Local students learn new tricks

Students in Princeton have acquired new learning skills thanks to a grant that brought them seven laptops with some new software designed to make learning easier.

At the February 8 Board of Education meeting, teacher Candace Osterthag explained how the Kurzwell 3000 programming helps teach reading and writing on a computer.

The laptops came with three digital cameras which the children use to take video film and load it into the computer to edit. They have headphones, too, so they can hear information as well as see it.

Designed for Special Education learners, the programs are not limited to that group.

All students can use it. Currently, they are engaged in a project to study Ancient Civilizations. Osterthag told the Board the students adapted quickly to the new technology.

Council speech cut short for emergency

It is hard to give a speech to Town Council when your pager sounds a loud alarm and you have to attend to an emergency. Ask Doug Pateman.

Princeton and District Extrinsication Team attended the February 6 Town Council meeting to ask for money to assist in buying a proper equipment box for a new truck. Doug Pateman, speaking on behalf of the team, said they had enough money to buy the cab and chassis, at $47,000, but they needed a lot more money to buy a proper box for the vehicle. The old highway rescue truck (1995 Ford Supercab) is fading fast, and it must be replaced.

If you were in a motor vehicle accident where you could not remove yourself from the vehicle, you would depend on the extrication team and their expertise and special equipment to safely remove you from the vehicle. The ambulance crew would not be equipped to do that job.

In our area, you would depend on 17 volunteers who buy most of their own equipment. Provincial Emergency Program awards $125 for each call-out. The team raises money on its own by providing first aid presence at special events such as Fall Fair and the Air Show.

In other areas, highway extrication is part of the fire department. Pateman said Princeton is one of 11 districts where the highway rescue crew is not part of the municipal funding, and Princeton has the second largest area of responsibility in B.C., responding to calls from Hedley, Manning Park, Tulameen, Osprey Lake and Highway 5A, and all rural and backroad areas within the district.

To emphasize their 24/7 responsibility, Pateman's presentation was

iPads lead to learning

Rod Miller, a teacher who helps other teachers in Princeton's elementary schools, is involved in teaching students how to learn with an iPad 2.

Thirty of these computers were bought for the use of elementary students, and Miller is very satisfied with the way these computers can be used to help students learn.

Miller finds the computers reliable, and have no program conflicts. Download is rapid, updates are automatic, and there are a multitude of Apps to choose from. New Apps are inexpensive or free. There is instant feedback on some Apps and the material can be printed on equipment the schools own already.

Miller is working with students learning math. With this system and the right software, he can have students working on math problems at their desks, and on his computer he can check each student's progress and see who is having difficulty. The teacher can pull the student's page onto his own computer and interrupted by an alarm and a call-out to report immediately to the fire hall. Council referred the request to budget. If you would like to make a contribution to the fund, send it to Princeton & District Extrinsication Team, Box 2098, Princeton. If you belong to a group that might sponsor a fund raising event for the team, contact Doug Pateman at 250.295.4347.

monitor the student's work instantly. This enables him to go to the student having difficulty and provide assistance immediately.

Students can work at their own pace. If they need to do some work from a previous year's math lessons, they can go back to that year and review lessons. If a student is doing very well, the student can move ahead to more advanced math.

Miller says, "The goal is to make math easier for students."

Trail traffic issue did not die

Town Council is taking a second look at their decision to ban motorized traffic on the TransCanada Trail within Town boundaries. Town Council has received a number of letters asking that the decision be reconsidered, and a number of letters commending the ban.

Councillor Frank Armitage reminded Council of the parade of vehicles by ATV-BC and how much good that group had brought to local businesses. He noted there had been no problems with the parade, which had ended downtown.

Councillor Jason Earle added his favorable comments about ATV-BC, and noted other groups had not been a problem.

Mayor Fred Thomas noted that organized, controlled groups did not appear to be a problem.

As a result of dealing with opposing views on the matter of motorized trail traffic, Council has drafted a letter to be sent to any individual or group with a response to Council's decision. The letter states that the ban of motorized traffic on the trail within Town boundaries will remain due to past experience with individuals using the trail irresponsibly. At the same time, Council will give consideration to an application by any large motorized group that wishes to hold an event in Princeton and would like access to the downtown area. The group must make application through Cascades District RSTBC Recreation Officer.

Local sports earn praise

At the February 6 meeting, Town Council offered praise for several sports groups. A recent curling bonspiel has earned the praise of Town Council. Participants from other communities expressed their appreciation of the great hospitality of Princeton.

Councillor Frank Armitage said he and his wife had attended basketball games in January and were impressed with the ability of Princeton's players. He praised the coaches for putting together an excellent basketball program at Princeton Secondary School.

Councillor Kim Maynard said he had been impressed by the skills of Princeton's youngest hockey players in a recent minor hockey tournament. Princeton's young skaters had beaten teams from big communities in which there are many more players to fill out the team rosters.

Downtown snow removal strategy

Snow removal in the downtown core, Vermilion Avenue and Bridge Street, is an ongoing concern of Town Council. In past years, a major snow event saw the downtown area left untouched until all of the priority routes (schools, hills, intersections, emergency routes) had been cleared. In January, Town Council asked staff to look at ways in which snow removal downtown could be done faster.

At the February 6 Town Council meeting, staff presented a review of the situation with a recommendation that current practice be continued. The recommendation was based on availability of town workers and equipment, and the added cost of $2,000 per snow event if overtime were required.

The original directive from Council had been to arrange a meeting of Council with the Town Works manager to discuss alternatives. Councillor Frank Armitage was quick to point out this meeting had not taken place. He was not prepared to endorse the staff recommendation as presented.

"There has been a safety issue this winter," he stated.

Councillor Armitage said he believes the priority should be more flexible depending on circumstances.

Mayor Fred Thomas commended the Town crew for the work they had done this winter in coping with snow removal, saying he had heard many comments in praise of the crew.

Council decided to adopt an alternative to the recommendation that the snow removal policy not be changed. Council voted that the Town of Princeton Snow Removal Policy and Procedure be modified to include removal of snow from the downtown core area as a priority area contingent on sufficient personnel and equipment availability.

Flip Of The Coyne

by Spencer Coyne

How do you see your community? Do you see Princeton as everything that it lacks or everything it has? We have had a couple of really great conversations online lately about our community. There are those who see what we lack and others who see what we have and then others who see opportunity.

I like to think I am a little of the latter two. Although I notice what our community lacks when someone says there is nothing to do in Princeton, I always want to correct them. Princeton is not what we don't have. It is what it has and what we can make of it.

I agree we could always use a few new things but at the end of the day I feel as though Princeton is and always has been what you are willing to make of it. I love the fact that if I want to take a walk that there are miles upon miles of trails. Be it the Trans Canada Trail, Swan Lake or China Ridge there is always some place that I can go.

I love driving by the arena in the summer and seeing the kids using the skate and bike park that they helped create. I know that if I want to go fishing I can go behind my house or to one of the numerous lakes and streams in the area. To me Princeton is more than a facility. It is an opportunity.

That is why I moved back to Princeton and was lucky enough that my wife agreed with me that this would be a great place to raise a child. I might not be able to give my son a day at the zoo every week or a trip to Science World daily but Princeton can offer him something that he might not ever get in the city, a chance to grow and explore without it all being served to him on a platter.

I grew up here and so did my Dad, and his Dad, and so on. When we were kids we would climb the mountains and build forts and when we would come across an old fort I remember running home and telling my Dad about it and he would just laugh and tell me a story about when they were kids and built it.

