Accident kills three at Sunday Summit

Highway 3 was closed for six hours Sunday night following a head-on collision near Sunday Summit.

A semi tractor unit with two trailers collided with a passenger vehicle.

Three people were pronounced dead at the scene by the BC Coroners Service.

Two other people were transported by Air Ambulance to hospital.

RCMP are continuing their investigation into the accident.

Campground damage under investigation

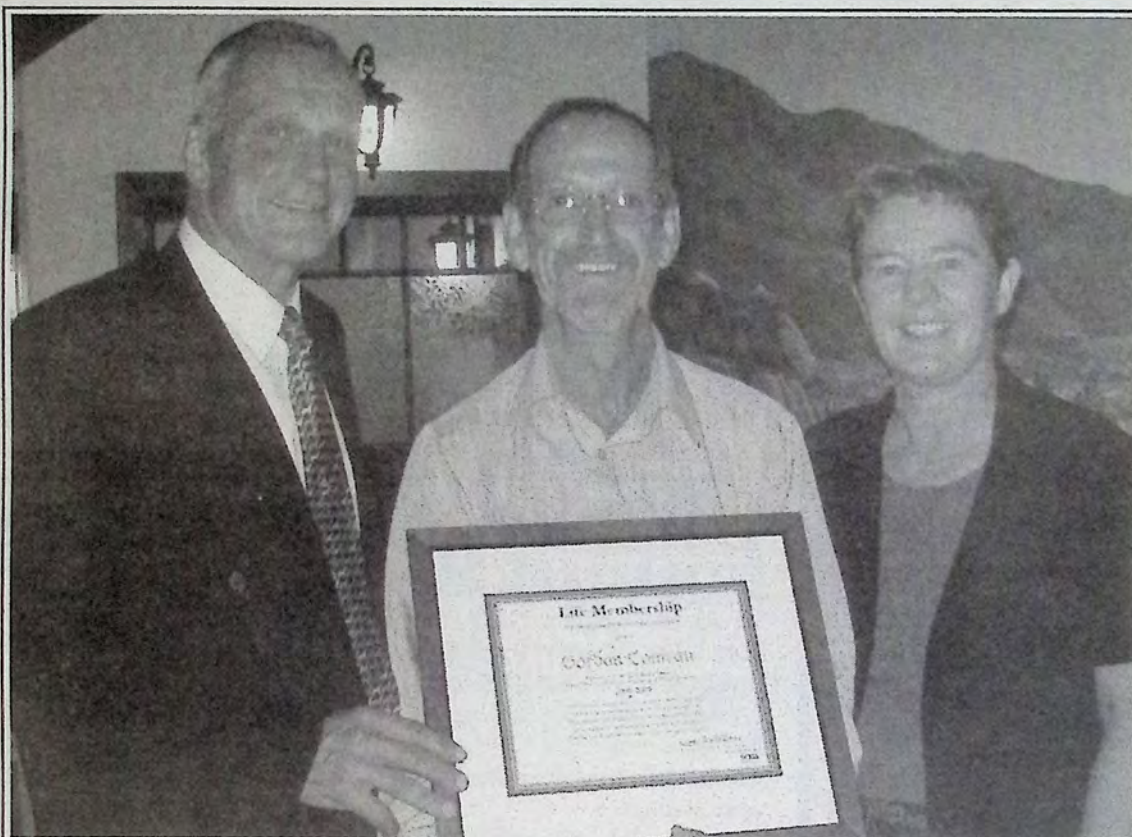

Princeton RCMP Detachment Commander Sgt. Kurt Lozinski says police are investigating the 'Grad Party' at Deadman Lake.

"Police are working in conjunction with BC Forest Service and a liaison from the Grad Committee in identifying the persons responsible for the damage."

Anyone with information is asked to contact Princeton RCMP at (250) 295-6911.

Lozinski says public help solves many crimes.

BCSTA honours Comeau

Lee Southern, left, Executive Director of the BC School Trustees Association and Penny Tees, BCSTA President, present Princeton School Board Chairman Gordon Comeau with a Life Membership in the BCSTA.

Gordon becomes lifetime member

Gordon Comeau was awarded a Life Membership in the British Columbia School Trustees Association at a dinner hosted by School District 58 (Nicola-Similkameen) on June 1st.

Comeau has worked on behalf of public education in BC and Canada for 24 years as Trustee, Board Chair, BCSTA Director, Vice President and President.

He has also just completed a term as President of the Canadian Trustees Association.

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Bob Peacock, noted at the awards dinner that Gordon had also just been recognized by the BC School Superintendents Association for his work in public education, the first Trustee to receive this recognition.

Dr. Peacock also commented that in looking at his own career as a principal he was responsible for the education of maybe a gymnasium full of students and as superintendent he was able to affect the education of a couple of gymnasiums full of students.

"However, Gordon Comeau, in his unstinting work on behalf of education was able to positively affect the lives of students filling all of the gymnasiums in BC."

Penny Tees, current President of the BC School Trustees Association and Lee Southern, Executive Director of BCSTA came to Princeton to present the Life Membership.

Tees described Comeau's terms working with BCSTA as "substantial in bringing together the necessary partners in education so that the work of student achievement could progress."

Comeau said he was at a loss for words, but did point out much of his success in pushing forward the agenda of public education was due to the support of his partner, secretary, receptionist and wife, Gayle who gave up vacations and weekends of not having a husband at home all the time.

School Trustee Dina Slowikowski-Campbell was pleased to see Comeau receive the honour.

"Gordon has nurtured the role of education in a strong yet respectful manner that is marked by humour and integrity."

RCMP report rash of thefts

Princeton RCMP Detachment Commander Sgt. Kurt Lozinski says there has been an increase in thefts.

"In the last week there has been an increase in theft from motor vehicles with at least two car stereos, DVD, MP3 players/decks taken on Corina Avenue and on Harold Avenue."

Lozinski says prevention is the key.

"Please ensure that you lock your vehicles, and if possible, engrave your stereos with your BC Drivers Licence. Do not leave any valuables or items such as CDs in the vehicle."

Lozinski also says to be aware of strange sounds coming from your driveway or street at night.

"Take a look outside, don't dismiss the barking dog or unusual sounds that you might hear yourself."

ATV thefts in the Keremeos area has also prompted a warning to local residents.

"Remember to secure your ATV if you have one, mark down the serial number and remove the key from the ignition."

Lozinski also suggests awareness.

"Also note any suspicious vehicles in your neighbour's yard or property, obtain licence plates and notify police."

PLP loses fight for $18,546.01

Special To The News Leader
by Andy Ivens

A Langley man has claimed victory in court after being overbilled by his power company by $18,000 after it sniffed out a tenant on his Princeton-area property who was hijacking electricity for an illegal marijuana grow-op.

The BC Court of Appeal last week upheld the $81,000 award a lower court jury made in favour of Randy MacDonald - $62,000 of it in punitive damages for the arbitrary way Princeton Light & Power Co. Ltd. treated its customer.

MacDonald bought the property in 1996 for $185,000 and rented it to a family that lived there until March 1999.

MacDonald paid the light bill.

When a meter reader reported that he smelled a strong odour of marijuana, PLP inspected the home but found no evidence of an electrical bypass.

The smell may have arisen because a member of the family suffers from the medical condition fibromyalgia and smoked marijuana for its medical benefits.

The family moved out in April 1999 and the next tenant moved in, starting a marijuana grow-op that was discovered by the RCMP three months later on June 25.

Although the police suspected the grow-op was only three months old, based on a variety of evidence, PLP management calculated that MacDonald, who had the light bill in his name, owed the company $18,546.01 for stolen power going back 36 months.

