WorkZone celebrates Small Business Week

Discover the energy of starting successful small businesses by participating in Canada's Small Business week at WorkZone Employment Services and Resource Centres.

WorkZone encourages unemployed residents in the region to explore how self-employment can be a viable option.

During the week of October 16th to 22nd, all six WorkZone centres will focus on information about owning and operating a small business in the South Okanagan and Similkameen Valleys.

Each centre will feature events that will highlight small businesses, their stories, struggles and successes.

Hear first hand experience from local entrepreneurs. Speakers from agencies such as Community Futures Development Corporation will outline how their successful and supportive programs can help individuals get started building their own business.

WorkZone offices are located in Penticton, Summerland, Oliver, Osoyoos, Keremeos and Princeton. They provide free services ranging from computers, Internet access, and job boards to employment counseling and work search related assistance including training options, wages subsidies and self-employment information. WorkZone is funded by the Government of Canada.

For more information about WorkZone or this special event, contact Gerri Logan or Roni Norman at (250) 295-6201.

Trail receives $39,200

Three huge cheques presented

Soon to be former Weyerhaeuser Princeton Sawmill Manager Fred Kuhn, left, presents Judy Short, Vermilion Trails Society President, with a cheque in the amount of $28,000 to go towards improvements to Princeton's portion of the Trans Canada Trail. The presentation was made Saturday morning.

At a time when many community projects don't seem to receive the financial support they deserve, Vermilion Trails Society transformed a former railway bed into a tourist attraction.

They did it with little manpower, mostly volunteer labour and minimal cash.

Last Saturday morning a celebration was held at the Princeton Gateway on Burton Avenue which attracted a handful of residents.

Weyerhaeuser Manager Fred Kuhn presented a $28,000 cheque to the Society. The money will go towards the construction of an information 'round house' kiosk and park development where the Tulameen River joins the Similkameen.

Kuhn, who leaves Princeton mid-month to manager facilities in Washington State, told the News Leader what the trail means to him.

"This trail is a major asset and I don't think we're doing enough to promote it."

In making his cheque presentation, Kuhn stated, "This is a world class asset you can market worldwide."

Princeton's Rotary Club contributed $5,200. Club President Rob Marshall said, "This is a project Rotary is proud to be part of. We certainly share the vision of what the trail can be."

Area H Director Gerri Logan presented a cheque in the amount of $6,000.

Certificates of Appreciation were presented to Pim Meer - Okanagan Director of Trails BC, Lyle Thomas, Fred Kuhn, Weyerhaeuser, Rotary, Marilyn Hansen of Summerland Trails Society, Town of Princeton, Princeton Chamber of Commerce, RDOS, SVPS and Murphy Shewchuk of Trails BC.

Similkameen Valley Economic Development Officer Michael McLaughlin pointed out, "This is one of the top two or three tourist assets in the Similkameen."

Councillor Spencer Coyne, the only member of Town Council present, gave credit to the volunteers working on the trail.

Fall Fair reviews problems, successes

There is no question the 2005 Fall Fair, marking 40 years of fairs, was a success, despite inclement weather and a number of problems solved on the spot.

The bank balance proves the success, as the fair managed to recoup its expenses. As Treasurer Ruby Bey pointed out, there will be a healthy bank balance after all bills are paid, thanks to grants from the Town, Regional District and Weyerhaeuser, as well as from sponsors.

Volunteers and sponsors are the backbone of the Fall Fair's success. Fair members plan an appreciation dinner for all of the volunteers and sponsors. Look for an invitation in local newspapers when date, time and place are confirmed.

Many local entertainers have contributed to the success of all past fairs, and next year, the Fall Fair will pay local entertainers and donate to local entertainment groups.

The payment will not be high, but will offer some rewards for their ongoing support.

The People's Choice Art Show received the approval of the artists, and will likely be the format for future years.

The auction went well, and volunteer auctioneer Dean Stinson said he would do it again as it was fun.

Similkameen Garden Club did a good job of convening the vegetable area, and their help, as well as contributing a prize for the longest zucchini, was appreciated.

Kevin Acres and Parsons Fruit Stand contributed to the fairgrounds decor, although the nice potted plants set out by Kevin Acres suffered when deer moved in at night and found the plants quite tasty. Parsons donated squash and gourds to the auction, and auctioneer Stinson said he learned more about squash than he had ever known.

There were a number of problems concerning the prize list booklet. These will have to be dealt with in the future.

Melanie Belisle-Leclerc, local Katimavik leader, attended the fair. Members of Katimavik have helped at the fairgrounds for the past four years.

Members approved a new project, an operations manual.

This manual will give members a guide to what needs to be done to run a fair and when things have to be done. This will assist future members.

President Jody Woodford repeated the statement she gave to Princeton Exhibition Association (PXA) that she will not serve on the executive of either the PXA or the Fall Fair during the coming year.

Club hosts Fish Biologist

Region 8 Fish Biologist Brian Janz of Penticton will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Otter Valley Fish & Game Club.

He will make a presentation on stocking the local lakes and streams.

The meeting is set for 12 Noon, Saturday, October 15th at the Clubhouse. Lunch will be served.

ArtsNow survey is done

The survey contracted by the Arts/Now 2010 Legacy committee was completed last month. The committee is reviewing the data from the survey in order to come up with a legacy project in the community arts for the Princeton area.

The information from the survey will be reviewed at the October 6 meeting at Town Hall at 7:00 p.m.

Zeisman wins nomination

Trail's Derek Zeisman has won the right to represent the Conservative Party in the next federal election. Zeisman, 33, defeated his two opponents, Robert Zandee of Oliver and Stephen Hill of Roseland, on the first ballot with 54% of votes cast.

The official results were: Zeisman

230 votes, Zandee 142, and Hill 56.

The ballots were counted Sunday September 25th in Castlegar after nomination meetings in eight communities throughout the BC Southern Interior Electoral District. Retiring MP Jim Gouk has represented the area in Parliament since 1993.

Marcela Toro-Garland in her new studio in downtown Princeton.

