulder.

There are also less serious examples of the above described process called angina pectoris.

Usually due to partial blockages of the coronary arteries, the heart muscle may receive enough oxygen to survive, but not enough to meet the demands of an increased heart rate during exercise. This insufficient amount of oxygen to the muscle will also cause the chest and shoulder pain during exertion but will subside once the heart rate slows.

Your chiropractor is trained to recognize these emergency situations and refer the patient to the hospital for appropriate care. If you have any further questions on heart attacks or angina, ask your chiropractor or family doctor. Dr. Warren Gage is a chiropractor practicing in Princeton Tuesdays and Thursdays. His phone number is 295-7015.

MENTAT'S Basic Business Laws

Law 8: If it's not in writing, it's not true

by M. Edward Muckle

Readers who follow this column will find immediate business benefits by applying the principles outlined to an existing or proposed business.

LAW EIGHT: IF IT IS NOT IN WRITING IT IS NOT TRUE.

Get any agreement in writing;
ANY AGREEMENT.

The one thing all humans share is a fallible memory. Few people intentionally alter their memory but when you ask 10 people to give you a version of a sequence of events they all witnessed a month ago you are going to get 10 different stories. It is no different in business. The deal you agree to verbally today will be remembered differently by all parties and the level of self interest is much higher.

Making an agreement in writing is the only way to create a permanent record of the details. It also ensures that all parties take the time to carefully consider the

Former Treasurer moves

PRINCETON - Former Secretary Treasurer of School District 17, Marcel Georges, has been working in Merritt since school district amalgamation took place. At the January 13 school board meeting, Chairman Gordon Swan announced that Georges will be moving to the Queen Charlotte Island district to take the position as Secretary Treasurer.

Former Chairman Gordon Comeau remarked on the excellent job Georges had done for the school district, saying Georges had "operated at less than his capacity under amalgamation and it was inevitable he would be scooped up by some other school district."

obligations they are creating for themselves.

This also applies to things you need to remember on a daily basis. Every time you make a promise, realize something needs to be done, or obtain needed information, write it down. This also means you have to get into the habit of reviewing your notes on a daily basis to ensure your memory doesn't fail.

Do not fall into the trap of believing that every agreement in writing will go smoothly. You have to learn to evaluate the quality of the individual behind the signature on the paper. The Dutch have an interesting saying about sharp operators who tend not to honour their agreements; "After you shake hands with him you had better count your fingers".

Princeton 4-H Club is off to a great start

by Melissa Bowen

Promotional Committee Reporter

The Princeton Dog, Lamb, Rabbit and Cavy (guinea pig) 4-H club had the first meeting of the year last Wednesday and from the look of it, the club is off to a great start.

As a new approach to promoting 4-H, the club has elected a committee which will be travelling to schools and hosting various functions where the community will be able to learn what 4-H is and what they do.

As a member, I have found 4-H to be an excellent experience and

I strongly encourage anyone to join. It not only teaches you to be responsible but it is a lot of fun as well!

If you want to learn more about 4-H you are welcome to attend our 4-H Open House on January 29th from 5:00 pm to 7:00 pm in the high school cafeteria.

Members will be there to discuss and to demonstrate the showmanship of different projects. There will be different animals there to see and handle. Snacks will be provided. Drop in, everyone is welcome!

Youth pleads guilty

PRINCETON - A youth charged with assault of another youth appeared in Provincial Court in Princeton on January 21 to plead guilty. The incident had occurred at school.

The youth's counsel presented letters to the court to show that the youth was generally of good character. The youth made a statement of apology to the judge prior to sentencing.

Judge G. Sinclair made some remarks about bullying at school, saying it had gone on for generations, but that did not excuse the behaviour.

The youth was sentenced to a conditional discharge following a year's probation with a number of conditions to be fulfilled. On completion of the probation and meeting the conditions, the youth will not have a record.

Business moves home

Making your living operating a home-based business can be a viable alternative in today's world where, realistically, there are not many job opportunities out there.

Tim and Patti Harrower, owners of Princeton Printers Ltd. converted their downtown business to a home-based one in October, 1997.

They purchased the printing division of the Spotlight newspaper the previous July, when former owner Ed Vermette sold the business to George Manning of Victoria. Although the Spotlight had done well by offering printing services in addition to a community newspaper, Manning had no interest in continuing to run the print shop. He offered to sell the business and customer files pertaining to the print shop to the Harrowers.

Tim had been employed by the Spotlight as pressman for the previous two years.

"It was a case of buy the job or lose it. I thank God that we were able to buy it," says Patti.

