BC Gas selects Hedley contractor

BC Gas has selected Tercon Contractors Ltd. as contractor for the Hedley compressor station project. Tercon will construct a new compressor station near Hedley containing a 3500 hp electrically powered centrifugal compressor unit.

The BC Gas Southern Crossing Pipeline Project includes expansion of the BC Gas compressor station in Kitchener, a community located west of Yahk, B.C. For the expansion, BC Gas has selected Triton Projects Inc. as contractor to install two additional natural gas-fueled, turbine-driven centrifugal compressor units, for a total of 10,000 hp.

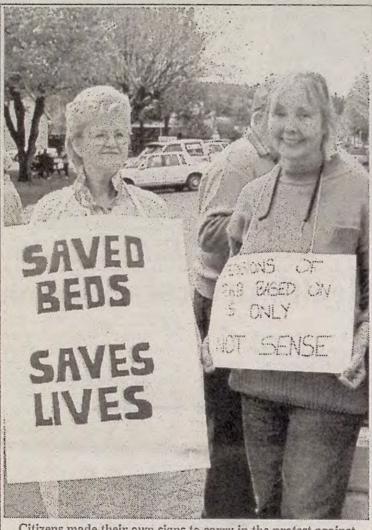

Guy Wassick, Project Manager for the compressor station projects, stated on May 18, "Both Tercon and Triton are experienced in the construction of transmission pipeline compressor facilities. The sites at Hedley and Kitchener have both been cleared and prepared for construction activity to start immediately.

Marine Pipeline Construction is the contractor for the 24 inch Southern Crossing natural gas pipeline.

Marine will begin moving equipment immediately to locations along the 303 kilometre. long pipeline route stretching from Oliver, B.C. to Yahk, B.C. Construction is expected to begin before June 1, 2000 with crews generally starting in the Oliver and Yahk areas and working simultaneously east and west from those locations. The pipeline will be in service by November 2000. In the days ahead, the contractor will be preparing for construction, opening offices and hiring more than 1,000 employees. Employees will be based at various locations along the route during construction.

BC Gas Utility is the largest distributor of natural gas in British Columbia, serving 757,000 customers.

Bidder challenges Council on contract

Princeton - Mary Mogge challenged the awarding of Town contracts when she attended the May 15 Council meeting. On the advice of the B.C. Ombudsman's Office, she requested information about the awarding of municipal contracts.

Mogge explained to Council that she had bid on the municipal campsite contract five times, and during the last call for tenders, had the lowest bid, $1200 lower than the next lowest bid. She pointed out that other bidders had received more and better information than she had, although she had asked to be given all available information before submitting a bid. Others had received printouts of previous income statements from the contract, but she had not.

Mogge added that she had been a successful bidder on Forest Service contracts for campsite maintenance, and the Forest Service had allowed her to state in her bid that she could provide the Forest Service as a reference. She further stated she had experience with provincial tendering procedures.

She asked for copies of all successful bids for five years, contract procedures and criteria for selection of successful bidders.

Mayor Randy McLean responded, appearing irate as Mogge persisted in asking for the information. He raised his voice as he told her that Council is under no obligation to accept the lowest or any other bid, and five people on Council had been unanimous in their decision.

Mogge continued to ask for the details as specified by the ombudsman, then asked if there was anything against her personally, and whether she was "blackballed" by Council.

Mayor McLean replied, "We have no blackballing. We chose who we thought was the best for the position. You can use whatever slat on it you want."

He agreed her bid was the lowest.

Mogge once again asked when she could have the information she requested. She was promised the information would be available to her later in the week.

Princeton area citizens show Regional Health Board local people care

Princeton - From the morning march down Bridge Street to the Senior Citizens Hall where Regional Health Board was meeting, to the public meeting in the evening, local area citizens gave a loud, clear message to the Health Board and to government saying they do not intend to lose health care services.

Over 300 people crowded into the Seniors hall for the evening meeting. It was standing room only, but people stood from 7:00 p.m. to nearly 10:00 p.m. to hear answers from the Board about bed closures.

Dorothy Cobb. Administrator for Princeton General Hospital, gave an overview of the expansion to Ridgewood Lodge, a long term care facility attached to the hospital. She said there will be more staff at Ridgewood, and suggested Community Health Advisory members could be more actively involved in planning for community support services.

