Council backtracks on Lang Park

Citing new information available after meeting with George Elliott, at the August 18 meeting Town Council decided they have no jurisdiction when it comes to naming the Karl Lang Park.

Elliott told them the property belongs to the Ministry of Transportation. Further, no tax dollars are going into the project. The naming of the park was an item left over from a previous meeting when Town Council heard a presentation from Elliott, and objected to the name of the park, saying some people complained it should not be named after Lang as he had been in Princeton only five years.

Councillor Ray Jarvis had the last word during the meeting, aiming at the News Leader's editorial on the subject. Councillor Jarvis said Council received input from others regarding the name, and it was not just Council's opinion that naming it after Lang was inappropriate. Councillor Jarvis said Council "got a bad rap" and he said he wanted a retraction printed regarding "narrow minded". Further, as to the mayor's election, "the whole town had a say in that but they didn't on the park."

(Editor's note: Retractions are reserved for incorrect statements, not for voicing an opinion. The editor's opinion remains un-changed.)

During question period, former councillor Dan Sulentic had an opinion to voice, saying he did not object to the name, but objected to talking about a new park when there are unfinished parks in town.

Referring to the Karl Lang Park, Sulentic said, "If I see one dollar of Town money spent on it, I'll be back."

This comment terminated the meeting.

PXA asks Town for big money for showers

John Bey attended the August 18 Town Council meeting to make a request on behalf of Princeton Exhibition Association. Bey asked the Town for money to build showers for the grounds.

Bey said the building is needed due to the number of events taking place at the grounds. He reviewed the events of the past few months and four upcoming events and estimated $30,000 has come into the community due to the events.

The plan calls for a 14 X 30 foot building housing two showers and toilets for men on one side and women on the other. He estimated the cost between $35,000 to $40,000.

He reminded Council there is a lot

Interior burns, no relief in forecast

With more than 850 fires burning in B.C. and more than 35,000 people ordered from their homes this summer, everyone is frightened. The Barriere/McLure fire, and the Kelowna disaster point out how vulnerable the southern B.C. Interior can be in a dry year. Needed rain is not forecast.

Stockwell Day, Member of Parliament for Okanagan Coquihalla, sent an urgent letter to Prime Minister Jean Chretien asking him to instruct his ministers and federal officials to work with B.C. officials and citizens on mitigating the extreme consequences of ongoing forest fires in B.C.

Day referred to the "cascading effect, both human and environmental, of the unprecedented destruction." Day pointed out to Chretien the cascade of "economic shocks" B.C. has dealt with - the softwood lumber dispute and tariff, pine beetle infestation, the beef ban, and now the fire disasters.

Minister Stephen Owen was in Penticton Friday to assure local people and Premier Gordon Campbell "We're with you all the way."

Premier Campbell stated there will be help for fire victims, but nobody knows yet how much or what kind. Prime Minister Chretien visited the fire zones on Sunday. Federal troops were deployed to Kelowna to help fight the fire.

In the meantime, major fires burn near Kamloops, Barriere, Okanagan Falls, Naramata, Cherryville, and Boston Bar.

To assist the residents of 244 homes destroyed in the Kelowna fire, and victims of other fires, the 2003 BC Forest Fire Relief Fund has been established. You can make your donation to the Red Cross, Salvation Army or any ScotiaBank.

Singing star Cher donated half the proceeds of her August 23 concert in Vancouver to the fund.

BC Forest Service urges all residents to continue vigilance and caution. Many parks have been closed, and the Forest Service would prefer that people stay out of the back country for their own safety.

Town shares firemen

Princeton firemen were deployed to Keremeos during the Okanagan Mountain Park fire as Keremeos firemen went to Kelowna. This is part of a mutual aid arrangement between municipalities. To deal with a possible forest fire emergency, Council extended the firefighting boundaries to Osprey Lake, Sunday Summit and other areas far from town.

See the Gold Wing riders at Princeton Plaza Saturday afternoon and watch the Light Parade at 9:00 p.m. Sunday.

of donated labour and equipment at the grounds and those doing the work do not personally receive any benefits. Bey said the PXA does not have the money to build showers.

Councillor Kathy Clement told Bey his request was too late for this year's budget.

"We can't do it this year," she told him.

Mayor Keith Olsen said the showers would definitely be an asset to the facility.

Bey said it would be possible to cut some costs of the shower building through donated labour.

Council asked him to come back with a more detailed plan indicating cost items and cost savings through volunteer work. Bey agreed.

Princeton Century 21

Local realtor wins top awards

Heather Johnson, of Princeton's Century 21 group of realtors, accepts a framed certificate from Neil McHaffie, owner of the local branch of Century 21, for her outstanding achievement in sales for the first six months of 2003.

Heather Johnson is among the top 20 Century 21 realtors in Canada. Neil McHaffie was pleased to present her with the award for #19 out of 5,000 Century 21 realtors for her sales for the first six months of this year. Heather is number one in B.C. for the number of units sold in the first half of the year.

Neil won an Outstanding Achievement award, too, from Century 21 Canada, as did Dean Stinson and Marty Gray.

This is a remarkable achievement for a realty company in a small town.

Heather Johnson said, "I would like to thank all my clients for their support over the years. I would not have been able to achieve this award without their help."