For the first time in decades, the print shop in Princeton was no longer a part of the Spotlight. Even though the shop still operated in the back room of the Spotlight building, a new and separate company was born: "Princeton Printers Ltd."

In mid-September, Tim and Patti were beginning to discover that their projected revenues would probably not cover the extra expenses of rent, power bills, telephone bills and insurance premiums that had previously been covered as part of the Spotlight overhead. They decided to move their business home. That decision was a good one for them. It has been over a year since they went home-based and, although they, like everyone else, are feeling the effects of a very slow economy, they are still working.

"There were some who thought we were making a big mistake bringing the business home," says Tim. "The print shop is a half hour drive out of town now, but most of our business is done over the telephone and fax. Cutting our overhead has enabled us to keep our prices down, too. We could not justify continuing a streetfront business to serve maybe two people a week who would walk in. We are not a retail store where customers come in and pick up items off the shelf. Our product is custom designed and printed."

Princeton Printers Ltd. can produce almost any kind of printed job, including business cards, flyers, forms, invoices, raffle tickets, booklets, brochures, maps and calendars. Jobs can be numbered, collated and/or perforated as well. They guarantee satisfaction.

"The key, I believe, is customer service, reasonable pricing and quality products," says Patti. "If someone wants to see us about a job, that's not a problem. Just tell us where and when, and we'll be there. We want to be convenient to our customers."

Princeton Printers Ltd. delivers everything, anywhere the customer chooses, free of charge, usually less than two weeks from when an order is placed.

With the technology available today, it is possible for a number of professions to operate from home. However, running a home-based business is a lot different than working away from home.

"There are benefits," says Patti. "The best thing about a home-based business is the flexibility. When it's slow, you are free to putter about your place while you wait for the phone to ring. You don't have to waste time clock-watching. On the other hand, you need to be extremely disciplined about when you work and when you don't. You have to ensure that your customers' needs have top priority, but it's very important to take time off from the job as well. There is no "boss" behind your shoulder to tell you when to do what, or when it's quitting time."

Tim and Patti want to emphasize that they do not print newspapers. Even when the print shop was a part of the Spotlight, the newspaper was not printed on-site. Princeton's newspapers are produced locally, then taken, camera ready, to Penticton, where they are run on a press specially designed to print newspapers.

Tim Harrower, of Princeton Printers, at work in his home-based print shop. He and his wife have learned a new style of work.

Former resident's CD earns critical praise on website

Scott Anderson, son of Tip Anderson and the late Marianne Anderson of Princeton, has had his first CD honoured by a critical review on the Music Critic web page (<http://www.geocities.com/~solarbaby/>).

Anderson, who moved to the lower mainland several years ago, has been involved in a three-piece band and produced Solarbaby: The Power of Negative Prayer. The critic says the lyrics emerge from "the musings of some very disturbed and pessimistic minds" but admits "it's often said that the best art comes out of such minds."

The CD features a hard rock/metal sound on some pieces, but is not limited to just one sound nor just one approach to the lyrics. It is interesting that the critic spends a lot of time focussing on the lyrics, which are so often indecipherable in rock music.

This is a CD about the sorrows and anguish of life and love, and receives top marks for "lyrical brilliance" from critic, Mark Feldman.

Justice is perverted

In Canada, until recently, possession of goods obtained through criminal activity was illegal. For example, if you bought a stolen TV set, you were in possession of stolen property and could be subject to prosecution. You would be considered to have aided the thief.

