Police seek flasher

Princeton RCMP are looking for a male who has exposed himself on two occasions, June 29 and July 7. Similar incidents occurred in Princeton last year during the warm weather. The June 29 incident was near 34 Fenchurch Avenue in downtown Princeton at 10 p.m., the other incident was at 3:20 a.m. on Lachine Avenue, when he was seen on a patio. In both cases, he was wearing dark or black clothing with something on his head and covering his face. Police advise locking doors and windows. Report incidents immediately to 911.

Trek ends in Washington

by Patty Harrower

An historic 15-day trek that began June 20 at Pillar Lake near Vernon finished in grand style at the Nespelem Powwow grounds in north central Washington Thursday July 4. Approximately 250 people attended the event, representing 12 bands of the Okanagan Nation from both sides of the U.S.-Canadian border.

The traditional dugout canoes made from cottonwood trees arrived first, having been transported to the grounds from Brewster, Washington, where the Okanagan and the Columbia Rivers meet. Staffs of all the tribes were placed upright amid the canoes, and bound together signifying the unity of the Nation.

After lunch, the bareback horse riders arrived and a very moving, deeply spiritual ceremony was held. As the riders entered the shelter and circled the canoes, the participants gathered around the canoes and staffs. Each person was given a pinch of tobacco which they took turns sprinkling over the staffs, sealing the pact of unity. Continued on page 4 .....

No names in drug bust

RCMP have not released the names of two men arrested and held in custody in connection with a major drug bust last week on property located on the Princeton-Summerland road. On June 28, police seized over 3,200 marijuana plants. The property had been used to fly marijuana south of the border via helicopter and was associated with a recent drug seizure in Washington State. RCMP say the exported marijuana is often associated with the import of cocaine and

Clement finds 'perfect' tree

Princeton will once again have a nice Christmas tree, thanks to the efforts of Councillor Kathy Clement. She sent out an appeal to the community for a blue spruce of specific proportions, and she found it. When she heard about the tree, and inspected it, she pronounced it "the perfect tree." Next, she had a forester examine it and evaluate how well it would endure transplanting it.

Councillor Clement told Council on July 3 the tree is healthy and will not suffer from transplanting if it is moved in late autumn. The tree will be ready for Christmas this year, replacing the balsam fir that died two years ago. Christmas Light-up should look a lot better this Christmas.

Serial number helps recover stolen DVD player

In early February 2001, the Radio Shack on Bridge Street in Princeton was broken into and a DVD player was stolen. Shortly after the incident, a female in Dawson Creek went to an electronics store to buy a cord for a DVD player. The clerk became suspicious of her story and contacted police. Police ran the serial number of the DVD player and found it had been stolen in Princeton. The DVD player has been returned and Possession of Stolen Property Charges are pending for the woman. RCMP advise you record serial numbers of possessions.

Vandals damage local property

Police are asking for the help of the public in regard to two vandalized cabins in the Wolfe Lake area located off Highway 3 approximately 10 km. east of Princeton.

Princeton RCMP received a call from a resident of Wolfe Lake stating that two cabins in the area had been extensively damaged. Anyone who has any information about this incident is asked to call CrimeStoppers or Princeton RCMP at 295-6911.

Saving our stuff for us!

Similkameen Valley is noted for its archaeological artifacts, but in the past, these have been taken from the valley to universities and museums where local people will never see them. The local archaeological team is now saving it for us.

On July 5, the Ministry of Forests and Upper Similkameen Indian Band (USIB) hosted a day dedicated to the importance of conserving Similkameen Valley archaeological artifacts. Quite a crowd of elders, forestry and forest company personnel, members of Hedley Museum Society and Band members (many youngsters) attended the events of the day. Some people came from Merritt Indian Bands. Chief Moses Louie attended from Lower Similkameen Indian Band.

Fall Fair plans jam-packed days

Little Britches Rodeo is coming to Fall Fair again on the first day of the fair. It will be followed by a demolition derby around 4:00 p.m.

Plans for the demolition derby at the Fall Fair are progressing well, and include a contest to guess when an engine will "blow up". Mogge's wrecking yard is donating a Ford engine for this event. Tickets are now on sale from Fall Fair members, Kevin Acres, and the News Leader. The person guessing the closest "blow up" time for the 6-cylinder engine, running at full speed with no oil or coolant, will win $300. The two next closest will win $100 each, and there will be three "hidden" guesses winning $50 each. The contest will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, September 8. Garnet Woodford is in charge of all of this mechanical mayhem, and says it is going to be a real blast.

There will be plenty of musical entertainment at the fair. Alicia Harker, a talented young singer from Keremeos, will be attending. The owner of A-P Ranch is bringing wagon rides, and he is looking for fiddlers to jam with him during the fair. The Highland Dancers, Patty Harrower, Eric Hache, Karen Smart, Maria Dunford and the ever-popular Scott family are lined up to provide music. There will be a Derby Dance on Saturday night and a beef on a bun Derby Dinner along with a refreshment garden. In a slightly different kind of musical entertainment, Pine Valley Ranch is doing a dance program with horses, in addition to carriage rides. Princeton Castle Resort is planning to offer carriage rides, too. Local Girl Guides will organize activities for children.

A major radio advertising campaign is planned. Sponsoring the advertising are Kevin Acres, Re/Max and Classic Decor.

School students have created posters to advertise the fair, and did a good job. Participating schools were Tulameen Elementary and John Allison Elementary.

A big raffle, with several large prize hampers, will be a fundraiser for the Fall Fair. Each hamper will contain food, gift certificates and other gift items, each with an average value of $200.

Another fundraiser takes place in the Town Hall parking lot on July 28. Instead of the annual flea market and garage sale at the fair grounds, the Fall Fair members are bringing it downtown from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. and invite others to join with them for the sale.

The Fall Fair booklet will be available at local outlets in the Similkameen Valley in the near future.

The Princeton and District Chamber of Commerce office and Visitor Information Centre is now located along Highway 3 in town, opposite Billy's Restaurant (bus depot).

Chamber office moves for bridge construction

Construction of a new bridge over the Similkameen River on Highway 3 has forced the relocation of Princeton and District Chamber of Commerce office. The office, located just east of the bridge, was formerly Bridge Texaco service station, which was shut down in a petroleum company buy-out. The building was leased to the Chamber of Commerce, who renovated it and created an office and Visitor Information Centre. The new location for the Visitor Information Centre and Chamber office is adjacent to Subway, along Highway 3 at the southwest end of town.

The previous location may not be torn down immediately. According to Project Manager Robbie Osborn, the contractor may use the building as an office during the construction of the new bridge. Construction is expected to begin at the end of this month, as there is an August 1-September 30 window of opportunity for working in the river bed. The first portion of construction will be the piers to support the bridge. Osborn says he expects the contractor to move into Princeton the last week of the month, if not sooner.

Rescue group learns tracking

Peter Rytkonen, Arnie Powell and Herb Castle, of Princeton Search and Rescue, attended a training session held in Barriere, B.C. on June 5 to 7. The session taught "tracking" techniques used to find lost persons. Instead of just looking for a person who is lost, these volunteers learned how to physically track them.

This is the first of a series of courses developed to train Search and Rescue members. They will return for further training in the autumn and will refine and improve their skills. This type of training is very valuable and will be a definite asset to the group.

Currently, Princeton Search and Rescue is conducting training sessions twice a week. Anyone interested in joining Search and Rescue should contact RCMP Constable Chris Newel at 295-6911. He will provide additional information.

