Antique tractors pull for Keremeos rodeo fun

The old tractors' look like they could barely move themselves, let alone pull tons, but the owners who bring their machines to Keremeos will prove "antique" does not mean "finished". The tractor pull on Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning this weekend lead into Keremeos' 64th annual Elks rodeo.

The first event, on Saturday morning, is the gymkhana. After the tractor pull, there is time to dude up for the rodeo dance. On Sunday evening there is a steak barbecue at Memorial Park after the rodeo.

On Monday, the annual Elks Rodeo Parade takes place in the morning, with the second half of the rodeo on Monday afternoon.

Council hears Meadowlark Festival update

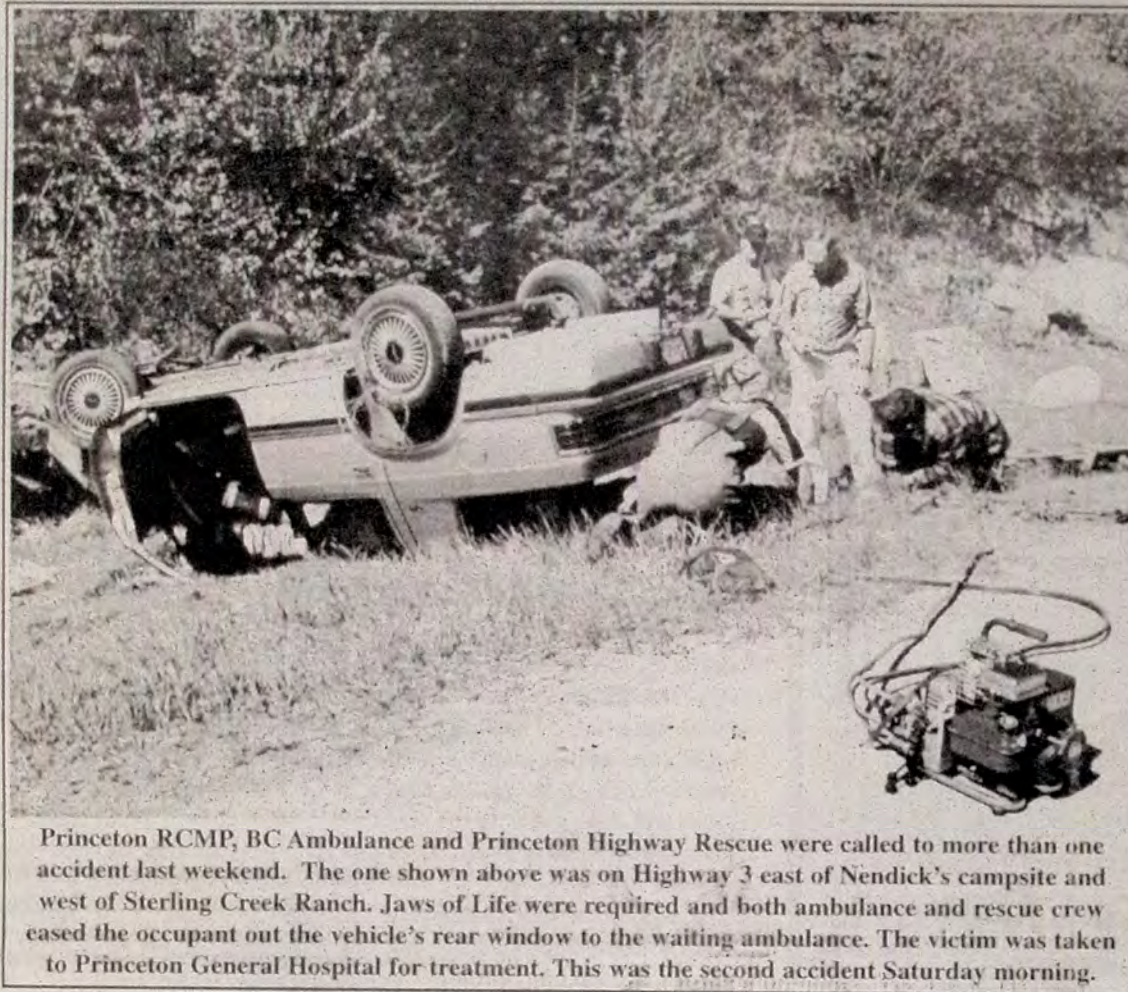

The Meadowlark Festival starts this week in the South Okanagan and Similkameen. Madelon Schouten provided Princeton Town Council with an overview and update of events involving Princeton.

A dinner will be held on Thursday evening at the Golf Clubhouse and will feature Chris Czjakowski, an author of naturalist books. On Friday, there will be a field trip for birders to Swan Lake, where a bird blind has been constructed.

Princeton Museum will be open from 8:00 a.m. to welcome Festival participants to view the fossil collection in the Joe Pollard Wing.

Schouten said Princeton is a gateway to the area and should play a larger part in the festival.

A great rodeo weekend!

Princeton RCMP, BC Ambulance and Princeton Highway Rescue were called to more than one accident last weekend. The one shown above was on Highway 3 east of Nendick's campsite and west of Sterling Creek Ranch. Jaws of Life were required and both ambulance and rescue crew eased the occupant out the vehicle's rear window to the waiting ambulance. The victim was taken to Princeton General Hospital for treatment. This was the second accident Saturday morning.

- First CPRA rodeo shows we can do it!

Around this neck of the woods, you know you have a success when nobody hurries to go home. That's the way it was last weekend at the fairgrounds.

Princeton Rodeo Club members can pat themselves on the back for a job well done. The first Princeton Canadian Pro Rodeo was excellent, and the sunshine made it a weekend to remember. From the moment Mike Stansbury of Tonasket sang The Star-Spangled Banner and Gary Fjellgaard sang O Canada, the crowd was ready to rodeo.

The events were exciting, and when it was Princeton's own competing, as when Hallie Willis rode out for the barrel race, the cheers went up.

The rough stock was tough, and the bulls were next to impossible to ride, but a lot of people made a few bucks in the Bull Sweepstake. Lori Thomas won $500, and the other nine people whose names were drawn won $50. There were plenty of prizes, and as the ladies left on Sunday, they could take home a bouquet of daffodils for Mother's Day.

Saturday's after-rodeo entertainment began with the line dancing crew of Princeton Prancers, and they never looked better.

Then tiny Kendra Carter, not yet in her teens, surprised the crowd with the excellence of her voice and the range of her repertoire. She was the lead-in performer for headliner Gary Fjellgaard, and he has lost nothing of his appeal nor his skill at telling a story in music (and a few without music!). He pleased a lot of people with his yodelling, and touched many hearts as he asked for a moment of silence "for Katie and Chris", teens whom he knew the community mourned.