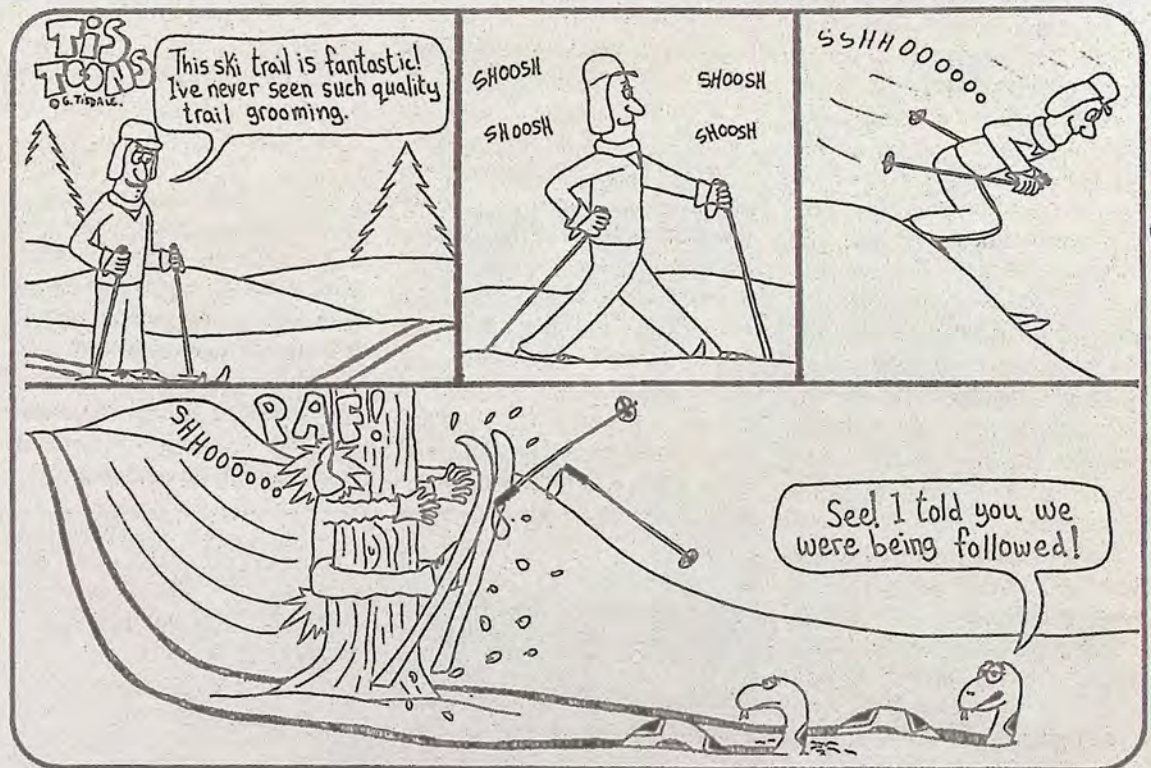

The production of child pornography is a crime, but possession of the product is no longer a crime, it is 'freedom of expression.' In other words, it is illegal to possess stolen property, but not kiddie porn, according to a ruling by a British Columbia judge.

What kind of justice is this? Is this the kind of justice decent Canadian citizens want? Do we want to see people jailed for possession of stolen property, while the sex pervert who preys on our children is free to express himself? Decent Canadian citizens would say the law has become perverted.

We have another contradiction in our justice system regarding freedom of expression. We have a law telling us we cannot freely express our prejudice regarding race, religion, gender and sexual preferences. However, if our sexual preference is for children, we are free to express our desire through purchasing child pornography. Is this justice?

How far are we prepared to go with this 'freedom of expression'? A person who is angry may beat somebody while enjoying his right to freely express his anger, but are we going to say his actions were legal? A person who gets a kick out of burning down buildings may be enjoying freedom of expression as an arsonist, but are we going to put up with arson? Freedom of expression has many limits in our society to protect us from those whose freedom of expression causes harm.

We suggest you freely express your opinion to Attorney General Ujjal Dosanjh regarding this perversion of law.

Liberals claim NDP did not cut taxes

Dear Editor;

Finance Minister Joy MacPhail claims her government's reductions to personal and business taxes will stimulate the economy and put more money into the pockets of British Columbians. Hardly.

In seven years, the NDP has slapped us with over $2 billion in higher taxes, licences, fees, royalties and charges which we've paid each and every year. These have increased roughly 1.5 times faster than British Columbians' incomes. Moreover, British Columbians must now work two additional weeks to pay their tax bill than they did when NDP came to power. Real after-tax incomes have fallen by roughly six per cent since 1992.

Now, after billions of dollars in tax hikes, the NDP has the gall to congratulate itself for instituting reductions that will save BC taxpayers a mere $152 million when fully implemented over three years. For an annual income of $35,000, this means savings of only $50.

The NDP's tax reduction is too little, too late. Other provinces have been cutting taxes for years. At last count, over 16,000 British Columbians and 70 BC business re-located last year to Alberta alone.

Even Saskatchewan's NDP government has cut taxes every year since 1995. And they have done so while balancing their budget and increasing health care spending by $88 million in 1998/99.

The only thing that will repair economic havoc the NDP has caused is to remove them from office. BC Liberals are committed to give British Columbians the tax relief they need and deserve, and to make BC's economy number one again.

Health Care needs $4.6 billion annual increase

Dear Editor;

The Canadian Health Coalition which includes church, labour, health unions, student, senior and student groups as well as many leading health care professionals, is stepping up its campaign to persuade Ottawa to restore health care funding. At a January 6 meeting with Finance Minister Paul Martin, it called for a major reinvestment in health care financing.