Skills Centre elects new Board of management

A new Board of Directors has been elected to manage Princeton & District Community Skills Centre for 2001/02.

Jim Manion is Chair, with Jaymie Atkinson as Vice-Chair and Charlie Brooks as Secretary-Treasurer.

The Directors are: Ron Armstrong (representing the community at large), Marg Johnson (Chamber of Commerce), Rob Marshall (Weyerhaeuser), Alan Markin (Okanagan University College), Bob Westran (School District #58), Randy McLean (Town of Princeton), Brad Hope (Regional District Area H), Phillippe Batini (Upper Similkameen Indian Band).

One more Directorship remains open on the Board. This position is available to a representative of the community at large. Anyone may join the membership of the Skills Centre by paying the $1 annual dues. The Board encourages local people to become members of the Skills Centre to strengthen its ties to the community.

Council plans to lobby Highways

Mayor Randy McLean attended a meeting in Rossland late last month in which Mayors and other municipal or regional representatives discuss Highway 3.

"We have some real support for something to be done on the Hope-Princeton Highway," Mayor McLean told Council.

He learned that Alberta is four-laning Highway 3 to the B.C. border, and the Inland Corridor Project, a joint B.C./Washington initiative, wants problem areas prioritized not only on Highway 97, but on other connecting highways.

Mayor McLean suggested the stretch of highway from the top of the mine hill to the top of Sunday Summit could be four-laned by correcting the curves at Friday, Saturday and Sunday Creeks. He said he would ask Peter McDonald, roads manager for Weyerhaeuser, to look at how these corners could be eliminated at the least expense.

Councillor Dan Sulentic suggested Council ask the RCMP to identify the bad spots along the Hope-Princeton Highway.

The purpose of identifying where work should be done on the highway is to lobby Victoria for improvements was a trip to an excavation site at Pinto Flats. The site is a field experience for Langara College students of archaeology. They found many items of interest. They clean these items, bag and label them, then take them back to the college laboratory for study. The students are guided by their professor, Stan Copp, who supports the concept of keeping the artifacts available to local people. Langara is an approved repository of Similka-meen artifacts. The other approved repository is Princeton Museum.

Brenda Gould, an archaeologist from the USIB Archaeology Team, explained how a dig is done and how levels of earth are dated.

The next trip was to a location known as Rock Shelter. At that site, pictographs were the topic of discussion for preservation of artifacts. Band Manager Philippe Batini told the crowd some of the background of the rock paintings, and how some are vandalized because people do not understand that these important artifacts tell us the history of our valley.

A great lunch of Indian tacos, spetelum and shia (bitterroot and saskatoons), fresh fruit and vegetables, awaited everyone at Chuchuwaya Hall after the field trips. Danette Whitney gave the blessing, after a short talk about how finding artifacts touched her emotionally, putting her in tune with people who lived here long ago.

Band Councillor Nancy Allison welcomed everyone to the seminar portion of the day's activities, and talked about her efforts, as head of the archaeology team, to interview people in the upper Similkameen and Tulameen areas about possible artifact sites and history. Some people were very helpful, and as a result, the team learned oolichans and big seashells had been found (oolichans are candlefish whose oil was a trade item). The oolichans were found in an area near Copper Mountain. Councillor Allison said she had located sites of pit houses and sweat houses. She discovered she was learning genealogy in the process, as one family member referred to another.

Councillor Allison interviewed native and non-native people, and recorded most of the information in handwriting, as most people did not want to be video-taped. She asked them what they had found on their property and what they might know of possible archaeological sites.

Alisdair Reid, a Princeton Secondary School student who worked with Band members on a video last spring, was video-taping this event.

Charlene Allison talked about the history of the USIB Archaeology Team. She spoke of the many years when strangers came into the valley, ignored local people, dug for artifacts, carried them away, and never reported back. She commented on the importance, in these days of rapid economic expansion, of identifying important sites and cataloguing artifacts.

Philippe Batini commented on how the community had been "left out of the loop of research."

Brenda Gould spoke about the need to involve community in the process of research. USIB developed a heritage conservation policy and has requested all archaeologists to acquire a permit from the Band before doing any digs or research. She said everyone seems to be co-operating.

Gould says most of the interesting sites from the past are now on private land. The archaeological team would like to examine some of these sites, but owners fear First Nations will seize their land, or put a ban on development, but this is not the case. The team is interested in what is found there, and does not want to take the land.

"There has never been a cultural history done on the Similkameen Valley," Gould said. "We are the people who are the real heritage conservationists, and we want to keep what belongs to the Similkameen."

Stan Copp was supposed to give a talk, but he was ill, so Gould presented much of Copp's material. Booklets containing much of the information were distributed prior to the seminar.

Darlene Lee gave the final thanks and blessing.

Police check possible arson in brush fire

Princeton RCMP and Princeton Fire Department rushed to a brush fire on July 5 at 6:00 p.m. The fire was located southeast of Princeton near the tailings. Fire investigators believe the fire may have been set intentionally and are asking anyone with information to contact Princeton RCMP. A witness reported seeing a dark green or black small vehicle, similar to a Chrysler K car leaving the scene with two occupants.

Hot temperatures last week pushed the fire hazard rating to extreme and fire officials are asking the public to use extreme caution when outdoors.

Council approves zoning for new ambulance station

by Patty Harrower

A special meeting of Keremeos Village Municipal council was held last Friday June 22 for the purpose of hearing the third reading of the proposed amendments to two zoning bylaws. These amendments would change the zoning of the property behind the fire hall from RM1 (Multi-family Residential) to P1 (Public Institution).

The bylaw changes are needed in order to permit a two-bay ambulance station with living area to be constructed. This would allow the ambulance station to be moved from its present location inside the fire hall, yet still be close enough for the two emergency services to remain together.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

I'd like to add some International Investments to my portfolio. What do you suggest?

International investing offers attractive opportunities, but investing in individual foreign stocks can be complicated and risky. Different regulations, political instability and fluctuating exchange rates can confuse the most seasoned investor.

One of the simplest and safest ways to invest in global markets is through mutual funds. Most fund companies offer global or international funds. Many have years of experience in international funds.

Before choosing a fund, ask the following questions: Does the fund have an established track record? Where does the fund get its research information? Are the fund's research teams located abroad or in Canada? What is the fund's long-term performance record?

Finally, the same rules that apply to investing in domestic investments apply to international investments: Buy quality, diversify your investment dollars, and hold your investments for the long term.

Songs were sung honoring those who made this historic journey, the first time in over 100 years it was travelled as it was in the past.

Many speakers praised the efforts of those who contributed to the success of the Trek. Organizers on both sides of the border worked tirelessly with each other and numerous support people along the way.

There were trials and triumphs daily. The paddlers battled huge waves. The youth from the Upper Nicola Band rode their entire portion of the journey bareback. Those who made the Trek were changed by the time they finished. They all gained physical stamina, spiritual strength, and a knowledge of how the people lived and travelled the lands in the old times.

This journey began with a vision of one woman, Elder Louise Gabriel. She wanted her people to paddle their canoes, ride their horses, and walk their land again as they once did. She envisioned the young people learning the old ways, reviving the traditions and the language. She felt it was important for her people to know the pride of who they are and where they came from, to once again feel their connection to each other, their land and the Creator. Her vision has been transformed into reality.

Before she left the gathering, Elder Gabriel was presented with an oar from the lead canoe that was signed by all who took part in the journey. With the success of this first historic Trek, the Okanagan First Nations people are looking forward to similar journeys annually. They feel it is important to teach the youth, to ensure their aboriginal culture and heritage remains intact amid pressures that would see the old ways disappear.