Cpl. Russ Pederson and his Katimavik helpers had their hands full organizing the stick horse races, but the stick horse riders had a lot of fun, and so did all the cowboys, cowgirls and the crowd. Every youngster received something, and although the biggest number was on Saturday, there were a few who rode the whole thing again on Sunday.

As we go to press, we have no information on the financial situation for the Rodeo Club. The club will release that information when the bills are paid. See page 8 for a photo collage of rodeo events.

Summer Rec chases away winter blues

by Sarah van Heeswijk, Summer Recreation Coordinator

Summer is fast approaching and the Princeton Summer Recreation Program is planning its summer line-up. This year we will see the return of several summer recreation favourites including Drop-in Day Camp and the Canada Day celebration. We will also see several new programs implemented this year, which will be designed to appeal to a variety of age groups. These programs are still in the development stages but they seem to have a lot of potential.

Although summer recreation will not start until the end of June, there are ways to be involved right now. The first thing on the agenda is the Princeton Community Youth Awards. The awards will be held in late June but nomination forms are being distributed this week. Please take the time to consider the youth you know and nominate them for the outstanding things they do. Awards will be given for outstanding adults who participate with youth in community activities. Another way to be involved in summer recreation is to volunteer your time or ideas to summer programs. Summer rec would be happy to receive any input of suggestions from the community regarding the summer line-up. If any individual or community group is interested in running a class, clinic, or special event in conjunction with summer rec, they should call Sarah at the arena (295-7222). Keep in mind that we have to move fast because the Summer Leisure Guide needs to be printed in a matter of weeks.

Princeton Summer Rec hopes to offer many interesting, useful programs this summer. We are pleased to be working in partnership with Katimavik and the Youth Asset Development Coordinator to make these programs possible.

Forestry contracts four campsites

The Ministry of Forests has contracted for the maintenance of four Princeton area campsites. Henry, Mary Mogge and Mitchell Hebert have the contract for two Forestry campsites on Old Hedley Road (not Dewdney campsite) as well as one at Missezula Lake and one at Chain Lake. The Granite Creek campsite will be maintained by the Granite Creek Historic Society.

"Green Sustainable Growth" project begins

The Regional Districts of Okanagan-Similkameen, Central Okanagan and North Okanagan announced the appointment last week of Dr. David E. Harper of Westland Resource Group, Victoria, as the consultant to undertake the new "Green Sustainable Growth" (GSG) Project.

The Regional District, through a joint GSG Steering Committee, will participate in a collaborative process with the consultant to develop a strategy to sustain employment, coordinate land uses, examine key priorities, link economic development projects and identify sectors with potential growth opportunities (i.e. the agri-food processing sector).

In light of current global and local trends, participants considered it prudent to cooperatively address both economic development and environmental planning needs for the entire area.

A funding contribution provided by Western Economic Diversification, BC Region was received with appreciation and allowed the initiative to proceed.

GSG Steering Committee Members are scheduled to meet with Dr. Harper on July 10, 2002 to commence work on this significant initiative.

New Forest Code prepares for market based BC forest industry

Forests Minister Michael de Jong stated last week, "One of our New Era commitments was to streamline the Forest Practices Code to establish a workable, results-based code, with tough penalties for non-compliance."

De Jong made the statement on releasing a discussion paper to invite comments on the government's proposals for changes in the Forest Practices Code.

"The forest industry has been captured by a prescriptive, inefficient and ineffective legislative maze for far too long. It is time to cut the regulatory burden to make way for a competitive, market-based industry. We want accountability for on-the-ground results, not accountability for paperwork."

Under the existing code, forest companies are required by law to complete three different plans with the Ministry of Forests before they begin operations: a forest development plan, a silviculture prescription, and a road layout and design. Under the new code, one simplified plan will be required.

The new code will maintain a high environmental standard but will save costs by cutting out complexity.

The deadline for submissions on the discussion paper is June 30, 2002.

Enforcement will allow government to intervene if a company fails to achieve the code's stated results.

"The best way to protect the ecological integrity of our forest lands is to give forest companies a clear set of results they must achieve and then to hold them accountable for achieving them," said Joyce Murray, Minister of Water, Land and Air Protection. "My ministry will continue to have a strong role in standard setting and enforcement to ensure environmental values are protected."

An MLA committee chaired by North Island MLA Rod Visser will hold a series of public meetings, and the detailed discussion paper is available at www.results-basedcode.ca

Canadian Coast Guard Auxiliary members were at the recent Home Show to talk to people about boat safety and obtaining an operator's licence. Above, Denis Percival (left) of Princeton and Garth Norris of Okanagan Falls.

A Coast Guard here?

Why would we have a member of the Coast Guard in Princeton?

Ask Denis Percival and he will tell you. He will say it is important in an area with so many lakes and rivers to have some kind of regulatory agency at work. He is an Auxiliary Member in the only inland Coast Guard unit anywhere in British Columbia. This is the Southern Interior Unit, and they are responsible for boating safety and regulations from the Yukon border to the U.S.-Canada international boundary.

Jin Wilson is the unit leader who is headquartered in Penticton. Garth Norris is from Okanagan Falls. Together, these men make up the contingent manning our area. The Safe Boating course held at the Skills Centre is one of their courses

Percival will be informing local people of their need to have an operator's licence by September 15, or they will not be able to take a boat on any river or lake in the Interior or anywhere else. If you operate a pleasure craft under four metres in length (13 feet), you must have an operator's licence.

All pleasure craft operators must be licenced by September 15, 2009.

How do you qualify for an operator's licence? Simple - show proof you have taken a boating safety course or have passed the Canadian Coast Guard accredited test with no less than 75 percent correct. The operator card is good for life.

Young authors win awards

Princeton Writers Group sponsored their annual writing contest for youngsters. Anita Drees, Writing Contest Chair, received the entries and the club read the stories to select the winners. On May 9, the winners and their parents gathered at the Senior Citizens Hall for the presentations.

Monty Raine welcomed everyone and congratulated the winners. He encouraged them to write as a life-long hobby, or pursue it as a career. He pointed out writing is more than books - the shows on TV are written. He noted when other activities are no longer possible "as long as you have your wits about you, you can still write."

In the age 8 - 10 category, Helen Bibby, age 9, won with her story "Bonnie's Guardian Angel". This story was judged as overall best and her name will go on a trophy to be displayed in Princeton Library. Laila Massoudi-Lawrence placed second with her story "Laura". There was a tie for third between Victoria Dunsmore for "Amy and the Unicorn" and Alexa Musgrove for "The Princesses and the Rabbits".