PLP cut off the power and wrote MacDonald a letter, claiming he had to pay the $18,546 before it would restore power.

MacDonald was unable to rent the property and was unable to come up with the disputed payment. He eventually fell behind in mortgage payments and his bank foreclosed.

MacDonald wound up selling the place for $140,000 - for a loss of $45,000.

When PLP sued him for the imaginary $18,546, plus interest, that it claimed it had lost, MacDonald countersued, eventually claiming victory in a nine-day trial in BC Supreme Court.

At trial, PLP's own records showed there was no unusual consumption of power for the three years the first family lived on the premises.

The jury ruled that no power was stolen from the light company and determined PLP's conduct deserved punishment.

The Court of Appeal agreed.

Council wants RCMP budget

Sgt. Kurt Lozinski asked Town Council for $2,750 to purchase a Genesis II radar unit. In a letter to Council, Sgt. Lozinski explained that Princeton Detachment investigates 220 to 250 traffic accidents each year.

Officers are on patrol in an area covering the Hope-Princeton Highway, Highway 5A and a number of lesser highways.

Currently, only two of the four police vehicles are equipped with moving radar sets, and Sgt. Lozinski said there is a need to have another vehicle equipped. Speeding is a major cause of traffic accidents and fatalities in this policing region.

Council did not say "yes" to the request.

Councillor Kathy Clement proposed a motion to contact Sgt. Lozinski to find out what is allocated for equipment in the Princeton Detachment current budget.

Further, Council will not accept any new requests for funding as the request deadline was May 1, 2005.

"I have asthma and have been using aerosols to treat my asthma for a long time. Recently, I have noticed the inhalers feel different. What has changed?"

You are right they have changed. Presently all the salbutamol inhalers (the "reliever" medication) and some other inhalers (like Flovent HFA, QVAR and Advair) now contain a new propellant that is ozone friendly. It is called HFA or hydrofluoroalkane.

As of January 2005 all aerosols were required to switch to the new HFA propellant. The propellant in question is called chlorofluorocarbon or CFC. This propellant, which is also associated with refrigeration, air conditioning, and food packaging, has been found to be harmful to the ozone layer.

So what is the difference? HFA aerosols will feel warmer and lighter, and be less forceful.

Cawston teen seeks Broadway

Cawston's Alysha Harker is going places.

On June 22nd she will start the first day of an intense two year training program at the American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York City. It's the same school that was the basis for the 1970's movie and TV series 'Fame.'

Harker told the News Leader her days will be full.

"I'll be singing, dancing and acting for eight hours a day, every day except Sundays."

She says the course is so intense that the Academy requires a doctor's note stating that she can handle the pressure.

Harker will participate in the Performing Arts Training Program where she will train in singing, dancing and acting for film and television, musical theatre and dance.

Students are accepted for the program from United States, Canada and twenty two other foreign countries.

Harker says the two year program will prepare her for the next step.

"After the two years there are national auditions attended by film and theatre producers."

The Cawston teen, who turned 18 last Thursday, already knows where she wants to be by the end of her training.

"I'd like to end up on Broadway or in a movie."

Harker will miss her Graduation June 30th and Prom on July 2nd from Similkameen Elementary Secondary School in Keremeos. An event she was very involved in planning with her Graduation gram.

"I've been training in dance daily to get in shape."

Her family, while fully supporting her goals, are dealing with losing their little girl as best they can.

"They're taking it good but there's so much paperwork to do that they haven't had time to let it all sink in."

Harker's parents, Bruce and Kathy, own and operate Harker's Fruit Ranch in Cawston.

Kathy says the family is very proud, "but a little apprehensive in sending her so far away all on her own with no one that lives in New York or close by."

The family spent one day two weeks ago to get passports processed, purchase additional pairs of dance shoes and outfits as well as complete student visa forms, medical and insurance forms and all her school paperwork.

"We are very confident that she is ready for anything that is put in front of her in the music industry and theatre arts," Kathy says.

"We know when we leave her behind on the 28th the tears will flow for a long time, as they are now. Her brother and sister are very proud of her and knew that one day her dreams really would come true."

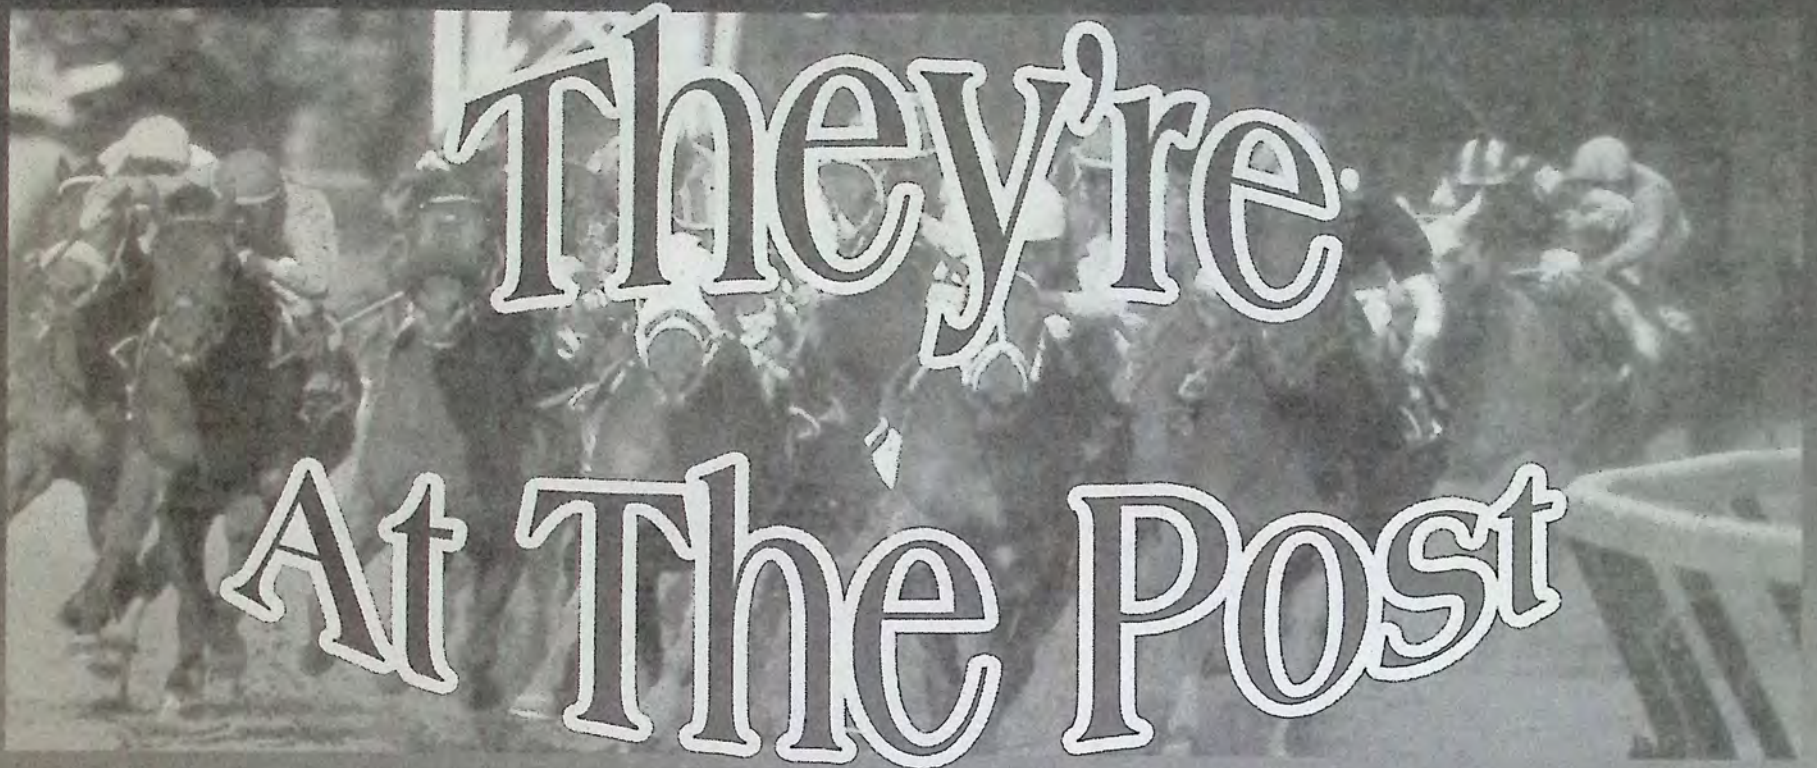

"I'm just so excited," Alysha told the News Leader via her cell phone in Vancouver.