Organic farm attracts tourists

by Patty Harrower

Bruce and Kathy Harker have been operating Harker's Fruit Ranch for 25 years. In the past 15 years, they have worked hard to be able to offer not only exceptional organically grown produce, but educational tours of the ranch as well.

When considering organic farming, most people think it means no pesticides and other non-natural chemicals or additives are used in the growing and harvesting process. That is true, but it is only part of the equation. Organics is a growth industry using a biological system that begins with the condition of the soil itself.

In order to grow produce crops at all, soil must have a healthy pH, or "Hydrogen power," balance. The degree of pH determines soil acidity or alkalinity: pH values from zero up to seven indicate soil acidity; pH7, the value found in distilled water, is considered neutral; pH values above seven up to 14, indicate alkalinity. Vegetable and tree fruit crops require the soil to maintain a fairly neutral pH. A value of between 6.5 and 8 is a healthy pH level for those crops.

The entire Similkameen River Valley has been blessed with a fertile soil that does not need much pH adjustment, but in a few extreme cases, lime can be used to neutralize acid soil, or a bit of sulfur will fix an alkaline soil. These are natural remedies that fit the organic growing concept.

In addition to crop rotation as a soil maintenance procedure, cover crops are grown. While the main crop is used to feed people, the cover crop is used to feed the soil.

White clover is one cover crop used to replace nutrients that fruit trees take from the ground. The clover is grown, mowed before it goes to seed and mulched back into the soil.

Where vegetables and other ground crops are grown, soil maintenance begins as soon as the crops have been harvested. An

Fifty years later ..... they are still rockin'

thanks to Lois Haffey

"We're still rockin', and it's not in chairs!" says the class of 1939 to 1951, celebrating 50 years since their graduation. On Friday, June 29, they registered at the Senior Citizens Hall. Twenty-five students, with spouses and friends, came to Princeton for their reunion.

Following registration, they went to the parade or in it - four of their vehicles were in the "Rockin' 50's parade! Then they headed to a local establishment for refreshments and supper.

On Saturday, many went to the pancake breakfast at Rotary Park during the morning. A tour, guided by Raymond Huey, went to Coalmont and Tulameen. They had lots of laughs and fun at the Coalmont Hotel and lunch at Tulameen.

The reunion banquet was a beautiful prime rib dinner with all the trimmings at the Belaire Restaurant, operated by classmate Dave Anderson and his wife, Lal. Then they went to a party at the home of classmate Clayton Hamilton and his wife, Karen.

On Sunday, July 1, Ray and Diane Huey welcomed the class for a social afternoon and picnic supper at their home at Martin's Lake.

Some of the class who could not attend sent their regrets: Clinton Dunningham, Ron Garrison, Florence (Berger) Corrigan and grace (Hargrove) Brock. Those who were gone, but not forgotten, are Doreen Aldous, Dulcie Langford and Stewart McGraw. There was plenty of time to renew friendships and catch up on all the news, as well as share some wonderful memories.

OUC grants certificates

Similkameen Valley college students were awarded certificates as they graduated in the Class of 2001.

The following Keremeos students received Home Support/Residential Care (HS/RC) certificates: Teresa Malone, Darlene Montgomery, Tabitha Freeman, Natasha Gibson, Candice Fraser-Beswick, Briar Pinch, Jody Haayer, Linda Ashley, Marcy

Leduc, Neyda Munro, Cheryl Thompson, Patricia White, Barbara Zieske and Jenny Hunt. From Keremeos, Albertina Dunham and Hermynje Monck received HS/RS certificates.

Lance Winter (Princeton) and Bobby Chays (Keremeos) were awarded Welding Level C certificates, and Hamish Reid (Princeton) received his Culinary Arts certificate.

organic compost or fish fertilizer is applied and turned into the soil before a cover crop of buckwheat, winter peas or fall rye is planted. The crops germinate and begin growing before the snow covers them. In March or early April when the snows melt, the cover crops are turned into the soil and left to decompose for about two weeks.

Some cover crops act as pest repellents. Winter or fall rye keeps cut worms away and adds fibre to the soil, which competes with weeds, eliminating the need for pesticides and herbicides.

While learning about modern day organic farming, visitors will be enchanted with the antique farm machinery and horse drawn buggies from an earlier era which are among the treasures to be found at Harker's Country Market.

The Harkers had a dream that today has grown into a premier tourist attraction.

Cashiers help raise money for Foundation

Cashiers at Princeton's Overwaitea store are going to "blitz" customers for six weeks as a fundraising campaign for Princeton General Hospital and Ridgewood Lodge Foundation. As each customer goes through the check-out counter, the cashier on duty will ask the customer to redeem Save On More points as a donation to the Foundation.

For every 1000 points donated by a customer, Overwaitea head office will match the donation, making a $2.00 cash donation to the Foundation.

This is a cashiers' contest. Each cashier will be responsible for keeping track of the number of points they were able to collect from customers and report daily to Mac, one of the employees. Mac will tally the points on a graph. There will be first, second and third prizes for the cashiers who have the most redeemed points to their credit. Overwaitea manager Len Steenson says, "If we have 2000 customers in Princeton and every customer made a donation of 2000 points, this would equate to a cash donation of $8000 to the Foundation.

Learn to Swim - Save a Life

These youngsters are learning how to swim. This skill is fun and it may save their lives at some time. Centennial Pool offers swimming lessons daily through the summer to all ages. Check ad for details.

Lawrence elected Director

Princeton resident Marilyn Lawrence was re-elected area Director of the British Columbia Lung Association at the organization's annual general meeting in Vancouver. As a member of the Executive Committee, Lawrence has volunteered in this position since 1989. She has run the Christmas Seal Campaign for many years, raising money for the BC Lung Association. As well, she has spear-headed a number of public awareness initiatives in the Princeton area.

The BC Lung Association's Executive Committee allocated $1.2 million toward health education programs and over $1.5 million toward medical research grants and training for medical professionals in British Columbia.

The BC Lung Association plays a major role in the fight against lung disease and respiratory illness - ranging from lung cancer, asthma, emphysema, tuberculosis and occupational lung disease - through health education programs, advance medical research and patient support activities throughout the province.

AIDS reaches crisis point world-wide

AIDS now ranks as a "pandemic." A pandemic is an epidemic of world-wide proportions. In other words, it is an epidemic touching every nation on earth.

Canadians living with AIDS have been fortunate enough to acquire medication for the disease to keep it in check, although they are not cured and are still infectious. In poorer nations of the world, people are dying in large numbers every day as a result of HIV infection (which becomes AIDS).

In a report to the United Nations World Conference on AIDS, Canadian medical authorities warned that Canadians may become complacent about AIDS and believe it is no longer a problem when, in reality, more cases are reported each year. HIV infection is still a problem in Canada, as it is everywhere.

Canada was accused of giving less than its fair share of funds to combat AIDS worldwide. In Africa, where AIDS has been prevalent the longest, entire villages have been decimated.

Living past 100 Summer's health advantage

Nearly everyone feels better in the summer. It is not just the absence of germs, nor the sunlight, it is in the food we eat. Living in the Similkameen Valley, where fresh fruit and vegetables are bountiful, we have an advantage that can improve our health.

Inside every vegetable, fruit, herb, flower and grain, there is colouring that offers a special advantage. The colours contain substances called bioflavonoids. Research through many years has proven bioflavonoids have properties that are anti-inflammatory, anti-allergic, anti-virus and anti-cancer.