In the age 11 - 13 category,

Miranda Grigg won first for "Days of Magic" and Claire Bibby placed second for "The Fear and the Will". Third place went to J-Lee White for "1039 Oak Drive".

Emily Flynn won the age 14 - 18 category with "Reality or Not".

PLP awards big savings

Princeton Light and Power "Power by the Hour" grand prize winner, Kay Goglin, accepts a $500 savings certificate from Sam Costa. Kay estimates she will not have to pay for power for the next nine or ten months. Her name was drawn from over 1100 entries and she says, "It's amazing!"

Reid seeks license for operating room

Marilyn Harkness, Similkameen Health Administrator, reported to Princeton Town Council on May 6 regarding the future of the operating room at Princeton General Hospital. She said Dr. David Reid plans to lease the operating room but must have accreditation to receive licensing from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and that will take time. The private facility will be inspected by College representatives to ensure it meets standards set for these facilities.

Harkness told Council the Health Unit will remain where it is as long as there is an operating room at Princeton General, as the space occupied by the operating room and adjacent facilities was where the Health Unit would have moved. She explained there could be savings by a direct lease with the Town instead of through BCBC, which charges $40,000 a year, of which the Town receives $14,000 rent.

INVESTMENT INSIGHTSBy John Vaccaro Investment Advisor with CIBC Wood Gundy and Greg Stewart Associate Investment Advisor with CIBC Wood GundyRETIREMENT PLANNING: GETTING BETTER RRSP RESULTS

When is the best time to make your RRSP contribution? Any time is a good time. Unfortunately, the fact is that most Canadians wait until the legal deadline to invest in this important tax shelter. Given the choice, though, it's better to invest in advance of the deadline for two important reasons:

First, those who set their contribution targets early and invest well in advance (often on a monthly basis) find it's easier to budget for a larger tax-sheltered investment than those who wait (up to their affordable RRSP contribution limit, of course).

Second, the more you contribute, the better off you'll be, both in the short term, through tax deductions (the true cost of your contribution is much lower than it appears because each RRSP investment generates tax deduction) and in the long run, as you accumulate a larger total portfolio.

To illustrate, let's assume you are allowed to invest $8,000 in an RRSP on an annual basis. If this tax shelter held an investment earning a 10 percent* return for 20 years, your RRSP would then be worth $458,200 based on a total investment of $160,000. If, however, you contributed only half that amount annually ($80,000 in total) and earned the same 10 percent* return, your RRSP portfolio would only be worth $229,100 at the end of 20 years.

The outcome is important because a larger portfolio means more lifestyle choices later in life and a more comfortable retirement. Making your contribution at the beginning of the year, instead of at the end of the year, gives your RRSP investment greater time to compound tax-free and grow in value. Investing $5,000 on eight percent at the beginning of the year over a five-year period will give you $2,347 more than if the same amount was invested at the end of the year. Compounded for 30 years, this becomes an extra $45,313. Obviously, there is significant benefit to making your contribution early in the year.

As important as it is to make your maximum contribute each year, contributing on a regular basis is also a sensible investment strategy. You will find this year's contribution limit on the Notice of Assessment sent to you from Canada Customs and Revenue Agency. On the same note, it is equally important to start your RRSP as soon as possible. An extra five years of tax-free compounding investment returns makes a big difference. Investing $5,000 per year at eight percent gives you $365,530 after 25 years compared to $566,416 after 30 years. The difference is $200,886. Ultimately, it's a matter of choice.

What's vitally important, however, is to never miss a year. Always contribute and always contribute to an investment that delivers superior long-term returns that outpace inflation.

WOOD GUNDYGREG STEWART IS IN PRINCETON THE SECOND AND FOURTH THURSDAY EACH MONTH

*Not for day trading or other excessive trading activities. CIBC Wood Gundy is a division of CIBC World Markets Inc., a subsidiary of Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and Member CIPE.

The first foundation for the new subdivision was laid last week, as shown above. The new subdivision marks another expansion in Keremeos of residential property.

New subdivision takes shape

After following a process that included requesting approval for the project to the issuance of variance permits to change setbacks, the Village of Keremeos officially accepted a new subdivision development.

Inland Custom Homes Ltd.,

owned by Walter Despot and Bob Poland, of Keremeos is responsible for the project.

A total of seven lots, which measure an average of 50 feet by 150 feet, are in the subdivision. Five of the lots will be facing north to 12th Avenue and the remaining ones will have frontage on Parsons Crescent.

One home is currently under construction at the site. The new subdivision marks a huge step in the growth of residential properties in the community.

Public meets Tuesday night on pipeline

A letter from concerned Keremeos citizens protesting the proposed location of the B. C. Gas Pacific Connector Project has generated a response.

Dr. Marcia Farquhar, the recipient of the letter, will be in Keremeos May 14th to make a presentation to village council and the public.

Farquhar is Project Committee Chair of the Environmental Assessment Office in Victoria. She will update residents on the Pipeline Project.

The proposed route, the former KVR railway bed, runs through the centre of the community. This has many residents concerned about the environmental impact of that location.

B. C. Gas representatives will also be at the public meeting. Community Relations Manager Roger Young and Project Director Bill Manery will make presentations to the public and field questions concerning the project.

Although the pipeline project has been decided, the exact location has not. Farquhar has indicated that following an environmental review, recommendations will be made regarding the best location for the pipeline.

The public information meeting will be in Victory Hall on May 14th, starting at 7:00 PM.

Get ready for music!

The rodeo dust will have barely settled and Keremeos and Cawston will be setting the stage for one of British Columbia's growing music festivals.

"Music Under the K" is fast becoming one of the major attractions of the Similkameen Valley, drawing people to a rather unique music festival. The great thing about the festival is the different locations in which it takes place. The "music everywhere" idea combined with the natural attractions of the valley give visitors an entirely different feeling as they move from outdoor to indoor concerts. The final massed performance at the rodeo grounds is a wonderful way to end the festival. Best of all, concerts are free!

The festival begins on May 23, with the official opening ceremonies at Similkameen school gym at 7:30 p.m.

On Friday morning, at the gym and downtown, keeps the music playing from 8:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Saturday's performances begin at 10:00 a.m. in Memorial Park and continue through 5:00 p.m. A second venue downtown will add to the variety of performers.

The events are not all music. There is a pancake breakfast on Sunday morning at Memorial Park. On Sunday, Cawston Community Hall hosts and afternoon concert.