Growing up on a farm I guess some things you just take for granted.

My mom would have the school kids out to our farm when we were little and we would show all the kids the chickens, cows, goats and whatever other critter we had at the time. Living in a small rural town takes some of that pioneer spirit even today as some things always seem out of reach. That is when you need to try a little harder, or ask your friends and neighbours to help out and together we usually get to where we want to go.

I guess what I am trying to say is rather than looking at what we don't have in our little piece of rural paradise we need to see all the great things we have. The natural world around us and the way we get to live is the envy of a lot of people. I know it's hard to believe but it's true and we need to accept that and embrace it.

We need to work as a community to overcome our problems and support each other when we try new things. Together we have made it this far. Together we can make it just about anywhere.

Board honours Heuser

Ken Heuser, a former school trustee, was honored on February 8 by the Board of Education.

Heuser was a school trustee for 25 years, serving first on the Board for School District #17 (Princeton) before the district was amalgamated with Merritt to form School District #58 (Nicola-Similkameen). Heuser opted not to seek re-election in November 2011.

School trustees took Heuser and his wife to dinner on February 8, then later, during the Board meeting, he was presented with a gift - an old-fashioned teacher's bell on a pedestal with a brass plaque recognizing his long service. Board Chair Gordon Comeau noted the additional work Heuser did in the community on behalf of young people in Princeton.

Heuser estimated he had attended more than 400 public meetings of the Board of Education and, in addition, all of the committee meetings and public information sessions. He praised the current Board for stepping up to run for office, and told them he is "really proud" of them.

My Turn

More Work Than Hobby, I Guess

Data released last week concerning the 2011 Census revealed some interesting information about changes in population in the Princeton area.

After what was considered quite an increase from the 2001 to 2006 figures, there has since been a significant change from 2006 to 2011.

For example: The population of Princeton dropped from 2,780 (2006) to 2,724 (2011). That's a decrease of 2%.

Area H figures are more dramatic.

The 'rural Princeton' population was pegged at 2,105 in 2006 and has since dipped to 1,768 (2011). That's a drop of 16%.

While demographics, including age, income and other details will slowly be released I think it's safe to say that there's something happening here.

Breaking those figures down even further shows that a total of 56 people left the Town of Princeton over five years, or 11.2 per year. In Area H it's 337 people leaving the area at a rate of 67.4 per year.

Why are people leaving the area after so many appeared to be attracted to this part of the Similkameen Valley only five years before the 2006 Census?

Some blame the lack of amenities.

I have a very different theory and it involves hobby farms.

Call me crazy, but I think the average person who has lived most of their life in an urban environment has only a slight idea of what rural living is all about. If you like to dine out and had hundreds of restaurants to choose from in The City, you'll find that your rotation gets a bit smaller when you move to The Country.

If your plan years ago was to escape the rat race and take up space in the country, the Similkameen was a prime location for that and figures showed it was happening.

I'm just thinking rural life turned out to be a bit more work than a number of city folk were expecting, with daily farm chores eating up valuable relaxing time and the old hobby farm needing more attention than a full-time job in The City.

I'm sure people aren't running away from the area, at a combined rate of 78.6 per year, because there's no door-to-door mail delivery, an indoor pool or a Wal-Mart, not to mention downtown is virtually deserted Sundays. I think they are discovering that rural life is maybe not their cup of tea after all and decided to get out and move to a place that was closer to a smaller version of The City without actually being The Country.

Then again, what do I know? I've lived here 25 years and think I'm pretty used to how things go around here. But we have started locking our doors since we discovered so many city folk were living here.

Your Turn

Letters and E-Mails Received This Past Week

To The Editor;

It was 1941 when we drove down from our home in Copper Mountain and Dad carried Mom's limp form into the old Princeton Hospital placing the trust and hope into the hands of the caregivers, all strangers. Later that season my sister Mary was also brought down in the old (1929 Chevy?) solid wheeled ambulance to the hospital. She slipped off some cut off saplings we were standing on in a grove of Alder while making a fort out of potato sacks and one of them punctured her lower abdomen. Both Mom and Mary were treated and fully recovered in the Princeton Hospital. Where else was there to go? They had doctors.

No doubt there are thousands of similar stories including very happy ones in the maternity ward, now closed. All you can say to the many faceless care people past and present in the hospital or Ridgewood is a "profound thank you" but it seems so very inadequate. Now Princeton Hospital and health care itself is on life supports almost to the point of "passing on". This is progress over the last seventy years? What happened? What can we do?

The practice of medicine is more specialized today and the "Specialists" practice in cities where the facilities and hi-tech equipment and amenities are, also the clientele, the opportunity to upgrade their skills, and make more money. So if we have to go to Penticton or Kelowna maybe have shorter safe first class roads. Upgrade Old Hedley Road from Princeton to Sterling Creek Bridge as it receives more sun and less ice. The same upgrade for the Chain Lake Road to Summerland and Peachland. Added to the search for permanent Princeton doctors consider putting any P.S.S. graduate through medical school cost free if they in turn practice for five (?) years in Princeton upon graduation. Perhaps the same for "Nurse Practitioners".

The ideal health program is a healthy lifestyle. The deadly results from smoking is not if but when, and its cost to society staggering. A tough expensive addiction to overcome the smoker is unfortunately a real stinker. You can smell them within twenty feet. The smoke fouls the pores, hair, clothes, air, furniture, room, apartment block and relationships. Raising money for various health causes and research cannot be overstated. Noble efforts by Ms. Frankie Reichert and fellow students in shaving off their hair for cancer are to be applauded. Hopefully she will author the novel "Last Hair Standing" and it's sequel "Legends Of The Bald".

Research and new technology has prompted scientists to say health care will be cheaper, will soon be able to read minds (if you have one) and that people will be living to nine hundred years of age. (That will surely be the death of the bus service into the next world.) We suggest how technology might bring this about. There will be not an iPad or Smart Phone but a "Med Pad." It will be hand held, voice responsive, read your blood work, do your MRI'S, Scans, X-Ray's and Sensor work besides answering critical questions.

Examples: Med Pad is activated and is asked a question. My forty-nine year old Sweetie is going to work on a skate board wearing a basketball muscle shirt in -7C weather, a ring in his nose and tongue and sporting a deep purple mohawk hair piece (he's actually bald). He acts funny and when talking to him he says "butt out."

I'm finding this terribly stressful. Med Pad reply: Your Sweetie is experiencing a mid-life crises A.K.A. "male menopause", common among men ages forty thru sixty. This occurs when he feels aging occurring and sees youth slipping by. This clash in the brain causes hot flashes which manifest itself in Sweeties peculiar behavior in regaining his youth. This phenomenon can on occasion produce "brain burnout" which doesn't last long unless he's a natural.

You can send him to a psychiatrist who might shrink the problem or to a Buddhist Monk and they can sit on the problem and meditate it out. The best solution is an ice cold twenty minute shower three times a day, and your patience, that only a daughter of Eve could endure.

As far as Sweetie saying "butt out". Forget it. The butt is that part ..... continued on Page 21

News Can Be Disturbing

Dawn Johnson
editor@thenewsleader.ca

I like knowing the news. I read it, hear it or see it, look it up, and occasionally report it. Some weeks, the news is disturbing.

One bit of news which may have disturbed a lot of people was in newspapers and on television for months: the Shafia trial. The father, mother and son of the Shafia family were convicted of murdering the three daughters and their stepmother after a lengthy trial. Some might brush it off as an "honour" killing, some might dismiss it as a peculiarity of another culture, but few of us would see it as a murder for greed. I firmly believe greed was the motive.