Specifically, the health coalition asked that there be a $4.6 billion increase per year for the next five years to provide $2 billion for services covered by the Canada Health Act, $2 billion for a national home care program and $600 million to set up the infrastructure for a national pharmacare plan.

A five year plan to invest an additional $4.6 billion each year is not only necessary but possible, given the federal budget surplus this year and in years to come, the Coalition stressed.

The meeting of the coalition with the finance minister was followed by a media scrum with 15 or more journalists from TV, radio and the print media. The Coalition's executive director, Mike McBane, was interviewed by the CBC on its afternoon program carried across the country.

An earlier submission to the Department of Finance, on December 16, pulled no punches.

"We're at a critical moment," said health economist Pat Armstrong, Director of the School of Canadian Studies at Carleton University. "The Chretien government's off-loading of health costs onto provinces and individuals must stop with the next budget. Otherwise universal access to high quality care will be replaced by a U.S. style two-tier system with dramatically higher costs, drastically reduced coverage and quality of care."

"Health care," the coalition emphasized, "is both a human right and a public good, and not a commodity for profit."

It agreed with Chretien that provinces be required to guarantee any increase be used for health and no other.

The 'Fig Leaf' Syndrome

by Joe Schwarz, Tulameen philosopher and humourist

The year long President Clinton impeachment soap opera is now being played out in the U.S. Senate whose members must remain silent under pain of imprisonment. Imagining politicians not talking their way into the citizens tax pocket, it is impossible to contemplate. There must be a terrific run on duct tape on their behalf. The whole episode has been a windfall for the media which has brought the issue of morals front and center, world wide and instantly. As others have noted in the cartoon, Pogo, he observes the behaviour of society and says, "There goes us." T

This is the dilemma faced by the politicians in the U.S. - most pots and kettles - all black, judging one of their own. Where there are two humans gathered together, there is opportunity for dissension. Using the Bible as a reference because that's what the Congress members take their oath on, and consequently lend weight to the book, Mr. Clinton's inappropriate behaviour and its consequences have many precedents.

Adam and Eve were impeached (charged) and evicted from the Garden of Eden. Leaving the good life, Eve became the first "Bimbo" featured at "Planet Earth". No sooner had Adam been bounced than he complained about the fig leaf, or "fig leaf syndrome" that would prove to be inherited by his descendants. In the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah; Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt when she turned to see the inappropriate behaviour of the two cities (a replica of which, formed by gravel, can be seen on the right hand side of the Tulameen Freeway past the corner near the base of the hill approaching the gravel pit or Coalmont summit Note: people in those days were shorter.)

Kind David, a renowned poet and king of the United States of Israel, had one of his officers killed in battle so he could carry on an inappropriate affair with the officer's wife. After being severely sentenced by a higher authority, King David ruled successfully and is still held as a model today in his capital city, Jerusalem, and his star is on the present Israeli flag. His ordeal and tenure probably most resembles President Clinton's today, although violence was not part of Mr. Clinton's actions.

The "Fig Leaf Syndrome" could be traced to the present century and decade with the House of Windsor without loss of power or prestige, save for King Edward the Eighth and Ms. Wallis Simpson.

President Clinton is of the Viet Nam Revolution era, flower child generation, which experienced the upheaval of long-held values. Coupled with this are their offspring, the "X" generation, raised on what values?

Now we arrive at President Clinton's impeachment, quite a dilemma. What might be the outcome if impeached? - a stock market crash, social de-stabilization, international conflict and terrorism.

Historians say great societies begin to crumble from internal moral decay. We'll just have to be optimistic and find an effective vaccine for the "Fig Leaf Syndrome."

Heart Food

by Dave Machin

Man was created to be a winner. The Bible tells us so. It is recorded in the Book of Genesis that man was originally created and placed on this earth for the purpose of having and exercising dominion over it and everything that crept, crawled, flew, swam and breathed. Man had no idea what losing was until he became separated from God through disobedience in his very own domain, the Garden of Eden. Here he was made in the very image of God, he was God's masterpiece and through yielding to temptation, he ran headlong into defeat. He was forced to accept failure as his lot in life. Lowering himself to a subordinate position, a position he was never meant to occupy. It's a sad story but if you are a born again child of God, your story has a happy ending. Through faith in Jesus Christ, you have been made a winner once again. In fact, God has guaranteed you success. 1 John 5:5 says "Who is he who overcomes the world but he who believes that Jesus is the Son of God." It doesn't matter how much you feel like a loser, it doesn't matter how many times you have failed in the past, it doesn't matter what you have done. If you believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the living God, then you have become more than a conqueror in Him. Does that mean you will never have trouble? Absolutely not. It simply means that you can go through that trouble and emerge triumphant. If you have been feeling like a failure or are going through tough times, right now God, through His word, and because of His goodness, has victory in store for you. No matter who you are or what the circumstance may be, He loves you and is willing to reveal His power and ability to you personally. With Him, you are a winner. God is good all the time.