The rodeo grounds looked deserted last week, but these chutes and the arena will be filled with action this weekend as cowboys and cowgirls, and antique tractor enthusiasts, show their stuff.

Enjoy a free air show this weekend

The Model Aeronautics Association of Canada begins its precision flying competition season in Princeton this year.

Steve Kovacs of Princeton, local organizer, expects 33 contestants from western Canada and the United States, to arrive in Princeton to compete in the difficult "pattern" competitions. Many of the competitors want to qualify for international remote control aerobatics, and will be proving they have the skills by building up points at a number of competitions. If they are successful, they will be eligible for the Canadian or other competition teams.

This air show features small remote control aircraft. The competitions on Saturday and Sunday begin at 10:00 a.m. and last to 4:00 p.m.

Spectators are appreciated, and will enjoy watching the aerobatics if the weather is good. Kovacs hopes to see sunny skies for the event.

Admission is free to spectators. There will be a concession stand run by local young people, and restroom facilities, but spectators must bring their own chairs.

Access to the competition is via the water tower road south of the runway. Take the road to Princeton Secondary School. Across the road from the playing field is a dirt track turn-off leading toward the water tower and following the fence bordering the airport. A short way along this road, there is a break in the fence allowing access to the viewing area. There is plenty of parking space.

Rodeo Club Advertising Manager George Elliott presents an award to Corriene Smith of High Country Styling for Guys 'n' Gals. Katimavik volunteers judged her shop the best for western decor. In addition to the framed certificate award, Smith received free passes to last weekend's rodeo.

Strawberry shortcake mixes well with fashion

Fifty Princeton women enjoyed strawberry shortcake and a fashion show on May 7. The Christian Education Building was filled with beautifully set tables and guests were served by "Florence Nightingale" waitresses dressed in old-fashioned nurse uniforms. This annual event is hosted by Princeton Hospital Auxiliary to commemorate the lady who turned nursing into a profession, and brought hospitals into better repute. Until Nurse Nightingale began her campaign, hospitals were places to die.

The Hospital Auxiliary has been a boon to Princeton General Hospital for the past 91 years. Members raise funds to provide "extras" and some essentials to the hospital. The fashion show portion of the afternoon event featured clothing available at the Auxiliary Thrift Shop on Vermilion Avenue. Sales from the Thrift Shop have provided an average of $20,000 a year to the hospital and Ridgewood Lodge through the sale of donated clothing and household goods.

Councillor Kathleen Clement, who attended the tea and fashion show, spoke briefly before the models appeared.

"The community is indebted to you for the work you do," Councillor Clement told Auxiliary members.

Auxiliary models proved anyone can dress well on clothing purchased from the Thrift Shop.

In addition to seeing the clothing, guests had an opportunity to buy, and many did so after the fashion show was over.

A silent auction of donated items (a really good selection) added more money to Auxiliary coffers.

Commentator Eunice Bottenfield and Auxiliary President Betty Reheis expressed their appreciation for the support given to the Auxiliary by the community.

Living Past 100

When we talk about serious health problems in Canada, very often we are talking about the health care crisis, seniors, cancer, heart disease, and diabetes. Last week, Statistics Canada released information on Canadian health and placed obesity near the top of the list of health problems among Canadians.

Canadians are too fat. Worse yet, Canada's young people are too fat, and they are fatter now than they were in the 1980's.

Obesity is dangerous to anyone of any age, but it is especially dangerous when it begins in childhood or the teen years. Early obesity means the dangers of obesity begin younger, and the damage starts earlier.

Obesity is a factor in adult onset diabetes, and diabetes kills. Obesity is a factor in heart disease, and heart disease kills. Obesity is a factor in cancer, and cancer can kill. Obesity is a factor in causing knee and hip erosion, which cripples fat older people.

Obesity is not caused by overeating. Obesity is caused by overeating the wrong foods. You can stuff yourself with raw carrots, broccoli, lettuce and green onions, and not put on a gram. You can stuff yourself with cabbage, mushrooms, bean sprouts and zucchini, and you can overeat watercress, apples, pears and plums, and you will not be obese.

However, stuff yourself with roast beef, gravy, Yorkshire pudding, and put cheese sauce on your broccoli, and suddenly you are eating to put on weight. Add a few slices of bread and butter, a breakfast of bacon and eggs, and a hamburger with French fries for lunch, and you are eating to get fat.

Men with "beer" bellies are in special danger. Their fat collects around their stomach and heart, interferes with the proper functioning of their bowels, and puts their heart attack risk very high. If you are a man who has a protruding belly and your doctor has not told you to lose weight, change doctors.

Ryley Smeaton, a Spark moving up to Brownies, right, receives her Service Star award at the Guide Chocolate Extravaganza evening on May 8.

Girl Guide evening featured "driving up"

Co-Commissioners Colleen Kunderman and Lisa White welcomed Sparks, Brownies, Guides, Pathfinders, parents and guests to the annual awards evening. Special community guests were given the official Brownie "thank you".

This year, instead of Flying Up to Brownies, Sparks were Driving Up to Brownies in this mini-Jeep.

Guiders received their Service Awards first; then the Sparks Service Star awards were presented to Tyler Smeaton, Ryley Smeaton, Emily Henderson, Natalie Knowlton, Magdalene Fritz, Layne Robillard, Megan Pateman, Alandra Noel and Melissa Dennis.

Sharon Dennis received an "outstanding parent" award and Kathy Robillard received a thank you gift from the Sparks.

The customary "flying up" to Brownies became a "driving-up" experience (see photos) with plenty of chuckles and obvious enjoyment by the Sparks.

Brownie Service Awards were presented to Jordyn Senger, Alecia Dore, Taniel Bishop, Jessica Coers and Jessica Dennis.

These lovely young ladies entertained with a song called "We Can Make a Difference".

Brownies presented Carol Mack with a gift to thank her.

Girl Guides received Service Star Awards ranging from first year to fifth year. Katie Liberatore, Megan Burke, Crystal Manion, Deseree Bruneau, Amethyst Cavalier, Kelsi Walton, Cori White and Michelle Derkson earned pins. Jessica McCarthy, a recent registration, was officially enrolled and received a Canadian Flag Pin.

Guides Shelby Mack and Rachel Vinthers received their Service Stars and the Lady Baden-Powell Award. They were "flying up" to Pathfinders.

Pathfinders Charmaine Aiken, Sarah Hurd and Miranda Grigg were presented with Service Star awards. Miranda's was for seven years!