The Shafia family came to Canada from Afghanistan. Among the less educated, more common folk of Afghanistan, girls are valued if they remain pure (virginal) and obedient to their fathers or the elder male of the family. The value of the girls to the family is immense if they can be sold to a prospective husband for a high price. The impure, disobedient girl is of no value at all.

Shafia's daughters had become

Canadian. They no longer wore traditional dress, they had boyfriends, and one dared to marry the husband of her choosing without the consent of the father. In short, these girls had no sale value. To make matters worse, they would not have consented to be sold, and selling one's children is illegal in Canada.

In Afghanistan, among poor folk, a girl is sold in her early teens, some are sold as young as age 10. The girl has no say in the transaction, and merely goes to who buys her. She may not like it, but she has no rights. This is not the case in Canada.

I believe Mr. Shafia had to face the fact that his potential assets had become merely more mouths to feed. Rather than a source of future money in his pocket, Shafia's investment (years of feeding and clothing), his daughters are now liabilities.

What does one do with a liability which is also a social embarrassment? I believe he did what most people do with a liability: he disposed of it.

Maybe I am way out in left field with my belief. Maybe he just hated his daughters and first wife. Maybe his "honour" was truly destroyed. I have to wonder whether so-called honour killings of disobedient daughters has more to do with sale value than real honour. I think 'loss of family honour' is just double talk for loss of money. The idea that women can be bought and sold disturbs me a lot more than the notion of family honour being smudged.

Cancer cure ignored?

Another piece of news I read on internet (naturalnews.com) made me see red.

In 2007, Evangelos Michelakis at the University of Alberta, was doing research that proved cancer is a metabolic malfunction, not a genetic error. To treat cancer, he used a pharmaceutical called dichloroacetate, used to treat metabolic problems. He tested it outside the body on human cancer cells and tested it on cancerous laboratory mice. His tests revealed rapid destruction of cancerous cells through a process that restored cell mitochondria and prevented cancer cells from breaking away from tumors and spreading. Until his research, it was believed damaged mitochondria could not be restored to health.

Wouldn't you think this discovery would be immediately followed by a pharmaceutical company jumping at the chance to produce dichloroacetate and promote a cancer cure around the world? The patent had run out on this medication, nobody had to be bought out, nothing had to be done except produce it. Not one pharmaceutical company was interested. Not one government or medical society, nor even the Canadian Cancer Society, insisted this medication must be made available to everyone as cheaply as possible.

I heard on television on Cancer Awareness Day, that 75,000 Canadians die every year from cancer. In the five years since this research was done, did 375,000 Canadians die of cancer because nobody gave a damn?

If you want to look up this information, go to www.dca.med.ualberta.ca/Home/donations.

meant to be sold to ski resorts was given a list of all such resorts in southern B.C. with contact information.

Another business hoping to launch a sales brochure for custom windows was assisted in defining a target market in the Okanagan region, saving the business a lot of money. Instead of a shotgun approach to mailing the brochures, the business was given postal codes that fit the target market profile.

Other businesses were helped with website design and maintenance as well as the use of social media.

Gardening project stirs business

Community Futures representatives attended the February 6 Town Council meeting to report on the Economic Gardening Project. Community Futures is a government agency representing the interests of business in Okanagan-Similkameen.

The Economic Gardening Project is not about growing vegetables or flowers, it is about helping businesses grow. Community Futures was asking Town Council to support their request to Regional District for $95,000 and a request to Similkameen Valley Planning Society (SVPS) for a $7,500 grant. SVPS gave an original $4,000 to launch the pilot project.

The pilot Economic Gardening Project was a success. The goal was to assist businesses to expand their market and increase their revenue.

During the first 18 months of the project, Community Futures met with 53 businesses, recommended 42 new markets, two new products and provided 14 business marketing lists.

Using software more commonly used by major corporations, Community Futures is able to feed information into the software on behalf of small businesses. For example, a business with a product

RDOS increases tipping fees for March

The RDOS has proposed raising Landfill Refuse Fees from the current $55 per metric tonne to $65 per metric tonne at the Campbell Mountain, Oliver, Okanagan Falls and Keremeos Sanitary Landfills. Changes to the Landfill Tipping Fee bylaw will be presented at the March 1st, 2012 RDOS Board Meeting.

Refuse fees are applied to materials that are buried in the landfill. Any fees for reusable, recyclable or compostable materials brought to RDOS landfills are not affected by this rate change.

Don Hamilton, RDOS Solid Waste Facilities Coordinator, recommended the rate increase. In his report he indicated there are a number of costly infrastructure projects required by the Province at local landfills.

"Our mandate is to fund local landfills wherever possible on a user-pay basis," explains Hamilton. "In other words those that use up valuable landfill space pay for it. Without this rate increase we will require other funding sources such as taxation or raising rates for recyclables or compostables".

Hamilton states that in neighbouring Regional Districts the average charge is $72 per metric tonne for refuse. The Town of Osoyoos already charges $65 per metric tonne at the Osoyoos Sanitary Landfill.

In a recent report on the full life cycle costs of the Campbell Mountain Landfill, it was projected that the refuse fees should continue to rise over the next few years to about $85 a metric tonne.

"By raising fees incrementally we can annually assess our revenue and costs and adjust fees and services accordingly," says Hamilton. As a way to save money, residents and businesses are asked to recycle and reuse. All small household appliances such as hair dryers, kettles and toaster ovens can now be recycled in BC. A resident or business that recycles will save money compared to a neighbour or competitor who throws everything in the garbage.

The RDOS will be sending out a 'Reuse, Recycle & Safe Disposal Guide' at the end of February. The Guide will detail where residents and businesses can recycle small appliances, electronics, batteries and a huge assortment of other items in their community. For more information on local recycling or reuse opportunities contact the Recycling Council of BC at 1-800-667-4321 or the RDOS Solid Waste Department at 250-490-4129 or toll free at 1-877-610-3737.

RDOS supports Chopaka project

Director George Bush, Electoral Area 'B' (Cawston) requested that the Regional District send a letter of support for the development of a sawmill for Chopaka.

Area 'B' is in favor of a timber processing facility as referred to in the Memorandum of Understanding between the Lower Similkameen Indian Band and East Mountain forest Corporation.

The Board of Directors of the RDOS approved at the February 2nd meeting that a letter of support be provided regarding the development of a timber processing facility at Chopaka.

The Cawston Community Hall has been a hub of Lower Similkameen community life since 1922.

Foundation boosts hall renovations

The Community Foundation of the South Okanagan is supporting ongoing renovations at the Cawston Community Hall.

Challenges in ongoing renovation arise from the "cobbled" nature of the hall building which is a combination three structures; the original hall and dance floor, the old Cawston Elementary School moved from across the street in the 1950's and the additional Women's Institute Room which is a meeting place for many local clubs and visiting groups.

1974 renovations with volunteer labor assembled a new roof structure and entrance lobby. Further work in 2010 spruced up the meeting room interior.

Lately, with the help of an $8,600.00 grant from the Community Foundation of the South Okanagan, the Hall Society completed heating and insulation work in the Women's Institute Room that has kept the wind and cold at bay for local yoga classes and other community groups.

Members of the LSIB (Lower Similkameen Indian Band) have been major users and a principle support to the Cawston Community Hall and in September LSIB Band Council received a delegation from the Cawston Community Hall Society to take their suggestions on improvements.