"This is my dream coming true." Anyone wishing to send words of encouragement to Alysha can do so via the internet.

Her e-mail address is aly_harker@hotmail.com.

Staying active keeps away injuries

It is likely you know someone who has fallen and suffered an unpleasant injury. This is not surprising when you consider that falls are the leading cause of fatal injuries among senior Canadians and account for more than half of all injuries among seniors. At any age, falls can often be prevented by staying active.

"Being active helps improve your balance and enables you to respond quicker to those unexpected trips," reports Dr. Paul Hasselback, Senior Medical Health Officer for Interior Health. "Take a walk or take a yoga or Tai Chi class at your local rec centre or seniors centre. In fact, getting active and staying active can help you improve your overall quality of life."

Of all injuries among those aged 65+ in Interior Health, more than one third are attributable to falls. In addition to being hospitalized, seniors who have been injured by falling often require surgery and months of rehabilitation therapies. They also commonly experience a significant decrease in mobility, confidence, and quality of life ultimately reducing their independence.

Costs to the health care system are also high. For example hospital care and follow-up therapy for a broken hip costs an average of approximately $25,000. Yet falls are the most easily prevented risk to health for seniors.

Interior Health offers these simple tips to help seniors stay on their feet and reduce the risk of falling at home and when out and about:

Improve your strength and balance

- Being active and staying active will improve your strength, balance, and flexibility, and is the most effective falls prevention measure of all. Take a walk or try a class such as Tai Chi.

- Know your medications. Talk to your doctor about medications that make you feel dizzy or off balance.

- Have your sight and hearing checked to make sure your glasses or hearing aids meet your needs.

- Regular healthy meals help keep up your strength and vitality, giving you the energy to stay active.

- Ask your dietitian, doctor, or pharmacist about vitamin supplements. Both Vitamin D and calcium supplements have shown to be effective in maintaining healthy bones and balance.

Reduce the risk at home

- Remove throw rugs or scatter mats, especially from high-traffic areas or at the top of stairs. Put non-skid backing on any rugs you retain.

- Keep high-traffic areas clear of telephone and electrical cords, parcels, shoes, and other obstacles.

- Do not wax floors, or use non-skid floor wax and place non-slip surfaces on stairs, balconies, porches, and patios.

- Keep your home well lit, particularly stairways, porches, balconies, hallways, and bedrooms. Have light switches at the top and bottom of stairs, at the entrance to the bedroom, and by the bed.

- Keep pets out from under your feet.

- Have a solid hand rail or banister on both sides of the stairs and ensure stair carpets or runners are well fastened.

- In the bathroom, have a non-slip surface or bath mat in the shower and bath.

- Install grab bars by the toilet, shower, and bath.

- Have a bath seat to enable showering while sitting if you tire while standing.

- Place pots, pans, canned goods, and frequently used items in easy-to-reach locations.

- Have a phone near the bed.

- Keep a clear path from the bed to the bathroom and have a night light to illuminate the path if you get up during the night.

- Don't get up from bed too fast. Sit on the edge of the bed for a minute so you don't experience dizziness.

Reduce the risk in your community
- Talk to your family, friends, and neighbours about getting active - and how falls can be prevented.

- Organize a walking club or work with others to start some fun and affordable physical activities for seniors in the community.

- Invite an Interior Health representative to hold a falls prevention workshop in your community.

- Talk to your local government about ways to improve potential trip hazards in your community.

For more information, visit our web site at www.interiorhealth.ca or visit your local public health office.

How much can you do?

Everybody knows exercise is good for health. Not everybody knows how much exercise or when.

There is a little old lady, age 89, who walks 600 steps on her treadmill every morning, and does 100 arm lifts, too. As well, she touches her toes 20 times.

How many can you do every day? Try doing what the old lady does. If you are puffed out, and younger than age 89, maybe you need to do a lot more exercise.

If you exercise just to stay in shape, great!

If you exercise to lose weight, then maybe you should know this tip: exercise before breakfast. The energy you burn before breakfast come directly from stored fat, because you have not eaten for hours.

What kind of exercise is right for you?

First, you should include exercise to keep you flexible as well as exercise to keep your heart healthy. These are the most important exercises you can do. One of the problems of aging is losing flexibility. Loss of flexibility can cause a lot of muscle and skeletal problems as you age.

Walking is one of the best exercises, but walking means really walking, not just strolling. Walk with determination, as if you have somewhere important you must go. A leisurely stroll is not going to do all that much for you.

If you do not exercise, and hate things like treadmills and gym workouts, find something physical you can enjoy. For some people, it is swimming. For others, it may be dancing. Regardless of what kind of physical activity you do, make time for doing it regularly. There are not many benefits from doing it once a month.

As for you weekend warriors, cool it! More men die from heart attacks on weekends due to over-exertion. You are better off with a small amount of exercise daily than a whole lot once a week.

The artists welcomed the opportunity to paint outdoors and review the techniques that had been learned in the classroom.

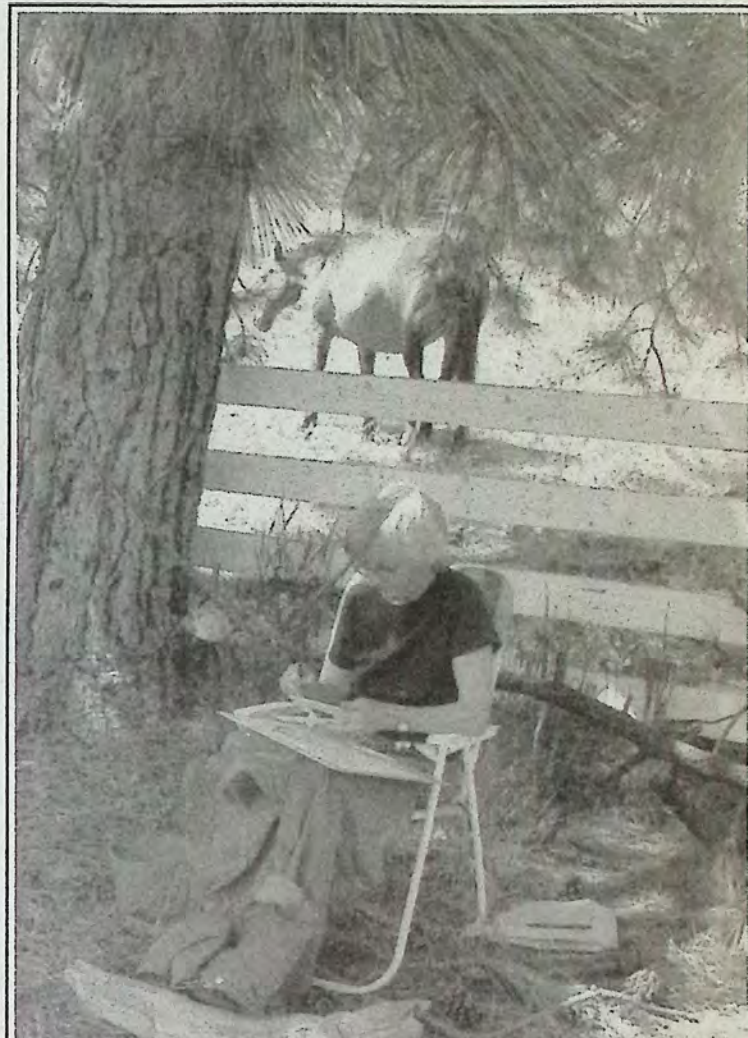

It was a sunny day which enhanced the colours and emphasized the contrasts.