Arts and production studio opens

British Columbia-based artist Marcela A. Toro-Garland has taken creative inspiration from traditional North and South American Indigenous designs allowing her to offer an assortment of surface designs that translate well into murals, decorated furniture pieces and hand-painted textiles.

Toro-Garland, owner/operator of Nasukdesigns, brings a sense of adventure to the community with her innovative hand-painted linens and silks, tiles, and a line of original jewelry that completes an exclusive line of hand made fashions.

Toro-Garland studied in Montreal and Madrid, complementing her training with trips to New York and Paris where she studied under various established artists.

She is quite happy living in Princeton, "where the beauty of nature is found all around us, while remaining close to large urban centres."

Besides being engaged in the art production at her studio she teaches drawing and knitting.

The studio is located at 105-117 Vermilion Avenue, the red door in the back alley entrance and is open to the public from 11:00 AM to 6:00 PM Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

To contact Toro-Marcela call (250) 295-6708 or e-mail nasukdesigns@hotmail.com.

Fall Fair hears Halloween plans

Fall Fair members will participate once again in the annual Halloween Spook House and bonfire at the fairgrounds. At the September 27 Fall Fair meeting, Fire Chief Eric Gregson discussed plans for Monday, October 31. The Fall Fair will provide free hamburgers and fries from the concession, and the Lions Club will supply popcorn and cookies. If it is a rainy evening, one of the fairgrounds buildings will be opened as an eating area.

There will be a bonfire and fireworks in addition to the Spook House and eats.

The Fire Chief expressed a need to have another organization take over the Spook House event, although the firemen will continue to participate. BC Ambulance will supervise the "kids' area".

Fire Chief Gregson said the first Spook House took place about 15 years ago, and was a small event in the fire hall. For the past two years, it has taken place at the fairgrounds and has grown tremendously. According to last year's experience, he anticipates 450 children, plus their parents, will attend, for a total near 1,000 people.

He told Fall Fair members the event has grown so large that organizing it takes away practice time the firemen need. Fall Fair did not volunteer to take that role, although they will continue to help at the event.

If anyone wishes to donate candy for the children at this event, the items should be taken to Town Hall.

THE LEADER IN SALES AND LISTINGS YEAR AFTER YEAR*

* MLS statistics 1990-2004

Journey feeds on food

It's been said that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach and for Tom Kevill-Davies of London, England that's what is fueling his bicycle journey.

Kevill-Davies, 27, started his journey on June 5th in New York City and plans to finish in Rio De Janeiro next December.

"I'm trying to write about and find interesting foods," he told the News Leader in a brief stopover in Princeton last week.

The young Londoner said he wanted to travel in an adventure, "and I find food interesting and leads to cultural differences."

Kevill-Davies, who refers to himself as the Hungry Cyclist, has already been contacted by publishers looking to turn his adventure into a book.

There's already a website where he sends regular information gathered from his travels. Check www.thehungrycyclist.com for journal entries, stories, pictures and recipes.

"I'm just following my hunger and everyone loves food."

Kevill-Davies is steering clear of fast food restaurants and says some of his best experiences have come from being invited into homes for family meals.

In British Columbia alone he experienced Doukabour cuisine in Grand Forks, fresh fruit from the Okanagan and fresh salmon in the Shuswap. In Alberta he tasted moose steaks for the first time as well as Rocky Mountain Oysters in Montana.

How does he find out about local dining delights?

"Normally from a local paper, or I ask around. People also provide suggestions on my website. I had suggestions in Nelson, Trail and Kelowna and followed those suggestions. It gives an interactive element."

With about 3,800 miles completed in an approximately 20,000 mile bicycle tour, he has already completed a fascinating journey into the fabric of different lifestyles.

"It's really the people you meet through food that makes it interesting."

He was looking for some BC beef for last Monday night's meal in Princeton and the News Leader made a couple of suggestions where he could find such a meal, and he was off.

The bumper sticker on the back of his bicycle said it all: 'Eating my way from NYC to RIO.'

keremeos and area news

Some of the fruit pickers who have spent the Summer in Cawston were leaving the Similkameen for home last week. From left, Caroline Pineault, 20, Nancy DeChamplain, 31, Mike Campbell, 27 and Emily Girard, 21 are all from Quebec. Girard had worked at Harker's Fruit Ranch once before, but the rest spent their first Summer there this year. Bruce Harker says the hard working young people are valuable to his operation. "How could we get the crops off without these young people from Quebec?" The three newcomers dropped into a WorkZone office in Oliver and were directed to the Similkameen for fruit picking jobs. Two of the girls in the photo also designed and put together the displays located outside Harker's Fruit Ranch on Highway 3, Cawston.

Sizzle discusses changes

At the September 21st meeting of the Similkameen Sizzle Committee a financial report disclosed that the event earned a good sized profit.

The profit is used to fund the upcoming event and with 2006 marking the fifth annual 'Sizzle' the committee is looking to make a few changes to the day long event.

Discussion around the table noted that the event attracted far more out-of-towners than expected with far fewer local residents in attendance.

Other events planned the same weekend may have pulled some locals away from Keremeos, but the committee will look to ways to attract more attendance and participation by locals.

Committee Chair Judy Egli estimated total attendance for the September 17th event to be around 2,000.

"There were a lot of people from Summerland, Kelowna, Penticton, Oliver and Princeton."

The pancake breakfast was a huge success with Keremeos Volunteer Firemen serving an estimated 260 breakfasts.

A total of 277 votes were cast at the Chili Cook-Off with 1,500 samples tasted. The dinner and dance had 200 in attendance.

Egli says the Keremeos Elks Club and Royal Purple had a great day in the concession stand and sold out of pop and water by mid-afternoon.

The Committee discussed the possibility of passing the dinner and dance off to another local community group as a fundraiser.

Reasons for this revolve around the fact that Sizzle Committee volunteers work all day during the event and could use the evening off.

Another change that could take place is the addition of adult games during the day and a rescheduling of the Sear Factor Pepper Eating Contest to a little earlier in the day.

Other cosmetic changes discussed at the meeting involved a change in the location of the stage and different live entertainment at the dinner and dance.

The Sizzle Committee will host another informal meeting next week to finalize all bills and collections before taking a short Winter recess.