Lions Club hosts New Zealander

PRINCETON - "Canadians aren't much different from New Zealanders," says a recent visitor.

Daniel Benefield, age 16, spent an enjoyable month in Princeton as a guest of D-8, Lions Club International. He is a Youth Exchange Program student from Piopio, New Zealand, where his parents have a sheep and cattle ranch.

Benefield arrived in Canada on December 27, after spending time at Coulee Dam, Washington. Gerry and Patty Vinthers became his 'folks' for the visit. They took him skiing, to a Blazers hockey game, and arranged for a sawmill tour, a day at school, and a trip in a logging truck to a logging show.

Benefield enjoyed skiing, as it is quite different from the skiing in New Zealand. He likes the snow. In New Zealand, snow is found only on the highest mountains. The logging tour and the sawmill tour were 'fun'. He was surprised that so few people work at the mill, as New Zealand sawmills are not so highly automated.

An ice fishing trip was a new experience for the New Zealander, and he found it 'pretty boring'.

He visited Crimmon's ranch and found Canadian ranching quite different, as New Zealand ranchers do not have to worry about winter feed.

The day at school showed Benefield a more relaxed student body. At his school, students must wear uniforms, and girls are not allowed to wear make-up.

After a tour of Vancouver, Benefield left on January 23 for a visit to Los Angeles before returning home. He enjoyed his visit, likes Canada, and says, "I learned a lot. It is a good experience."

Daniel Benefield, a Lions International Exchange student, enjoyed winter sports during his Princeton visit.

B.C. surveys older women

VICTORIA - The Seniors' Advisory Council has published its position paper, Perspectives on Older Women in B.C.

More women are in the labour force but they earn less than men and have less retirement income. At the same time, women are out-living men, and increasing numbers of women are living alone. Some will need help obtaining adequate and secure housing, good nutrition and other resources to enjoy their older years.

The paper was written after council members surveyed 644 women aged 55 and older, conducted 19 focus groups and three discussion groups with aboriginal women. The report outlines seven key recommendations to the Penny Priddy, Minister responsible for seniors.

Judge says

"It's not assault"

PRINCETON - Patrick J. Hill appeared in Provincial Court in Princeton on January 21 to stand trial for the assault of L. Dion.

After hearing all of the evidence, Judge G. Sinclair ruled the dispute had begun with Dion pushing Hill, who had responded by grabbing her arms.

"I'm not calling any of this an assault," Judge Sinclair stated. The charge was dismissed.

Little Scoop is back!

People should be paid for worthy work

Well I am back, call it holidays, call it writers block, call it whatever you want but I am now back. Most of you are probably wondering why I am back when you never knew I was here or left. That's ok, it takes time to acquire a dedicated audience, and it is something you have to earn, so in the next year I'll try my best to bring you a youthful point of view on a wide area of topics that affect both our community and the world. These points may not always be earth shattering revelations or ground breaking news stories, but they will be an original youthful point of view.

This week the current news event that caught my eye was the ridiculous salary increases both professional baseball and basketball players are receiving. Kevin Brown, a pitcher who signed a free agent deal with the Los Angeles Dodgers, is set to make over 100 million dollars in the next 6 or seven years! I use him as an example as he is currently the highest paid baseball player per annum, but by the time this goes to print I am sure some other ludicrous contract will be signed and some new player will wear the crown as making the most money they don't deserve. Even worse is the salary boxers receive per fight, 20, 30, 35 million dollars per fight, and most fighter fight at least twice a year!

When I think of salaries that people deserve, I think that we should weigh the impact each career will have on the world. To me the people who should be making the most money are doctors, these people save lives, research cures for disease and make a difference every day. I doubt there are many doctors that make the type of money Michael Jordan and Mike Tyson pull down each year. Or how about firefighters or policemen or humanitarian workers or social workers or teachers. Don't these people make an impact everyday? Don't these people as a whole have more of an impact on the bettering of our society?

It's sad that the majority of the jobs I have mentioned represent many lower paying jobs in our society. I also think it hits home that much more when we see these athletes wasting their talent and role model status by using drugs, choking their coaches, or in the middle of paternity suits. If our society is going to stand by and let these athletes make the type of money they do, these men and women should at least have the decency to give back to the rest of society.