Everyone brought a light lunch to share with others and Bob contributed his special buns.

It will be held from 10:00 AM to 4:00 PM on July 1, 2 and 3 in the Cultural Centre.

A brilliant end of the school year classroom activity is to have each student write something nice about every other student in the class and to hand it in. The comments can then be compiled for each student to take home. Imagine what a huge esteem builder this would be. Arts Council will wrap up year

Princeton Community Arts Council will mark the end of another year on July 6 at the Cultural Centre. This annual general meeting will include reports from member groups, the treasurer and the president.

There have been some changes during the past year, and this will be the last time the group meets in the Cultural Centre.

Anyone interested in art, music, crafts, dance, authorship or any other form of the arts is welcome to attend and become involved. The Arts Council serves as an umbrella organization with a mandate to promote the arts in the community. The Arts Council assists with funding of member groups such as the community band, Princeton Concert Society and Vermilion Artists.

Church says goodbye, Chris

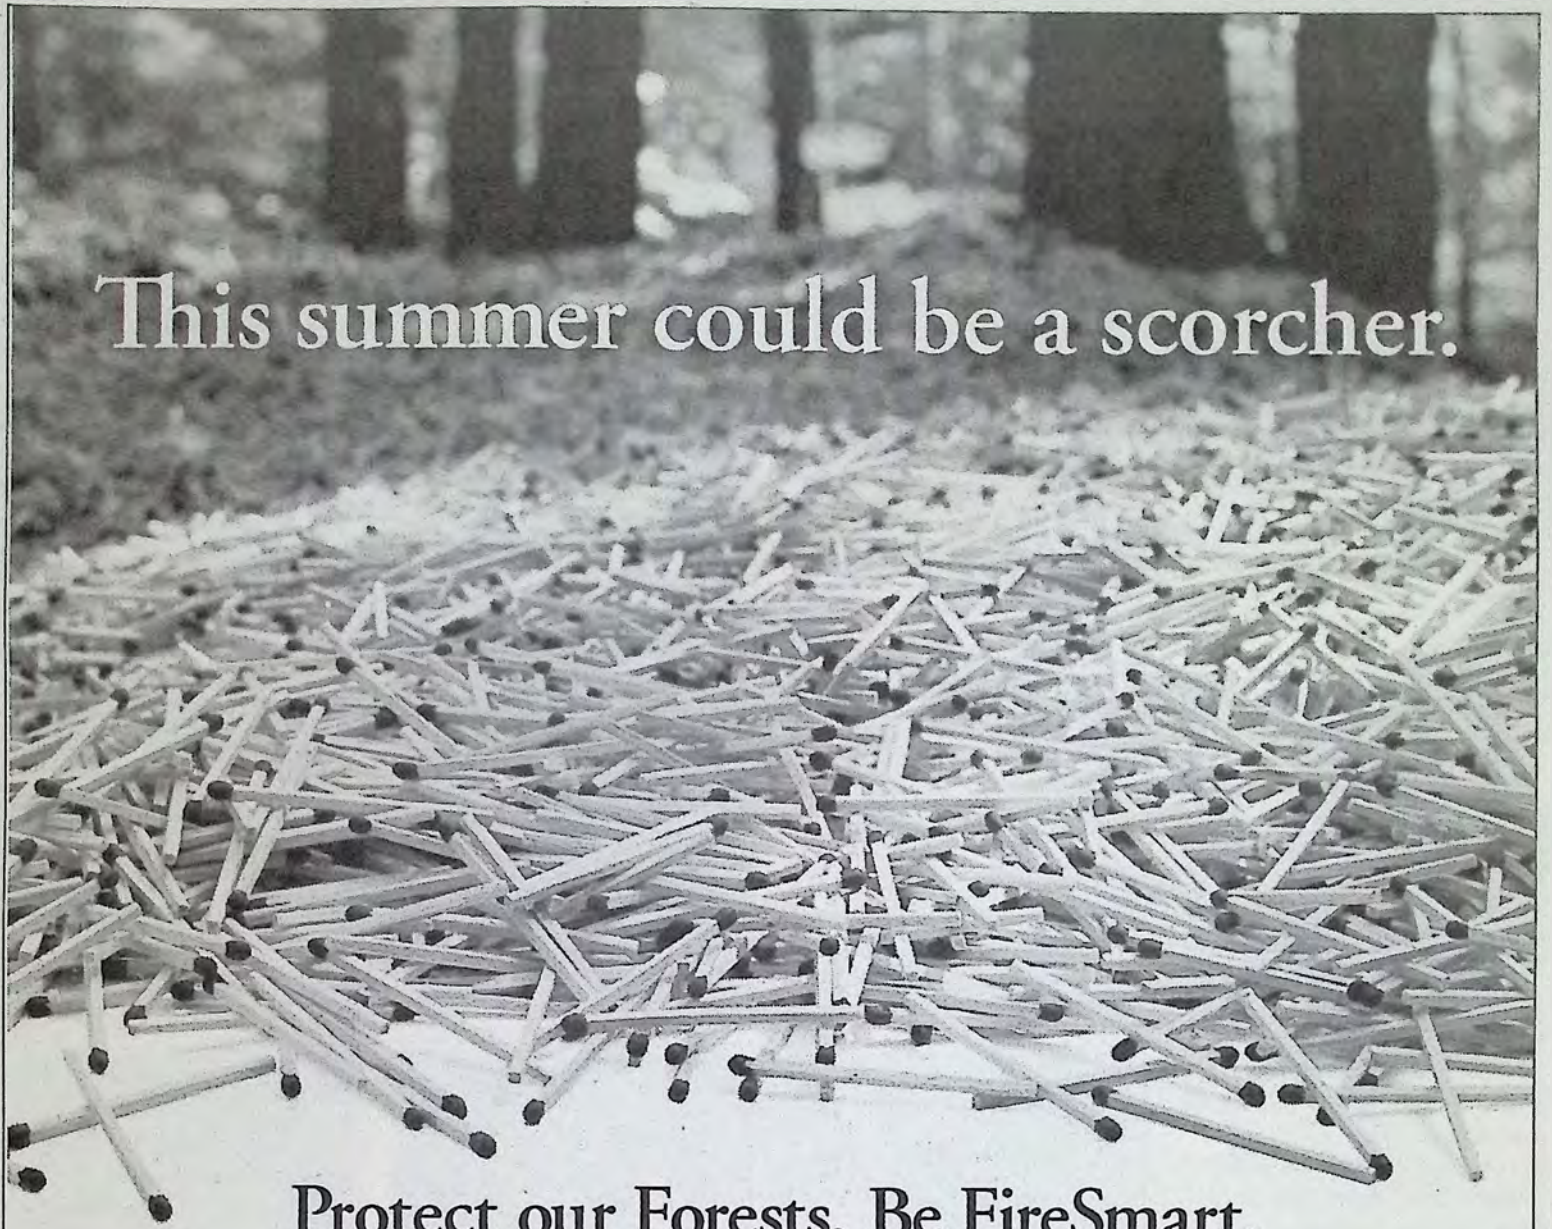

Members of the community are invited to a Goodbye Dessert and Coffee for Chris Haugland at St. Paul's United Church Hall on June 19th at 1:00 PM.