Mayor praises ATV group

Mayor Keith Olsen was invited to go on a ride to Coalmont with members of ATV BC during their jamboree.

"It was a real blast," Mayor Olsen told Town Council at the August 18 meeting.

He confessed he had never ridden on an all-terrain vehicle before, and it was also the first time he had travelled the TransCanada Trail to Coalmont.

"We have unbelievable scenery in this valley," Mayor Olsen said. He had an excellent impression of the ATV group, and remarked, "I would welcome them back with open arms any time. They are an excellent organization."

During question period, former councillor Dan Sulentic had a different view and talked about the ATV group making ruts in the TransCanada Trail near the tunnel. Mayor Olsen said the ruts were there before the ATV group set out.

"People on Similkameen Avenue are tired of eating that dust," Sulentic told Council.

Mayor Olsen told him the ATV group would not allow traffic faster than 5 km per hour between Irly Bird and the tunnel in order to avoid raising dust and had said if they came back they would be willing to use their quads to pull equipment spreading dust control material.

Legion gives Town money

In a reverse of the usual pattern, Princeton's Royal Canadian Legion gave money to the Town of Princeton. President Bob Paterson, with John Haayer and Ladies Auxiliary President Sharon Beausoleil, attended the August 18 Town Council meeting to give Council $1,000 toward the purchase of a new speaker system for Cenotaph Park. The money was raised at the Summer Heat dance the Legion hosted at the arena on June 28.

Mayor Keith Olsen was pleased to accept the cheque, and said he had seen what a difference the wireless sound system made during this year's bed races. He added the Legion contribution is an incentive to go ahead with the project of purchasing a new sound system for Cenotaph Park.

Province sets up new fire departments

The provincial government has set up two new provincial fire departments with the authority to draw on municipal resources from anywhere in B.C.

Solicitor General Rich Coleman explained the reason for this new approach to fighting interface (between forest and settlement) fires.

"The situation in our province this summer goes beyond anything we have experienced in the past. It is essential that the Fire Commissioner has as much flexibility as possible in deploying resources to protect B.C. communities."

The two new fire departments, located in Cranbrook and Kamloops under the Emergency Program Act, expand the capacity to protect communities threatened by fire by drawing on local government resources from any jurisdiction in B.C. to provide equipment and crews.

Each new fire department has a fire chief and district fire chiefs.

This is the first jurisdiction in North America to set up this kind of coordinated fire fighting effort to meet emergency response needs.

Last Tuesday, Keremeos crew and new fire truck were deployed to Penticton. Princeton's resources remain at home but the response area is expanded.

Similkameen Sizzles at Pepperfest

What Keremeos event challenged everyone to make a place in the Guinness Book of World Records? It was the contest to see who could eat the most hot peppers in 60 seconds. It was the first-ever Similkameen Sizzle Pepper Festival, and it was a great success.

Similkameen Sizzle Pepper Festival happens for the second time on September 20 at Memorial Park in Keremeos. From noon to midnight, there will be music and fun for all ages.

This year, enjoy a pig roast, a Latin dance evening and Fear Factor - the world-renowned hot pepper-eating contest.

Judy Egli is this year's Similkameen Sizzle organizer. The event is launched by Similkameen Country. This is an All-volunteer event.

As with last year's Sizzle there will be artisan's booths, vendors, music and lots of family fun. Be sure to tell the kids about about the pinata-busting spree.

Daytime fun at Memorial Park will include local and guest entertainers, children's games, 50/50 draws and a beverage garden.

Afternoon activities are free and Sizzle-goers are invited to bring umbrellas, sunscreen, chairs and a blanket to settle in and relax for the day in the park.

Keremeos Fire Department volunteers are preparing the pig roast. After the pig roast, Victory Hall will be bouncing with the Latin rhythms of the Caribbean Dance Band "Tropical Heat".

Keremeos has no water shortage

At this time, there is no water shortage in Keremeos. According to Village Council, no notification of any sort of water emergency has been given. With that said, Keremeos residents should keep in mind that all of the water comes from wells and the supply of water is only as good as the supply in the wells. To date, the supply in the wells has been very good.