Some where along the line, things got messed up, and the people who should be making alot of money aren't and people who play sports for a living are making way too much. I bet in the 20s and 30s the highest paid jobs were doctors and lawyers, but with the invention of the television our society's priorities have changed and now the most important men in the world hit homeruns and make jumpshots, not uphold laws and cure disease.

Museum will receive gift

PRINCETON - Ron Loiseau, a Similkameen Valley resident, has informed Princeton Museum and Archives Society that his butterfly collection will be donated to the museum collection. Loiseau has collected local species over more than 10 years, and is currently labeling them to identify species and sex.

Society President Rosemary Doughty told members,

"Naturalists and students will particularly appreciate this butterfly collection. We are honoured to have this rare collection as part of our exhibits."

Myrna Bosomworth, of Princeton, received her CHBC weather bear last week. The television station offered a chance to win a bear by making a contribution through CHBC to any organization giving Christmas hampers. Bosomworth sent a donation to Princeton Crisis Assistance Society Christmas Hamper Fund, and had her name drawn, much to her surprise.

Club readies for carnival

The Princeton Figure Skating Club is celebrating its Silver Anniversary this year - can you believe it, 25 years!

We are all busy gearing up for the Carnival on March 6. This year's theme is a Disney Extravaganza - one not to be missed, so mark it on your calendar today. Prior to and at the Carnival we will be selling raffle tickets. First prize is a limited edition signed and framed Elvis Stojko print; 2nd prize is a Nelson electronic sprinkler timer donated by Similkameen Sprinkler and 3rd prize is a 5 pound Hershey chocolate bar. Be sure to support your Figure Skating Club and buy some tickets.

We still have some chocolate almond bars left from the Chocolate Bar Blitz. Drop into the News Leader if you are craving one. Thanks to all who sold and bought the bars. The Club winner of the 5 pound chocolate

PRINCETON - Bob Longdo, who owns a residence located where Asp Creek joins the Tulameen River, appealed to Town Council for help in removing the trees.

Council told him they could not remove the trees as they are on Crown land.

Longdo informed Council that he had contacted the Ministry of Environment, Lands and Parks, who informed him they had no objection to his removing the trees.

Council advised Longdo they could not authorize their staff to work on land that did not belong to the municipality.

bar was Madison Johnson.

Our Princeton skaters did an excellent job at the Lake Country Competition in Winfield. David Bell brought home a gold medal, Kim Houle brought home a bronze, and Deanna Wong placed 5th in her flight. Great Job Skaters!

Test day at Glengarry Club in Penticton showed just what the Princeton skaters are made of.

Chandra Darel passed her European and Keats Fox Trot dances, Meagan Thomas and Diane Wentland passed the Dutch Waltz dance, Brittany Antonick passed the Swing dance and Skill Level 7 and Lindsay Nesbitt passed the Willow dance and Skill Level 6. Well Done Girls!!

Next test day is in Osoyoos on February 1 - best of luck Skaters!

Lodge news

by Dorothy Stenvold

PRINCETON - Plans have been made for the installation of officers at our next meeting. A Donation was made towards the Telethon to be held in Vancouver February 13 and 14. We are always proud to see on television the president of our Jurisdiction making the presentation for all lodges in B.C.

Our District meeting will be held in Princeton on March 28, so Sister Ottas, our District President, is busy with preparations for this event. It will be held in the Legion Hall.

Following the business meeting, the sisters enjoyed a social hour with tea, coffee and goodies. Sister Moore won the table prize drawn by Sister Golovin.

WKP honours commitment

PRINCETON - West Kootenay Power congratulated Princeton Arena Board of Management on the Power Sense program and upgrade at the arena.

In a letter to the Arena Board, West Kootenay says, "This is a welcome contribution to our conservation effort and we would like to congratulate you on your commitment."

As part of the Power Sense program to improve efficiency and performance of electrical power, West Kootenay granted the board a $1,785 cheque.

place to be. I'm sad to leave Princeton. It's as much a home as I could have asked for."

Ken Blower added comments as a friend who had moved to Princeton at the same time as McKenna.

"Everything he did was at full speed," Blower said, which brought a few chuckles, "He did everything in Princeton. We are going to miss him."

Turning to McKenna, he said, "We hope you come back."

We apologize to Mrs. Elizabeth Kightley for incorrectly naming her Mrs. Les Kightley in last week's photo credits.

Former Valley First Credit Union manager for Princeton, Jerry McKenna (left) accepts a token of appreciation from Town Council, presented by Mayor Randy McLean.

Council praises former resident for time well used

PRINCETON - Jerry McKenna was honoured at the January 18 Town Council meeting for the seven years of service he had given to the community during his stay in Princeton as manager of Valley First Credit Union.