Chris will be starting his new ministerial position at Peachland United Church on July 1st. Chris has been an active member and has ministered to our congregations for the last 14 years.

Unfortunately, financial constraints have not allowed us to continue with maintaining our Minister. The congregation has appreciated his and Jean's ministry to us and to the community of Princeton.

Chris has taken an active part in many organizations in Princeton and his skills of counseling will be missed. We welcome members of the community who would like to take this opportunity to thank them for their contribution to their life and work of Princeton.

Sunday service will continue at 10:30 AM each Sunday.

This summer could be a scorcher.

Protect our Forests. Be FireSmart.

Our forests are a source of pride for British Columbians. Tourists and residents alike marvel at their grandeur. Working families, forest communities and our parklands rely on our forests. Yet every year, an average of 2,000 forest fires put it all at risk.

People cause about half of all forest fires, endangering lives, damaging real estate, and having a negative impact on tourism. Last year there were fewer fires caused by people. Do your part.

Protect yourselves and our forests. Be FireSmart.

Campfire Safety

- Encircle campfires with rocks to stop fire spreading.
- Don't build campfires less than 3 metres from trees, brush or wood structures.
- Keep a shovel and pail of water near your campfire.

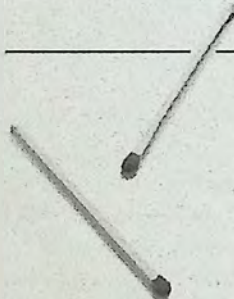

Homeowner Safety

- Keep trees, shrubs, branches and other flammable material at least 10 metres from your home.
- Trees near your home should be no more than 2 metres in height and at least 3 metres apart.
- Remember to clean your gutters and chimney.

General Fire Safety

- When smoking outside, dispose of cigarettes and matches safely.
- Never toss a lit match or a cigarette out of your car.
- Don't burn grass or yard waste on windy days.
- To report a wildfire call 1-800-663-5555 or *5555 from a cellphone.

Youth Ambassador Talent Night & Apron Auction

Last Thursday night was the Youth Ambassador Talent Night and Apron Auction.

The evening, MC'd by Diane Wentland and Ashley Dore, was filled with humour and good, clean fun.

Each candidate gave a short sponsor speech and displayed their aprons, each highlighting the artistic skills of the candidates.

The talent portion of the program was impressive. Miss Valley First Financial Group, Colby Whelpton, performed a hilarious stand up comedy routine.

J-lee White, Miss Similkameen Spotlight, displayed her flare for acting with a monologue titled, "The Stepsister Speaks Out."

Miss Princeton Lions Club, Kassi Crimmon, performed an energetic hip hop dance.

Ashley Goreas, sponsored by Princeton Rotary Club, dressed volunteer Samantha Bertucci in firefighting gear and explained what each piece of apparatus was used for.

Miss Royal Canadian Legion, Rebecca Donahoe, explained her interest in welding - her chosen career plan.

It was obvious the panel of judges, Marg Eyre (Head Judge), Judy Short, Gillian Hodgson, Kelsey Kelovic, Ruth McLeod and Sandra Webster, did not have an easy task in scoring the candidates on their talents.

While they tallied up scores, Friendship Ambassador Natalie Ihlen recited some of her own poetry, Vice Ambassador Amy Liberatore performed a highland dance and Ambassador Renee Cleven told a rather interesting chicken joke.

Dean Stinson auctioned off aprons designed by candidates and reigning royalty.

Friendship Ambassador Natalie Ihlen's apron was titled "100% pure Canadian Beef" and earned $25 in the auction.

Vice Ambassador Amy Liberatore's apron celebrated the fact that it's "Cool To Be Canadian" and raised $26.

Ambassador Renee Cleven's apron, titled "Garden Party" raised $74 for the Ambassador program.

Colby Whelpton, Miss Valley

First Financial Group, created a western-themed apron titled "Cowboy Up" and it was auctioned off for $96.

J-lee White, sponsored by Similkameen Spotlight, had an apron named "Shakespeare Speaks" which was auctioned off for $96.

Princeton Lions Club candidate Kassi Crimmon honoured her fellow candidates with an apron titled "Proud To Be An Ambassador." It was sold for $140.

Ashley Goreas, Miss Princeton Rotary Club, created a holiday-themed apron titled "Fun In The Sun" which earned $180.

The Final Apron was Rebecca Donahoe's (Miss Royal Canadian Legion). It was titled "Family Ties" and was designed with help from a younger sibling. The apron sold for $120.

All proceeds collected from the apron auction go towards costs associated with out of town travelling for the Ambassadors.

Miss Princeton Rotary Club, Ashley Goreas, left, demonstrates what firefighting equipment is for with the help of her assistant, Samantha Bertucci.

Princeton Rotary Club's candidate, Ashley Goreas, displays her apron titled "Fun In The Sun."

Miss Valley First Financial Group, Colby Whelpton, entertained with a stand up comedy routine.

Rebecca Donahoe, sponsored by Royal Canadian Legion, discusses her interest in welding as a career choice.

Posse hosts top prospects game

The KUHL held its Annual General Meeting in Radium on June 4th and 5th.

The agenda included which team would be selected to host the Prospects and All-Star Game in January.

Each Division has a turn at hosting the event and this year it was the Okanagan-Shuswap Division's turn.

Interested teams were asked to give a presentation on how they would host the event.

After the presentations a secret ballot was taken with each team able to cast one vote. Once the votes were tallied it was confirmed that Princeton would be the host community for the 2005-2006 All-Star Game.

This is a great opportunity for the team and the community.

There will be two games held on January 21st with the Top Prospects game featuring the best 16 and 17 year olds in the league followed by the All-Star Game that evening featuring the best 18-20 year olds from the league.

This event will bring hundreds of people into the community for the games. Scouts from all over BC will be in attendance to view rising stars and future prospects for their own teams.

The Posse organization will be looking for additional volunteers and sponsors to help make this a memorable event.

If you would like to help out, please contact the Posse Office at (250) 295-6544 and leave a mes-

Horoscopes

June 15-22, 2005

Aries - You're full of energy now, and you feel like doing home decoration to the nth degree. You're talking about it a lot, and your partner may or may not be on side. Curb your ego and listen.

Taurus - You really want to go places and do things now, and you may feel frustrated if this is not possible. Don't build up a head of steam over the situation. Use your energy so something good happens.

Gemini - Money and plans need discussing this week. A big change is happening and you need to make some big plans. Put your energy to work on planning for future spending. Don't spend now.

Cancer - Your career and your home and family, especially parents, need some focus this week. Be very careful what you say and how you say it, because you feel you're being challenged. Sit back and think.

Leo - You're in the mood to daydream a lot and this may be questioned by others. Get off the dreams and onto reality. If you're dreaming, put those dreams into a real plan and make magic.

Virgo - You experience some conflict over shared resources. How much should be yours, and how much should be the other's. Speak your mind this week about how you feel. You cannot afford to live high.