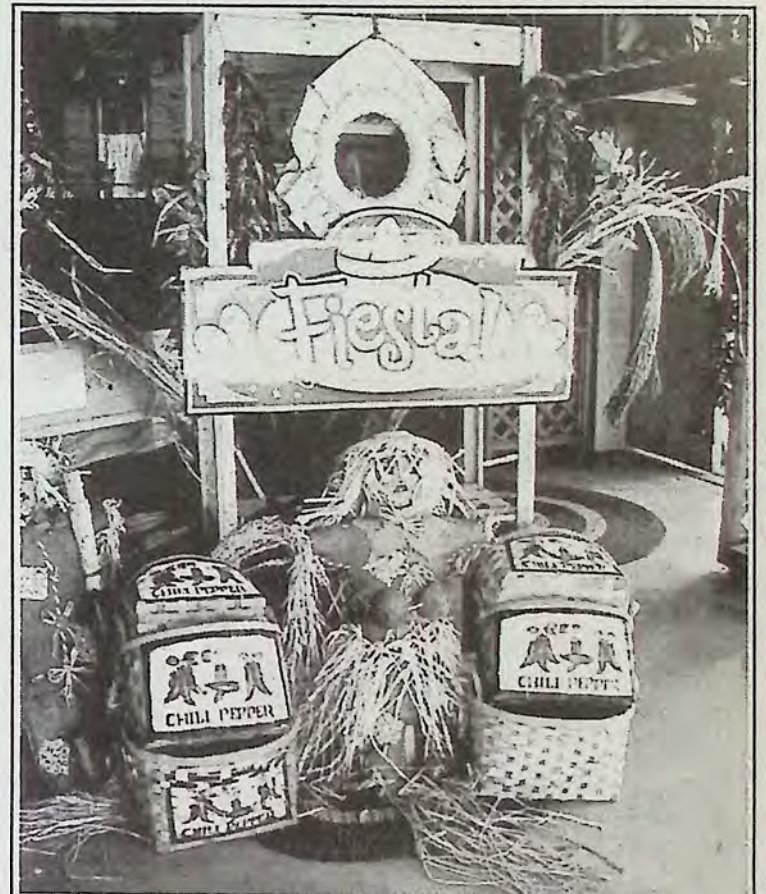

Keremeos Irrigation District would like all residents to use water wisely. There is still a six week period left of the driest time of year in the Similkameen Valley. Residents are urged not to waste water. Much of the water consumed in the irrigation district is for agricultural purposes and it is essential there be adequate water for the crops. Demand has been high and will continue high for another month.

for afternoon main stage events in the park. This is an opportunity to join the fun and show off your own talents. During the afternoon, Tropical Heat will join other entertainers on the open stage in the park. To book a time, contact Melanie Bagley at 499-5566.

Vendors welcome

Vendors and artisans are welcome to purchase table or booth space for the event. To book space, contact Judy Egli at 499-5681.

Tickets for the pig roast and dance are $15 and are available at Hilltop Esso, Valu Plus Foods, Pharmasave and Similkameen Agencies.

The second annual Similkameen Sizzles Pepper Festival plans are going into high gear now with only three weeks left before P-Day (that's not payday, it's Pepper Day!).

Council endorses ticketing bylaw third time

On August 18, Village Council passed third reading of a bylaw which will give RCMP and the Fire Chief the authority to enforce traffic and other municipal bylaws through issuing tickets. The ticketing system would be similar to that found in most cities where an officer places the ticket on a vehicle windshield.

The bylaw comes under the provincial Municipal Ticket Information legislation. Under the new system, the Village does not have to hire a bylaw enforcement officer and take offenders to court. Instead, the ticket is issued and the offender attends at Village Office to pay the fine.

The bylaw is not in effect until it has been reviewed in Victoria and returned to Village Council, where it must be revised by Council if Victoria requests revision, or it can be brought into effect by Council passing fourth reading.

Council hears report from RCMP Detachment

Sgt. T. Cronmiller of South Okanagan RCMP Detachment, attended the August 18 meeting of Keremeos Village Council. Sgt. Cronmiller gave a verbal report to Council on how the new RCMP detachment operates, as it covers the South Okanagan and Keremeos out of Oliver.

There are 22 RCMP officers in the new South Okanagan Detachment. Some of the officers live in Keremeos and others live in Oliver or Osoyoos. The duty roster allows for 24-hour per day police response to calls, which is a service Keremeos did not have prior to the change of detachment areas.

At the same time, there may be a drawback in terms of response time. If the officer on duty is located in Oliver or Osoyoos when called out to an event in Keremeos, the arrival time in Keremeos could be up to an hour after the call is made.

Town's hands are tied on fire hazard

In any year, Princeton Fire Department is called to several fires near John Allison Elementary School, located at the west end of Corina Avenue in Princeton. These fires are started by spontaneous combustion in an old coal dump left by a coal mine that has not been in operation since the 1940s. At the August 18 Town Council meeting, Council was asked what Council can do about having the coal removed and the property cleared of debris.

The property currently belongs to George Stratos, but he cannot do anything about it without permission from the Ministry of Energy and Mines. There is legislation in place for rehabilitation of old mining properties, but Stratos does not have a permit at this time. In the meantime, the Town is obliged to fight the fires to prevent them from spreading and igniting a forest fire.

Prepare your child for daycare

by Jill Rhynard, Coordinator, Health Promotion

Remember the first day of school ..... exciting, yet scary at the same time. The first day of attending daycare can be a time of anxiety for parent and child. In order for you as a parent to feel comfortable, you will want to:

- * be very clear in your own mind what you want and are looking for in a childcare arrangement
- * visit several facilities
- * talk to childcare providers - is their approach similar to or different from your own?
- * observe how the children interact not only with one another but with the care provider
- * begin to visualize dropping off your child and leaving.

Preparing a child for the daycare experience will of course depend on age and personality, but chances are if you feel good about the facility you have chosen, your child will readily adapt. To help prepare your child, remember these things:

- * be honest with your child and say you will be going to work and the child is going to daycare
- * tell your child what you do at work and what your child will be doing at daycare
- * share as much information about the childcare arrangement as you can (the provider's name, what happens at lunch time, the play facilities, etc.)
- * consider sending a "transition item" with your child to daycare - this would be anything that may help your child feel more secure in a new setting (e.g. a blanket, toy, or picture of the family)

If time permits, try to ease your child into the new setting. You might want to consider:

- * planning short, flexible visits to the centre in order for you and your child to observe and participate

- * leaving your child (if he or she seems ready) for a short period of time
- * involving the childcare provider in your decisions
- * taking your child for a short visit where you work and saying "when you are at daycare, this is where I will be"
- * practicing your new routine ahead of time so there are no surprises that first morning (for instance, practice laying out clothes the night before, preparing a lunch or snack, packing the transition item)

The big day arrives and you are not sure whether you can say good-bye and are tempted to sneak out while your child is engaged in play. Don't sneak away - say good-bye.