Bioflavonoids reduce the risk of heart disease and stroke, canker sores, allergies, and enhance connective tissue repair. Bioflavonoids can help healing of carpal tunnel syndrome, bruises, gout, high cholesterol, varicose veins, bleeding gums, hemorrhoids, low immunity, arthritis and sciatica. Bioflavonoids can prevent cataracts.

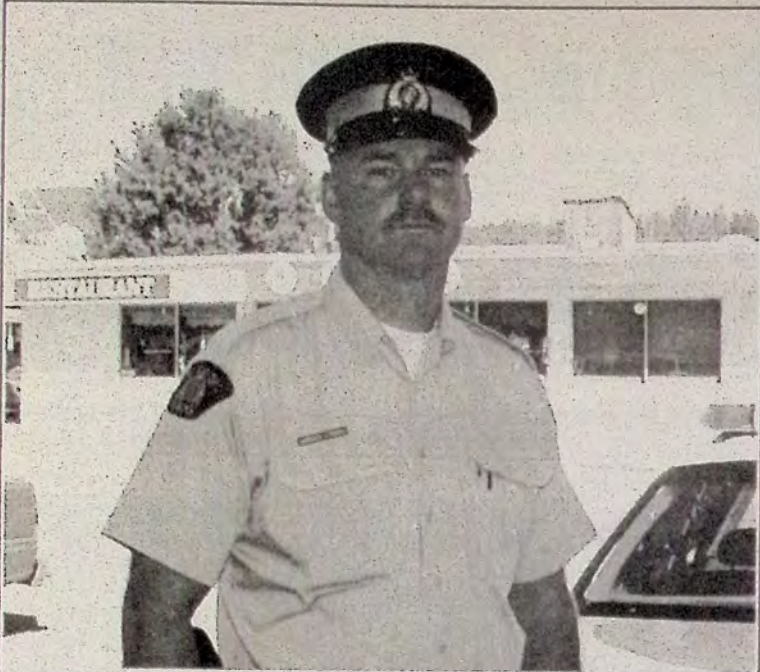

When Mom said, "Eat your vegetables," she was prescribing good medicine. Top contenders for rich bioflavonoids are rinds of oranges, lemons and grapefruit (why not have marmalade?). Next highest on the scale are onions, kale, green beans, broccoli, endive, celery, cranberries, tomatoes, red bell peppers, apples, and grapes (especially red grapes).

Does you like buckwheat pancakes? They are good for you, especially with strawberries on top.

Another source is grapeseed extract, which you can purchase in a health food store. Other bioflavonoids can be purchased, too, but now is the time to get the full natural benefit by eating our fresh vegetables and fruit, with-greatest benefits by eating them raw.

Raw fruit and vegetables are great in salads or just eaten out of hand. There is one other big benefit - good looks. Bioflavonoids are believed now to stimulate the synthesis of collagen, that fibrous protein we lose as we age, giving us wrinkles. Bioflavonoids appear to stop the breakdown of collagen and aid in keeping us looking younger.

Let's all eat our fruit and vegetables for the good medicine they are.

Sgt. Warren Dosko is the new Officer in Charge of Princeton RCMP Detachment. He is from Prince George, where he was active in investigating property and drug crimes. He likes Princeton, having grown up in a small town in Saskatchewan. Most of his postings have been in the north, so he and his family are enjoying a warmer climate. They like the outdoors and enjoy camping. Sgt. Dosko says there are good programs, such as D.A.R.E. and COPS in place in Princeton and he intends to keep them.

Tulameen hosts second annual triathlon

The second annual Tulameen Triathlon will be held August 4, during Tulameen Family Fun Days. Competitors will swim 1 km., bike 16 km. and run 9 km. The first Tulameen Triathlon was an outstanding event, and this year's action should be just as good.

The race begins at Otter Lake beach. Registration starts at Otter Lake beach at 7:00 a.m. and the race begins at 8:00 a.m. when racers swim out and back (1 km total). Bikers will take over from swimmers and ride from the beach along Otter Avenue to Coalmont Road, ride to Coalmont Hotel, turn around and ride back to the beach along the same route.

Runners will race down 6th Street in Tulameen to Coalmont Road along the side of the lake to Lockie Road, turn right onto Lockie Road, run down the cul-de-sac, and head back to the beach to the finish line.

There will be aid stations along the route, as well as a rejuvenation station at Otter Lake beach for participants only.

The awards ceremony will be held at 1:00 p.m. behind Tulameen Community Hall, where baron of beef barbecue and refreshments will be available.

For information on prizes and entry fees, pick up a brochure at Ounce of Prevention, 121 Vermilion Avenue in Princeton or call 1-250-295-6716 and talk to Jim Hardin or Carol Esselink, or call Leslie Hassell at 1-250-295-7380.

Entry costs are higher for those who register after July 27, 2001.

If you plan to attend the Fun Days, watch for people running or riding bicycles.

Toastmasters prove speaking out is easy!

by D.J. Darel

I joined Toastmasters about two and a half years ago. I can honestly say it is the most practical, formal education that I have ever been part of. After all, communication is something we all use every day. At Toastmaster, we practice or enhance our communication skills for use in small or large groups and also one on one. I joined because I realized there was no one in my immediate family who would brave the task of public speaking - sometimes it is important to address a group. So, even though I feared public speaking more than death, I went to a meeting. To my surprise, the people were warm, kind, understanding and extremely positive people who come from all walks of life.

Our last meeting was June 26. After a summer recess, we will meet again on September 11. If you are a positive person or you just like hanging around positive people, come to any one of our meetings. Come as a guest, no pressure to speak. Meetings are held at 7:00 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Hall, 162 Angela Avenue, on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. September through June. If you want to know more about Toastmasters, call 295-6308.

Pinewood Pottery Festival is here again!

Paula Pateman's arts and music festival is on this weekend. Everybody missed having it last year, a year which Paula says was "devastating." This year, Pinewood Pottery is operating in its previous great style, and Paula has rounded up some great musicians, artists and craftspeople for the festival.

Pinewood Pottery and Gifts is located at the end of Pinewood Drive, 28 kilometres northeast of Princeton on the road to Osprey Lake. The festival takes place on the grounds and is completely informal. Bring a lawn chair, or spread a blanket on the ground. Refreshments will be available, lots of ice-cold drinks, including Paula's famous ice cream sodas. Snowwheelers are in charge of the hamburgers and smokies.

The musicians at the festival are a great line-up of talent. Ian Hartline, who is a musician for Princess Cruise Lines, is available and eager to attend the festival. From the Vancouver Jazz Festival Bert Peters and Robert Forbes-Johnson will be playing, and Karen Smart, who is bringing art, is bringing her flute, too.

Hedley artists, paper sculptor Terry Bishop and Chuck Casperson (Woodchuck Carvers) are bringing their work to the festival.

Monique de Silva makes glass beads and will be creating them in demonstrations at the festival. Bileen Fry is a designer of jewelry. She uses semi-precious stones and metals.

Michelle Jensen creates Celtic designs for ceramic patio tiles, and will have them on display.

Ainsley Beauchamp, Karen Smart and Jodi Woodford will have paintings on display. Bettina Wong will show her metal sculptures.

Marlene, of Black Sheep Wool Shop in Nelson, and Kathy Tapman, who does fibre art and spins, will show wool crafts and weaving.

Of course, Pinewood Pottery will be on display.

The festival will go on all day and into the evening. Admission is by donation. There will be door prizes, so be sure to sign when you arrive.

Paula advises people, "Everything on display is for sale. You could pick up some one-of-a-kind Christmas gifts at the festival."