Nurse Shortages

Dorothy Gallagher, speaking on behalf of nurses, said most days of the year more beds are occupied than will be left after bed closures, and asked who would decide who could not be in hospital. She was greatly concerned about the lack of nurses. She said 19 nurses are doing the job of 20 nurses.

The issue of nurse shortages is critical, as there was some talk of closing the hospital for the summer if more nurses cannot be found. This news alarmed everyone. One nurse suggested it might be possible to hire nurses for Princeton if hiring was not done regionally, leaving the hint that nurses are siphoned off by the Okanagan before they have a chance to be hired in Princeton.

Citizens' petition

Dina Slowikowski-Campbell, a local health care activist on behalf of the area, thanked the 100-plus citizens who rallied in the morning, and presented a petition of over 700 names of people opposed to bed closures. She criticized the lack of communication from the Board, and the lack of action by members of the Community - Health Advisory Committee.

"Our concerns have no strong voice," she said.

She noted Princeton Hospital has been "a gem of a hospital" and questioned the "quiet loss" of supply services and medical records functions.

"What's next?" she asked.
"Laundry services - food services?"

She told the Board they had broken two of their own principles – health should be delivered in collaboration with consumers, and it should be delivered at the lowest cost.

"Regionalization has not worked for Princeton." she told the Board. "Show us Princeton matters to you."

She said cutbacks "enhance other places."

Huge applause followed Slowikowski-Campbell's speech. Doctor's viewpoint

Dr. Mick Whittle said, "We have been told, come summer, we may lose all acute care beds due to pressure on nurses. If we close the beds we may lose nurses and the beds may not be re-opened."

He expressed concern about having to send patients out of town for service "somewhere" and remarked there are costs to the patient. He noted other hospitals may not want to take Princeton people, as they have problems, too. He reminded the Board that if people are moved by ambulance, there are costs which "come out of these taxpayers' pockets."

"It needs only two nurses to prevent the hospital closing for the summer. Would Kelowna or Penticton close for want of two nurses?" he asked.

Board Chair noted there are problems in other locations, and said, "Our health system has been allowed to be used as a political football."

She added that the Board is "not interested in closing any small hospital."

Impatient audience

The audience grew increasingly impatient as the Board went through its agenda, and people waited for their opportunity to ask questions. They had been asked to reserve their questions and com-ments until the end of other business and it did not sit well with them. Some people were rude, and Dean Stinson asked them to show respect for the Board. Eventually they gave the Board applause, but only after the questions were answered.

It was Keith Simmonds, assistant to MLA Harry Lali, who clarified the issue by pointing out the closure of beds used as extended care did not really change the hospital capacity, as 10 acute care beds remained and the Board had promised four additional overflow beds. What had happened was re-classification of extended care from acute to long term, which merely reflected how these beds were utilized in any case.

Simmonds pointed out that the present government had done everything it could to keep health care, social services and education up to standard, to the point where these three now use 90 per cent of the provincial budget. He added that B.C. had a population increase of one million people since 1990, and had to deal with increasing demands on existing systems.

In addition, Simmonds said, the provincial government was dealt a blow when the federal government withdrew $500 million in health funding.

There were other issues raised with Regional Health Board, such as why one doctor was given privileges in a short time and the other did not ever receive privileges. Board members said they had never seen the paperwork in the second case.

Dr. Barry Cook said, "Every time we turn around we lose something, but millions of dollars leave this community in logs. We want some of our money back."

Don Coyle read a list of health services other communities have and are not available in Princeton

One question was never answered. June Kolbe asked if there were any provisions to increase home care on July 1 if fewer beds are available.

Council wants Health Unit to stay in place

Princeton - During Councillor Kathy Clement's report on health issues on May 15, Mayor Randy McLean asked about a rumour saying the Health Unit would be moved to Princeton General

Councillor Clement asked for a very strong letter of objection to such a move, saying there is no transportation system for the number of people who now use the Health Unit, which is in a central location and more easily accessible than the hospital.

Council agreed to send the letter to Regional Health Board.