The next project is a plumbing re-fit and renovation of the washroom facilities at the hall. Kitchen upgrades will follow that.

Also in the works is a covered patio on the Main Street entrance to the hall.

The Community Foundation of the South Okanagan grants over $100,000 annually in the South Okanagan and Similkameen to groups like the Cawston Community Hall Society. It builds funds through contributions of individuals and organizations that show special interest in their community through their charitable contributions to the Foundation.

Princeton Court News

News Leader Court Reporter - Dawn Johnson

Man sentenced for theft

Raymond J. Witzke appeared in Provincial Court in Princeton on February 9 for sentencing on a charge of theft, to which he had entered a guilty plea at an earlier date. A pre-sentence report had been prepared before sentencing.

In September 2010, Troy Shenton and his girlfriend, Teresa Baird, were awakened by Shenton's truck alarm. Shenton found his truck door open and signs somebody had been moving things around. He called the police.

While police officers were investigating, Witzke staggered out of some bushes on a property across the street. Police questioned him and saw he had Baird's wallet in his possession along with cheques belonging to Shenton.

Witzke had a long record, but the pre-sentence report indicated he has been making progress. He is unable to work, but is maintaining a residence. Crown Counsel requested a jail term for Witzke, but his lawyer asked for one more chance. Judge G. Sinclair was impressed with the pre-sentence report and ordered a one year probation with condition that Witzke stay away from alcohol and drugs.

Judge orders probation

On August 27, 2009, three males were accosted in a service station parking lot in Princeton. A young woman demanded they give her money. When they refused, she assaulted them, punching them in the face. On February 9, 2012, Heaven-Leigh Costa, age 21, of Maple Ridge, appeared in Provincial Court in Princeton to be sentenced.

Testimony given to the court indicated Costa had been drunk at the time of the assault but no longer drinks. She is now a mother, and has changed her lifestyle. She apologized to the court for her past behav-

our. Judge G. Sinclair ordered her to serve a one year probation.

Man enters guilty plea

In Provincial Court in Princeton on February 9, a lawyer acting for Brian Crites entered a guilty plea on his behalf to a charge of communicating via computer to lure a child under age 18. Judge G. Sinclair ordered a pre-sentence report along with a psychiatric/psychological assessment and report. Sentencing is set for April 12, 2012.

Man pleads guilty

James B. Dunford of Princeton appeared in Provincial Court in Princeton on February 9 to enter a guilty plea to a charge of trafficking. He was in custody on other charges, and was released on bail with conditions including curfew and a restriction against possessing any illegal drugs or drug paraphernalia. Judge G. Sinclair ordered a pre-sentence report. Dunford will appear again on April 12.

DEVELOPMENT OF A PEST MANAGEMENT PLAN

File # 105-949-12/17

Gorman Bros. is developing an Integrated Pest Mgmt Plan under the BC Integrated Pest Management Act and associated regulations. The plan will describe a pest management program using Integrated Pest Management techniques.

The purpose of this IPMP is to ensure effective and safe vegetation control within an integrated pest management program on crown land within the Southern Interior Forest Region, Forest Licenses FLA18671 and Forest Permit A18669. This region includes Gorman Bros. operations on crown land and includes but is not limited to the surrounding areas of Penticton, Kelowna, Keremeos, Summerland and Lumby BC.

Under this IPMP, the following are a combination of selectively applied techniques or methods that will be used alone or in combination with one another to suppress and control competitive vegetation. Our approach to prompt site prep and planting with quality seedlings on the best microsites enhances our efforts towards reducing the number of instances where there will be the need for vegetation control. Preventive measures, minimizing soil disturbance, and early recognition of vegetation problems are essential. Mechanical & Manual applications such as Hand Girdling, Brush and Chain saws, (brushing & weeding), Burning, Site Preparation, biological product Chontrol Peat Paste, Herbicide Application with ground foliar spraying, selective or spot treatment and basal bark. Herbicides proposed for use include, glyphosate (Vantage Forestry / VisionMax), and triclopyr (Garlon RTU / Release XRT).

The proposed effective term of this IPMP is from May 30, 2012 to May 29, 2017.

The proposed IPMP, diagrams and map(s) may be viewed at the Gorman Bros. offices at 3900 Dunfield Road, West Kelowna, BC V4Y 2G3. If you wish to review the document please phone Ray for an appointment at 250-768-6242 or you may request to receive further information in regards to this IPMP from the following contact:

E-Qwest Consulting Ltd.
e-qwest@shaw.ca
Phone number 250-766-2677
Fax number 250-766-2677

A person wishing to contribute information about a proposed treatment site, relevant to the development of the Pest Management Plan, may send copies of the information to the applicant at the address above within 30 days of the publication of this notice.

Binge Eating Is A Serious Health Concern

by Jean Gottlieb (NC)—Despite—or because of—diet resolutions, junk foods and fast foods can be immensely satisfying. For many though, it goes beyond a few cookies or burgers, into the realms where eating is a source of shame and distress.

While many individuals binge on occasion, especially after not eating for a while, or on special occasions when delicacy-laden tables are irresistible, there is a group for whom bingeing is almost a way of life.

Bram Hotes is one of these people. In an evening Hotes regularly drives to three or four different fast food outlets, piling bags of fries, burgers, donuts and bagels onto the passenger seat. Sometimes he makes it home before beginning to consume the food. Mostly he doesn't.

Binge eating disorder (BED) is recognized by healthcare providers as affecting a large number of people, almost evenly divided between men and women.

Individuals with BED are often genetically predisposed to weigh more than the "average" person, let alone the unrealistic cultural ideal. There are two distinctive kinds of bingeing: bingeing caused by restrictive eating; and bingeing used to comfort oneself emotionally as a distraction or as a numbing tactic.

"Body dissatisfaction is huge, and many people diet, making themselves hungry, and then binge in response to that hunger," says Merryl Bear, director of the National Eating Disorder Information Centre (www.nedic.ca), which helps find local supports for individuals struggling with disordered eating. "The person may also eat for emotional reasons: to soothe themselves, to avoid uncomfortable situations or to numb uncomfortable feelings." Feelings of shame and embarrassment are common among people who binge-eat.

Overcoming binge eating is largely dependent on understanding why it happens, says the clinical director at Sheena's Place in Toronto, which offers support groups for binge eaters.

Therapists work on helping binge eaters to become aware of feelings that accompany the urge to binge. Approaches to dealing with bingeing include teaching individuals to examine relationships with family and friends, and the way in which they respond to difficult situations. Planned and balanced meals and snacks throughout the day can also help binge eaters normalize their eating.

Teach Your Daughter Real Beauty Secrets

(NC)—Feeling good about your body is one of the best ways to increase self-esteem and face the world with confidence.

But with so many pressures to look a certain way, younger girls can have an especially difficult time feeling happy with their body.

That's why specialists agree that it is so important for parents to have an open and honest conversation with their daughter to ensure she is comfortable with the way she looks. With approximately seven per cent of adult females and adolescent girls being affected by eating disorders, there's no better time to discuss the topic of body image and self-esteem.

Dr. Leslie Sim, clinical director of the Mayo Clinic Eating Disorder Program, suggests the following topics as starting off points to explore the various factors that play a role in how body image is formed:

- Explain the effects of puberty and genetics.

Make sure your daughter understands that weight gain is a normal part of her development, especially during puberty. Explain that body shape also is largely influenced by genetic factors.

- Discuss media messages.

TV, movies, music videos, magazines and even some children's toys may send your daughter the message that only a certain body type is acceptable. Check out what your daughter is reading or watching and discuss it with her. Encourage her to talk about and question what she's seen or heard.