Remember these tips:

- * tell your child you are leaving, where you are going and when you will be back
- * when you pick up your child after the day, say how happy you are to see the child and you are anxious to hear about the child's day
- * touch base with the provider and ask how the day went.

Some children seem to adapt to their new surroundings easily and quickly but a few weeks later seem to be having difficulty. For other children, there never seem to be difficulties. All these patterns are normal. You might experience some trouble in "letting go". Recognize your own feelings and stay in close contact with your care provider. Your positive relationship with this new significant person in your child's life will help create the environment for your child's optimum development.

The first experience with daycare needs planning by parents.

Smoke advisory

Interior Health has issued an advisory on protecting yourself or family members from the effects of forest fire smoke settling into valleys. Anyone who has respiratory problems, allergies or chronic circulatory problems should stay indoors as much as possible during the time the smoke is at its worst. Windows and doors should be kept closed at this time as well.

Anyone who is experiencing serious respiratory or angina problems as a result of the smoke should consult a doctor immediately. Serious cases have been advised to go to a smoke-free area until the crisis is past.

Expecting visitors from other areas? Advise them there may be serious smoke problems in your area and if they suffer from the above problems, stay home.

Living Past 100

The joys of abundance

There is probably no finer season, health-wise, than harvest time. The produce of late summer and fall is not only abundant, but health-giving. Right now, you can purchase fresh peaches, pears, many kinds of squash, several varieties of melons and apples, plums, tomatoes and peppers. All of these are good for you. Each fruit or vegetable gives you some new vitamin, mineral or enzyme.

Do you have high cholesterol? Stock up on pears and eat lots of them - they help reduce cholesterol. Do you feel drained in high temperatures? Eat watermelon - not just a polite slice, but at least one quarter of the melon!

To protect your skin and mucous membranes, fill up on luscious cantaloupe, a wonderful source of Vitamin A.

Everybody knows the benefits of prunes, and prune plums provide all the same benefits. Why not buy them in bulk and can them? They are so simple to preserve - just prick them, put them in the jar with two tablespoons of sugar, fill the jar with water, and process in the canner.

Both prunes and apples, along with pears, help fight cholesterol, so don't be cheap with them. If you can get apples cheap or free (culls) buy a box and make applesauce.

Peppers will provide you with high doses of Vitamin C and benefits to your digestive system. Tomatoes protect your eyes and for men, reduce the risk of prostate problems.

Don't let this season pass without indulging in the harvest!

This fender-bender occurred last week when a tractor trailer unit struck the small sports car shown above. The freight truck was pulling over to the right when the car attempted to pass on the right.

How to protect your home from wildland fires

Every year, the Ministry of Forests issues instructions in the spring to people whose property may be affected by wildland fire. For the most part, these properties are rural. However, in some rural communities, like those of the Similkameen Valley, have homes which are adjacent to undeveloped land and are at risk. This year, in consideration of the number of homes burned by wildland fires, the Minister of Forests has requested publication of instructions to safeguard your property.

- * Remove combustible vegetation (shrubs and weeds) within five metres of any structure. Start with a general yard cleanup. Remove evergreen needles, branches and underbrush that could fuel a fire. Get rid of brush, long grass and anything growing under large trees that could cause a fire to spread into those trees and neighbouring trees.
- * Prune low-level branches up to at least 2.5 metres above the ground. Replace bark mulch with gravel or decorative rocks.
- * Move stacked firewood and lumber at least five metres from any structure. Flammable materials should be at least 10 metres away and uphill from your home.

- * Remove standing trees within 10 metres of any structure.
- * Remove exposed propane tanks and fuel containers.
- * If your home is on a slope, pay particular attention to the downhill side of your property. Fire can race uphill and burn trees, brush, grass or other flammable materials.

All British Columbians should be aware of the four stages of evacuation:

1. Fire notice: people are pre-warned about wildfire that may lead to an alert.
2. Evacuation alert: people are warned of imminent threat to life and property and are asked to be ready to leave on short notice. Be prepared for worsening conditions.
3. Evacuation order: people must leave the area immediately.
4. All clear: residents will be allowed to return to their homes.

A caring school climate equals Asset #5

by Nadine McEwen, Asset Development Coordinator

What is the forecast for this year's school climate in Princeton? Most of us like the weather to be warm and sunny, and most students like their school climate to be the same.

According to Quest International, an educator training organization out of the U.S., "School climate is the feel of a school – the mood and atmosphere you sense the moment you enter a school building."

You want a climate conducive to learning. A cold, dreary school climate is not one your child would want to be in for very long.

What causes a school to have a warm, positive climate? It depends on how people interact.

When your child comes into contact with a lot of different people during the day, that impacts the school's climate. It may start with the way the bus driver treats your child. Then there could be interaction with the school secretary, counsellor, teacher, coach, custodian and so on. The way each person feels about the school will affect how they treat each other and vice versa.