Fair Board loses Directors

Princeton - Fall Fair President Keith Olson was visibly upset by the resignations of three Directors from the Fall Fair Board. Gary Rogers, Judy Rogers and Frank Korpan tendered resignations, which were accepted with regret. All letters had cited dissension between members as a reason, and Olson asked people to bring problems to the meetings to iron out.

"We want to do Princeton proud this year," Olson said. "Let's fix the problems."

Some members looked amazed by the complaints.

Ruby Bey was elected Treasurer to take over Judy Roger's duties.

Lisa White, representing Vermilion District Girl Guides, said their group would be doing the children's games again this year. The Fair Board voted $200 to replenish games materials. This year is the 90th anniversary of the founding of the Guides, and local Guides want a tent space at the fair for their Today, Tomorrow and Always display. Their request was granted.

Olson related his discussion with Princeton Exhibition Association regarding the location of the new building. After considering water, power and fire access, the Fair Board voted to apply to Town Council to put the building at the rear of the existing Fall Fair build-

Ellie Korpan reported success in finding materials to decorate displays, and added some of the wallpaper she had was donated.

The Hospital Auxiliary and Museum requested a space equal to two tables. The Auxiliary is marking its 90th anniversary since founding.

Signage identifying the location of the fair grounds is still not in place. Council has made more than one request. One of the reasons given by Highways, according to one member of the Fair Board, was a policy of not putting up signs for facilities not used year round. Another member noted the new Bear Mountain Ski sign, which was not a year round usage. The Fair Board intends to pursue the matter further.

A giant garage sale will be held on July 22 at the fair grounds. Keith Olson suggested asking people to donate their junk to the fair, if they did not want a table themselves. Members agreed this might make a good fundraiser.

As the fair is combined this year with Homecoming 2000, the Board would like Council to give permission for a parade on Friday. September 8, to launch three days of celebration. Diane Huey reminded everyone that exhibits would have to be put into the fair no later than the evening of Thursday, September 7, for judging on the morning of September 8, and awards on that date. Town Council has set aside money for fireworks, but the Fair Board must have somebody to set off the fireworks, and apparently the person must have a blaster's ticket.

Little Britches Rodeo will once again be part of the Fall Fair, and Yvonne Price is making arrangements for gymkhana events on the

Tests reveal deadly poison in Dhaliwal death

Keremeos RCMP have received the results of toxicological tests conducted following the death of Kulwinder Dhaliwal, a farm worker who died in Penticton hospital last year. Tissue and fluid samples obtained during medical treatment of Dhaliwal were forwarded to a laboratory in the United Kingdom. Extensive testing has confirmed that the samples contained a pesticide identified as paraquat.

The investigation continues as police examine circumstances surrounding Dhaliwal's exposure to this chemical. Paraquat is contained in a number of commercially obtainable products. At this point, police are unable to conclusively state how Dhaliwal came into contact with this chemical and that has become the current focus of the investigation.

People want Red Bridge kept as a heritage site

Residents of Keremeos area want the Red Bridge preserved as a heritage site. Similkameen Country has organized a meeting of concerned individuals and service clubs to save Red Bridge. Mayor Robin Lee met with Harry Lali, MLA and Minister of Transportation and Highways, and Lali is very interested in preserving this local landmark. However, Highways is not as committed to spending the money required to maintain the structure.

As it stands now, the Department of Highways could legally demolish it tomorrow without saying a word. To guard against such an extreme event, interested people are asked to attend a meeting at Arleigh's Restaurant (K-Mountain Inn) on May 24 at 7:00 p.m.

Princeton - Councillor Keith Olson reported to Council on May 15 that there will be some changes made at the landfill site. Composting is being studied as a possibility for disposal of garden and yard wastes, and earthworm processing is under consideration. Kitchen wastes had not been included in composting plans.

Councillor Olson said composting will add another five years to the landfill. He would encourage home composting for kitchen wastes. He would like to see everyone more concerned, as opening a new landfill could cost local taxpayers up to $4 million.

Foreign students on visit make staying at home an experience

Are your kids looking for some-thing different to do this summer? Why not host a teenager from France of Mexico? About 70 students will be arriving in B.C. for four week homestays in July or August, under the auspices of Nacel Canada, a non-profit organization which has been offering programs to promote international understanding and language education for over 40 years. The students do not go to school while her, they just participate in a family's regular summer activities, including camping or travelling if the family wishes.