Taste celebrates 10th

Taste of our Valley is fast approaching. It will take place on Saturday, October 22nd from 5:00 PM to 9:00 PM in Victory Hall.

This is one of the biggest fundraisers for Similkameen Valley, and organizers are very appreciative of all support received in past years.

This is the 10th Anniversary, and attempts are being made to make this years event a big celebration.

"We will be phoning our members asking if they would like to donate to our silent auction. Anything you wish to donate will be very appreciated," says Similkameen Country's Colleen Christiansen.

"These items can be dropped off every day between 10:00 AM and 4:00 PM at the info centre until October 15th, at our offices at WorkZone Monday to Friday from 9:00 AM to 4:00 PM or we can arrange to have them picked up."

She says a phone committee will be contacting all Similkameen Country members.

"We would like to have all the items collected by October 17th. I will also be asking for some help on the day, so if you wish to help please let me know by phoning 499-5225 or letting my phone committee know."

Table/booth rentals are also available. For cost information contact Christiansen at the number noted above.

"Thank you so much for all your support. This is an awesome valley that we live in so let's showcase our wonderful products to everyone."

Tia Tolmie is the Student of the Month for September at Princeton Secondary School. The Grade 10 student was nominated for being encouraging, helpful and a mentor to a classmate.

WinterFest shapes up

Spencer Coyne is spearheading a committee to plan a week-long pre-Christmas celebration.

This plan includes Christmas light-up, carolling, and a life-sized nativity scene at Cenotaph Park.

Vince Milligan and Keith Olsen intend to bring llamas, sheep and goats to the nativity scene.

There will be a Christmas parade at noon on Saturday, December 17, and a visit with Santa Claus, as the final day of the week's activities.

Coyne says his committee still needs volunteers.

Anyone who may be interested in joining can contact Coyne one of two ways.

The first is by email at councillor-coyne@yahoo.ca, or you can drop your name and contact information off at town hall for Councillor Spencer Coyne.

Why breastfeeding is best

"I feel like a Jersey and that the milk store is always open," says Holly*, a first-time breastfeeding mother, "but I love it."

During her pregnancy, Holly made the decision to breastfeed. "Why wouldn't you?" she asked. "It's the natural thing to do, it's totally convenient, everything is right there, the temperature of the milk is correct, and you don't need special equipment."

And then there are the health benefits for the baby like less ear infections, less illness especially from respiratory infections, helps with the immune system, and less chance of getting asthma. "And for me," Holly goes on to say, "it is really helping me to lose weight, plus it helped my uterus get back to normal size, and it will reduce my risk for breast cancer."

Holly acknowledges that her daughter felt like a stranger at birth.

But breastfeeding has been a definite bonding experience. "We are so connected because of the breastfeeding."

In spite of her strong commitment to breastfeeding, Holly says, "It wasn't as natural as I had thought."

"It hurt so bad. Julie* wasn't latching on correctly, my nipples were stinging and blistering, and I was just plain exhausted. And even though I knew about engorgement, it caught me by surprise. But I had lots of help, and the nurses were particularly helpful."

"If you are having trouble, ask lots of questions and don't be ashamed about it," advises Holly. She couldn't say it enough times, stick with it and remain determined. "We are made to breastfeed and it does get easier over time. And never forget that it is the healthiest thing to do for your baby and yourself."

And what of the father's role in the breastfeeding experience? "I feed Julie and then pass her right to my husband. He does the burping, diaper changing, walks with her, rocks with her, comforts her, and settles her. It is their special time together."

"We are into a rhythm now," says Holly, "and I plan to continue to breastfeed exclusively for the first six months and then I will gradually introduce solids. I would like to breastfeed for a year."

October 1 to 7 is World Breastfeeding Week. This 40th week of the year corresponds with 40 weeks of pregnancy and the start of breastfeeding for the newborn child.

This year's theme emphasizes the value of exclusive breastfeeding for the first six months of life and continued breastfeeding to two years, and if possible, beyond. The introduction of nutritious solid foods, after the first six months of life helps baby make the healthy transition from infant to toddler, while breastfeeding continues to support growth and development. By one year, children are able to eat food served to the rest of the family.

If you are pregnant, find out if there is a prenatal breastfeeding class in your community and then take advantage of it.

Watch for events in your community that celebrate World Breastfeeding week.

Who should get a flu shot? Here's a list from the Canadian National Advisory Committee on Immunization: Healthy children from 6-23 months and household contacts of those under two years of age; pregnant women (the vaccine is safe in all trimesters of pregnancy); health-care workers...to help protect the people they care for. As well, all people over 65 and those of any age who have a chronic disease (cancer, diabetes, heart disease, etc.).

Leakage of urine due to sneezing, laughing or lifting (called stress incontinence) can be a problem as we age. One good suggestion to avoid this during a cough or sneeze is to cross your legs. This helps the pelvic muscles and sphincters to keep the urine in the bladder.

If you have medication in your home that is no longer needed, bring them to your pharmacy for safe disposal. Most pharmacies have access to medical waste services whose personnel will incinerate the medications. Incineration is the best and safest method to dispose of medications and protect our environment.

Depression could be due to thyroid problems. Up to 20% of chronic depression can result from an underactive thyroid. If you experience changes in moods you can't explain, check with your doctor to rule out thyroid causes.

Our pharmacists are a great knowledge source to help you with minor medical problems. We won't sell you something if we don't feel it will help. Use our knowledge to help increase your knowledge.

Enjoy that turkey dinner!

Thanksgiving dinner is usually a feast, and a lot of people may see it as indulgence. They would be wrong. Thanksgiving dinner is good for you. The traditional dinner, from turkey to pumpkin pie, is packed with good nutrition.

Turkey is loaded with B vitamins that help your brainpower. It is an excellent source of zinc, preventing infections, and L-arginine, which speeds healing and balances metabolism. Further, turkey contains iron for your blood and L-tryptophan to help you sleep well. Turkey is a protein food, and protein is the building block of our cells.

The cranberry sauce you put on your turkey is loaded with good stuff, but the most important is ellagic acid, known to protect your DNA and ward off cancer. As well, cranberries fight kidney infection.