On key person's attitude can make a significant difference. A caring adult or fellow student who takes the time to know everyone's name, who says hello, how are you, who take the time to meet new students, even an entire Grade 8 class, will encourage positive school climate.

If a parent, school staff, students and/or caring community member take the time to create a spirit of cooperation within our schools, we would rarely have a rainy day.

One way for our students to feel proud of their school and help raise school spirit is to help deal with issues or problems. Some enjoyable simple ideas include creating a school slogan, decorating the hallways with student and staff creations or entertaining slogans, hosting exciting pep rallies, or encouraging the community to participate in school functions such as talent shows, making noise at home games (or going to away games) or helping out with reading programs.

A school which has parents (or other caring adults) as partners provides learning through service, shows respect of diversity, has a positive learning environment, allows for social and thinking skills to be applied, and encourages drug-free living, is a school with a very warm climate.

A positive school climate needs to be nurtured – it does not happen automatically.

Councillor commends recycler

Councillor Kathy Clement told Council on August 18 that she wished to commend the recycling contractor for the opportunity he gave Princeton Minor Hockey to raise money for new jerseys.

"He shows great community spirit," Councillor Clement said.

Horoscopes

August 26 to September 2, 2003

ARIES - Your focus shifts to health and employment matters. Both should be good, maybe lucky. Communications improve, and you may hear good news. Home and family continue to pose problems.

TAURUS - You could be lucky in sports, games, and creative endeavours at this time. Future plans may suddenly change for the better due to unusual circumstances. You could be having a lot of fun this week.

GEMINI - A major disruption presents you with challenges at home and with a parent or family. Unusual events keep you busy all week. Career matters are affected by family concerns. Uproar!

CANCER - It seems no matter what happens you still feel burdened. Good news comes from a sibling, perhaps a visitor brings some fun. You work hard on promotional activities now - take a look at image.

LEO - Money may come your way this month, or you may spend a lot of money, perhaps foolishly. Action centers around banking, investments, mortgages, estates and insurance. Organize well.

VIRGO - If you do not feel good about yourself now, you should take a good look at your partner for an answer. You may have a lot of aggressive opposition from a partner or close friend. You should feel great.

LIBRA - Your mind becomes more peaceful this week, although your health and employment may still pose some problems. Try to enjoy what you can and deal patiently with the rest. Relax!

SCORPIO - This is a good week for you. You have an abundance of energy and you have a lot of optimistic plans for the future. Action is centered around children, creative projects, and sports. Play safely.

SAGITTARIUS - Good fortune in your career continues, and you can see positive gains being made. Home life is challenging, and demands a lot of attention and effort. Continue work projects.

CAPRICORN - Long distance travel or communication will be beneficial this week. You can be fortunate in promoting a business or self-image. Your reputation soars. A sibling may be displeased, aggressive.

AQUARIUS - Banks, insurance companies, and investments pay off now. They see you in a favourable light. You may gain possessions, or money, through gifts or inheritance, or government.

PISCES - One on one relationships are very beneficial to you now, but you may spoil their perception of you by being too aggressive or harsh. Do physically demanding work or exercise. Burn off excess energy.

July 13, 1921 - Aug. 30, 2001

It's been two years Dad,

*Time cannot stop the heartache,
Or even stop the tears,
Or take away the memories,
of the one I loved for years,
I often sit and think of you,
When I am all alone,
For memory is the only thing,
That grief can call its own.*

*His smiling way and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall,
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in a better land,
Never to part again.*

POINTS OF VIEW

OUR VIEW

Are you ready for an emergency?

People in the Similkameen Valley have been luckier this summer than many other British Columbians. While many people were forced from their homes due to fire, and many people lost their homes, we stayed safe in ours.

In Ontario, residents had no electricity for 24 hours. We never missed a beat – our electricity was just fine.

While all of this was going on, some of us started talking about being ready for an emergency. What is needed in an emergency?

Some people in the burn area in the Barriere fire did not lose their homes. They were up on the roof with garden hoses spraying everything. They refused to evacuate and counted on their own resources to keep them safe.

When the electricity went off back east, some people were prepared. They had candles and kerosene lamps, camp cooking equipment, and flashlights. They had battery-operated radios and they knew how to keep things cold. They had extra drinking water, just in case.

How well is your family prepared for an emergency? What would the electrical power system were to fail? Are you prepared in case of a major snowfall? Do you know what to do in an earthquake situation? Would your home be affected by a flood?

All of us are far too dependent on electricity. Few of us think what would happen if it failed. Yes, you could rush out to buy candles, if you had spare cash, but what if the store's computer does not work, and your bank card does not work? There are advantages to having your emergency supplies on hand before the emergency.

We tend to forget we could lose electricity in any natural disaster – fire, flood, wind storm, lightning storm, earthquake, snow or freezing rain storm. How vulnerable is your family? How prepared are you?

YOUR VIEW

Police should not pass the buck

Dear Editor;

Heading downhill from Headwaters to Peachland, the forest fire smoke made breathing difficult even with the windows closed. The last few steep miles revealed the extent of the devastation across Okanagan Lake. We are told that at this time there are more than 800 forest fires burning in our province; this fire being the result of a lightning strike but many resulting from carelessness such as discarded cigarettes and smoldering campfires.