- Discuss self-image.

Talk to your daughter about her self-image and offer reassurance that healthy body shapes vary. Ask her what she likes about herself and explain what you like about her, too. Your acceptance and respect can help her build self-esteem and resilience.

- Use positive language.

Rather than talking about "fat" and "thin", encourage your daughter to focus on maintaining a healthy weight by eating right and staying active. Encourage family and friends to refrain from using hurtful nicknames and joking about people who are overweight or have a large body frame.

As importantly, make sure your daughter knows that she can always come to you with questions or concerns about her body or self-image. More health-related information is available online at www.mayoclinic.org/canada.

Living Past 100

Bad Body Odour Means Bad Health

There are some people who have very bad body odour. Most of us believe such people do not take a shower or bath for months, but that may not be the case. Bad body odour can be a sign of bad health not yet diagnosed.

Like bad breath, bad body odour generally means something foul is going on in the digestive tract. To get rid of the problem, the person who has it must clean out the intestinal tract. This means a big change in what you eat.

The main cause of intestinal problems is lack of green vegetables in the diet. Not only are green vegetables good for you, the chlorophyll that makes them green is a great deodorant for your body. If you really hate spinach and chard, take chlorophyll tablets as directed on the label.

You may need to take probiotics, a supplement that puts good bacteria into your intestines. This is extremely important if you have been taking antibiotics, as most antibiotics kill off the good bacteria needed for proper digestion and reduction of body odour.

Certain physical conditions can cause people to smell bad despite a recent shower or bath. If you or somebody you know has persistent bad body odour despite good hygiene, it is time to see a physician to trace the source.

Posse almost claw Eagles

Princeton Posse hosted Sicamous Eagles February 8th in a mid-week make-up game. The original match between the teams was postponed from January 20th due to weather conditions.

The first period was mostly a fast-paced back-and-forth battle with both sides trying to read each other in an effort to identify weak spots for future attention.

Princeton penetrated one of those weak spots at 2:59 with a goal scored by Brendan Colter, who was assisted by Blake Roney.

The second period saw Princeton widen their lead at 11:23 when Alex Demchuk took a pass from Curtis Bellamy, snuck his way pass the Sicamous defence and shifted to the stick side of Eagle goalie Kris Drott.

Demchuk then flipped the puck up and over Drott's left shoulder with such force it shook the entire webbing of the net when it reached the top corner.

Then it was the Eagles' turn. Sicamous scored a power play goal at 8:19 (Steven Powers from Jameson Stoski and Nathan Grieve) and tied the game at 2-all at 6:56 (Brett Trofanenko from Connor Buick and Brayden Taekema).

After forty minutes it was clear that both sides had a pretty good read on each other.

The third period saw Princeton crank things up a notch and break the tie at 19:44 with a quick goal from Kurtis Bond. Alex Demchuk earned an assist.

Then Princeton's Alex Demchuk showed everyone in Princeton Arena why he's the Team Points Leader by adding another goal at 14:08. Kevin Raimundo and Kurtis Bond each earned assists.

Sicamous added a power play goal at 11:07 (Steven Powers from Nathan Grieve) and pulled their goalie for an extra man with 30-seconds left to play but could not tie the game to force overtime.

Final score: Princeton 4, Sicamous 3. Shots on goal: Sicamous 36, Princeton 33. Penalties in minutes: Princeton 8 for 16-minutes, Sicamous 6 for 12-minutes.

Aries - You are in a much better space at this time, but relationships seem unsatisfactory. Your romantic needs seem unmet, and you seek a more rewarding relationship. Your creativity is high but seems stifled. Patience!

Taurus - You feel good, but should get more exercise. Watch out for weight gain. Peace of mind is important now. Stop day-dreaming, tell the truth to everyone, including yourself. Health problems stem from excess. Diet!

Gemini - New plans emerge among groups you belong to. They may seem impractical but are creative. Balance with practical. Pay close attention to communications on the job. Listen well to elders, persons in authority.

Cancer - Spend some time learning, reading. Open mind to new information. Older woman has authority, gives startling news. Need to care for home property remains priority. Carry out plans for improvements. Be steady.

Leo - Career is busy but successful. Do some reading that stretches your mind and soul. Focus shifts to spiritual values. Keep track of financial problems, keep spending under control. Keep mind on business, no hazy thinking. Focus!

Virgo - Energy levels continue high. Partner, close friend may have confusion, may try to deceive you. Do not rely on information you get now. Double check for facts, make sure source is reliable. Gift may come as surprise. Work hard.

Libra - Focus on work. Woman friend will treat you well. Changes on home front please you. Having fun appeals to you, but remain focused on work. You may feel tired of being serious and work-oriented, but you gain by work now.

Scorpio - Focus shifts to information related to romance, sports, pets. Spend time enjoying music, dance, and outdoor activities. Friends, partner are good to you. Creative juices flow at work. Try new approaches to health problems.

Sagittarius - Your creative juices lead you to some original thinking, and perhaps some original activities that give you a lot of pleasure. You can be the romantic person now. Expect surprises that lead to fun. Focus on home.

Capricorn - Work on your home, but be sure to communicate with people in your immediate environment. Sibling may offer new, information. Pay attention. You are evolving in subtle ways. Take time for fun, art, music.

Aquarius - Discussions about money are important now. Try to get a clear picture, as you could be deceived about what you owe and what you own. Sister or female neighbour may surprise you. Tax, mortgage problems need answer.

Pisces - This is a good time for you to express yourself. You can be full of fun and charm others now. You may wish to spend on new things, but keep spending under tight control. Others may seem difficult: use charm, love.

Slow Cooker Turkey Pesto Parmesan Meatballs

Ingredients:

- 1/2 lbs (750 g) ground turkey
- 5 Tbsp (65 mL) pesto, divided
- 1 tsp (5 mL) hot pepper flakes
- 1/3 cup (75 mL) grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1/2 tsp (2 mL) salt
- 2 tsp (10 mL) canola oil
- 2 - 28 oz (796 mL) cans diced tomatoes
- 1 - 5.5 oz (156 mL) can tomato paste
- 1 tsp (5 mL) granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup (50 mL) red wine

Directions:

In a large bowl, combine ground turkey, 4 Tbsp (60 mL) of pesto, hot pepper flakes, Parmesan cheese, onion and salt. Shape mixture into 30 - 1 1/2 inch (3.5 cm) meatballs.

In a large non-stick skillet, heat oil. Place meatballs in skillet and cook 1-2 minutes per side, until lightly browned.

Place meatballs in slow cooker. Add diced tomatoes, remaining 1 Tbsp (15 mL) of pesto, tomato paste, sugar and red wine, stir carefully to combine.

Cook on high 4-6 hours or until meatballs are cooked through. Serve over hot cooked pasta.

Around The Similkameen!