Canadian students have the opportunity to be hosts, do a homestay abroad (including school attendance for one or two semesters), or two-week schoolto-school exchange. Nacel offers generous scholarships to over 20 per cent of Canadian students who apply for academic programs abroad.

Host families are essentially volunteers, but do receive $50 per week to cover food costs. The students bring their own spending money for admission fees, snacks and souvenirs. As language improvement is one of the goals, the family MUST speak English.

Wildlife warning

Dangerous doe at large

Princeton - Princeton Conservation Officer Al Lay warns residents of Similkameen Avenue and Granby Avenue areas there is a mule deer doe becoming aggressive towards people walking their dogs in the area. The doe was reported to have chased a person during the early morning of May 15. The doe is suspected to have given birth to her fawn or fawns in the vicinity and that is why she has become aggressive.

Conservation Officer Lay would like to advise people walking in the area to have their dogs under control at all times, and to stay in the more open areas while walking. Parents should advise children not to approach any wildlife, and to stay away from brushy areas. When the fawns are older and able to follow the doe, the problem should cease. Anyone experiencing a problem with this doe or any other wildlife, please call the Conservation Officer at 295-6343.

Hedley wants more law

by Susan Alton

Several RCMP constables met with members of the business community in Hedley last week, following recent thefts at The Country Store and Community Hall. The meeting provided an opportunity for business owners to voice their policing concerns and for RCMP to offer assistance.

Roger Mayer, Area G Representative, attended the meeting, as did Mayor Robin Lee of Keremeos, and John Brent, Assistant to MP Jim Hart, RCMP Staff Sgt. K. Solinsky (Kelowna), Sgt. Bauhuis (Keremeos), Sgt. Tom Payne (Princeton), and Cst. B. Edmondson, South Okanagan Highway Patrol, indicating a high level of concern among elected officials and RCMP.

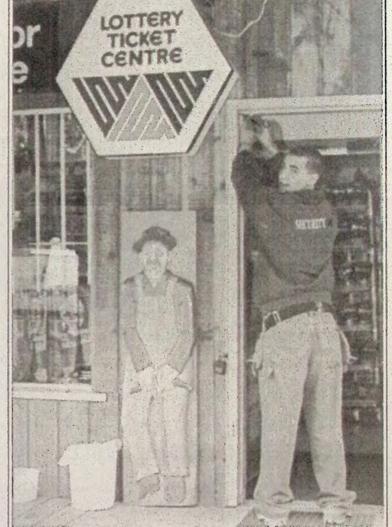

Hedley business owners expressed a sense of frustration at the lawlessness of the community and their feeling of vulnerability due to the distance between detachments. Many felt it was futile to call police as the community has a low response priority. RCMP conceded there really is a problem, but not any more than other communities.

Staff Sgt. Solinsky said, "The mainstay for theft and violence is drugs. Highway 3 is referred to as the Marijuana Trail."

He said the highway is used for the transport of illegal aliens and stolen goods as well as drugs. He pointed out that it is a cross-border highways and all along the route there are criminal problems.

Having said that, he spoke of combatting these problems with education (the DARE program) and enforcement, an increased police presence and a commitment from the community to unite in their efforts against crime.

Doug Bratt, owner of The Country Store which was broken into a couple of times, was the first to say business owners in Hedley do not necessarily want to change other people's lifestyles. They want to let the criminal element know they have gone over the line. After losing thousands of dollars to theft, and receiving a written threat, Bratt and his wife are considering selling their busi-

Some suggestions to reduce the amount of crime included hiring a private security firm, forming a Citizens on Patrol group, and a Community Policing Office. Al Johnson, of Motherlade Store, suggested an underground sprinkler for Woodlie Park timed to start in the evening and discourage teen drinking in a public

Staff Sgt. Solinksy cautioned against a private security firm as they are licensed to "observe and record only." The idea of Citizens on Patrol was quashed because Hedley does not have enough volunteers but the police fully supported the idea of a Community Policing Office if there is enough

In closing, it was agreed that the next step would be a public meeting, with police present to answer

Sgt. Payne noted, "Your problems are being caused by a few people and we know who we are."

Prenatal classes help moms "get ready"

By Elaine Wilson, Public Health

Why register for Prenatal classes? Because a baby doesn't get a second chance to make a first impression!