Imagine my chagrin then as I travelled through to Armstrong to have, as travelling companions, two young fellows from Saskatchewan in a green Chevy pick-up seemingly oblivious to the carnage that surrounded them. In the searing heat, the blissfully ignorant, chain-smoking driver kept flicking his cigarette out of his open window for the hundred or so kilometres that we travelled in tandem.

Wishing to avoid a road rage incident, I kept looking for a police presence so that I could make them aware of this potential arsonist and that they could then pull him over to warn him regarding the possible dire consequences of his actions.

Arriving at my destination still miffed, I dialed 911 and asked to talk to a policeman. When I told him my story, he told me to phone 'Forestry' because they are the ones who follow up on these complaints. Now I was really sore and I told him in no uncertain terms that as a citizen I had done my duty and now it was his turn. Did he telephone ahead to have this careless smoker intercepted? He said that he would do nothing because it was not his responsibility but mine. Did I phone Forestry to tell these overworked people that they may have to fight another fire in Roger's Pass? What would be the point? Did the devil-may-care arsonist start another forest fire on his way home? We may never know.

Now, I understand that a civilized society needs policing – but under what guidelines? Do we need police who refuse to do the work they are paid to do? After all, are not the overextended forestry workers fighting fires at this time? Must I be told by a bureaucrat in police headquarters that it's my job to play telephone tag with a bureaucrat in another agency because the police don't want the responsibility? If my experience is typical then I can understand the frustration of the general public with the RCMP. As in my case, why would someone bother to report a fire hazard if they're going to be ignored or have the police shirk their duty by passing the buck?

Sincerely,
HP Toews

Citizen calls for Mayor Olsen's resignation

Dear Editor;

Mayor Olsen and Councillor Esselink should both resign.

For almost three years the TransCanada Trail from Burton to the Tunnel was hotly debated at Council meetings. Many people, including the RCMP (Sgt. Dosko) spent hours to bring a halt to the drinking and racing of motorcycles, ATVs and pick-ups on that section of the trail.

Councillors Olsen and Esselink both took part in these discussions on how to stop what was happening, with Councillor Esselink being the liaison officer between the Trail Society and Council.

Under the leadership of then Mayor Randy McLean, it was agreed that as the Trails Society had done absolutely nothing on that section of the trail and was now broke, the city would gravel it from Burton to the Tunnel, then place concrete barriers and the Township would pay for it. The problem had gotten so severe the Township took it upon themselves to look after that section of the trail to stop all ATVs, motorcycles and any motorized vehicles from using it so the people of Auburn Crescent and Similkameen Avenue would get a respite from the coal dust. The placing of concrete blocks was supposed to have been looked after by Councillor Esselink but was never done properly.

The taxpayers of Princeton spent between $8,000 and $10,000 to protect the people of Auburn Crescent Continued next page

Should the Town spend money on fairgrounds?

During past years, local residents would mutter when Town Council spent money on the fairgrounds.

"Why should town people spend money so the horsey crowd from Area H has a place to play?"

Of course, some of the older folk remembered why local taxpayers should kick in a few bucks now and then. When the facility first began, as a race-track for Racing Days, Princeton's economy was so bad it would have been a short drop to rock bottom. Horse racing brought money to town. The Village Council of that day backed it 100 percent, and there are many Princeton people who picked rocks from the track year after year.

When a town dies, it dies one industry at a time, one business at a time. When the racetrack was constructed in 1965, Princeton was half dead.

There may still be a few stubborn old coots who do not want their tax money spent at the "horse playground" but they are in the minority today. Building the track, celebrating Racing Days with horse races, was a turning point for Princeton. People came here, liked what they saw, and injected new life into the community.

Nearly all of the work done on the grounds has been done by volunteers who work their butts off, year after year, to improve the grounds and provide more events to draw more people to Princeton. The facility is now quite unique. It can accommodate chuckwagon races, rodeos and team roping, mud bog events, Tuff truck events, ATV's and Bus Nuts, a demolition derby, horses, cattle, flea market,

Is this the second Viet Nam?

Dear Editor;

When the unelected president of the U.S., George W. Bush, made his wild and bellicose statement that "the U.S. military would defy the United Nations" and practically all the nations of the world with the exception of the U.K. and his lap dog Prime Minister Tony Blair, he then proceeded to wage a vicious unprovoked war against the defenceless people of Iraq. This may prove to be the greatest mistake he and his bloodthirsty conspirators could have made.

The big farce was to destroy "weapons of mass destruction" which Iraq was supposed to have had!

and Similkameen Avenue from blowing coal dust and close-call accidents on that portion of the trail.

On one weekend, 100-plus ATVs, with Mayor Olsen riding with them, ignored signs saying "Motorized Vehicles Not Allowed", and everything Council had agreed on in past Council meetings went up in dust.

The 100 ATVs did untold damage to that portion of the trail. Ruts, and right back to coal dust again. The town crew will probably be the ones who wind up repairing it at more cost to the taxpayer.

Maybe Mayor Olsen can explain why, in his ultimate wisdom, he allowed this on that section of the trail.

Your resignation, Mayor Olsen and Councillor Esselink, are in order. You can't say you didn't know you voted to stop all motorized traffic on that portion of the trail.

Both local newspapers were present at all discussion regarding the above.

Yours truly, Don Fleming, Princeton of evil conspirators foisted on the world and the American people!