Shelby Mack was awarded special recognition, a Guides Volunteer Pin for her outstanding contribution during the past year.

Raelene Liberatore received a bouquet of flowers for helping with the camp, and her daughter, Katie, accepted the bouquet.

Co-Commissioner Kunderman presented service pins to Carol Mack and Lisa White for five years of service as Guiders.

Sparks, Brownies, Guides and Pathfinders offered more entertainment, then served juice and chocolate goodies to all of the guests.

What a rodeo!

This is what the noxious toadflax weed looks like as it emerges in spring. Later, they will produce pretty yellow flowers which will develop into seed pods containing copious numbers of seeds. These plants were pulled shortly after this photo was taken. If you see any these plants, pull them immediately.

“War on Weeds” begins

Beautiful fields of brightly coloured flowers will sound abundant in the open hillsides of the Okanagan and Similkameen Valleys. Unfortunately, many of these flowers are actually weeds and they pose a serious threat to our natural landscape.

Local biologist Lisa Scott has been re-hired to coordinate the weed education and control program in Okanagan-Similkameen. Regional District has contributed $10,000 and the provincial Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Fisheries has awarded a grant of $13,000 to ensure the weed program continues during 2002.

The plants Scott deals with are very aggressive Eurasian imports lacking their natural enemies and diseases. These weeds generally have no value for wildlife or livestock, and many are poisonous. They pose a significant environmental concern because of their ability to rapidly invade natural ecosystems, pastures and croplands, choking out desirable plants.

While Okanagan-Similkameen Region is highly desirable for human habitation and agricultural and industrial activities, it is these actions that have disrupted the landscape and enabled alien plants to prosper.

Because weeds ignore borders and property lines, Scott's job is to work closely with stakeholders to ensure efforts made by those agencies responsible for weed control are coordinated. Public education is also an essential component of the regional program.

One of the first weeds to appear in the spring is a wild snapdragon called Dalmation toadflax. Its bright yellow flowers are a roadside attractant but Scott urges people to refrain from picking or transplanting the toadflax.

“This weed poses a significant threat to our wildlife and our ranching industry because of its ability to invade both disturbed soils and relatively intact, healthy grasslands. It reduces the food supply for wildlife and livestock,” states Scott.

Scott urges landowners to regularly monitor their properties for patches of invasive weeds and reminds residents that weeds are best treated before they go to seed. Mature plants with seeds should be bagged and taken to the landfill for burial to prevent further spread. Scott encourages re-planting or seeding disturbed areas to provide competition to prevent weeds from moving in.

If you have any questions about weed control or would like Scott to give a presentation to your school, club or organization, give her a call at 250-404-0115.

Baby boomers are blimping

Remember the eager young people pushing health foods, natural foods, vitamins, and “back to the land”? These were the baby boomers during the 1970's.

They are blimping out in middle age spread, and most of the blimps are men, along with the biggest increase in overweight Canadians. Statistics Canada's health report released May 8 shows a difference between “overweight” and “obese”. Overweight is acceptable, whereas obesity is a health problem. For men, the problem is increasing. One in every seven Canadians is obese, and the increase is due to more obese males.

How does StatsCan decide if a person is overweight or obese? There is a way of measuring body mass index. Divide your weight in kilograms by the square of your height in metres. If the answer is “30” or more, you are obese. If it is 25 to 29, you are overweight. If it is 18.5 to 24.9 is acceptable weight, and anything under 18.5 is underweight.

Obesity is on the rise for all ages and sexes except among women aged 20 to 34, where obesity levels dropped nine percent.

Increases were greatest among men and women aged 45 to 54, who now account for one-fourth of all obese adults in Canada.

Rates of obesity increase with age and were highest in the 55 to 64 age group.

StatCan says “part of the increased number of obese adults in older segments of the population can be attributed to the aging of the baby boomers”.

APPRECIATION

THANK YOU

On behalf of the families of the late Margaret Jamieson, who passed away April 20, 2002, a special thank you to the Princeton community for all their love and support during her illness and subsequent death. The many floral tributes from near and far, cards, words of condolence, donations to charities, and the lovely food presented to us from her friends and neighbors, we are so grateful. Her friends and neighbors who came to visit Mom and sit with her helped her through the rough days. Mom was truly blessed to have so many wonderful people in her life. Marlene Charles, you brought the laughter and sunshine into her dark days, thank you for that special time.

Thanks to Dr. Doug Reid, who for so many years has given her care and support. Thanks to Dr. Whittle and Dr. Bosomworth and staff for her care while in hospital, ambulance drivers and paramedics for her trip to Kelowna. A very special thank you to the Palliative Home support program this past month of April. Nurse, Lynn Smith for setting us up with everything needed to keep Mom comfortable and at home where she wished to be. Lynn provided expert attention and compassion regarding the needs of our Mother and Grandmother. Thank you Lynn. Betty Reheis from Hospice, and Home care attendants.

A very special thank you to Eric and Ruth Goodfellow for their kindness, and for the beautiful service Eric presented in honour of our Mother and Grandmother. To Jean Trewella for her piano renditions and lovely music, Kathy Orser for her beautiful songs, and the lovely tribute to "Margie" from the Terri Wiens. Audrey Salter and the Legion ladies for the tea after the service. Fred Netherton, Princeton Similkameen Funeral Service for the arrangements so tastefully presented. We shall all miss our Mother and Grandmother terribly, there will always be a void in our lives, but she will remain in our hearts forever. Jim & June McInroy and families.

Rodeo Club proves risk leads to success

We can praise Princeton Rodeo Club for taking a big risk and proving a small town can succeed. Rodeo Club members showed real initiative in achieving their goal of presenting the highly expensive Canadian Pro Rodeo. In addition, we can praise all of those businesses who sponsored the rodeo either with money or goods or equipment.

A tremendous amount of work went into the rodeo, by Rodeo Club members, their friends, and by the Katimavik volunteers. The 4-H Club kept the concession stand operating and vendors kept people busy. It took a real group effort, and every one of them gave something worthwhile to presenting a top-notch sports event and the show that followed.

This weekend, Keremeos Elks Lodge presents their sixty-fourth annual rodeo. Once again, we can praise their initiative and the work of all of the volunteers.

In Princeton, there will be an air show of remote-controlled aircraft. This attraction is brought to Princeton by Steve Kovacs, whose interest in the hobby inspired him to urge the club to come to the Similkameen for their competitions. Once again, volunteers make it happen.

Next weekend, Music Under the K will draw hundreds of people to Keremeos and Cawston for a major music event. Again, it is volunteers who visualized the event and made it happen.