Libra - Your partner is aggressive this week, and will be that way for a month. There is a lot of ego involved. Find ways to turn the energy into productive channels rather than turing it into a fight.

Scorpio - On the job training will yield big benefits this week. Your job will be strenuous, and you may have some health problems as well. Guard against cuts, burns, infections. Play the safety game seriously.

Sagittarius - You would really like to play now, but this is not the right time. Use that playful energy to be creative, or to turn work into play. Investments could give you a boost now, use caution.

Capricorn - Your partner has a lot to say about things around home or property. Listen but also discuss. His money situation is still on hold, but there is no harm in planning. Check home safety, beware accidents.

Aquarius - Health and employment seem so much better that you will be shocked to find there is another problem. You may say too many angry words, or drive recklessly. Settle down, play it safe.

Pisces - You attack your money situation with a lot of energy this week. You do not feel like playing. Lighten up! Problems will be solved next weekend. Take some time to do a personal makeover and look good!

Similkameen News Leader Recipe Corner (Recipe #68)

Pickled Yellow Beans

(STOLEN FROM MOM'S COLLECTION)

1 peck of beans, washed and cut. Boil in salt water for 30 minutes, drain.

Have ready:

- 2 quarts vinegar
- 2 tbsp celery seed
- 4 1/2 cups brown sugar
- 1 tbsp turmeric

Bring all these ingredients to a boil, make a paste of 1 cup of mustard and 1 cup of flour, mixed with vinegar enough to make thin paste.

Blend into hot vinegar very carefully - so it does not lump and pop in beans, boil only a few minutes and seal in sterilized bottles.

LAWRENCE J. BROWN

1946 - 2005

BROWN, LAWRENCE JAMES. It is with deep regret that we announce the sudden passing of Larry on June 8, 2005, in the Penticton Regional Hospital, at the age of 59 years. Larry was born on March 20, 1946 in Oliver, BC, son of the late George and Dorothy Brown. He married Carolyn Gibson on April 11, 1973. Larry will be lovingly missed by his wife Carolyn of Princeton, 2 sons; Robert and Devin, also of Princeton, 1 granddaughter, Shataia of Langley, 1 sister, Dorothy-Anne Byard and her husband Colin Shaw of Burnaby and 1 brother, Ken Brown and his wife Dayna of Princeton, 2 nephews; Zachary and Keaton and many other family members and friends. He was predeceased by his parents, mother Dorothy and stepfather Howard Byard and his father George Lawrence Brown. Larry lived each day for itself, never looking back, always forward. He will be remembered by all who knew him as always being there with a helping hand. He was happiest when everybody around him was happy and well taken care of. He volunteered extensively in the Princeton community, donating his time with projects at the hospital and public swimming pool, just to name a few. Larry loved vintage cars, Great Dane dogs, especially his own, named Bandit, and flying with his good friend David. He spent 35 years working as a carpenter and was a master of his trade. A Service to celebrate his life will be held on Friday, June 17, 2005, at 2:00 PM at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall in Princeton, officiated by Eric Goodfellow. A Reception at the Legion will follow. Memorial donations in Larry's memory may be made to the Heart and Stroke Foundation or Princeton General Hospital and Ridgewood Lodge Foundation. my turn

Let's claim it back!

A quick history lesson on Princeton.

The first white settler to the area was John Fall Allison. He came to a place called Vermilion Forks in 1858 seeking information for Governor James Douglas.

Allison liked the area so much he built the first cattle ranch near here.

Two years later, the Prince of Wales made a visit to Eastern Canada. The residents of Vermilion Forks decided at that time to re-name their community in honour of the Prince of Wales.

What was Prince Town eventually became Princeton. The Prince of Wales never saw Western Canada, British Columbia or the community that was now named after him.

In 2010, the year of the Games in Vancouver, Princeton will celebrate 150 years since it's re-naming.

We think it would be the perfect time to go back in time and re-name the community Vermilion Forks.

Think about the endless marketing and promotional possibilities with the name change.

National and International media will want to know why the sudden desire to change a 150-year old name - one, by the way, that signified a visit by royalty to an area other than our community - and then the story of Princeton would have to be told.

Talk about a lot of FREE advertising for our community. People would flock from all over the world to see the 2010 Games in Vancouver and since they would be close enough, take a side trip to the small community of Vermilion Forks, formerly Princeton, originally Vermilion Forks.

Let's face it, we've been waiting 150 years for the Prince of Wales to visit, and since he hasn't it's obviously time to go back to our historic name.

We want to know what you think about the idea. Look for entry ballots in this issue of the News Leader for you to fill out and cast your vote on whether or not the Town of Princeton should become Town of Vermilion Forks.

There's also a website for you to visit and also cast your vote: www.vermilionforks.ca.

If we really want to embrace our local history, what better way than to make some history of our own?

VTS President clears the air

To The Editor;

Last year the joint entities of the BC Government joined forces and created a pool of money with which to upgrade and develop the recreational trail system in the Province of British Columbia.

Premier Campbell held a photo op in Penticton to formally announce the placement of the funding to the various sections of the KVR right-of-way and other sections of abandoned railway.

To this end it was announced that the Penticton area would receive 1.4-million dollars to proceed with our portion of this project. While it makes very good copy and is soothing to the locals to think that we might finally enjoy the fruits of some of our tax monies, it isn't necessarily so.

Firstly, we shared the announced amount with the Summerland section of the trail. This area ultimately received the lion's share of this fund as they had several bridges to reinstall to make their portion a continuous trail.

This left a smaller portion for the Princeton area to utilize. To proceed with this portion of the contract, tenders were called and a local contractor was the successful bidder. This contract covers approximately 113 kilometres of the trail on which there were two major problems to address.

On one, a major wash out approximately 10-kilometres West of Princeton and the other being an upgrade of the surface of the trail in areas which suffered the ravages of Mother Nature.

Another major absorption of the funding came with the necessary costs of the project coordinators, the project manager to oversee the progress of the work and the necessary engineers to address and approve the environmental concerns involved.

The tendered contract was handled through the project coordination office and the Vermilion Trails Society was not given control of any of those expenditures. To put some numbers on this, it is estimated that the Princeton area received approximately $500,000 for the overall effort and the contractor received approximately $350,000 for his efforts and the Vermilion Trails Society received $10,000 of which we received $8,060 after our administration fees were deducted.

With this $8,000 we had the kiosk at the trailhead at Irly Bird built. We had the surrounding area seeded and landscaped to improve the site and scenery as visitors pass through Princeton.

There will be a mural to attract the visitor's eye here, also paid for by part of our share of this money.

Many, many volunteer hours and generous donations by merchants have helped as well. That will be another information letter at another time!

So all in all, the hoopla and hype about receiving 1.4-million dollars is just that, hoopla and hype. In reality we are able to enjoy approximately $350,000 to the enhancement of the trail.

There are two positive outcomes from all this. First, the contractor was a local using local labour and spending his money in local settings and we at the Vermilion Trails Society take the attitude that any amount of money spent in our area is money we did not have to approach anyone for and it did and will improve what we hope to see as a World Class recreational facility.

In closing, we wish to thank any and all those who had a part in seeing this project to fruition. To those folks who endured any upset during this time, and to those who enjoy and will continue to increase the usage of a facility which will help to make Princeton a destination of choice.

- Yours truly,
Judy Short, President
Vermilion Trails Society

Current Comment:

What do those wedding vows mean?

Dawn Johnson
editor@thenewsleader.ca

June is the traditional month for weddings, but half of the marriages in North America end in divorce. I often wonder whether people making their vows ever stop to think about what those vows really mean.