It has now all become crystal clear to everyone who has not been brainwashed by the Bush misinformation machine (that pack of liars and conspirators) that the war on Iraq was One Big Hoax.

Now, after the U.S. war machine has unmercifully bombed and slaughtered thousands of innocent Iraqis and devastated their country, that arrogant gang of war criminals in Washington are pleading with other countries to help them subdue the Iraqi people who are fighting the invaders and to stop them from stealing their national resource - OIL.

What unmitigated gall!

I believe it is very doubtful that Bush's gang will find many, if any, countries who will be so inhuman and stupid as to send their loved ones to their death to help the invaders and war criminals.

Respectfully submitted without prejudice,

Marshall A. Johnson, Princeton.

Heart Food by Dave Machin. Includes a heart illustration and decorative border.

In years gone by, much blood has been shed for the freedoms we enjoy as citizens of this nation today. Freedom is never free, it always costs something. Although the freedom you enjoy today may seem "free" to you, someone else paid the price for it. We hear the words "free" and "freedom" used in our country today, and even though we have some problems in this wonderful country, we should still be grateful for what we have here. What does it truly mean to be free? Are we truly free because we live in a "free" country and are basically able to do as we please within the limits of the law? That may be a form of freedom but it is not true freedom. I believe we only have true freedom when we are free in God. This kind of freedom is based on God and His son Jesus. How can we receive this freedom? Using the word FREE as an acronym we can see how to obtain it. First, we must have Faith in God. Many people claim to have faith in some sort of God, even worshipping inanimate objects, such as the sun or moon. Many worship riches, pleasures or possessions (whatever you give the most attention to in your life is a god to you). To be free, one must have faith in the one true God and His only son Jesus, who can really set you free from whatever holds you down. Secondly, we must Rely on God. When we rely on Him, He can set us free from the chains of fear, insecurity, weaknesses (mental and physical) and anything else that plagues us. He will meet our needs. He will guide and protect us. Thirdly, true freedom comes from knowing we have Eternal life with God. Many people live in great fear about the future. This is because they have failed to recognize that God holds the future. Many are afraid of losing their jobs, about the economy, terrorist attacks, SARS, and many other things. There is, however, "no fear" in God nor does He impart fear to any of those who have faith in Him. In fact, Jesus died to destroy the one who holds the power of death, to set us free from that power. Last, but not least, Enlist in Gods plan for your life. "I know the plans I have for you - plans of good and not of evil, to bring you a future full of hope". To enjoy true freedom, stop following your plans and begin to enlist in His plan, and as you do, His blessings will begin to come from behind and overtake you. God has a desire for you to be free in your spirit, soul and body, but you must realize his ways are not our ways, nor are His thoughts our thoughts - but they are for us if we will seek Him. "If the Son of God shall make you free, you shall be free indeed" (John 8:36). God is good, His word is good and good all the time.

auctions, dinners and dancing, and it could accommodate more. As a multi-purpose facility, it could earn a lot more than it does.

This year, volunteers did more than $25,000 worth of improvements on the grounds. A lot of money has been spent this year. Every dollar spent by the PXA and user groups means more dollars in circulation around Princeton when people come here for events.

The key here is one important fact: the property belongs to the Town of Princeton. The Town has spent a lot of money on, and hires people to look after, Memorial Park and Centennial Pool, neither of which has the amount of use nor the number of events which draw big crowds to town. It is rare to see the grandstand full at a ball tournament in Princeton. In fact, it is now rare to see a ball tournament in Princeton!

The golf course, like the fairgrounds, is a huge drawing card to Princeton, and has been built and operated by volunteers, although the Town owns the property. The same could be said for the curling rink.

Sponsor support for events at the fairgrounds is phenomenal. Without the support of local businesses, these events could not take place. Business people put their money where they think it benefits them most, so it is obvious they see the benefits of the work the volunteers do.

Few people really think about the Peace Pole at Town Hall.

Peace begins at home

Princeton has an item in front of Town Hall which few people look at or understand. It is the Peace Pole. It was a gift to the Town of Princeton through arrangements made by Cathie Orser. It comes from The World Peace Prayer Society of Japan, to focus attention on peace as opposed to a focus on conflict in our world. The concept is "war begins with thoughts of war, peace begins with thoughts of peace".

Canadian Dorothy Kikue

Redlinger gave a Peace Pole to each province in Canada, and Princeton was the place selected for B.C., due to the efforts of Cathie Orser.

The message on the pole states, "May Peace Be in Our Homes and Communities" and on another side, "May Peace Prevail on Earth". The remaining sides have the same message in French.

The next time you walk past Town Hall, take a look at the Peace Pole.

Posse Camp starts now

The Posse team is going through the Junior B selection process this week from August 28 through 31 and will play its first game on September 1, an exhibition game against Osoyoos Storm. The Posse logo looks gorgeous in the fresh paint in new ice, and the bleachers have a shiny new coat of paint. Season tickets are still available. If you want to peek in at the camp, drop in at the arena during the day and watch the young players try out.

Town supports young racer

Town Council voted in favour of giving Renée Willis a $150 sponsorship for the Canadian Finals Barrel Racers. The matter came before Council on August 18 in a letter from Willis, who is riding the rodeo circuit this month. Fifteen year old Willis ranked sixth in Canada last week, although she is in her rookie year as a professional. She is the daughter of Doug and Debbie Willis of the rural area of Princeton.