Pinewood Pottery and Gifts has been approved as part of the "cultural corridor" of the B.C. Interior, meeting the standards for quality of merchandise, ease of access, and business-like operation.

Join the fun for youth and children days

Tuesday, July 10, is Child and Youth Day. Vermilion Forks Elementary is the place and all children and youth are invited to participate. There will be free snacks, drinks, games and activities starting at 12:30 p.m. and lasting until 3:30 p.m.

The following day is Senior/Youth Day at Princeton arena, beginning at 2:00 p.m.

when a scavenger hunt starts. There will be crafts as well.

Between 4:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m., approximately, there will be a potluck dinner. Everyone bringing something to eat should try to have it there by 4:00 p.m.

There will be an intergenerational dance, community youth awards and the winners of the Youth and Senior Essay Contest will be announced. There is no cost for this afternoon of fun, except a contribution to the potluck supper but participants should let the committee know. If you plan to attend, call Sarah Van Heeswijk at 295-7222. If you are wondering what to bring to the supper, call Sarah for advice.

Film Commission offers business opportunity

Okanagan Film Commission announced June 28 it has begun to update its production guide. For the past three years, the guide has provided many local businesses with a share of the nearly $5 million worth of film making done in the valley.

The production guide serves as a reference to local services and amenities available to film production companies. It provides information on local weather and contact information on regional, provincial and municipal regulating agencies throughout the Okanagan, Similkameen and Boundary regions. Film companies like to utilize local businesses when they are filming and the production guide enables the production companies to foster a partnership with the community or region in which they are shooting.

Okanagan Film Commissioner Mark Flett stated that the year 2000 saw over one and a half million dollars brought into the local economy by film companies. Each of those film companies used the production guide as a way of finding businesses and services to fulfill their needs.

Several of the recent films that found the production guide useful include the feature film The Pledge starring Jack Nicholson, Snow Falling on Cedars, Lunch with Charles, The Shipment and various international commercials.

In the past, business information in the guide has been provided free of charge, however, the cost of producing these books has proven expensive. In recent years the film commission bore the entire six dollar for each of the 500 guides printed.

The financially challenged Okanagan Film Commission hopes to recover those costs this year by asking businesses to kindly donate/invest $20 to help support the commission in their mandate of creating a local film industry. In return, each business that contributes to the guide will receive their listing in bold print along with a window decal acknowledging their business as supporters of the local film industry.

Businesses and organizations throughout the region that are interested in being listed should contact Shawn at Okanagan Film Commission at (250) 717-0087.

Museum visitor report

Jaymie Nesbitt gives visitors the official tour of Princeton Museum this summer. She is a student hired for July and August, and is learning about the museum very quickly.

From June 29 through July 5, Jaymie welcomed 106 visitors. Each visitor is invited to sign the guest book. This way, there is a tally of the numbers of visitors, where they originated, and a record of their comments. The comments have been very positive.

Visitors came from Ontario, Alberta, Washington State, Kimberly, 100 Mile House, Vernon, Castlegar, Vancouver Island, Keremeos, and the majority came from the lower mainland of British Columbia.

None of the visitors came to see just one thing. All of them were interested in everything the museum has on display, although one or two lingered in the Pollard Wing, fascinated by the fossil collection. The majority of visitors last week were adults.

Jaymie Nesbitt (right) welcomes visitors to Princeton Museum from 10 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday and Monday. Lady at left is a dummy.

Patients can expect delays at PRH X-ray

Patients going to the Radiology Department at Penticton Regional Hospital can expect delays and may be asked to reschedule their appointments.

Renovations to the Radiology Department began on July 5. Five pieces of new equipment are being installed - a multislice CT scanner worth $1.38 million, two general X-ray machines, one multipurpose X-ray machine, and a bone density scanner. The total cost is several million dollars and should improve patient service when it is complete.

In the meantime, patients can expect to wait for an hour on some occasions during the next five months, and some patients may be asked to make a new appointment.

Patients travelling from out of town are advised to call and make an appointment in order to avoid delays. The number to call is Imaging Services 1-250-492-9007. People who just "drop in" for an X-ray will probably be turned away and asked to make an appointment. Emergency situations such as broken bones or car accidents will be handled immediately either through ambulance services or doctors.

Drivers beware!

Princeton RCMP have received a number of complaints concerning ATVs, motorcycles and other unlicensed vehicles. According to Cst. Chris Newel, the complaints are not so much about where these vehicles are being operated, but the manner in which they are operated.

"The vehicle often attracts the attention of residents by speeding or through lack of consideration for others, which prompts a call to police," Cst. Newel stated.

If the police become involved, there could be some heavy fines. For example, having no insurance will cost $575, no licence plate - $86, no helmet - $115, speeding - $115 (minimum), or vehicle not equipped for the road - $86.

There are plenty of trails and areas to ride outside and away from local towns, and police suggest operators of these vehicles ride slowly out of town and past residential areas to the back country.

"By driving your motorcycle or ATV in a responsible manner, with consideration for others in the area, this should decrease the number of complaints police receive and at the same time allow everyone to enjoy the outdoors," says Cst. Newel.

He advises parents to go over this if a son or daughter has a motorcycle so the youngsters are familiar with the rules of the road.

Horoscopes

July 10 to 16, 2001

ARIES - Your week starts with some misgivings about past occurrences in your life. You may feel disappointment, regret or guilt. You may spend Friday feeling lonely. This is temporary - unwind.
TAURUS - Your week starts reasonably well, but you need to focus on being realistic and objective regarding money and groups you belong to. The end of the week brings good news and a few surprises.
GEMINI - The changes taking place in your life now require clear thinking and a sense of purpose. You may feel very alone this weekend, and upset with yourself. There is conflict with others now.
CANCER - Your week starts well, and becomes better by the weekend, but there is lingering difficulty on the job and it may come to a head soon. Clear up old business - you are not in the clear yet on your job.
LEO - Be careful you do not put both of your feet in your mouth this weekend and mess up a good relationship. The potential is there to say something if fun that others will remember with anger.
VIRGO - Clear up all kinds of old business this week and spend the weekend with groups you enjoy, or alone, planning your future. You could have a lot of fun either way. Put some things back on track.
LIBRA - This weekend promises to be a mixed bag of bad news and golden opportunities. You may have problems sorting out which is which. An old matter needs resolving now - clear it up next week.
SCORPIO - This is a great week for you, as times change in your favour. This may be your week to clinch a deal you have been setting up. However, read the fine print and don't sign before Friday.
SAGITTARIUS - Something that has been a source of worry for the past many months will be cleared up to your benefit next week. This week, be patient and don't make any sudden moves.
CAPRICORN - You may feel tired and lazy this weekend, but try to focus on what is positive and productive. Good news arrives from friends and partner. Work may seem more of a burden than usual.
AQUARIUS - Employment matters and health are on the upswing. This weekend may bring you good news in these matters. However, you may feel too lazy to do anything but grin and enjoy life!
PISCES - You will begin to find life more enjoyable this week. There is still a matter pending regarding your job, but it will not be resolved

Earthquakes and volcanoes

It was an active week all over our active planet

Swarms of small quakes hit north central California last week and continued into the weekend, but the quake area expanded to Nevada and Wyoming on Saturday. Nine quakes registering between 3 and 4 on the Richter scale hit between July 2 and July 6, with the Nevada and Wyoming quakes following on July 7. All were only a few kilometres down.

Southeast of Honshu, Japan, a swarm of quakes between 4 and 5.5 hit on July 5, following a major quake 290 km. deep on the Mariana Trench.