Couples promise to "love, honour and cherish" each other 'til death parts them. Few achieve that goal.

What is "love"? Shakespeare wrote a sonnet 400 years ago that still remains true. It begins, "Let me not to the marriage of true minds admit impediment. Love is not love which alters where it alteration finds, nor bends with the remover to remove."

Good description: you don't quit loving because a person changes, and you don't cooperate with anyone attempting to break down the love.

A loving partner can be described as being affectionate, warm, tender, kindly, friendly, devoted, caring, and passionate. The opposite of "loving" is hateful, mean, cold, brutal. Unfortunately, many relationships contain those negative elements, even while pretending to be love.

What does it mean to "honour" one's partner? When a couple vows to honour each other, it means to respect. It means to avoid dishonouring the other through words, behaviour and deeds that bring dishonour. It means to appreciate each other's achievements, to praise accomplishments. I recall seeing a so-called great relationship counselor on a videotape of one of his lectures. I quit believing anything he said when he made his wife the butt of his jokes and caused her humiliation. That is not "honour". We see far too much of one partner running down the other, demeaning the other in some way. The woman who flirts with every man when the couple socializes is not honouring her husband, and the man who makes fun of his wife is not honouring her.

Any partner who decides to have an affair dishonours the other partner. There is an automatic breach of trust in such a situation.

"Cherish" is often the most ignored vow of the wedding ceremony. It means treating the partner as a treasure to hold onto, to protect, care for, promote, encourage and appreciate. How many married people "treasure" their partners? How many promote their partners, protect them, encourage them and appreciate the effort they put into the relationship?

In the old days, a man promised to love, honour and cherish his bride, but a woman promised to love, honour and obey her husband. This difference in vows defined the traditional division of power within the relationship: the man had control over the woman. He held the power, and her role was to submit to his power.

Times have changed, but I believe a lot of people have not changed with the times. I believe the element of who has the power is at the root of many divorces. This does not mean I support the concept of having the wife be obedient. I do not. My mother did not promise to obey my father when they were married, and she instructed her daughters to refuse to marriage vows containing the vow to obey. However, I notice a lot of men who still give orders to their wives, and their wives obey without question. When such men run into women like me, they have a real problem adjusting to the idea that women claim their own power.

The traditional marriage vows include an admonition to the witnesses to support the marriage. This is a "no interference" clause. I firmly believe a lot of divorces are the result of non-acceptance by one side of the family or another. Too often, there are problems arising from in-laws whose expectations are not met. I recall a couple having difficulty in their marriage and had separated. His family refused to speak to her, or to anyone in her family. Too often, families take sides, finding fault in the marriage partner rather than finding solutions to support the marriage.

There are all kinds of people who marry for the wrong reasons, who say their vows without thinking about what they are promising to do for a lifetime. A vow is a promise, a commitment to carry out the meaning of what they have said. Many people make the promise without considering what the promise really means. A certificate of marriage is a binding legal document holding the couple to their promises. I know people who spend more time reading a bill of sale for a new car than they do their marriage vows, and it is small wonder that the new car often receives more love, honouring and cherishing than the marriage partner.

Perhaps we need to teach our young people a little more about wedding vows before we turn them loose in the world. Family stability is going down the tubes in our nation due to divorce. I believe that if couples truly understood the vows they were making, and made a real commitment to those vows, we would see a lot less of families being torn apart and children being left in poverty.

Heart Food

by Dave Machin

"For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive". There is a different kind of population on the earth. Originally, God planned for Adam and his wife Eve to procreate. The earth would be populated with successful, prosperous, favor-filled, whole people that loved and fellowshiped with God every day. Then a population of people emerged who did not obey God. Murder took place. The first son killed the second son. Man sinned and did everything that is right in his own eyes. Eventually, there is a whole planet where the people don't serve God. There are nations of darkness. They are not nations under God; they are nations under satan. God gave Adam a charge. Because Adam did not carry it out, he paid the death penalty. And so, because of Adam's death, another Adam had to come and walk on this earth, and His name is Jesus. Jesus had a mission to pay the price for Adam's death penalty. Jesus had a mission to create a new race to repopulate the earth. Jesus' mission was to restore the rightful place of man back to where he was in the very beginning. Then Jesus' mission was to grant eternal life to all who would follow Him. Now that which the first Adam lost must be restored, because God is not going to have it any other way. God's intention was to have on this earth a race of people who would be blessed; who would multiply; who would dominate; who would be like Him. And He will have it before the return of Jesus. And it's not going to be just a little dab here and a little drip there. God's going to have a planet full of people everywhere who fit the description of what His original will was. What then is the job of the second Adam? It is to have a people who would be God-like in character and action; people who would be able to walk in God's blessings of divine favor, well-being, and prosperity; people who would be fruitful. In otherwords, they would be productive in whatever work they would do. They would produce abundance. They would be prolific. They would produce results and it would be profitable. There would be a race of people that multiplies and repopulates the earth, who would serve God and live for him. Jesus would restore all that Adam lost! This is your year of restoration because God is good, His word is good and good all the time.

Currency Matters - Part 1

The benefits of international investing have become accepted as gospel for most investors, promising diversification and a broader set of investment opportunities. But, it was really the high-octane performance found in US equity markets during the 1980s and 1990s that lured so many into selling their Canadian investments in lieu of foreign assets.

This is largely evident in the proliferation of cloned mutual funds that sidestep foreign content limits for registered accounts. Unfortunately, the performance trends seem to have reversed of late. While the indices in Canada and the US have both appreciated nicely during the past year, a falling US dollar has robbed most of the upside for Canadians investing south of the border.

On a normal basis, the S&P 500 rose 18.6% during the past year. All but 0.5% of this performance was lost to currency. Has the phenomenon of international investing come to a close? We don't think so. The benefits of international investing remain intact.

In the next 'Investment Insights' article these benefits are discussed.

Toews issues short history lesson

To The Editor:

Once again today, on TV, I was told that June 3, 1989 was the anniversary of the massacre at Tiananmen Square. Every reader knows exactly what I'm writing about because the media won't let us forget. According to information I've gathered on the internet, Chinese student protesters were shot as they were on their way to a demonstration (no one knows how many, some say thirty, others say hundreds).

It was a black day for China to be sure, but it's also a convenient diversion---by never reminding us of America's suppression of free speech, freedom of assembly and student massacres. Why is it that our media never reminds us of human rights violations closer to home? And why is it that American and Canadian diplomats constantly tell other countries to clean up their act?

For those of us who were horrified by China's actions of sixteen years ago (as was I) and would like to believe (as would I) that similar events could never take place in a democratic country such as ours, here is a timely reminder.

After a speech by President Nixon calling American students "bums" for protesting US involvement in an unjust war in Vietnam, on May 4/70 the National Guard opened fire on students at Kent State University, leaving 4 dead. Just ten days later, hundreds of rounds were fired at Jackson State University leaving 2 more student protesters dead. Kinda makes me wonder why we don't see student protests against the illegal takeover of Iraq.

On sober reflection, this is just a reminder that regardless of the number killed, our country, as well as other countries that profess to be democratic, also place limits on freedom of speech.

- Sincerely,
HP Toews, Princeton

Letter To The Editor

Reader fires one at Gouk

Dear Editor:

By now all your readers would have received a report from our MP Jim Gouk, member for Southern Interior.

This report is a pre-election campaign leaflet paid for by the taxpayers of the southern interior.

Instead of bashing the government Gouk goes after the NDP. I wonder why?

The answer is simple, Editor.

Mr. Gouk now has the pleasure of representing a riding that he won by less than 300 votes a year ago.

This riding now consists of 3 New Democratic Party members in the Provincial Legislature.