The Barrel Racing finals will be held at the Canadian Rodeo Finals in Edmonton on November fifth to ninth. Council will receive publicity at the rodeo as a result of sponsoring Willis, and will be given two tickets for one performance at the Rodeo Finals.

THE LEADER IN SALES AND LISTINGS YEAR AFTER YEAR

Are you ready for the Fall Fair?

What are you going to enter in the fair this year?

Gardeners are taking a close look at their flowers and vegetables now, wondering just what will be ready to exhibit at the fair.

Homemakers are looking at their jams, jellies and canning to see what might earn a ribbon at the fair.

Hobbyists will be looking at their projects, and livestock owners have made up their minds by this time what they want to show.

The first step is looking at the rules. If you are exhibiting vegetables, for example, you need to know how many are required. Booklets are available at the News Leader and Chamber of Commerce office.

Junior Fair

Junior Fair is unique to Princeton's Fall Fair. Youngsters are encouraged to enter their own projects, and nearly every entry receives a ribbon and a little bit of cash. One year, a child received a total of $137 for her exhibits.

When to enter

The days to bring things to the fair are the Thursday and Friday before the fair. There is an entry form in the booklet, but if an exhibitor has more entries than room on the form, there are extra forms available at the registration table. Calculate the amount of entry fees required and try to have the correct amount ready when entering. When the fees are paid, the volunteer registering the exhibits will give the exhibitor a tag for each exhibit. The exhibitor fills in the tags, folds them to conceal the name, and attaches the tag to the exhibit.

Exhibitor tags remain in place while judging is done. When the judge has decided on the ranking of an exhibit, the tag will be marked and a ribbon awarded if justified. The carbon copy of the tag will be removed from winning exhibits and turned in at the office for the cash prize. Cash may be picked up at the office after 3:00 p.m. on the first day of the fair.

Kinds of exhibits not judged

Some exhibits are purely educational. These exhibit pay no entry and are not judged. This year, GVRD and AgAware are entering educational exhibits. AgAware will be giving a picture to colour to each child who wants one. These pictures are about agriculture. B.C. Cattlemen's Association has sent beef recipes to hand out to the public. Similkameen Sizzle, the Pepperfest being held in Keremeos in September, will bring a display of peppers and information about the event.

Commercial exhibitors may put in an exhibit just to show a product, or they may show products and sell them as well. These exhibitors reserve space. Some may give away free samples, or may have an opportunity to win a prize.

Douglas Lake Cattle Company will have a display again, and there are a number of other vendors registered for space. The fair is never "just" exhibits. Vendors will be there to sell everything from native crafts, frozen salmon and jewellery to horse trailers and vehicles.

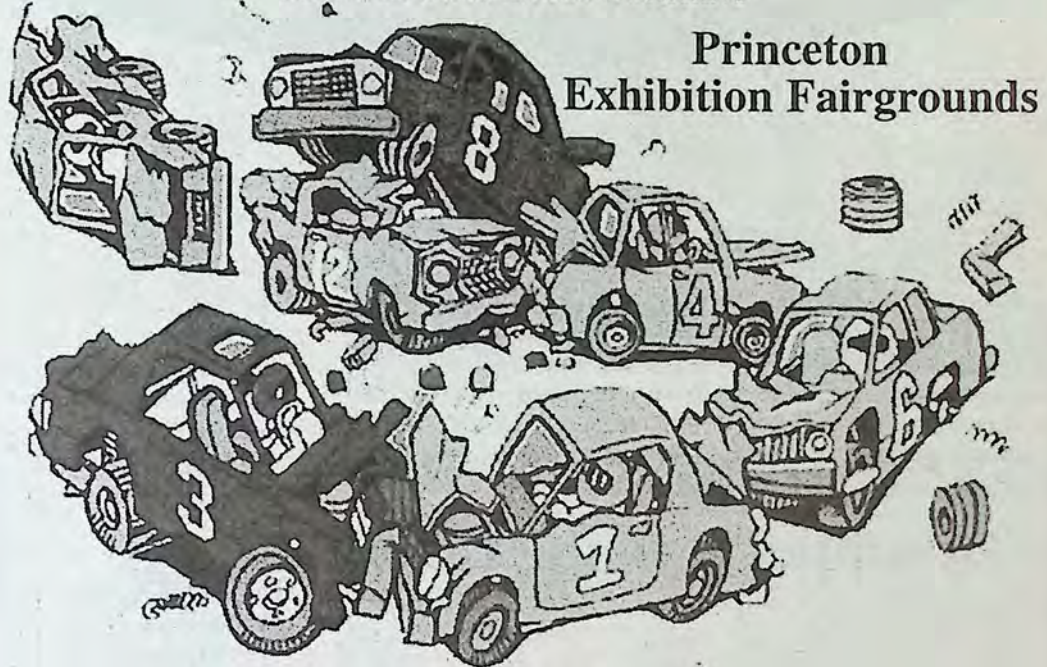

Helene Ramsay shows a quilt made by her grandmother, Minnie May (in photo Helen holds). It was entered in a 1911/12 fair in Toronto, then in a 1912/13 fair in Winnipeg. The quilt made by Minnie May was passed to her daughter, Nonie Foster, who passed it on to Helene. It is a treasured heirloom.