Pregnancy is a time of development and preparation. As an unborn baby is growing, the pregnant woman is physically and emotionally anticipating delivery and parenthood. Attending prenatal classes is an important step in helping a woman feel she is as "ready as she is going to be."

Prenatal education is available in many forms - classes, books, videos, computer. Prenatal classes, though, give a woman and her support person the opportunity to interact with other expectant parents, ask questions, and learn about specific practices and policies of their own hospital/com-

In Princeton, prenatal classes are offered through the Health Unit. Women are encouraged to attend with a support person who will be present for the delivery. The classes cover information on:

- physical and emotional changes in pregnancy

- prenatal care and fetal development, and healthy lifestyles

- process of labour and delivery, including possible interventions

- labour and delivery, breathing and relaxation

 what to expect in the hospital. The classes may include a tour at the hospital. Each group runs weekly for four weeks in the evening. Classes are offered three times a year.

The Health Unit also provides prenatal education to women individually. The Public Health Nurse organizes classes for women who would benefit from extra support, or have additional challenges to deal with. In cases where medical problems make bedrest a necessity, the Public Health Nurse can make prenatal education available in the home.

Every pregnant woman should have the opportunity for prenatal education. Learning about pregnancy and labour and delivery takes away some of "the fear of the unknown."

For more information about prenatal groups in Princeton, please call the Health Unit at 295-3133. The next series starts on Monday, June 5, at 7:00 p.m. at the Health

Next week, we will take a look at pre-pregnancy nutrition and pre-

Kids and Chiropractic

by Dr. Warren Gage

Many people wonder why so many parents are bringing their children in to be adjusted by their chiropractor. Even some of my own patients may ask, "Why would kids need to be adjusted? They don't get back pain." I reply, "They don't often complain . of back pain; however, they should be assessed for the presence of any vertebral subluxations." Let me explain.

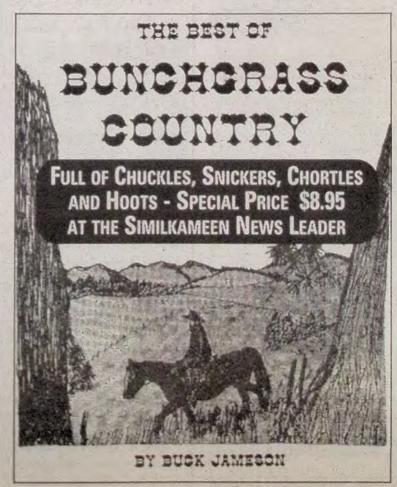

As I have mentioned before, a subluxation is a misalignment in the spine that disturbs communication of the nervous system. As the nervous system is the master controller of the body, any problem with this system has a negative affect on one's health regardless of age.

When a child is born, even when it is a "natural, perfectly normal" birth, much stress is placed on the child's neck and head. If there are any complications requiring the use of forceps, suction, medications to induce birth or reduce pain, even more stress is placed on the infant.

Once these children grow and begin to stand and walk, further stresses are experienced due to the frequency of falls. When toddiers are taking their first steps, the repetitive falls on their bottom causes misalignments in the pelvis and spine. As they grow older, and become interested in sports, even more stress is placed on their growing bodies.

Due to the rapid rate of physical growth through the first years, it is even more important to ensure a subluxation free spine.

Subluxations are easily detected in these little spines and are gently corrected. For an assessment and more information, Dr. Warren Gage is a chiropractor available for consultation in Princeton Tuesdays and Thursdays. His phone number is 295-7015.

MMMIF presents Michelle Wright

When it comes to earning rewards, Michelle Wright is one of the top Canadian artists on the awards list. She is the first Canadian-born artist in the modern era of country music to have a Top Ten hit in America (Take It Like a Man), a number one video on CMT by the same name, and to win a major U.S. Music industry award (Top New Female Artist). She will be at Merritt Mountain Music Festival in July. Michelle grew up in a small Canadian farming community in Merlin, Ontario. She heard the rhythmn and blues and Motown hits coming out of Detroit, just 45 minutes away. She especially heard the strains of country music. Both her parents were country performers.