Each of these events boosts our local economy. Both the CPRA and BCRA rodeos attract people who might otherwise never come here. The air shows and Music Under the K attract a different group entirely, who might never come here, or only pass through. Each time we attract visitors to our valley and show them we are friendly and know how to have a good time, we are ensuring they will tell their friends about what a good time they had, and they will come back.

These volunteer groups and their sponsors are doing a tremendous job of promoting our communities. They take risks – they might fail, or go broke, but risk often leads to success!

Health policy is disastrous

Dear Editor;

Some Liberal MLAs are apparently receiving a considerable amount of criticism from their constituents as a result of their government's inhumane policy on health care, which is disastrous.

It would seem reasonable to assume that at least some of the Members, rather than face the shame and humility when meeting their electors, would prefer to cross the floor and become Independent. That would likely clear their conscience and they could then face their electors, friends and neighbours in their communities, who would likely understand that they did not completely support the government policy on health care. Many citizens will be suffering as a result of this policy and even some deaths may occur.

Hopefully, some Members will show us that they have not sold out their souls for the dollar bill.

Sincerely,
Marshall A. Johnson,
Princeton, B.C.

MSP Premiums – a really dumb tax

Dear Editor:

As the hefty increases in monthly Medical Services Plan premiums officially take effect this month for most British Columbians, we should pause and reflect on how dumb a tax medicare premiums really are.

Most provinces raise the money they need for medicare from general tax revenues, primarily provincial income taxes based on taxpayers' ability to pay (and in some case, such as Ontario, on an employer payroll tax). Only B.C. and Alberta continue to buck the trend with individual premiums – unconvinced by arguments that have proven to be compelling in every other province.

Premiums may not be the dumbest form of taxation visited on Canadians, but they certainly are near the top of the list.

Here's why – first and foremost, premiums are a regressive form of taxation that favours the rich and punishes the not-so-rich. Under the new B.C. rates, a family of three or more that doesn't qualify for premium assistance pays $108 a month or $1,296 a year, regardless of income. A family of three with net income of $33,000 pays the same flat fee as a family with net income of $1 million. The $1,296 works out to 3.9 percent of net income for the family struggling to make ends meet and 0.1 percent for the millionaire family.

The increases in premiums are particularly galling because the Liberal government's "dramatic" cuts in provincial income taxes last year turned out to be much more dramatic for the rich than for the poor. The increase in family premiums is $432 per year – the same or more than the income tax savings for anyone making $30,000 or less.

MSP hikes also increase inequality in another way. People who have steady jobs with decent pay are more likely to have their employers pick up the tab for MSP premiums. People with unstable and low-paying jobs are more likely to be stuck paying MSP premiums out of their own pockets.

Moreover, many of the employers who do cover MSP premiums for their employees are public sector employers – municipalities, health boards, school boards and post-secondary institutions. These lower levels of government and institutions have just been hit with a huge new expense. In effect, the province is clawing back some of the money it gave them in the first instance.

Bad as premiums are, they would be even worse without the complicated system of premium assistance that eases the burden on the poor. Families or single people with "adjusted net income" below $24,000 can get a break on their premiums or have them eliminated altogether. Adjusted net income is net income minus a variety of personal deductions allowed by the Medical Services Plan for calculating premium assistance.

However, the assistance system is not all that simple or all that fair. There are five levels of assistance ranging from 100 percent to 20 percent. Each level has a fixed rate Continued next page

B.C. Liberal report card time is near

Dear Editor;
It is nearing the Liberals' first anniversary so I thought it time to do a short review of the past year's political events. Since I find it too traumatic to record each piece of retrograde legislation as it occurs, I will rely on memory and no doubt will miss much. I will, however, try to keep readers abreast of what we voted for and what we got. Here is but a small sample: 1) We were concerned about our children's walking distance to schools - so we voted for cuts to education funding. 2) We were concerned about hospital waiting lists - so we voted for cuts to health care. 3) We were concerned about inefficiencies in health care - so we voted for five health ministers and huge salary increases for their bureaucrats. 4) We were so concerned about health care that we voted to privatize the laundry, kitchen and cleaning personnel who work for a subsistence wage of fifteen dollars per hour so that their new masters can starve them into accepting jobs at six dollars per hour. 5) We were so worried about three fast ferries that we voted for province-wide ferry shutdowns. 6) We were concerned about an increase in camping fees - so we voted for Forestry campsite closures, and in Provincial Government campsites even people in wheelchairs have to pay. 7) We were concerned about the proposed closure of a courthouse in Chilliwack - so we voted for closure of 24 courthouses province-wide. 8) We were concerned the Premier's office was too costly with a staff of 40 and a cost of $7 million - so we voted for and got a staff of 200 at a cost of $21 million. 9) We voted to do away with photo radar - now we are concerned with street racing in our cities and increased carnage on our highways.

10) We were so concerned about balanced budgets when we had a $1.5 billion surplus that we voted for a $2.5 billion tax break for business and a $4 billion deficit. 11) Our government was so concerned that teachers' salaries were too high at $30,000 per annum - they legislated a raise for them of seven percent over three years. The to avoid confrontation with doctors, gave them a raise of $30,000 for this year and a further $30,000 for next year. And yes, the teachers who were legislated back to work at seven percent over three years are the same ones who are teaching our future doctors. Would I be out of line to suggest that the amount saved by privatizing service personnel in the health care industry along with the savings on teachers' salaries will just nicely cover the doctors' raises?
HP Toews

and there are "notches" between the levels. A family of three or more with adjusted net income under $16,000 - let's say $15,999 to take the most extreme example possible - gets premium assistance of 100 percent. A family with adjusted net income of $16,001 gets 80 percent assistance, but has to pay $21.60 per month or $259.20 a year. That's a huge tax penalty for a mere two dollars of additional income.

Then there are the administrative burdens and overhead costs associated with both collecting premiums and running the premium assistance program. There are roughly 1.7 million family units in B.C., and that means roughly 1.7 million MSP accounts to keep tabs on month after month. Governments in B.C. both past and present just can't fathom the idea that having a sizeable administrator to handle MSP premiums and premium assistance may not be the most efficient use of public resources. Surely we could find better, easier and fairer ways of supporting vital public programs like medicare.

Yours truly,
Steve Kerstetter,
social policy consultant, research associate of the B.C. Office of the Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives, Vancouver.