Most alarming for North America was a small quake at New Madrid, where the biggest fault line in North America is centered. This Missouri location spawned the largest quakes in recorded history, altering the flow of rivers and creating a new landscape in the early 1800s.

On the same day, Mt. Etna, a volcano in Sicily, Italy, erupted for the thirteenth time this year.

SAVAGE, Alexander Gordon
 Passed away at Princeton, B.C. on June 29, 2001. gordon is survived by May, his wife of 56 years, daughters Sylvia of Princeton, Carol (Scott) of Nanaimo, and sons Bob (Gloria) of Kelowna and Bill (Cindy) and Dave of Calgary. He was also the proud grandfather of 11 and great-grandfather of 7. Born in Calgary on New Year's Day 1915, Gordon was educated in Calgary and Edmonton, graduating as a Mining Engineer from the University of Alberta in 1941. During WWII, he served as Lieutenant in the Royal Engineers and was wounded in action in France in 1944. Gordon "joined" the Miller family of Allenby, B.C. when he and May were married July 14, 1945. They subsequently lived in Copper Mountain, Edmonton and Calgary, as Gordon left mining and became involved in the Canadian oil and gas industry in 1948. He enjoyed a long and rewarding career, retiring as Vice President of Canadian Homestead Oils in 1980. the years since retirement gave Gordon abundant opportunities to pursue his love of traveling off the beaten track, amateur prospecting, hiking and other activities with family. Gordon was a life member of the Association of Professional Engineers, Geologists and Geophysicists of Alberta as well as a founding member of Parkallen United Church in Edmonton and Westminster United Church in Calgary, a member of the Masonic Lodge of Alberta (serving for a year as Worshipful Brother of Jordan Lodge # 177) and the Shriner's Al Azhar Temple. As President of the Calgary Snowmobile Club he was instrumental in developing backcountry trail grooming and effective volunteer search and rescue operations. As stated recently by a cousin, Gordon was a true "family hero": a husband, father and grandfather who ensured everyone was cared for, a soldier who served his country, a professional who helped build and industry, a community member who always played an active role. He is loved and fondly remembered by many in western Canada. Funeral to be held at St. Paul's United Church in Princeton B.C. at 1:30 p.m. Friday, July 13. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Princeton General Hospital and Ridgewood Lodge Foundation or St. Paul's United Church.

Legalizing marijuana may prove hazardous

Fifty-two percent of British Columbians favour legalizing marijuana. The question is: have they really thought through to the consequences?

We know the government will control the production and sale of marijuana if it is legalized. No doubt, the government would soon put the illegal growers out of business, and the ensuing marijuana wars would resemble the wars between the moonshine producers and the government "revenue" in the southern United States. Of course, the government grow operations would open the doors for a lot of government revenue on sales plus additional taxes, much like liquor control. With legalization comes a whole new set of bureaucrats, taxation, and regulation.

If the pattern of use of marijuana follows the pattern of liquor control, we can expect very little control of consumption of the drug, as improving sales brings the government more money. This means we can count on more activity on the highway, this time looking for "toking" drivers instead of drinking drivers.

We can expect an increase in toking drivers when marijuana is legal. Along with this increase, we can expect an increase in marijuana-related accidents, which will cost all of us a great deal more in terms of policing, court action, and hospitalization.

Health care costs will likely rise if the number of marijuana users increases. We have a lot of concern about smokers of ordinary cigarettes. The American Institute on Drug and Alcohol abuse claims smoking one joint of marijuana is the equivalent of smoking eight regular cigarettes, one after another. Imagine the damage done to the user's lungs. If the health ministry is at all concerned about lung disorders, it should be opposed to legalizing marijuana.

We taxpayers should look at all the costs before we approve legalization of marijuana.

Teachers' Union supports nurses' stand on work legislation

Dear Editor;

On Thursday, June 28, Princeton nurses held a rally at Town Hall. At this meeting, Joann Gabriel delivered a statement from me on behalf of Princeton teachers. As attendance at the rally was limited, I would like to repeat our message for those persons who were unable to attend.

"As you, the nurses of Princeton, begin your day of rallies in the Okanagan Similkameen Health Region, I want to express the support of Princeton teachers for your struggle for a fair and reasonable contract.

Rather than mediate, Mr. Campbell has chosen to legislate. Rather than encourage respectful bargaining, he has introduced anti-democratic legislation. His so-called "solution" has only served to make a difficult situation worse.

What is there about the legislation that Mr. Campbell has introduced that will attract one young person to become a nurse in this province? Not one thing. The challenges to our health care system will not be solved by bullying the nurses. They will be solved with adequate resources and respectful bargaining.

The same thing is true for teachers. The challenges facing our education system will not be solved by bullying teachers - as the government also proposes to do with essential services legislation. They will be solved with adequate resources and respectful bargaining.

The teachers of Princeton know that the nurses' bargaining campaign is a struggle for a strong, healthy universal health care system. And your struggle is our struggle. It's about democracy. It's about fairness. It's about providing the services that the citizens of Princeton and other B.C. centers want and need.

I want to end by thanking you on behalf of Princeton teachers. Thanks for your commitment to quality universal health care. Thanks for your commitment to public education, and most of all, thanks for your commitment to us, your patients, the people of Princeton."

Sincerely,
Susan Hamilton, President,
Princeton District Teachers' Union

Visitor compliments local motel accommodation

Dear Editor;

I would like to comment on the nicest motel unit I have ever stayed in and it is in your town, Princeton. The motel is the "Princeton."

I have never written a complimentary letter on accommodations before. However, my stay in Princeton was so pleasant that I felt compelled to let you know. So often, only complaints are heard, so I felt you might like to hear my comments.

The decor was beautiful. It was the first time I've ever seen a rocking chair, covered with an afghan, in any unit, including some top hotels. The personal touches, ornaments like old fashioned oil lamps on little shelves, throw pillows, etc. all made for a welcoming, pleasant warm feeling. Very much appreciated after a day's travel.

As a kitchen unit it was superb! It is not only had a stove but there was also a microwave. The "Princeton" had more cooking equipment than the previous three motels, I had stayed in, combined. Actually, there simply could be no comparison. The kitchen facilities were so far, far superior to the other motels! One could truly cook and it was spotlessly clean.

The prices were reasonable and the service was excellent. In my job as Provincial Secretary for the Senior Citizens Association of B.C., it is necessary for me to travel a few times during the year. How nice it would be it, when travelling, one was able to stay in such a beautiful room each night. How much more enjoyable and relaxing the end of the day would be.

The "Princeton" is to be complimented.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Bernie Schill, Maple Ridge, B.C.

Letters to the Editor

Otter Valley tells Premier "Stop grizzly plan"

Dear Mr. Campbell;
I am writing on behalf of the 250 members of the Otter Valley Fish and Game Club in regard to the proposed Recover Plan for Grizzly Bears in the North Cascades of British Columbia. The Grizzly Bear Project includes plans to transplant a total of 25 Grizzly Bears into our area over the next five years.

Mr. Matt Austin (Carnivore Specialist for the Ministry of Land, water and Air Protection) is responsible for this proposal. I believe Mr. Austin has recently submitted the proposal to government.

The voices of our membership and the voice of the communities of Tulameen, Coalmont, Princeton, Merritt, Keremeos, Lytton, Hope, Boston Bar, Chilliwack and Manning Park are overwhelmingly against this proposal. We anxiously seek your assistance in preventing this proposal from becoming reality.