Seniors invite you to a free evening of music

Princeton - The Rainbow Choir, a group of 40 women from Langley, will be in Princeton on Wednesday, May 24, to present a free concert at the Senior Citizens Hall at 7:30 p.m. This choir is versatile, singing folk, popular, swing, classical and semi-classical numbers.

Members of the choir prove that seniors can still achieve a great deal when inspired. The average age of the women in this choir is 72/73 years! The choir travels every year, and has been to many locations in the Lower Mainland as well as the Interior, Vancouver Island, and travelled to Calgary last year.

This concert is free, and seniors will serve refreshments afterward (small fee). Everyone is invited to attend. Membership in Senior Citizens is not required. ded suit to perform in."

She tagged along on countless jobs, and after one year of college, set off to tour the U.S. and Canada for her own music career. By 1988, she had released her first Canadian album Do Right by Me.

A string of hit albums would keep her in gold and platinum categories for the next 10 years. Her most recent album, The Greatest Hits Collection, summarizes the best of all of the albums. Expect to hear her greatest hits at MMF this summer.

Michelle Wright is featured at Merritt Mountain Music Festival in July.

POINTS

OUR VIEW

We need to work with a positive spirit

The protest rally last week by concerned Princeton citizens put a lot of stress on a lot of people, but it proved something about people in our area. The huge attendance at the meeting the same evening proved some more things about people around our valley.

First, people here are very concerned about health care issues and they have fears of losing services. Past experience has not always been good. It seems every time government wants to cut something, the rural areas lose and services become centralized in the larger centers. People justifiably pointed out that this trend has cost jobs, and therefore a loss of population and a reduced economy. We saw rural people taking an advocacy role to preserve not only health care services, but to preserve their home communities. In other words, they are telling the Regional Your VIEW Health Board, and any other government agency, that cuts should be made fairly. What seems like a small cut to a large center is a devastating blow to a small community.

The second thing proved is that citizens need clear communication about what government and government representatives are doing. Regional Health Board seemed unable to communicate effectively. Rather than saying hospital beds were being closed, they should have said they were being re-classified. The Board failed to give a clear picture of what they were doing, but their reports to the public may be much clearer in the future.

The third thing the protest proved is that people around here can be really rude and impatient at a major public meeting, and there was some justification for those who suggested these concerned citizens ought to have been volunteering to work on the Community Health Advisory Committee. We have to do our part, too, not just in protests, but in our daily lives.

Citizens unite to stop domination

Dear Editor;

The powerful global corporations that are intent on destroying Canadian independence and sovereignty as well as our social programs through trade and investment agreements are meeting with growing opposition.

Two significant and heartening trends are emerging in Canadian political life that have great potential for victory over the aggressive corporate forces in Canada and abroad that are intent on saving our country, our environment and our hard-won social programs such as medicare, senior pensions, unemployment insurance and public education.

Let's do our work

I think we, the people of Princeton and surrounding area, owe a hearty vote of thanks to Doctors Adams and Whittle, Nurse Dorothy Gallagher, and we cannot forget the tremendous presentation by Dina Slowikowski-Campbell, heard at the meeting of the Regional Health Board in Princeton on May 17,2000.

It is up to all of us now to write to the names of the political representatives listed in our weekly papers - postage is not necessary when it is addressed to a federal or provincial representative. The addresses have been provided so let's use them and help our hospital.

J. Kolbe

This was shown last October in Seattle where 50,000 trade unionists, environmentalists, seniors, women, youth, and many others all joined in a powerful demonstration against a common corporate enemy - the World Trade Organization (WTO). They realized that the WTO and subsidiary trade and investment agreements such as the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) and the General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS) are all aimed at replacing elected national governments with appointed global corporate rulers who are out for only one thing: maximum profits.

Similar unity is being shown today in a nation-wide campaign by the scores of organizations involved in cooperative action to save our publicly-funded medicare from being privatized and replaced with a corporate controlled private for-profit system such as they have south of the

Thanks for the great service, says manager

Dear Editor;

My name is Mike Hodder, Manager of the Greater Vancouver Under 17 Hockey Team. On April 27, 2000, we were on our way to Osoyoos to play in the B.C. Cup. Our bus broke down 32 kilometres west of Princeton on the side of the highway. I was able to get a ride to Princeton, to the Mohawk gas station.