Mayor Randy McLean, presenting a framed certificate of appreciation, mentioned the work McKenna had done with the Rotary Club, the golf tournament to raise money for the cancer lodge in Kelowna, his work with economic development and hockey, and as an outstanding business leader.

McKenna responded by saying, "I enjoyed all the involvement I had in the community. I thoroughly enjoyed everybody. Princeton is, without a doubt, my favourite

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Coordinator/Drop-In Centre

The Princeton Mental Health Drop-In Centre Society is seeking an Auxiliary Coordinator to provide 'stand alone' coverage on an 'as needed' basis.

The successful candidate should be a creative motivator and a resourceful problem solver. A well rounded knowledge of mental illness and personality disorders combined with an understanding of applied Group Dynamics would be highly beneficial. Demonstrated ability facilitating group activities in a mental health environment would be ideal.

Please submit a resume outlining related career training and experience no later than the competition closing date of Feb. 15th, 1999 to: The Anchorage

Mac Lind Flyers win five

The Mac Lind Flyers continue to play well with five more wins in the past three weeks. January 3, the last day of Christmas break, the team travelled to Keremeos for a late afternoon game at the outdoor rink. These two teams are very evenly matched and either team could come out on top. This game proved to be no different from other matches these teams have played this year.

Todd Gereau opened the scoring on an unassisted goal in the first 45 seconds of play. Todd's goal was the only point on the board in first period. It was not until the half-way mark of second period when Todd scored again on a pass from Logan McKenzie.

Keremeos continued to play hard. Their efforts paid off two minutes later.

Third period saw the same defensive work and great goal-tending from both goalies. Keremeos tied the game at 7:56. As the minutes ticked away, it looked like the game would end in a tie. With 20 seconds left on the clock, Justin Mowry managed to get the puck past the Keremeos goalie, with an assist going to Clayton Vermette.

On January 9, Princeton arena was the scene of an exhibition game between Realty World and Mac Lind-Logging. It was a game for fun for both teams. They did a lot of joking and kidding out on the ice. Mac Lind Logging came out on top in this game, but Realty World will be looking for the win in the rematch. Scoring for Realty World was Kiel Dodds - 2, Travis Hogg - 2, Dwayne Costa and Jeremy Caouette. Assists went to Travis Hogg 2, Chris Stewart, Dwayne Costa, Kiel Dodds - 3, Hunter Bond, Jeremy Caouette - 2, Jesse Ferguson. Scoring for Mac Lind Logging were Colby Huff - 3, Clayton Vermette - 5, Todd Gereau - 2, Logan McKenzie - 2, and Justin Mowry. Assists went to Ryan Brewer - 3, Colby Huff - 3, Todd Gereau - 6, Clayton Vermette - 2, Kyle Fraser and Chantelle Vermette.

The next day saw the Mac Lind Flyers match up against Oliver Dairy Queen in Princeton. First period saw all the scoring when Todd Gereau scored in the first 27 seconds of the game on an assist from Colby Huff and Clayton Vermette. Colby Huff went on to score again 4 seconds later, with the assist going to Todd. Oliver's first goal came at the 5 minute mark of first period. Princeton went on to score 3 more goals in first period to Oliver's single. Both teams played very defensive hockey in second period. Neither team scored. The final goal came at 15:21 of third period. The game ended 6 - 2 for Princeton. Scoring for Princeton: Todd - 2, Colby - 2, Clayton, and Ryan. Assists: Colby - 2, Clayton - 2, Todd - 2, and Keith MacWhirter.

The first game of the January 16 weekend was at 9:25 a.m. in Westside Arena. Westside opened the scoring right off the opening face-off, catching many Flyers off guard. This goal seemed to wake the team after their early morning trip. Princeton went on to score three goals in first period and four more in second, to Westside's single. Princeton dominated third period, scoring five goals. The final score was 12 - 4 for Princeton. Scoring for Princeton: Clayton Vermette - 4, Mitch Gunn - 5, Todd Gereau - 2, and Colby Huff. Assists: Colby - 4, Todd - 4, Justin Mowry, Keith MacWhirter, Chantelle Vermette, Clayton Vermette and Logan McKenzie.

The team was back to the Okanagan Valley on Sunday afternoon to meet the Summerland Jets. The match was much more even than the previous day. It was a great day for Todd Gereau as he scored all four of Princeton's goals. Todd's first goal came at 16:15 of the opening period on an assist from Jared Tarswell and Clayton Vermette. Todd's second goal came three minutes later on a pass from Colby Huff. The final goal of the period was at 9:57 with the assist going to Clayton. Summerland scored their only two goals in second period. This period was penalty-filled for Princeton, but they managed to do some great penalty killing as they left Summerland scoreless on a 5 on 3 power play. Todd went on to score the last goal at 6:03 of third period. The final score was Princeton - 4, Summerland - 2.