Traditional turkey dinners offer mashed potatoes, broccoli and carrots. These vegetables contain a wealth of vitamins and minerals. If you have a salad, even more vitamins and minerals come your way.

Pumpkin pie is the traditional Thanksgiving dessert, and it is good for you. Pumpkin is loaded with beta-carotene, which prevents cancer. Better still, pumpkin has carotenoids which protect your eyes from cataracts. Pumpkin contains protein, too. Pumpkin pie is made with milk and eggs, adding more minerals (especially calcium) and vitamins.

Don't hesitate to put on that big Thanksgiving dinner, and encourage people to enjoy it to the fullest. It is good nutrition.

Expertise that's one to one.

Secrets To A Successful Retirement - Part 2 of 4

The strategies that follow should serve you well in meeting and exceeding your investment goals. Firstly, you should have a balanced portfolio with an equity bias. In establishing a successful portfolio, no decision is of greater initial and ultimate importance than the correct allocation of resources between cash or other short-term vehicles, bonds (and related fixed income securities), and stocks (and related equities). It is, in fact, proven that superior investment performance depends much more on the judicious balancing and periodic rebalancing of investable assets than on the selections of individual securities. Thus, the sooner savings are put to work - and kept at work - in the right combinations, the better.

Of course, successful investors may periodically change the bond and equity weightings as the relative attraction of each changes with economic and market conditions. In fact, eventual overall performance should be enhanced through periodic rebalancing. After all, you have probably heard the term "Don't put all of your eggs in one basket." So, not only should you not invest your hard-earned dollars in only one asset class, but you should also diversify across sectors and industries on the equity side, and between the length of term-to-maturity of the bond section.

In building portfolio wealth, one must never forget that it is equities that stand to provide superior growth over the long-term better than any other asset class. In other words, well-chosen stocks are essential as the true building-blocks of future wealth. Therefore, in setting up and periodically rebalancing portfolios, I urge you to tilt the balance in favour of equities as prudently as you can.

It is important to review your portfolio at least annually to analyze the asset mix and to determine if rebalancing is required. Call today to set up your appointment.

Choices and Priorities

B.C. B U D G E T C O N S U L T A T I O N S

This is an exciting time for British Columbia. There are some important challenges, goals and opportunities ahead – but we cannot afford to do everything at once. We want to know what is important to you so we can work to meet your priorities.

Building New Infrastructure

Important investments in roads, schools, universities, colleges and health care facilities worth more than $12.1 billion are planned over the next three years. Infrastructure investments are funded through new borrowing. The surplus is used to reduce this new borrowing. When the surplus is larger, the Province needs to borrow less and can put more toward debt reduction. With a smaller surplus, the Province may need to borrow more.

Risks and Challenges

A balanced budget may be affected by international economic slowdowns and natural disasters. That's why the Province set aside a forecast allowance and a contingency fund to protect the balanced budget from unexpected events. The forecast allowance also covers potential wage and benefit increases arising from the next round of public sector bargaining.

Currently, 52 per cent of the Provincial budget goes to pay wages and benefits. A one per cent increase in wages and benefits would mean $160 million less per year would be available to invest in other areas such as health care, education and public safety services.

Opportunities and Choices Ahead

On February 21, 2006, the Province will table a balanced budget with an updated plan to keep it balanced.

In addition to the current fiscal plan surpluses, the Province anticipates that revenue will increase by $600 million in 2008/09. These resources could be available to reinvest in areas that meet British Columbians' priorities. While recognizing that British Columbia cannot afford to do everything at once, what opportunities do you see ahead?

What is Your Vision?

The Select Standing Committee on Finance and Government Services, which includes both government and opposition members of the Legislative Assembly, will hold public meetings to seek the views of British Columbians. The Committee will present a report on its consultations by November 15, 2005.

To provide your views to the Committee, you can send a written submission or letter by October 23, 2005 to:

Mail: Select Standing Committee on Finance and Government Services
Parliament Buildings, Room 224, Victoria, BC V8V 1X4
Phone: 250 356-2933 (collect) or 1-877-428-8337

Ducks Unlimited hosted their First annual Fundraising Dinner and Auction last Saturday night at Princeton Legion Hall.

Runners produce results

The first meet of the cross-country season was held in Pentiction along the Channel Parkway.

Three Grade 8 girls were ready for their first competition against the older runners from Pen High, Princess Margaret, Summerland and McNicol. The course was approximately 4.5 kilometres long and it was warm and sunny when they set out.

With an amazing effort Kiel Liberatore came in fourth. Katie Liberatore and Makenzie Johnston were not far behind and tied for twelfth. All in all a very successful first run against Grade 11 and Grade 12 competition.

A nice reward for all of the kilometres of training and the wind sprints. The next meet is set for October 4th in Summerland.

Rebel girls win first tourney

The Princeton Secondary School Senior Girls Volleyball team travelled to Kamloops for their first tournament on September 23 and 24.

After three games of round robin play the girls were in first place. They defeated 100 Mile House, lost to Barriere by one point in a hard fought battle and then went on to defeat the host team, St. Ann's Academy.

This put all four teams with one loss and two wins. The placing went to points for and against and Princeton came well ahead of the other three teams.

In the semi-final game the girls were once again up against St. Ann's Academy. St. Ann's was looking for the win against the hometown crowd, each team took one set and it looked as if St. Ann's would take the tiebreaker as Princeton was down 9-2 (third game goes to 15).

Coach Carol Skinner managed to keep the girls focused and they went on to defeat St. Ann's Academy 15-12. This put Princeton in the finals against Clearwater.

After much excitement the girls settled down and went on to defeat Clearwater in two sets. A first place finish for the Princeton Rebels!

The girls hosted Osoyoos and Keremeos on Wednesday, September 28th. Princeton defeated Osoyoos in three sets and Keremeos in two. A great start to the season for the Senior Girls Volleyball team. Next home game is October 26th at 5:00 PM.

Creston Valley Thunder Cats gave Princeton's Posse a real challenging 60-minutes of hockey last Saturday night at Princeton Arena. The Cats won 7 - 3.