The Grizzly Bear Recovery Team has held a number of 'public meetings' over the past number of months. Prior to the meetings, our club has made numerous attempts to receive answers from the Recovery Team (letters available), to which no written response was ever received and to which no answers to questions were ever offered despite written request for such. Once the meetings were announced it was hoped that the voice of the local population would finally have an opportunity to raise concerns/questions and to receive answers.

The initial meeting was held in Princeton; the attendants were informed that the meeting would be confined to an information session and then the attendants would have the opportunity to ask questions in writing or on a one-on-one situation with the attending members of the Project! The attendants were appalled and demanded the opportunity to publicly voice their concerns and hear the questions and answers received from the concerns raised by others. Mr. Austin eventually conceded to a half hour question and answer session, which barely allowed the concerned parties to voice even a single question each! Even when a question was addressed the answers were incredibly vague and indirect.

After an initial meeting Mr. Austin decided to change the format of the meetings in order to accommodate public questions, however, the answers remained vague and unhelpful.

The Otter Valley Fish and Game Club is committed to protect and enhance all wildlife and their habitat. This commitment certainly extends to the Grizzly Bear and we strive to ensure that the Grizzly and all other species that currently reside in the Northern Cascades continue to do so.

The opposition that our club raises does not stem from fear and ignorance as the Recovery Team would seem to believe, but comes from a genuine concern that inadequate study has been performed on the Grizzly Bears located here. Local trappers, cattlemen and outfitters are well aware of the existence of many more bears than the Recovery Team's report would suggest. We cannot offer an exact figure on the number of bears in our area but we can say with confidence that there are definitely more bears than the estimated 'fewer than 25' in the report (last year a local resident sighted nine grizzlies in one area, seven in one photo! This group included two females with two generations of offspring!) Our club and myself have recently played a significant role in the first successful elk transplant in B.C. since the 1970's. In order to achieve the end result of a successful transplant of elk into the Upper Similkameen, we sat down in a round table format with all concerned groups. (This format took a considerable amount of time but achieved agreement on how to reach the end goal of enhancing and stabilizing the local elk herd, three years after the project was started the end result has been achieved and all interested groups' needs have been accommodated. The Upper Similkameen Elk Enhancement Committee has been and continues to exist from the dedication and hard work of volunteers).

We have suggested on many occasions that a similar group be formed in order to address the Grizzly Bear situation. Mr. Austin has declined to consider such a group as he feels that we do not have the knowledge or training to address the Grizzly Bear situation (government biologists provided the elk project with the assistance it required to work through the scientific elements of the project).

Opposition for this plan is due to the lack of public input, the inaccuracy of figures presented, the lack of study performed on the impact on other species, the lack of study on the cause of any perceived decline of population, the reduced access of the public to Crown land, the impact on business and the danger presented to humans. The Grizzly Bear Recovery Team appears to believe that the knowledge of the local population is insignificant and that our voice is one of fear and ignorance. We strongly disagree with the Recovery Team and believe the local voice and local support is crucial to a successful Grizzly Bear Recovery Plan. In our opinion the Grizzly Bear Recovery Team has taken bare-bones facts and figures and translated them into a strategy for disaster. The 429 concerned citizens who disagree with the proposed Grizzly Bear Recovery Plan have signed a petition. Only four locations were involved in this limited petition (a Tulameen store, a Princeton retail store, a Princeton doctor's office and a retail store at Chain Lake)! We have forwarded this petition to Mr. Dave Chutter, out MLA. We hope that a meeting can be arranged which would allow us to present alternative solutions to the Grizzly Bear situation and reach a result that will satisfy all concerned. Yours truly, Paul Adams, Acting President Otter Valley Fish and Game Club.

All the promises God ever made from the time of creation until now are for us today. God's character absolutely guarantees what He promised shall be done. The word "promise" actually means to furnish a reason to expect. A dishonest man may make a promise he doesn't intend to keep. An honest man may make a promise he cannot keep. Possibly a man may make a promise but dies before he can fulfill it. God not only has the ability and disposition to keep every promise He's ever made, but He cannot and will not lie. Therefore there is no possibility the promises He has made to you will not come to pass in your life. Matthew 24:35 says heaven and earth will pass away but my words will never pass away. That means what God said in His word is still true today. Simply believing all the things God did in the New Testament is not enough. God wants you to believe He will do them for you today. He wants you to believe He is the same right now as He always has been. He does not change. The only revelation you need is that Jesus is the same yesterday, today and forever. There is a promise in the word of God for your every need, whatever that need may be. He promises comfort, healing, deliverance, peace, forgiveness, safety, strength, wisdom - you name it, He has it. If God has it, you can have it. It does not matter how rich or poor you are or your social status in life: you must simply believe in your heart and say with your mouth, "I believe God." You have the responsibility of possessing His promises by faith. You may today be in a situation where you need a touch from God. Whose report will you believe? In His word, he has already promised to meet your every need, whatever that need may be. If you want to see His promises fulfilled in your life, start by saying, "I believe God." God is good, His word is good and good all the time.

Vermilion Court Jester tells the news

by the Court Jester

How soon we forget. This is the third column since Bonnie Payne left us and I'm only now saying how much we miss her, her bubbly personality which brightened any day she was with us. Now we have Natasha Gibson, who is filling Bonnie's shoes in an efficient but quieter way, and we are enjoying her pleasant, helpful manner.

Half a year gone by and what do we have to show for it individually? What have we done to improve ourselves or to help those around us? I, for one, have to admit I've done zilch. Will we do better in the next half? Remember, a smile is almost as good as a hug and everybody needs at least one hug a day. Here's something I picked out of Anne Landers' column: "When you make a mistake, make amends immediately. It's easier to eat crow when it's still warm" and from Amy Dauphinee's column "Be Kind": "Neither genius, fame or love show the greatness of the soul. Only kindness can do that."

Now, to the business or gossip of the Court. Results of the shuffleboard game last week - Gordon Bell, THE WINNER, with 29 points then the scores went from 19 to 13 with eight players who all enjoyed their social afternoon.

We went to coffee at the Leisure Inn a couple of times. There was a bingo afternoon, a hair and nails day where a lot of us were made more beautiful than we already are. The Movers and Shakers gave us one of their great concerts and the highlight of the month was a garden party at Audrey Salter's place - very enjoyable in weather that was suitable.

Ada Currie is not responding well to her doctor's ministrations. She has a very sore back and her legs are weak.

Lydia Compton was in hospital a few days but seems well again.

Marg Adamson had her ninety-seventh birthday this month and we are all hoping to do as well as she does.

Irene Van Kuyk was away to a grandson's wedding for a pleasant week with family and friends

Yours truly was at Margaret Morgan's wedding in Penticton last week. Margaret's mother, Eleanor, was there and at 97 years was in better shape than some of us and as good as our Marg!

Anne Goebel spent a couple of days at Tulameen with her daughter.

Beulah LaBrash's daughter in law was feted with a retirement party at the Court which was well-attended by family and friends.

Janice Martell's brother entertained us one afternoon with snappy music on the accordion.

Nellie McKendrick is suffering very painful legs and finds it hard to navigate.

Marie Thiessen was away for a few days.

Isabel Needham has joined our day care program - a pleasant new addition.

The two hospital visits found the ladies in pretty good health and glad to see a visitor.

Letter to the Editor

There are nurses in Cuba

Dear Editor;

These days many people surf the web, but some people like myself listen to short wave radio - it's surprising what a person can learn. For instance, recently I found Radio Havana, and learned that Cuba has 1500 excess doctors and many more health care providers who are working abroad in poorer countries. A light went on.