Trustees learn animated letters

PRINCETON - A new method of teaching literacy has proven successful in many North American locations and has been used this year at Vermilion Forks Elementary School. Principal Barry Clarke attended the January 13 school board meeting to explain the "animated alphabet" program to trustees.

The animated alphabet operates on basic research into the ways in which people learn. Children learn literacy skills in different ways, some through sound, some through physical involvement, and some through visual skills. The animated alphabet program includes gestures, drawing, music, visual skills, and recognition of similarities. For example, the letter "n" is repeated in a story about Nellie Newt, which includes a picture of Nellie Newt and the "n" is repeated in the story and a song.

Clarke emphasized both the value of the program and the costs involved in presenting suitable materials. He said teachers using the program had to make time in their schedules to create resource materials for classroom use because there is not enough money to buy the materials. The extra work makes the program more difficult for teachers, even when they share materials.

Trustees looked favourably on the program, but no mention was made during the meeting of allocating more funds to the program.

The choice of the exhibition grounds as a place to hold the snowmobile races offered the opportunity to build an excellent racecourse and provide spectators with maximum view. From the grandstand, spectators could follow the exciting races from start to finish.

Nobody could deny the wisdom that led Timberline Cruisers Snowmobile Club to ask for the exhibition grounds for the event. It is ideal. The grandstand seats were full, as spectators climbed to the top of the stand to see across the grounds to the back stretch. The final jump in front of the stand forced spectators on the ground to look up as racers made "big air" clearing the jump.

Mayor Randy McLean sees the event as a success for everyone involved.

Laurie Currie said, "This is the kind of event that will draw people out of Vancouver if it is promoted properly down there."

Anyone who complained about it must have done so quietly, as the people the News Leader consulted were highly impressed with the event.

George Elliott, President of Princeton Exhibition Association, commented, "I'm thrilled with it. I can see the potential."

Councillor Jim Manion, who has promoted the exhibition grounds as the Sno-X site since the beginning, commended the community effort that made it possible.

"The club and volunteers did a heck of a job building the track," Manion said, "The racers said it was an awesome track. A representative from the B.C. Snowmobiling Federation said this is by far the track that's getting to be the best in western Canada, and they're looking at locating their Western Canadian finals here in the future."

"Thanks to Princeton for putting on such a great event," was the message from the Federation.

Local contractors, and the Town, trucked 750-1,000 loads of snow, while the Reicherts and Hassells worked on design and construction.

"It was worth every minute," Chris Hassell said.

Mighty Pumpkins rock

by Don Mare, Mighty Pumpkins team reporter

Hockey fever came over our sleepy little town on January 16 and 17 with teams coming from Grand Forks, Surrey-Delta, Penticton, the sprawling metropolis of Tulameen, and local talent made up three teams from Princeton, for a total of ten teams.

The tourney started Friday night at 6:00 with The Mighty Pumpkins taking on the Meanies from Tulameen. From then on, it was action-packed all weekend.

There happened to be one incident when one of the players went down after catching an edge. He broke a bone, but was back at the arena later to cheer his team mates.

The Ladies were a mixed team with the likes of Al Anderson and Tim Luinstra at center ice doing most of the scoring. It looked like a David and Goliath scenario with the size and skill of the Grand Forks team over the Ladies who went into this game UNDEFEATED! With their backs to the wall, they gave it everything they had, but came up two goals short on a 7-5 loss. A great effort was given by everybody on the team.

Congrats to the Ladies on a very good try.

The Top Dogs were the team from Grand Forks coming out of the tournament undefeated to take home the big prize of T-shirts (regarded by many as the fashion statement of the year).

The Ladies received Mighty Pumpkin hats as their prize.

On Saturday night, the mezzanine was a-buzz with a refreshment garden and great company, with attendance down slightly from last year. Only good times were had as everyone shook their booties to the sounds of Nite Flite.

The Mighty Pumpkins appreciated the help of all of those people who made this tourney a big success. Barry, Marg and Jeannie, along with others, took care of refreshments. The Thomas young folks did the stats and time-keeping. Kyle and friends kept the music going between periods.

The mayor of our fair city deserves a big round of applause for all of the help he gave as referee during the weekend. After all was said and done, everyone had a good time, including the great bunch who pitched in to make the tourney the big success it always is.