Small pockets of open water were visible on Skaha Lake near Penticton on February 3rd. By February 7th, Skaha Lake had frozen over, only to begin melting the next day as temperatures increased. In recent years, Skaha Lake has been known to freeze over as early as the first week in January - a sight watched carefully in the Winter by Similkameen Valley residents. Photo: Arlene Arlow

Mother Nature threw a curveball - er, a snowball across from - and a bit west of - Yellow Lake on February 3rd. The snowball pictured here was about 24 inches in diameter and resulted from a chunk of melting snow falling off the top of a wooden power pole (power pole is visible in the upper left). The chunk of snow began its journey about 7 inches across upon first impact. Fortuitously, the underlying bank of sticky melting snow was steep enough to cause the original chunk of snow to start rolling instead of skidding or sliding. And then, fortuitously, the snow was sticky enough to adhere to the rolling snowball. And then, fortuitously, the slope of the bank leveled out, just in time for the snowball to slow and stop. Voila! A perfect snow roll that had the makings of a giant cinnamon roll, minus the dough! Photo: Arlene Arlow

A Decade of Diamonds

The Story Behind Princeton Legion's Diamond Dinner - by John Haayer

In the fall of 2002 we came up with a fundraising idea for the local Legion Branch. It seemed the ladies of Princeton needed an event to attend that they could dress up for and have a good time. This came to fruition in March of 2003.

Enter the first annual, hopefully, Diamond Dinner. We knew what they wanted; a semi-formal affair with entertainment and perhaps a bit of class.

Enter the Legion Hunks.

To put on this event we needed at least 24 male volunteers. Originally we were going to put the obligation of feeding 100 ladies in someone else's hands but as fate had it this was going to be on the onus of the guys and they came through. Sixteen on the floor to serve, another six in the kitchen to put together a gourmet meal and let's not forget the bartenders and runners.

We all met two days before not having a clue what we were going to do. We set up the tables, decorated the hall and came up with a plan of action. The guys knew their stations and what was expected of them to treat the ladies to what we hoped would be a first class evening.

And everybody came through! 100 ladies, sixteen servers (hunks), eager bartenders and a crew in the kitchen (playing it by ear), 100 roses, lots of door prizes and $1,000 worth of diamonds up for grabs. And it worked!!! Never have I seen such a motley crew put on such a fantastic evening for our ladies.

We behaved; they didn't!!

A party that is hard to describe unless you were there. Lest I forget: $1,500 profit for our Branch to help us maintain our worthwhile assistance to our Veterans and our community.

Here we are ten years later and this event appears to be as popular as ever. A few things have changed over the years. Better prizes, bigger raffle. A 50/50 draw and live music to follow in the Lounge.

As this is the 10th Annual Diamond Dinner we wanted to do something special so have increased the value of the diamonds and added a $1,000.00 trip to the prizes.

Because of this the ticket price will be $40 this year, which still includes two beverages, but be assured the increase has all gone to fund the extra prizes.

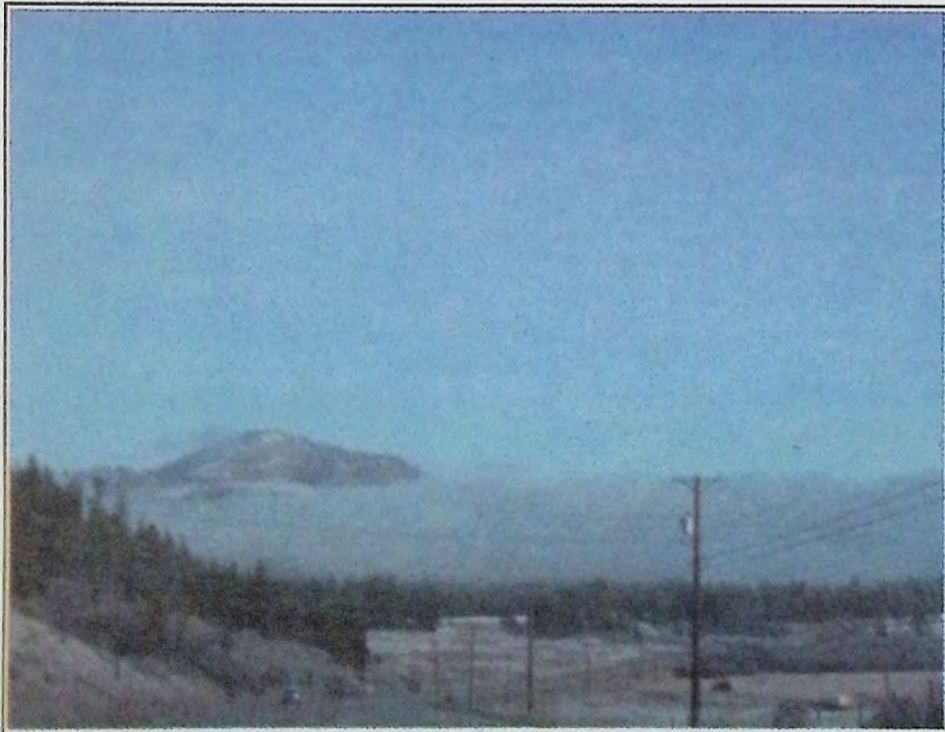

As always you cannot reserve tickets but due to demand we have increased the number of tickets from 100 to 120. In fairness to all waiting in line to purchase tickets this year there will be a limit of 4 tickets per person.

Thank you all for your ongoing support and special thanks to our corporate sponsors, The Gold Room Jewellers, Safeway Floral (New Westminster), and Expedia Cruiseship Center (Penticton).

Great for the Guys. Grand for the Gals. Good for the Legion.

The 10th annual event is set for April 14th. I hope to see you there. Tickets on sale March 1st at 9:00 AM in the Legion office.

Fog was a daily and nightly problem along Highway 3A the week of February 7th. During late winter and late fall, fog can make driving extremely tricky along the four-mile stretch east of the Twin Lakes Store. This photo was taken eastbound at 11:19 AM on February 7th. Photo: Arlene Arlow

Folks getting exercise is a common morning sight along highway 3A north of Olalla. For those who don't know better, this picture shows how one is supposed to walk along a highway: Rule #1. Ensure you are visible. The lady (on the right) is wearing an orange jacket, a color that will definitely be seen by motor vehicle drivers. The gent is wearing an orange reflective jacket. Night or day, this couple will be seen by oncoming traffic. Rule #2. Walk against the traffic so that traffic passes you on your right. Presuming you are paying attention (maybe that should be rule #3), you will be able to react should you need to get off the road to save yourself. If you have your back to oncoming traffic, you won't see a vehicle bearing down on you. Photo: Arlene Arlow

by Carter Boswell

HOW TO PLAY:

Sudoku is a game of logic. There is no math involved. The object of the game is to fill the grid so that the numbers 1 through 9 appear only once in each row, column and 3 x 3 box. The numbers can appear in any order and Carter has left you some clues below.

1	8			9
	9		7	4			3	8
		3				9
			2		4	6
2	6						4	5
		8	9		5
		1				4
6	5			7	8		1
				2			8	7

The past year has been a challenging one for many of us. It was difficult for those of us in my party and for many Canadians to lose such a principled leader as Jack Layton. However, life goes on as we work to try and build the country that Jack envisioned.

As a re-elected MP it has been refreshing to work with the new crop of Orange Wave MPs in my party, especially the youth. Their energy and passion has been an inspiration to all of us in Opposition during this current Parliament.

It has also been a pleasure for me to work with Elizabeth May, who seconded my Private Member's Bill to create a Department of Peace. As discussions continue on the renewal of the Columbia River Treaty, I plan to work closely with David Wilkes, the newly elected MP for Kootenay-Columbia to ensure Basin residents' interests are put first. As well, I have given my full support for a Private Member's Bill of Dan Albas, MP for Okanagan-Coquihalla, which would allow citizens to bring wine purchased at local wineries across inter-provincial borders.

One issue that has taken much attention this past year has been the requirement of Canadians holding US dual citizenship to report their financial assets to the US government, under the threat of heavy penalties. We have been working with the government to try and resolve this issue. The Americans have made gestures indicating that they are backing down on their threat of heavy penalties, in some cases, but are not willing to change their requirements.