Thunder Cats maul Posse

It took a total of 54-seconds into Saturday night's game for Creston to score their first goal - a power-play goal shortly after Princeton's Chad Randle was called for high-sticking.

The balance of the period was quick and physical with a number of missed scoring opportunities, partly due to players being out of position.

A scuffle in front of the Creston goal at 16:41 sent three Posse players and two Thunder Cats to the penalty box, mostly with roughing after the whistle penalties.

It was at about this time the officials could no longer hide their confusion calling back players and switching players serving penalties. It was clear that they were no longer sure of who was doing what on ice.

Once play resumed action was high-spirited until Creston slipped another one past Princeton's Brad Fraser with 1:23 left.

Creston led 2 to 0 after one.

The Second Period saw Creston slam two more home at 2:57 and 4:32 into the frame.

Princeton finally managed to score their first goal at 7:04 when David Wyman found his target, with assists from Cody Devitt and Jessie Tresierra.

Two minutes later, at 9:20, Princeton added another from Chad Randle (assisted by Dave Wyman).

The period featured end-to-end action even though the officials continued to flub calls.

Creston had a two-man advantage 12-minutes into the period, but Princeton's penalty killing unit was able to hold the Cats at bay.

Creston did score two more goals, though. One at 14:17 and another at 15:23.

Frustration levels climbed and started to show on ice and behind the Posse bench but cooler heads prevailed.

After two periods, Creston was leading 6 to 2.

The Third period saw more net-to-net action with Princeton scoring goal #3 at 1:05 into the frame.

Zach Big Swan got the credit with Chad Randle earning an assist.

Creston added another goal 50-seconds later.

Princeton scored what could have been Goal #4 at 6:46 but it was waved off and Cody Devitt earned a goalie interference penalty.

It was the second such infraction called during the game which saw Princeton pressuring the Creston goalie throughout the game.

Princeton had another goal waved off at 12:28 with Devitt again blamed for the incident with an interference penalty and game misconduct.

Final score: Creston 7, Princeton 3. Princeton outshot Creston in the first two periods 28 to 11 (Third Period stats unavailable).

Despite the score, both teams were kept in the game by goal-tenders making incredible saves and not giving up many rebounds.

Horoscopes

October 5 - 12, 2005

Aries - Money picture changes for the better. Others share their wealth with you. Travel may inspire you to do things differently. Listen to partner, good friend. Interact with others for fun. Enjoy!
Taurus - Somebody could bring you a gift or pleasant surprise this weekend. Count on long discussions with others, share ideas. Health remains good. Balance energy to stay at top level. Avoid alcohol, drugs.
Gemini - Your partner and good friends make this a great weekend for you. Your health is good, you can enjoy yourself. Worries subside, and you may feel a little bit lazy. Good! You need to relax.
Cancer - You clear up chores around home and related to family concerns. This weekend, you just want to have fun! Health improves, you feel like doing a lot of things. Money picture seems better now. Budget!
Leo - You begin the week with a lot of communicating. You hear news, you give information. Family may visit for a weekend of fun. Career changes subtly causing tensions at home. This will ease.
Virgo - You look forward to a lot of fun with family this weekend. Money picture is better. You can have a heart to heart talk with a sibling now. Avoid alcohol and drugs - you are too dreamy. Focus mind.
Libra - Tensions may arise over resources you share with others, or over mortgage, debts or investments. Look for change through siblings or through information sources. Sibling brings weekend fun.
Scorpio - The time has come to express what's on your mind. This weekend, you can speak the truth in a pleasant way. Partner, friend, may cause tension due to money matters. Situation is changing. Be alert.
Sagittarius - You are in your element this weekend. A good mood carries you through. Try to relax, have fun, avoid tension. An idea you dream up on Saturday should be written down and explored.
Capricorn - Use weekend to make plans. You can gain from discussions, news, information. New phase begins soon. Debts, mortgage weigh heavily on your mind. Matters improve in new year. Relax!
Aquarius - Everything seems to be in "flow" for you this week. News may come from parent, employer, this weekend. Changes occur. Partner, friends, seem distant. Tension centers on family.
Pisces - You feel tired and old, and your job seems to weigh you down now. This will change next week, and you will begin to feel much better by the end of the month. Enjoy this weekend. Find some fun!

Recipe Corner (Recipe #84)

Toasted Pumpkin Seeds

- 2 cups pumpkin seeds
- 1 1/2 tbsp. melted butter or oil
- 1 1/4 tsp. salt

Remove fibre from unwashed pumpkin seeds. Measure seeds and add butter and salt. Spread them in a shallow pan. Bake at 250-degrees about 30-minutes or until crisp and brown. Stir occasionally.

WHO PASSED AWAY
OCTOBER 5, 2003

A heart of gold stopped beating,
Kind, loving hands put to rest,
God broke our hearts to prove to us,
He only takes the best.
The Leaves and flowers may wither,
The golden sun may set,
But the hearts that loved you dearly,
Are the ones who won't forget.

Dad,
You did so many little things
Your heart was kind and true
And when we needed someone the most
We could always count on you

Love Always

DID YOU KNOW THAT ONE CAT AND IT'S OFFSPRING CAN PRODUCE APPROXIMATELY 420,000 KITTENS IN 7 YEARS?

SHOCKED? SO WAS I BECAUSE MANY OF THESE CATS AND KITTENS DON'T FIND HOMES AND BECOME A NUISANCE IN OUR COMMUNITY.

I think a start to solving this problem is to fix our cats. So I'm offering to help people with a donation of $50 for a female and $25 for a male cat...if you get your pet fixed. Contact Dawn at Princeton Bakery (295-6670) before your vet appointment so we can make arrangements.

SINCE JUNE 30th WE HAVE HELPED LOCAL PET OWNERS 'FIX' 3 FEMALE AND 2 MALE CATS WITH 2 MORE WAITING. THANK YOU, PRINCETON FOR SUPPORTING THIS IMPORTANT PROGRAM!

my turn

Another twisted fable

Boys and girls we are going to learn about a place called 'Stagnation' - which was once on the road to Prosperity but got tangled up in some ugly local politics.