Corky Evans in Nelson Creston (which includes the Crescent Valley and Nelson). Katrina Conroy who led all elected MLAs with over 60% of the popular vote in Kootenay Boundary consisting of Castlegar, Gouk's home town, Trail, Rossland, Grand Forks, Greenwood, Midway, and Rock Creek.

Harry Lali, in Cawston, Ollala, Keremeos, Princeton, Coalmont, and Tulameen.

The only Areas in Gouk's riding that did not support the NDP are Oliver and Osoyoos. No wonder he is asking his constituents who they voted for. I wonder if everyone who returns his questionnaire said NDP will he do the "Laundry" and resign?

Why didn't he mention Malinda Straunik's departure to the Liberals, or Grumal's and Dosanjh's little Ottawa-gate scandal?

As far as the NDP supporting the budget, Layton got 4-billion in social programs that a Conservative Government would never have supported. In this budget BC gets back Federal gas tax money that would not have come under a Conservative government.

As far as guns go Gouk what responsible person needs a gun for their Business? I don't!

Reader impressed with EDO's words

Dear Editor;

I have been impressed with the comments of the EDO regarding items related to the economy of the Similkameen Valley and the challenge it faces in the coming years.

Prior to moving to the area a few years ago, our family always enjoyed it's natural and pristine beauty while driving through it. It was a main reason for relocating here from an urban setting.

Unfortunately, the past economy of the Valley and it's sister valley, the Tulameen, has been for the most part centered on non renewable resources like coal, copper or gold mining and all have a finite life.

The lumber industry has undergone many changes and is subject to decisions made far away from here. Farming as we have seen can be severely affected by international pressures and the whims of foreign governments.

It is therefore the job of the EDO and specific organizations like the Chamber of Commerce to help us

Ambassadors praised

Dear Editor:

To The Ambassador Candidates

I would like the girls to know I am a mother, grandmother and a great-grandmother.

I have watched my kids grow, my grand kids grow and I am watching my great-grand kids grow.

I saw my grand-daughters become Ambassadors. They struggled to have the right speech, have the right dress, not to make a mistake.

develop a renewable economic base without sacrificing the natural beauty of the area.

This will require a plan of action and a coordinated effort from all the localities within the Valley. The appointment of an EDO and the creation of the SVPS is an excellent point of departure.

traffic should travel, so we could enjoy our yard.

To date that has not happened. One more promise not kept.

We put up with dust, dirt and noise starting early in the morning until late at night. One more promise not kept.

Thank You Mr. Mayor.

- Yours truly, Don & Julie Fleming

But you will not know how perfect just being an Ambassador is until you leave school and go out into the world. Then have to make a perfect speech for a job, have the perfect dress for that job.

Only then will you know how much the training to become an Ambassador has helped.

You may not be the chosen winner of this group, but out in the real world you will have the confidence to all be winners.

We had an excellent, well-attended 114 CHA Conference and AGM. One third of the 175 delegates came from every province in Canada except Newfoundland and from the United States.

Our delegates and guests had very busy days. On Wednesday, June 1st the bus group from Calgary (20) and those who arrived in Kelowna by plane (15) were taken on a tour of Blue Mountain Plant near Salmon Arm. They then proceeded to Westwood and through the back way to Douglas Lake, where they stopped at the main ranch for a tour. Back onto the bus and vans they proceeded to Quilchena where they had a lovely bar-b-que steak dinner (44) served in the dining room of the historic old hotel.

On Thursday the CHA Directors and staff met during the day and were later joined by the Provincial Presidents and Secretary Managers. That evening we had a social and bar-b-que for 135 at the gazebo of Castle Park Resort. It is a lovely setting amongst the old ruins surrounded by green hills, a flowing creek and hand hewn log chalets.

On Friday the wine tour group (37) left early in the morning for a tour of Hawthorn Mountain winery near Okanagan Falls. They stopped on the way to view and hear a talk by Wilson Clifton on a biodiversity project sponsored by the BC Cattlemen.

They then continued on to Hester Creek Winery and The Golden Mile winery in Oliver for a tour and tasting. Lunch was had on the bus as the group moved on to Cawston for a tour and tasting at the Crowsnest winery there. Meanwhile the Directors, Presidents, Secretary Managers and CHA staff continued with their meetings at the Princeton and District Skills Centre.

That evening 43 golfers (36 out of town and 7 local) had a great golf tournament at the Princeton Golf Club. This was followed by a social with hors d'oeuvres, silent auction and a prize distribution. There were over 125 people in attendance at this event.

Saturday morning saw everyone arriving bright and early at Circle

Seven Hereford Ranch (the Atkinson's) for breakfast. Over 480 eggs were served along with over 400 sausages, 600 plus slices of bacon and over 600 cups of coffee and orange juice. Paul Mastine, the CHA director from Quebec gave a clipping and fitting demonstration on a heifer, Craig Flewelling from Alberta gave a showing demonstration, emphasizing to the Juniors the importance of the presentation of both themselves and their animal, and finally Guy Smith and Al Fenton of Alberta as well as Wilson Clifton discussed the points they would be looking for when purchasing a set of steers for market. This was followed by a judging competition by both senior and juniors on another pen of steers.

The group of 150 then moved on to RockRidge Canyon (Young Life Camp) for lunch. This was followed by the Canadian Hereford Association Annual General Meeting. The usual business was attended to and the electing of the new CHA President Duncan Lees of Saskatchewan. Guy Smith gave a presentation on "Selling on the Grid" an interest to both commercial and purebred breeders. Dr. Kee Jim spoke on the "Future of the Canadian Cattle Industry" a timely and thought provoking presentation.

Saturday evening started with a social hour at RockRidge Canyon. The Director of Young Life of Canada gave a brief history of the RockRidge facility and Young

ArtsNow faces delay

The committee working on the ArtsNow Legacy 2010 application for funding has delayed the application to January.

The reason for the delay is the short time frame to complete the steps required by the provincial government.

The committee has looked at several options for cultural projects, but must do a survey of the community to discover what the community sees as lacking in the local arts scene.

Sandra Kochon, a paid consultant, reviewed the ideas presented to date, and offered another perspec-

Life's role in Canada. BC Agriculture Minister, Mr. John van Dongen welcomed all on behalf of British Columbia. He then spoke on the BSE crisis, historically, where we are presently and where he sees the industry moving in the future. He specifically gave dates and agendas to look forward to in the progress of this issue. Mr. Ian Tait, a member of the LegacyNow committee of the 2010 Olympics then spoke about the opportunities for the beef industry in the lead up to the Olympics, training facilities and in the actual Olympics themselves. He talked about the high protein needs of athletes and the need to provide meat and meat products that meet the stringent needs of those athletes. He challenged the Hereford breeders and processors to look for opportunities that the Olympics can add to their business plans to enhance their future successes. The speakers were followed by an excellent buffet for 193 presented by the chef, staff and volunteers from the RockRidge facility. The band Appaloosa rounded out the evening with lively western music. A line dance instructor helped many learn the intricate steps to several dances. A good time was had by all!

The conference costs were in excess of $30,000 spent in Princeton plus the four days stay of the delegates and guests.

Estimates put a figure of over $100,000 left in Princeton as a result of this National Conference. - submitted tive to examine.

Lyle Thomas, Recreation Director, attended to give a short presentation on a possible future use of Riverside School as a community wellness centre, which would expand to include a performance and conference area in the existing gym.

He received full support for his concept.

At the next meeting of the committee, on June 15 at 7:00 p.m. at the Skills Centre, the committee will do some more focus work to try to narrow down a way to survey the community.