In general, I would say that it has been extremely difficult trying to work under the current federal Conservative majority government. Whether at Committee or in the House, they have limited debate and rammed through legislation at an unprecedented rate.

It doesn't matter, for example, what lawyers, judges and American legislators have said in regard to the Omnibus Crime Bill (C-10). The Conservatives have passed legislation that will put more people in prison, and strain federal and provincial budgets, in spite of the fact that our crime rate is going down and that this approach has failed in the U.S.

Another ideological move has seen the Conservative government gut the Canadian Wheat Board, without allowing farmers to have a say in the future of what is supposed to be a farmer-controlled organization.

I will continue this federal review of 2011 in my next column.

Valley First celebrates 65 years of service

For 65 years, Valley First has been making a real difference in the lives of its members and communities, building a reputation as one of the region's leading financial institutions and corporate citizens.

Established on February 7, 1947, Valley First's impressive growth often defies its humble beginnings. Starting out as a company with just 51 members and less than $1,000 in total assets in its first year of operations, Valley First is now a division of B.C.'s third largest credit union - First West Credit Union.

"Over the last 65 years, Valley First has built a reputation as a great place to do business, a great place to work, and a great neighbour," says Valley

First president Paulette Rennie.

"Throughout our growth, serving our members, caring for our employees and strengthening our communities has remained at the heart of everything we do. We take great pride by being both a responsible corporate citizen as well as the region's most trusted source for financial services."

Serving close to 50,000 members, Valley First has spread throughout the Okanagan, Similkameen and Thompson valleys. While Valley First has grown considerably, it has remained true to its local roots by supporting numerous community programs every year.

As part of its 65th anniversary celebration, Valley First is challenging members and employees to donate 6,500 pounds of food to Feed the Valley by the end of 2012. The Valley First branch that gathers the largest weight contribution will donate $6,500 to its local food bank. Donations can be made at any Valley First branch or insurance location.

During 2011, Valley First and its employees donated more than $320,000 to various charities, events and community organizations as well as volunteering more than 1,000 hours of their own time.

Additionally, Valley First strengthened its partnerships with local food banks, raising more than $100,000 through its Feed the Valley program. It has also continued to sponsor flagship events, such as the Valley First Granfondo Axel Merckx Okanagan, the Okanagan wine festivals and the Interior Provincial Exhibition in Armstrong.

Valley First is a division of First West Credit Union, B.C.'s third-largest credit union, which has 37 branches and 29 insurance offices throughout the Lower Mainland, Fraser Valley, Kitimat and Okanagan, Similkameen and Thompson valleys. First West has approximately $6.2 billion in assets under administration, 167,000 members and 1,300 employees.

Your Turn

Letters and E-Mails Received This Past Week

..... continued from Page 4 of the human anatomy that you sit on and faces out. Hence the term "butt out". That you're stressed out is not good. Stress can lower the immune system and be the basis, of many illnesses. To relieve it try a couple shooters and some chicken wings or a cold beer and munchies Friday at the Legion or a soup and sandwich lunch at Seniors club 30, each with good companionship.

However the best remedy is a bird-watcher's hike to a Coalmont mountain peak and yodel non-stop for at least three hours, twice a week. It does wonders.

Example: Question to Med Pad, I feel terrible. What are the results of my checkup?

Med Pad reply: You need a new heart, two knee, and two hip replacements plus a cataract job. You'll be in the body shop for at least seven months, that is if we get all the parts. You should be good till the age three hundred and twenty seven when you're up for a warranty checkup.

We recommend the spruce wooden heart although there is a slight risk of a dormant spruce worm activating itself. It has a lifetime warranty and we support the forestry industry. And if it's any consolation when Sweetie calls you a worm it's justifiable.

Because of the mine we do have a copper heart but because copper is so valuable a Sweetie could steal your heart away and you'd have to go through life known as the heartless one. Certainly not upbeat.

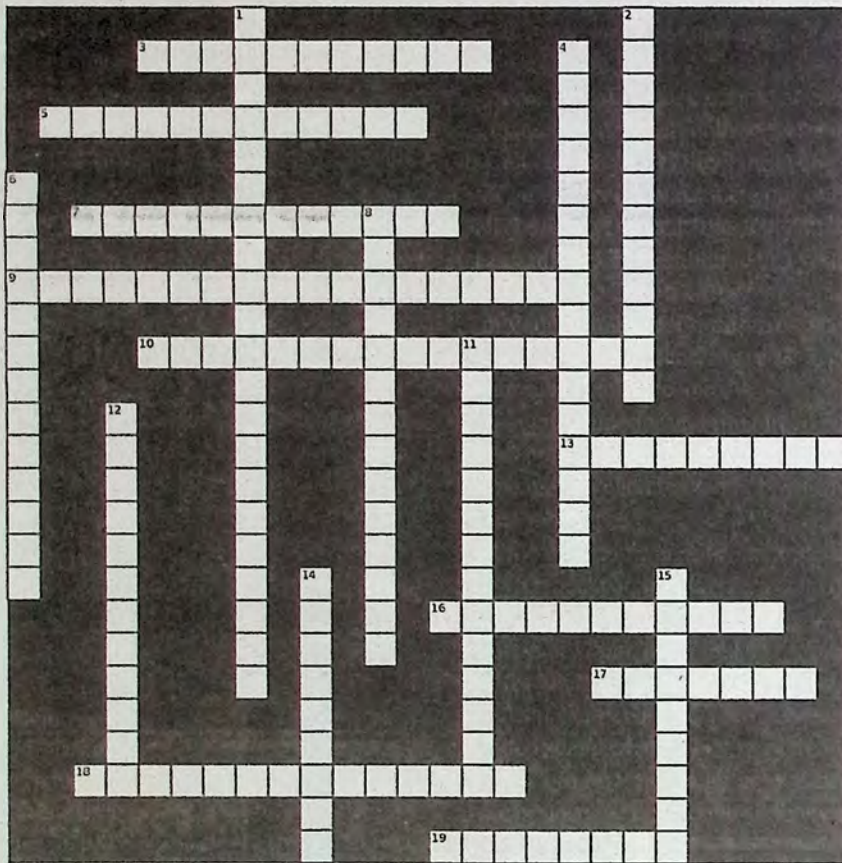

Lastly, once a week a reader should act as "Health Minister" and publish their solution to a relevant health problem.

- Joe Schwarz, Princeton

Dear Editor,

I just read your paper, with great interest in the article about ATVs on the KVR.

I would like to mention a user group that not too many people have considered; the handicapped. I have been taking my mother-in-law down the KVR for years, and have always felt guilty.

This now clears the confusion about the legalities of quads. To say that this trail should be used only by walkers and bicycles is purely self-ish, and I will now ride with a very happy mother-in-law with a clear conscience.

Town Council News

Council wants to hear Steelworkers

Town Council received a letter from United Steelworkers Union on the question of raw log exports. The union opposes any measures that would increase the export of raw logs from British Columbia. They asked for Council support for their position.

Council decided to invite union representatives to a Council meeting to present their position to Council.

Council can build more dikes

Town Council applied two years ago for funding to complete the dike project along the Similkameen River in an area referred to as Burton Flats.

A letter arrived on January 30 advising Council it has been approved up to $210,000 from the Building Canada Fund, Flood Protection. Council must comply with all necessary permits and authorizations and to meet with funding representatives.