Stagnation, formerly Prosperity, once had a very smart man working for the Department of Improved Lifestyle. It was a one of those departments that was funded by the community and a number of other surrounding communities and business interests. As a result, the department was very much misunderstood by many who lived in Stagnation.

It was quite normal for a large number of the people from Stagnation to make noise whenever the contract came up for review that kept the smart man from the D. I. L. employed.

Since he was not a local, many did not like him. Others thought he was some sort of nutcase because he often preached to them. His preachings were on subjects such as 'Building Your Infrastructure' and 'How To Create New Business' and 'Marketing Those Things You Really Do Have Going For You.'

It was at one point in this man's contract that a discussion was heard where someone suggested the value of teaching others what this man did, and how all the pieces in the jigsaw puzzle could fit if everyone showed theirs and wanted to play the same game.

So a hall was rented and dates were set and only days before the big event it became clear that not many were interested in finding out how to keep Prosperity from turning into Stagnation.

It was a sad day for the community and eventually a town far away called out to this man and offered him wine and roses and a clean slate to do whatever he wanted.

He went and turned that tiny little community into a very vibrant location filled with resorts, pools and community centres. It attracted new families and companies set up plants which created jobs because everyone soon wanted to be a part of this new community.

Moral of the story: Think you know everything there is to know about Economic Development? Why not prove it by attending 'Economic Development 101' at the Skills Centre on October 5th and 26th.

Call 295-4051 to register then go and find out what you really don't know about the subject!

your turn

Well, um...okay then

To The Editor,

What the American people don't know about the world outside Uncle Sam's gates is storied in books and documentaries - indeed, it is widely rumoured that much of what transpires inside them is a source of puzzlement to many of its denizens; and may very well overload several databanks.

Nevertheless, there is one indisputable fact about the world that has been practically an article of faith for every man, woman and child with feet fortunate enough to fit the golden stars and stripes slippers.

It changed forever with 9/11. A bigger change was 7/11 - a chain of convenience stores - but that went virtually unnoticed.

Whilst the loss of life is lamentable, it still remains that many countries around the world had been suffering deaths and torturings for years before the so-called 9/11 event, (no small amount of which reportedly backed, at least, by U. S. foreign policy); and yet the world trade towers still stood and it was business as usual; the nimbys (not in my backyard) unaffected.

7/11 was a mere one of countless minor ripples in the tidal wave set in motion by the founder of the world's first commercial empire - Avaricius Ripofficus.

Avaricius emerged from his cave one morning, bright and calm, to shave his perfectly reflected whiskers in a placid rain puddle - a consequence of the night's all too infrequent precipitation - suddenly...a thought struck - ouch; then, water. Soon after, another 'bottle'; bottle?

The pupils of Avaricius' eyes were magically transformed into shekel signs, and the rest is World Trade History.

Yes. The world changed on 9/11. That is, what is now synonymous with the "world" - World Trade; and it's twin symbols reduced to rubble.

The Pentagon too broad and horizontal to be levelled; but nevertheless the military partner in the acquisition of more shekel-generating enterprise.

Perhaps, rather than the demagogic claim that "they hate our freedom" the motivation was a rage against the fact that all life's value has been reduced to its trading price in shekels.

Yes, yours and mine, too!
- Michael McNulty, Princeton

thoughts on education

We are at a critical juncture for the future of public schools in this province. B.C.'s teachers want to work with parents, trustees, and government to improve the services we can offer our students and ensure that we can meet their needs.

Three years ago, the government stripped the protections for student services from the teachers' contract. Since then, students have experienced larger classes, fewer services from specialist teachers, and less support for students with special needs.

Teachers believe that these problems can only be solved through respectful dialogue. So far, the government through its bargaining agent has taken the position teachers can not discuss students' learning conditions and there is no money for any improvements for students or teachers.

Gordon Campbell stated on CNNW Radio on September 27, 2005, that any problems with class size and composition are the responsibility of school boards.

On September 28, 2005, Shirley Bond, minister of education, announced that the ministry would begin collecting class-size data from school boards for the first time. Bond went on to say that school planning councils, made up of an administrator, parents, and a teacher representative, were the proper body to decide on issues of class size and composition.

The same day, the employer announced that it is going to the Supreme Court of Canada hoping to get a ruling banning teachers from discussing class-size issues with parents.

This government downloads costs on school boards, doesn't provide adequate funding, suggests that any problems are the fault of school boards or SPCs, and attempts to silence the voice of teachers.

We need a different approach, one that respects students, parents, and teachers.

President
B.C. Teachers' Federation

Current Comment:

Canadians pause to thank God

Dawn Johnson
editor@thenewsleader.ca

It is a purely North American tradition.

Once a year, Canadians honour Thanksgiving. Next month, Americans will celebrate their Thanksgiving. This North American tradition goes back hundreds, perhaps thousands, of years. We tend to associate Thanksgiving with European settlers who gave thanks for a good harvest.

In fact, the original settlers of North America, the old tribes, gave thanks to the Creator on a regular basis. In their tradition, the Creator is thanked for the abundance of life.

Unlike Christian prayers which ask God for things, First Nations prayers were about thanking the Creator for the present and past abundance, and for the abundance to come. First Nations people believe focussing on abundance brings abundance.

I have often heard people ask, "What do I have to be thankful for?"

Too often, we ignore the obvious good things we enjoy and focus on what we do not have. First Nations people believe focussing on scarcity brings scarcity. They believe our thoughts bring about our condition.

What do I have to be thankful for? First, I have good health and the abundance of a roof over my head, food on my table, and all the conveniences of modern life we take for granted, like hot water at the turn of a faucet and light at the flick of a switch.

You may think this is hardly worth mentioning, but consider those who survived Katrina: I bet they don't take these for granted anymore!

I can be thankful for the good health and prosperity of my children and grandchildren, and my various other extended family members. The people I care about are doing well. Perhaps we could spare some thanks for those health care professionals who help keep us healthy.

When we sit down to a big Thanksgiving dinner, we can be thankful for those who raised the turkey, grew the potatoes and other vegetables, the truckers who brought the goods to our town and the stores that stocked this food for us.