I went inside and explained my team's problem to the two ladies who were on duty at the time (sorry - never got their names). They called the people in charge of Lynch Bus Services to arrange for us to charter a bus out of Princeton.

Within half an hour, the bus was on its way to pick me up at the Mohawk and back out of town to pick up our stranded team. I had sent our trainer to Princeton's Subway to get us 25 subs, as the players were getting hungry. Fortunately for us, the one employee on duty at the time jumped into action, called the manager, and proceeded to serve her regular customers and also produce 25 delicious subs. The players were very happy to see food at last.

I just wanted to extend our heartfelt thanks to the town of Princeton, especially the people noted below, for going above and beyond,

Two ladies at the Mohawk employee and manager of Subway people who on April 29 in Vancouver marched for democracy and against corporate rule with colorful banners, bands and street

The second big change taking place is the growing and active participation of young people in these public protests, as well as organizing demonstrative action around their own needs. One example is the big 3,000 strong student march in Vancouver on Feb. 2, organized by the Canadian Federation of Students, which has over 400,000 members nationally. The Vancouver march was part of similar protests being held in other major cities.

Timms team takes silver

Erica Timms, a member of the Kelowna Midget "A" team, has a new silver medal the team won in the Kelowna Sun Tournament May 13 and 14, Timms plays second base and has a .410 batting average in league play, and has stolen more bases than anyone on

This is the top level of Minor Fastball in B.C. Only nine teams competed in the tournament. Erica Timms was happy to place second to the top-seeded Renegades from White Rock.

Timms is age 17, in Grade 12 at Princeton Secondary where she is un Honour Roll student.

The News Leader offers an apology to singer Brent Middleton who entertained at the Youth Ambassadors' Fashion Show (the name is right this time!)

Young people were demanding more funds for post-secondary education. Their funding was cut in 1995 just as it was for health care. They demanded help to overcome the huge debts they are forced to incur just to go to college or university.

I was asked to speak to them just before the march started and I accepted with pleasure. I thanked them for the several times they had supported senior delegations to Ottawa. And I marched proudly with them that day from the Art Gallery to the Plaza of Nations.

I was also asked to speak to a gathering of 150 high school and university students at UBC who were setting up a new organiza-tion called "Check Your Head!" (That's a name seniors like me couldn't even think of!). Trust these young people to use their

by Dave Machin

The story is told of a man who rushed into a suburban railroad station one morning and breathlessly asked the ticket agent, "When does the 8:01 train leave?" "At 8:01," was the answer. "Well," the man replied,

"It's 7:59 by my watch, 7:57 by the town clock and 8:04 by the station clock. Which am I to go by?" "You can go by any clock you wish," said the ticket agent, "but you won't get the 8:01 train, for it has already left." God's timetable is moving forward hour by hour, minute by minute. Unfortunately, there are multitudes who seem to think that they can live by any schedule they choose and that in their own time they can turn to God. However, since His time is the right time, now may be later than they think. Perhaps soon it may be too late. God says, "Behold (look) now is the accepted time, behold (look) now is the day of salvation." God has a train, so to speak, that He wants you to catch. It has on it everything you need to enable you to have a fulfilled, satisfactory life.

The destination of this train is eternity. The engineer is Jesus and He is always on time Your time to catch the train is NOW. Why procrastinate and put it off? There is no promise of tomorrow, for tomorrow may be too late. Because of God's goodness and His unwillingness for anyone to enter eternity without Him, you still have time. God is good all the lively imaginations! They are an enthusiastic group. Check Your Head is growing rapidly. It is devoted to educating young people about the effects of global corporatism on their future.

Canadians are realizing they can't leave their future only to politicians. They must speak out for themselves now, before it is too late and they must act together on issues of common concern.

Seniors must do their part, too. We remember what times were like before social programs were won and we don't want to go back to those days. We owe it to ourselves to keep what we have gained and to leave our children and grandchildren a legacy of security. This rich country we helped build can afford it. Yours truly,

Sunflowers on Darcy Mountain

by Vermilion Forks Field slowly but surely. Naturalists

Darcy Mountain is that huge hill rising to the east of Princeton on the south side of Crowsnest Highway. On Sunday, a small group of Vermilion Forks Field Naturalists took the old logging road south of August Lake and strolled through Douglas fir forest and out onto the open grasslands to view the banks of sunflowers (Balsamroot). The fields by Sunflower Downs had hosts of them earlier, but now the blooms higher up are truly spectacular. Less obvious, but just as beautiful if you look closely, are the blooms of Shooting Star, Woodland Star, and Spring Beauty. We strolled up the old road until we could look over the grassy ridge into the valley of Wolfe Creek and see Willis Ranch far below.