Council defers wedding request

Town Council received a request from Paulette Boyd and Rod Carlson to use Two Rivers Park as the site for their August 4 wedding. This was a first for Town Council. No policy exists for weddings in Town parks.

Several concerns have to be addressed, beginning with liability, possible safety issues, and parking. Two Rivers Park is located at the junction of Tulameen and Similkameen Rivers and is accessible along the TransCanada Trail. Council will respond to the couple to discuss the concerns before a decision is made.

Council will review parking

At the request of Jerome Tjerkstra, proprietor of a business on Bridge Street, Town Council will undertake a review of the parking bylaw. In a letter to Council, Tjerkstra outlined problems he faces as a result of undertaking renovations to his business premises, including the fact that it will cost him $250 just to request a parking variance.

Tjerkstra pointed out to Council that Penticton has done away with the old system of allocating a specified number of parking spots per business because there is no guarantee that all of the parking spots are going to be filled at any given time.

Tjerkstra advised that the Chamber of Commerce will issue a letter of support for his request.

Free shower heads and faucet aerators?

Town Council will be talking to an organization that wants to improve the efficiency of hot water use. City Green Solutions, in partnership with FortisBC has received funding for an environmental project in Okanagan-Similkameen to install high efficiency shower heads and faucets in homes with gas hot water tanks.

The goal of the organization is to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. The goal is to install the high efficiency equipment in 3,000 homes to achieve a potential saving of 905 tonnes of carbon dioxide per year. The project will be launched in April.

South Okanagan Bantams hosted their first play-off game of the opening series February 10th at Princeton Arena. The game, which saw South Okanagan leading Winfield 4-2 at the end of two periods, was well attended since eight Princeton boys play on the team. Only 14-seconds into the third Winfield scored to make it 4-3. South Okanagan won the match 7-3. *

More tiny quakes

Princeton area was again the site of two small earthquakes this month, part of a continuing pattern of Okanagan-Similkameen quakes. On February 1, a 2.6 quake struck the Wolf Creek area shortly after 2:00 PM.

On February 2, a 2.4 quake hit Copper Mountain.

These quakes followed a late January quake near Osoyoos, another near Yakima, and then the February 1 1.8 quake near Omak. On February 2, there was a 2.1 quake at Moses Lake shortly after the Copper Mountain quake.

All of these quakes are occurring on a north-south line and all of them are very shallow. The quakes in the Princeton area have been less than a kilometer in depth.

Council adopts new signage strategy

Thompson Rivers University did a sign audit of Princeton in 2010. In July 2011, Town Council met with consultants and decided to develop a strategy for future signage in Town.

The strategy would be developed with input from local businesses and residents. A Signage Strategy and

The quakes along the Okanagan-Similkameen line appear to echo a series of small quakes along the coast from Bellingham to Tacoma, Washington.

Manual was developed at a cost of $15,064.

The manual is extensive, consisting of specifications and drawings of acceptable signs and recommendations for correcting inadequacies in present signage as well as recommendations for future signage. The manual is available at Town Hall.

Princeton's Kolten Smith caught in game action February 10th in a game against Winfield. Smith is one of eight Princeton boys playing on the South Okanagan Bantam team. *

TOWN OF PRINCETON SAYS...

DO NOT FEED THE DEER!

Someone is leaving hay out for deer near Princeton Airport. The Town of Princeton is requesting whoever is doing it to stop. If you know who may be responsible for this, or may be aware of other residents who are feeding deer you can contact the Princeton Bylaw Enforcement Department at 250.295.3135. Complaint forms are also available at the Town Office. Staff will not take complaints over the phone. The Deer Feeding Bylaw is below spelling out all the details and guidelines for enforcement. Photo: Town of Princeton

Town of Princeton Bylaw No. 822, 2009*TOWN OF PRINCETON
BYLAW NO. 822, 2009

A Bylaw to prohibit the feeding of deer within the Town of Princeton. WHEREAS pursuant to the Community Charter, Council may regulate, prohibit and impose requirements respecting the feeding or attracting of members of the family Cervidae primarily deer. THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Council of The Town of Princeton in open meeting assembled, enacts as follows:

PART 1:*TITLE

1. This Bylaw may be known and cited for all purposes as "Town of Princeton Deer Feeding Bylaw No. 822, 2009".

PART 2:*DEFINITIONS

2. In this Bylaw unless the context otherwise requires; "Bylaw Enforcement Officer" means a person or persons designated or appointed from time to time by Council to enforce the bylaw or bylaws generally; "Council" means the municipal council of the Town of Princeton; "deer" means any indigenous member of the deer family common to North America, either male, female or offspring; "feed" means to give, place, expose, deposit, distribute, or scatter any food or other substance with the intention of feeding, attracting or enticing deer; "natural" means food or other substances consumed by deer produced by, or existing in nature, not artificial; "Town" means the Town of Princeton;

PART 3:*PROHIBITIONS OF FEEDING

3. No owner or occupier of land within the Town of Princeton shall intentionally feed, cause to be fed or provide or make available food or other substances for the consumption by deer within the Town of Princeton, either on private property or on public property.

PART 4:*EXEMPTIONS

4. This Bylaw shall not apply to any natural product that is growing on a particular land owned or occupied where feeding of deer is occurring.

PART 5:*INSPECTIONS

5. Bylaw Enforcement Officers of the Town are hereby authorized to enter at all reasonable times upon any property within the Town for the purpose of ascertaining whether the regulations under this Bylaw are being observed, or whether a requirement of the Town is being met.

PART 6:*OFFENCES AND ENFORCEMENT

6. Every person who violates any provision of this Bylaw, or who permits, suffers or allows any act to be done in violation of any provision of this Bylaw, or who neglects to do anything required to be done by any provision of this Bylaw, commits an offence punishable upon summary conviction and is subject to a fine not less than $250 and not more than $10,000.00.

7. Each day that a violation exists or is permitted to exist is deemed to be a separate offence against this Bylaw.

8. This Bylaw may be enforced by means of a ticket in the form prescribed for the purpose of section 264 of the Community Charter.

9. Pursuant to section 264(1)(b) of the Community Charter, Bylaw Enforcement Officer are designated to enforce this Bylaw.

10. Pursuant to section 264(1)(c) of the Community Charter, the words or expression in Column 2 of Schedule "A" to this Bylaw designate the offence committed under the Bylaw section number appearing in Column 1 opposite the respective words or expression.

11. Pursuant to section 265(1)(a) of the Community Charter, the fine amount in Column 3 of Schedule "A" to this Bylaw is the fine amount that corresponds to the section number and words or expression set out in Columns 1 and 2 opposite the fine amount.

12. Council hereby delegates the authority to refer any disputed tickets to the Provincial Court to the Town's Chief Administrative Officer and to Bylaw Enforcement Officer.

13. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this Bylaw, or who suffers or permits any act or thing to be done in contravention of any provision of this Bylaw, or who neglects to do or refrains from doing anything required to be done by any provision of this Bylaw is guilty of an offence, and, each day that a violation is caused or allowed to continue shall constitute a separate offence.

14. Every person who commits an offence under this Bylaw shall be liable on summary conviction to the penalty prescribed in the Offence Act.

PART 7:*SEVERABILITY AND REPEAL

15. If a court of competent jurisdiction finds any part, section or subsection of this Bylaw to be invalid or unenforceable, the impugned part, section or subsection shall be severed from the remainder of the Bylaw and the remainder of the Bylaw shall remain valid and in force.

16. The Town of Princeton Deer Feeding Bylaw No.756 is hereby repealed.