Perhaps we could thank our employers for providing a job to earn enough to buy the food. Let's face it: in a lot of countries, even if the food were trucked in, few could afford to buy it. We take our food abundance for granted.

We can be thankful for our community. I am proud of the Canadians who rallied to help the victims of the tsunami and Hurricane Katrina.

They did not wait to be invited to help, they just pitched in where they were needed. Others sent money.

This is what community is about, and we should thank everyone for their generosity and willingness to see others' needs as important.

Locally, those with true community spirit kept doing their deeds, making our lives a little better, fuller and more enjoyable. If you are one of those people who made an effort to do something for your community, I thank you.

I could go on for a long time about all of the things we can thank God for, but you get the idea. Say "thanks" this weekend, and have a happy Thanksgiving.

Vermilion Court News

Fall has arrived and so it has provided us with a new pastime. We cut out leaves of various colours and put them on our windows.

A small sheaf of Fall grasses has been placed by a pole in the room. And now we're beginning to make things for a Sale Table. So scissors, paint and paste are in full use. Luckily for us the paint is washable.

Not to be forgotten is our word making. From a large word smaller ones are made. Somewhere nearly 100 small words are found.

And then we do exercises while sitting in our chairs.

Some are easier than others. We all try.

Heart Food
by Dave Machin

The life God has given you is a precious gift. Are you making the most of it? Actually nothing is more vital than making the most of the life you have been given by God. In fact the greatest challenge each one of us faces is the challenge to make something of our life by fulfilling God's plan for us on this Earth. Your success or failure can be answered by this one question: What are you building your life on? A life that will stand to God's glory can't be built on fame, fortune or pleasure because those things alone are empty, shallow and unfulfilling and will soon pass away. Then what can we build our lives on? My thought is this, our lives must be built on God and His word, because God's Word will stand the test when everything else passes away and fails. The foundation you build your life on is totally up to you. But if you build your life on the rock - The Lord Jesus Christ - then the light and love of God will shine upon you and through you until it begins to influence others. Every human being on the face of this Earth must make the choice as to what they build their lives on - no one can build it for you. However, a person's foundation will certainly make the difference between success and failure. You may think your life is unimportant or insignificant, but God can make something valuable of your life, no matter what has happened in the past. Commit your life to God. Allow Him to work in your life, you are never too young or too old. Joseph was only seventeen when he went into slavery. Many tests and trials came his way. But each time he stood the test and by the time he was thirty he was chosen to be the Prime Minister of Egypt! God could make the most of Joseph's life because Joseph determined early in life to take a stand for God. God can use you mightily for His purposes also! He can make something of your life. All you need to do is commit your life to Him and follow Him every step of the way. He needs your willingness and your availability. He needs your determination to stand for His word in every situation. Then the light of His favour will shine upon your ways. You will need some discipline and perseverance, but if you will place your life in the Master's hands you will never be sorry that you did. Because God is good, His Word is good and good all the time.

Formation of Tourism Advisory Committee

The Similkameen Valley Planning Society is forming a Tourism Advisory Committee.

The Committee will stand for one year and have the goal of creating a tourism development and marketing strategy for the Similkameen Valley.

The first meeting will be in October and monthly meetings will follow. The SVPS invites members of the tourism industry to apply for membership on the Committee. That can be done by contacting Michael McLaughlin at (250) 295-7260 or (250) 499-5130 or via e-mail at edo@similkameen.org.

Membership will be limited to 12 persons and we will attempt to have representation from as many tourism sectors (accommodation, restaurant, guest ranches, B&Bs, arts and culture, events, tour guides, etc.) as possible. In the event that there are more than 12 applicants, those not asked to join the Committee will receive minutes of meetings and may be asked to participate on a sub-committee.

We are grateful for all applications.

Letter To The Editor

Something confuses Toews

Dear Editor:

Everyone will remember the tragedy that befell little Matthew Vaudreuil in 1995. On a daily basis the newspaper and TV headlines screamed for social workers heads, the heads of those representing the provincial welfare ministry; and, of course, a government that purportedly represented the weakest in society was called on to resign in shame. Fast forward to 2002 and the death of Sherry Charlie who also died as the result of abuse at the hands of a relative.

From that date until the present the Provincial Liberal Government has received no unfavourable comment by the media for firing half of all social workers and used all means at their disposal to ward off criticism of themselves and their depleted welfare ministry. The latest roadblock the Provincial

Attorney General has thrown up is that we may no longer use the little girls name, ostensibly to protect the family.

This means of course that you will no longer see her name in print; but the Liberals know that out of sight, means out of mind to the population at large—long range election strategy?—is censorship now part of Victoria's version of democracy? Now please allow me to change the subject.

In 1998 the NDP in BC brought in legislation to sue Big Tobacco for health costs caused by their products. Their suit was dismissed by the Supreme Court of Canada. As of today the same suit, reinitiated by the Provincial Liberals was unanimously allowed to proceed, opening the door for all governments to follow suit. What is wrong with this picture? Obviously, only a Liberal government is allowed to pass progressive legislation.

The previous NDP government also outlawed smoking in all public buildings. It was the first government in Canada to act on this problem, much to their detriment. Their action resulted in the media, bar owners and the big bosses starting an incessant anti-government lobby ending in the NDP's ultimate defeat. Fast forward once more; after a brief courtship with bar owners circa 2001, the Liberals realized public opinion was against them—once more, what was good for New Democrats was adopted by the Liberals—but, did you also notice that there was no adverse media reaction?

Last but not least, let me remind you of the reams of editorial copy devoted to the NDP-run ICBC for allowing that publicly owned corporation to spend some of their surplus on accident prevention. Did you notice last weekends edition of a major daily, devoting a whole pull-out section to the Liberal-run ICBC, and how they intend to spend our premium excess on—yes, you guessed it accident prevention.

I suppose I should be thankful that some progressive ideas have been allowed to proceed under the present administration, but can someone please tell me why all that is encompassed in the last few paragraphs was bad when initiated by the previous government?