Red-breasted Nuthatches, Mountain Chickadees, Whiskey Jacks (gray jays) and Meadow Larks kept us company as we climbed the trail. As we sat looking over Wolfe Creek Valley hav-ing our lunch, a Townsend's Solitaire warbled its heart out, to let us know we were in its territory. It was a beautiful day which

The next expedition will be to Kane Valley on May 27/28 weekend. Some will go to this beautiful chain of lakes on Saturday, camp at Harmon Lake, scout the trails, and perhaps do some kayaking. The others will arrive on Sunday, May 28. There is an easy interpretive walk near the lake and plenty of longer hikes for the more energetic walkers.

Harmon Lake is 16 km. from Highway 5A, with a turnoff 18 km. south of Merritt, near Corbett Lake. Call Linda Neuman (295-7013) to give advance notice, as she will leave on Saturday with anyone who wants to camp overnight. The Sunday only group will meet at the bus depot at 8:30 a.m. to coordinate rides.

Princeton and District Community Services Society will be the landlord and all rentals and maintenance will be processed through Princeton and District Community Services office at 154 Halliford Avenue (295-6666).

Once again Princeton and District Community Services Society is involved in another community partnership and looks forward to continuing the positive relationship established with BC Housing since 1984.

they arrived for a weekend in Princeton. Buses and motor homes filled the grounds Friday night.

Local couple hosts Bus Nuts

Princeton's Basil and Eunice Bottenfield were hosts to the B.C. Bus Nuts, a club affiliated with the Family Motor Coach Association. Members own and operate motor homes and converted buses, and meet annually on the May long weekend. This year, the Bottenfields invited them to Princeton.

The buses began to roll in on Thursday, more came on Friday, and the last on Saturday, filling the fair grounds from the fair buildings to the west end past the concession building. They liked the way they could line up like covered wagons in a circle.

Mayor praises Bush

Princeton - At the May 15 Town Council meeting, Mayor Randy McLean reported on attending the funeral of Bill Bush, where 500 people showed their respects.

"Bill Bush was a real friend to Princeton," Mayor McLean said. He recalled Bush as a man who "supplied common sense and honesty to meetings."

"He worked really hard for the people of Cawston, and made Regional District a better organicooked dinner on Friday and Saturday nights, and breakfast on Saturday, Sunday and Monday mornings, using the concession. They fed people from 41 units, plus Mayor Randy McLean and his wife, Linda, special guests for Saturday night. People came from Oregon, Washington, Alberta and Saskatchewan as well as B.C.

Activities for the weekend included walking tours of Castle Resort by Bob Ostrosser, the tractor pull in Keremeos on Saturday, and golfing. Feedback about their Princeton experience was enthusiastic. Everyone was friendly, they discovered good restaurants, and our deer population delighted

by Sandy Spring, Vermilion Forks Field Naturalists

Sunday dawned unexpectedly fine, so a dozen avid naturalists gathered to enjoy a day of sunshine, birdsong and jovial camaraderie. We hiked uphill from Summers Creek Road on old logging trails, passing through dense pine and fir forests, pausing frequently to gaze at breathtaking views of the valley below and spy out violets and budding lupine on the path. Wide aspen groves spread before us near the mountain top, where our pooch, Lisa, thoughtfully flushed a few grouse for us to watch as they flapped frantically and noisily into the Further along the trail, an ancient logging camp gave us pause for thought and speculation on the hardships of life in earlier times. It is always disappointing to discover the harsh scars civilization inflicts on nature's beauty. This time it was the new Hembre Mountain Road extension which we nevertheless used for a mile or so before starting our descent.

We gratefully devoured lunch beside the raging Rampart Creek, in a lovely clearing where some of us explored, some of us sketched, and one or two of us dozed. Who could ask for anything more?