It's a well-known fact that we have a shortage of doctors and nurses who are demanding an ever-increasing share of the public purse, and we also know that Cuba could use Canadian currency because of American embargoes. I am not suggesting for one moment that we should try to get Cuban health care workers to defect. After all, Castro spent much of his nation's wealth to educate them.

Would Castro part with his excess doctors and nurses for Canadian Cash? Surely the Cuban doctors and nurses would work for less so that our government could repay Cuba for their educational expenses.

Is trading with a Communist country a problem? Well, I've got news for you - China has favoured-nation trading status with the U.S. Castro is a devout Catholic who had the Pope visit with him several years ago. Catholicism and Communism are incompatible. The worst you can say for Castro is that he is a benevolent dictator, providing similar government that we in the west get from Ottawa (after all, Chretien is also a Catholic who didn't have the foresight to see the looming health care crisis). One good thing you can say for Cuba is that people who have the aptitude and ability get to be doctors, resulting in an overabundance of medical practitioners.

"Prime Minister Chretien, meet: President Castro - say, I hear you've got more doctors and nurses than you need ....."

Referendums and Initiatives: Democracy in action?

By: John B. Holdstock
Past President,
B.C. Wildlife Federation

In the USA, initiative and referendum processes were considered by their Founding Fathers to be a necessary check and balance against government abuse and have been part of many state constitutions beginning as far back as the 1600s. Under Premier Mike Harcourt's NDP government, British Columbia passed initiative and recall legislation in 1995. The federal Canadian Alliance promises to bring into effect a federal referendum process should they form the federal government. Recently, in British Columbia, the provincial Liberals have promised to use a referendum to determine provincial policy for treaty negotiations.

Is an initiative or referendum process a valid exercise in democracy that should be embraced without question or are there dangers in the process that could disenfranchise minority groups and transfer power to individuals and groups with the resources to manipulate the system?

At a meeting of the First Nations Summit in March 2001, then Premier Ujjal Dosanjh was quoted as saying, "Referendums are divisive. Referendums pit people against people". Strange words from the leader of a party that enshrined a referendum process in the provincial legislation.

But is he right or wrong? Has the initiative and referendum worked as democratic processes in other venues?

In the USA, the number of initiatives have proliferated to the point that in many States a separate booklet is needed to list them all. Every group imaginable surfaces to try and place their particular issue on the ballot. Animal rights groups have used them as a tool to try and stop trapping and hunting and in many cases have been successful. Various groups and individuals promoting specific referendum issues have spent countless millions of dollars in the process. As in most debates of this sort, facts are lost by the wayside and emotional arguments win the day.

In the USA, critics of referendums and initiatives complain that the process has been taken over by wealthy individuals and organizations that have the power to drive the process for their own agendas. Instead of being a public forum to discuss issues of common concern, it is driven by groups and individuals with narrow agendas. The outcome is decided by a public, influenced by clever and expensive advertising campaigns, but generally unfamiliar with the facts and the history of the issue.

British Columbia's initiative process has only been used once since its inception, no doubt due to the stringent qualifying requirements. In B.C., in order to have your issue placed on the ballot, you must have your petition signed by 10% of the registered voters in each electoral district. The lone attempt was in 1996 when it was used to try and close all bear hunting in the province. The effort failed to gain enough signatures to bring the issue to a public vote.

Although the idea of initiatives and referendums has been a popular one with the public, its merits as a legislative tool are questionable. In the end it has a tendency to become the tool of special interest groups, unable to convince elected representatives on their particular point of view, who use it to bypass the normal legislative process. It can be fairly argued that referendums and initiatives pose more risk by being a vehicle to attack minority rights than an enhancement of the democratic process.

The above thoughts do not necessarily reflect the policy of the B.C. Wildlife Federation.

How the Lions spend their money

An auction, flea market, pancake breakfast, duck race - all are fundraising efforts of Princeton Lions Club. The club has never suffered from lack of public support, and they gave the News Leader some insight as to why they continue to receive support. They are making a financial report to the public.

Last year, the Lions spent $3,916.11 on the park in the Similkameen Avenue area and equipment for the children in the area. They are spending $3,000 on a park at Coalmont, which is still in progress.

The Lions contributed $2,000 for a lift at Centennial Pool to assist elderly and disabled people enjoy swimming.

The Lions gave $3,000 toward the purchase of a new rescue truck, and gave $2,000 to the Adele Nesbitt Hospice facility at Princeton General Hospital.

Princeton Lions helped finance the D.A.R.E. program to keep youngsters strong enough to say no to drugs. The club gave $1,650 to Camp Winfield, a camp for children with disabilities. They assisted children with kidney disorders by giving $200 to Campership for Kids.

Princeton Lions supported a Youth Ambassador candidate at a cost of $350.

Lions gave $1,000 to the eye care centre at Royal Inland Hospital, and $100 to the BC Lions journey for sight.

Graduation at Princeton Secondary School saw the Lions Club give two $500 bursaries to graduating students.

During the Racing Days parade, Lions pushed a wheelbarrow along the route to ask people to drop change into it. They collected over $400 for Princeton's hospice facility. During the past year, Princeton Lions Club spent $20,666 on charity, most of which was spent in their home community.

The Lions Club is an international organization. Many Lions Clubs are involved in international projects. For example, Princeton Lions Club, and many others, collect used eyeglasses to ship to poor countries where failing eyesight can devastate a family's finances, and where eyeglasses are so expensive only the well-to-do can afford them. (If you have used eyeglasses, you may leave them at your doctor's office or give them to a Lions member.)

Lions Clubs are not exclusive, they are open. Unlike lodge brotherhoods and sisterhoods, there is nothing secret about what Lions do. Anyone prepared to make a commitment to the aims and objects may join. The level of commitment of members is very high. Members stay for years and years, and transfer from club to club as they change jobs or retire. It seems a Lion never stops being a Lion, and a Lion's commitment to their community never stops.

The other most notable aspect of being a Lion is the level of having fun. Lions members do not spend all of their spare time on projects. They work hard when they work, but they set aside time to strengthen friendships and just enjoy themselves, such as at their fishing derby or their social evenings.

Through their commitment to community, Princeton Lions Club has enjoyed continued support by the community, and members have earned the respect of the public because of the good they do.

Legion celebrates 75 years

The Royal Canadian Legion celebrates 75 years of operation this year. For local Legion and Auxiliary members, this occasion was the highlight of the annual B.C. and Yukon Command Convention held in Penticton. Lt. - Governor Garde Gardom and his wife attended the anniversary banquet along with many other distinguished guests and members.

City of Penticton Mayor Mike Pearce gave a warm, humorous welcome to Penticton, whose Branch #40 hosted the event at Penticton Trade and Convention Centre. Penticton's Legion members did an excellent job as hosts, and went so far as to provide friendly volunteer drivers and free transportation for out-of-town visitors.

Reverend Doug Dunn led a prayer at a cenotaph service and offered the invocation at the opening ceremonies. The opening parade was greatly enhanced by inclusion of the Ladies Auxiliary. Their participation in the massed colours particularly added to a wonderful impression for all onlookers.

Legion and Auxiliary representatives came from other provinces, and Washington State Commander of the American Legion, George LaPold, attended with his aide and Sergeant-at-Arms.

Attending from Princeton's Branch #56 were Maria and Bud Sadegur (Sgt. at Arms), Les Kinsey (Past Vice-President), Sandy Gould, Sharon Beausoleil, President, and Edith Carlson, Past President represented Princeton Ladies Auxiliary.