Sincerely,
A very confused HPToews

Letter To The Editor

Teacher defends students

To The Editor;
"Your Children - Our Students"
Princeton teachers understand that parents are concerned about their child's learning being disrupted in a job action situation. We have taken a strike vote, but are working hard to achieve a negotiated settlement. We did not want to take job action. This is always a last resort. But we are worried about students, learning conditions and are determined to make improvements for students. The employer says it doesn't have the ability to bargain improvements in learning conditions and a fair salary settlement for teachers, because the provincial government won't allow it. We are asking parents to join in calling on the government to work for a solution, not to legislate more problems. There is a great deal of common ground. Parents want to put the best interests of their children first. Teachers want to put the best interests of students first. Parents and teachers, working together, are powerful allies for public education. Yours truly,

Robert Tarswell, President

FINANCIAL FOCUS
Increase The Value Of Your Estate With Life Insurance
Most of us think of life insurance as a way to protect our family financially when we die. But insurance coverage can go beyond that basic need, to enhance the value of an estate.
Of course, an insurance policy's primary purpose should be to ensure that your loved ones won't find themselves in difficulty. But consider using life insurance to leave more to your heirs, other beneficiaries or even charity.
You can do this through a permanent life insurance policy, such as universal life or participating whole life, which provides both insurance and an investment component. The insurance portion will take care of basic insurance requirements, while the investment portion can be used to boost the value of your estate.
For example, when you take out a universal life policy, a portion of the premiums you pay go toward insurance, with the rest going into the policy's investment component (sometimes known as the cash or savings portion). The money in the investment component is sheltered from tax, resulting in faster growth than if money is invested outside the policy.
When you die, your heirs receive the face value of the policy's life insurance, as well as the value of the investment portion of the policy. Both are tax-free to beneficiaries, so they receive the entire amount of the policy and its investments.
With universal life, you have some control over the investment portion because you can choose from a number of investment options offered by insurers. Typical choices include investments whose returns are linked to the performance of brand name mutual funds, guaranteed interest accounts or stock market indexes. The wealth that accumulates in the investment component will depend on the deposit paid and performance of underlying investments.
How much you pay in premiums and how often is generally up to you. In most cases you can pay whatever you wish. However, there are government-imposed maximums based on factors such as your age, gender, expected lifespan and the face value of the policy.
This flexibility is what makes universal life such a valuable estate-planning tool. You can start small, with the goal of providing financial protection for your family in the event of your death. As you grow older and find yourself with more disposable income or cash flow, you can focus on the investment component of the policy.
You're a good candidate for universal life if you have money left over to invest after your basic financial, investment and insurance needs are met - including maximizing yearly Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP) contributions and paying down loans. This type of policy is suitable for not only for those seeking insurance flexibility and a way to enhance estate values, but for those who need additional tax-sheltered growth after making RRSP contributions.
Speak to your investment or insurance representative about how you can use life insurance as a tax-effective way to enhance the value of your estate.

Community Services reviews past year

Change and more change marked 2005 for Princeton & District Community Services Society. President Joann Gabriel reviewed the changes during her report to society members at the annual general meeting held September 26 at Vermilion Court lounge.

The most significant change is still in progress - moving from the house on Halliford to the former health unit. New Beginnings moved to that location in June, after spending many years at the Elks Hall.

MaryAnne Apartments, located on Lachine Avenue, was torn down and a new building on the site will be completed soon. This structure will be home for older clients of the society.

Gabriel noted the increasing costs of operation, especially maintenance. Society members passed motions permitting higher spending limits for the Board and permission to rent, lease or sell some properties no longer needed by the society.

Two Board members, Gloria Stout and Jean Haugland, have retired. Torry Small returns to the Board of Directors, joined by new member Cornie Froese.

Lynn Pelly, Executive Director of Community Services, noted the number of Home Support clients has increased during the past year. Along with this increase, she has had longterm staff retire and has searched the community to recruit qualified personnel. Community Services employs more than 50 people.

The financial report showed increases in some areas, but only slightly above last year.

The society has capital assets worth more than $3 million. Cost increases were evident in equipment lease and rentals, modernization, repairs and maintenance, and wages and benefits.

Meals on Wheels has seen an increase in the number of clients using the service, with an average of 22 clients receiving meals on a regular basis.

Adult Day Centre, which takes place at Vermilion Court, has an average of 9 - 14 people. The program offers exercise, entertainment and activities to stimulate older community members.

Aida Bouvette runs this program, and enjoys surprising her clients with events like a visit from "Elvis". Many talented people from the community volunteer to assist with the program.

Society members have no doubt that they will see more changes in the coming year.

Weekly RCMP report

On Saturday, September 24th Princeton RCMP received a complaint of an Impaired Driver in Princeton, with a vehicle description and licence plate provided.

The vehicle was located and the driver showed obvious signs and symptoms of having consumed alcohol.

He was taken to the RCMP detachment office where he provided samples of his breath which were 280 and 270, well over the 80 mg percent alcohol.

The 48-year old Male from Chilliwack was a prohibited driver, the vehicle was towed and impounded, and the driver faces Criminal Code charges of Impaired Driving and Driving while over 80.

He is to appear in court on December 15th, 2005, in Princeton.

Princeton RCMP attended a complaint of a motor vehicle accident north of Princeton on Highway 5A early on the morning of Sunday, September 25th.

The driver was located at camp Tulahead, he had gone off the road when he swerved to miss a herd of deer on the highway, the van went off road left, down the embankment where it submerged, the male remained conscious and managed to escape the sunken van, swimming to shore, then walking towards the lights.

The 39-year old male from Salmon Arm suffered sore ribs as a result of the accident, he was transported to the hospital for examination. The submerged van was removed during daylight hours.

Sometime between the evening of Tuesday, September 27th and the following morning, six windows were smashed at John Allison Elementary School.

Entry was not gained into the school, the windows were kept intact. Anyone with information on who is responsible for this act of vandalism is asked to contact Princeton RCMP at (250) 295-6911 or CrimeStoppers at 1-800-222-8477.

Princeton RCMP say they appreciate local citizens making reports on incidents happening in the community.

"It is only with the extra eyes and ears that we are effective in our job," says Detachment Commander Sgt. Kurt Lozinski.