Premium assistance is based on income as verified by the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency from its tax records for the preceding one or two years. For people in changing financial circumstances because of job changes or job losses, retirement, illness, maternity leave and the like, current premium obligations are likely to be out of sync with their current financial realities. The income tax system largely avoids this problem by making income tax deductions at source from payroll cheques or pension cheques that are indica-

Men thank Town Council

Dear Town Council and Corny Froese;
Thank you for assisting the men's group: Brian Liberatore, Paul Gabriel, Tom Frances, Christine Cooper (Katimavik) and Mark Howarth, to have a day of fun in Penticton through the efforts of men in constructing picnic tables for the Town of Princeton. These opportunities have taught the men some new skills and instilled a sense of pride and reward in building these tables for you, the Town of Princeton. Mark Howarth, Men's Group Co-ordinator, New Beginnings Club, Princeton.

Heart Food

by Dave Machin

The Bible will speak to you if you will allow it to. One of the things it will speak to you about is a word called righteousness. Righteousness is a key, if not the key, to the New Testament, as well as to life itself. It carries within itself a force like no other. Unfortunately, most believers have never tapped into the force of righteousness during their Christian lifetime. This is because righteousness has been so shrouded over by religion through the years that people no longer have any real concept of it. Consequently, righteousness has lots all of its punch and impact in our lives. To find a good working definition of righteousness, simply refer to any "bill of rights". In Canada, there are certain things any citizen has a right to, simply by being a citizen of this country. How often have you heard someone say, "Hey, I have rights, you know!" People appeal to what is right by basing their appeal to the courts of the land. So righteousness simply means "rightness". It is the state of being "right". It is also a license to practice, or enjoy, my rights. Isaiah 32:17 speaks and says, "the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness, quietness and assurance for ever". In other words, being righteous has power - and that power works peace, quietness and assurance in your life. The Hebrew word for peace can be translated as fullness, wholeness, completeness - prosperity. The literal meaning is "nothing missing, nothing broken". This assurance or confidence can only come from knowing you are righteous. It comes from knowing you have the God-given ability to stand in the presence of Almighty God without a sense of guilt, condemnation, shame, or inferiority. Religion would have you believe you must work for this or try to be something you are not. This is simply not true. It is a free gift given to you the moment you receive Jesus as your Lord. As you grow and develop in that righteousness consciousness, then it will eventually become bigger and more powerful than all your problems - a free gift from God Himself. Can you receive it? God is good, His word is good and good all the time.

Summit was a learning experience

by Nadine McEwen, Asset Development Coordinator

Thirty-six students from Princeton Secondary and Riverside Intermediate Schools spent two very active days at the Surviving Your Teens Summit held May 3 and 4 in Princeton.

Thanks to the staff at Camp Tulahead – Karla, Carol, Joanne, and Mrs. Skinner – everyone had a great time learning to work together as a team, listening to one another and respecting each creative idea given during problem-solving games. We learned we can do more if we work as a team, share the leadership role, and a group of good ideas is better than just one. The time spent at Camp Tulahead was a fantastic leadership day.

During the next day we spent an interactive and inspiring day at Princeton Secondary School. The workshop leaders had traveled from all over B.C. to help our young people make informed decisions and positive choices for themselves, their friends and their community. The information we received from our Princeton Youth will be developed into the Princeton Youth Action Plan.

This action plan will be developed with the help of the Princeton Youth Action Team. The Team is a group of youth who are positive mentors and leaders in our community who wish to provide positive and safe opportunities for all our young people.

The participants of the two-day summit realized that choices, not chance, determines destiny. When it comes to difficult decisions they can make wise choices for themselves and others. The participants are able to support one another and be leaders in our community.

I congratulate everyone who participated in the Summit. You took in a lot of information, shared your wisdom with us, and took on the responsibility of sharing with your friends – way to go!

Adults learned Asset Development

Twenty-five adults attended a workshop on What Kids Need to Succeed in Life with Keith Pattinson. Keith shared with us many stories on how any adult can make an influence in the life of a young person.

He shared with us practical ideas to become more involved with young people. He asked us to share with him simple ideas we can start doing today to make a positive impact on a young person's life, whether they are part of our family or not.

Many of the ideas developed were as simple as making sure we sit down for a meal as a family, to send notes to the kids in our neighbourhood, spend time with a young person at least once a week, go for a hike, see a movie, go out for dinner, say hello to every young person you pass on the street, start a reading program in your neighbourhood, and just spend some more time getting to know them.

Keith once wrote, "There has never been a time in our history when children and youth so desperately need positive role models in their lives – significant adults who teach by example old-fashioned values like honesty, respect, tolerance, enthusiasm and compassion.

It is time for our community to embrace our young people and value the great future we have in them.

Rebekahs honour Mother

by Pam Ottas

Vermilion Rebekah members and their guests enjoyed a delicious potluck luncheon in honour of Mother's Day. Prizes were won by Dorothy Monkman and Evelyn Cork. After a social time, the guests were bid adieu and our usual meeting was held. Guests from Oliver and Vernon were welcomed, especially Leah Iverson, a pianist. Music certainly helps.

We draped our charter in memory of Elva McKinnon, a long-time lodge member, and a donation in her name will be made to Ridgewood Lodge. Fresh daffodils were presented and the 23rd Psalm was read by our Chaplain. Our ill members were also remembered. Michele Moore received confirmation from our Assembly, which means she will be our new District Deputy President.

Pamela Ottas read her report on a meeting with Washington, Oregon, Idaho and British Columbia members held in New Westminster two weeks earlier. There was much discussion after this report about females joining Oddfellow lodges and other organizations as well.

The tea prize was won by Nellie Caronan, who showed us a lovely old photo of Rebekahs and Oddfellows circa 1930's.

THE ARCHITECT OF THE UNIVERSE

This photograph of Jesus was taken on June 1st, 1960 at the Great Archeological Hall of Chicheniza in Yucatan, Central America by Princeton Adolph Frederick Wilhelm von Hopsburg. Like all the other people from around the world the Prince was there to see the achievements of man when the Master Architect of the entire universe suddenly appeared before thousands of illuminated ones. The Prince borrowed a Kodak Camera from Dr. C. J. Hollenbach to take this picture, authenticated by the Kodak Company.

It was after I had met with Jesus in person at Easter 1977 that I was given this picture by a Missionary to Central America when sharing my testimony. This is Jesus, Yashua, the only begotten Son of the Living God who is equally God and man, He is The Christ, God's anointed who is all knowing, all powerful and present everywhere. He gave His life as a ransom to redeem us from our sin by His own shed blood on the Cross of Calvary 2000 years ago. He defeated death and gave Life eternal to those who repent and accept Him as their personal Saviour, Healer, Baptizer and Deliverer. He did not leave us comfortless but sent His Holy Spirit to guide us and teach us all Truth. He is the only Mediator between God and man, the Way, Truth and Life. No man comes to the Father except they be drawn by the Holy Spirit. I know the fervent effectual prayer of a righteous man availeth much.

While being disgusted with the man made doctrines being taught instead of the Biblical Doctrines given for our instruction by Jesus, the author of the Holy Bible, I resigned from my teaching position in a Full Gospel Church. My fervent prayer was, "Lord, show me where You want me to go to worship you." While having devotion one morning His soft, mellow voice quoted Isaiah 40:31 and then said, "Read Psalm 27:14."

The words "WAIT UPON THE LORD" three times, loomed up at me. I then argued that we didn't have time to wait because He is returning to earth very soon. I persisted with my prayer. One night I was taken to a steep slope of deep green grass where there were no trees, birds, beasts, butterflies or humans. To my utter amazement Jesus approached me, dressed in a long white robe, long flowing sleeves with a blue sash around His waist. He stretched His right hand toward me and I put my right hand in His nail-scarred hand. In His usual loving, gentle voice He said, "We are twins." I responded with, "But Jesus, that is not in the Bible." Jesus rephrased His words, saying "We are alike, you have My Spirit in you, neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem will you worship Me; you will worship me in Spirit and in Truth."

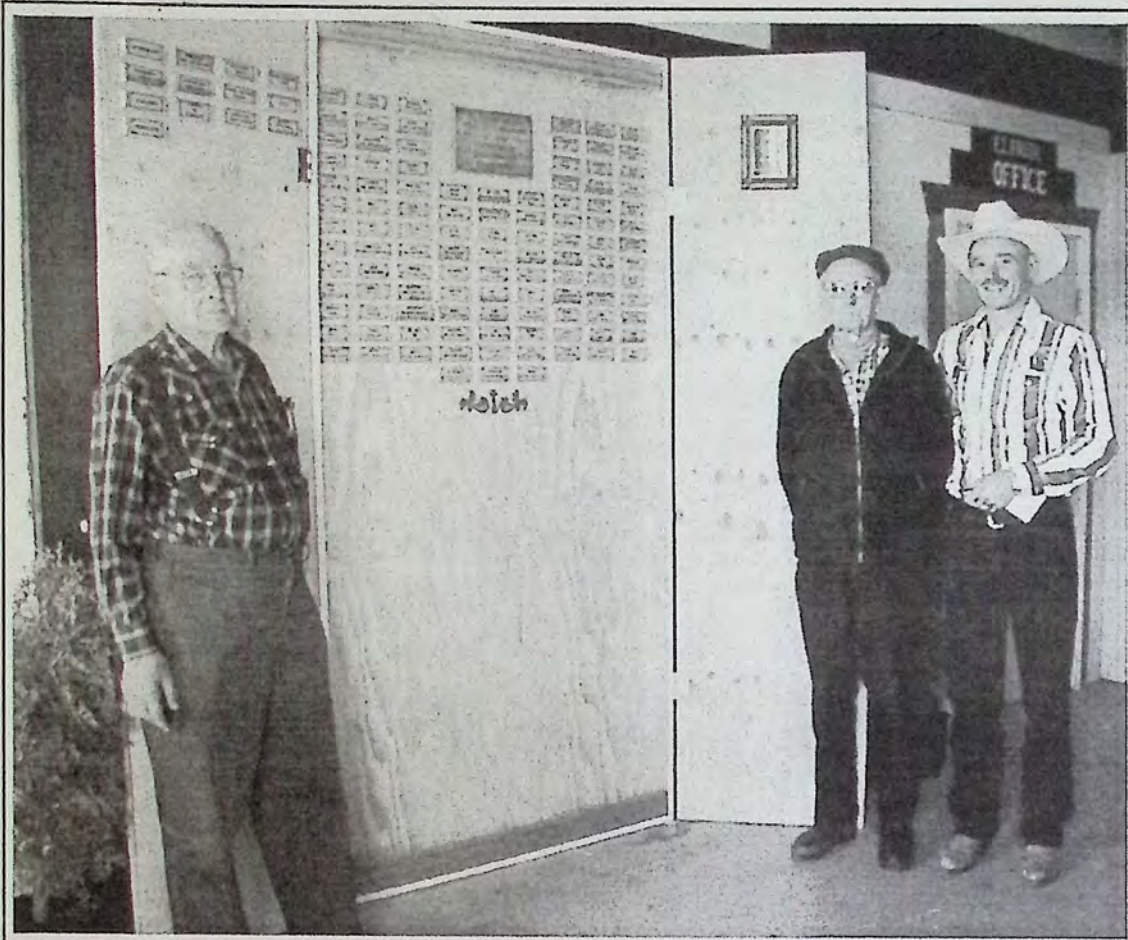

I recognized He quoted from John Chapter 4. I had asked the same question as the Samaritan woman that he had met at Jacob's well. I had been there in 1968 and quoted that scripture so often when showing my Holy Land slides. He knew I understood the true meaning of that scripture. He then slipped his hand out of mine and disappeared. I had a terrible feeling of not only being cut off from all God's creation, but from the Triune God. I cried out from the very depths of my inner being, "Jesus, why did you leave me here all alone?"

Instantly, Jesus was standing behind me, overshadowing me and said, "I never leave you alone. I never leave you nor forsake you. Lo I am with you always and will be even to the very end but keep your eyes off man and ON ME."

From that glorious experience it was as if my spirit returned back into the old clay shell body but invigorated and liberated from the ritualistic structured church with their traditions of man and put into the Highways, Byways and Hedges Ministry to bring people into the Kingdom of God to be prepared as the Bride of Christ. Jesus is the same yesterday, today and forever. Every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is Lord.

It is not enough to know about Jesus as our Creator and architect of the Universe, but to have a personal relationship with Him. That's reality!!!

Council is reluctant to fix old trail

Chris Newel appeared before Princeton Town Council on May 6 to request the Town do something to improve the old trail leading down from Third Bench to Tulameen River. He began by saying many people liked to walk along the river, and did not like, or were afraid of, going through the tunnel.

Town Council was not too interested in fixing the trail, although they admitted it is in poor condition. Council believed there was a sign saying "No access" at the head of the trail, which was formerly a road leading to the pumphouse. If people are using the old road as a trail, the Town has a liability issue.

Newel said some people had done work on it, and noted the road keeps sloughing toward the river.

Mayor Randy McLean noted continued work on it would create sloughing from above the old road, endangering properties above it, and further measures would cost a great deal.

The most Council would do is have an engineer look at the old road.
