Council approves court house analysis

A contract was awarded at the May 7th Town Council meeting for a facility analysis of the Princeton Court House building.

The motion made by Councillor Marilyn Harkness, and seconded by Councillor Frank Armitage, will see Associated Engineering (BC) Ltd. conduct mechanical, electrical and environmental facility assessment at a cost of $9,949 plus HST.

The assessment is required as current systems in the municipally owned building are aging.

The Princeton Court House is now over 72 years old. The last major upgrade on the building was completed in 1998 when foundation work was conducted.

"Unfortunately a number of deficiencies have been identified due to age, deferred maintenance, changes in regulations, changes in facility use and comments from tenants," CAO Patrick Robins explains in his report to Town Council.

"This has necessitated the need to conduct a comprehensive facility analysis."

Robins says the analysis will determine if the electrical and mechanical systems within the building meet current and future needs and to ensure that the environmental conditions within the building do not pose any safety and health risks.

Forum focuses on air quality

It's called respirable particulate matter and it was the main focus at the Princeton Air Quality Coalition's forum May 8th at Riverside Theatre.

Ralph Adams of BC Ministry of Environment explained to a crowd of 50 interested residents that air quality levels in Princeton have been monitored over a period starting 16-months ago.

In 2010 a plan was developed with the cooperation of BC's Ministry of Environment, the Town of Princeton and Princeton Co-Gen (the 'pellet plant') to measure for respirable particulate matter over a one-year period.

A parisol instrument (measuring device) was installed near the Princeton Fire Hall with filters being changed following the six day National Air Pollution Survey schedule.

Princeton Co-Gen paid for the analysis of the filters.

Adams pointed out that while the main objective of the exercise was the measure levels of PM2.5 within Princeton's residential core, there were no existing measurements in the air shed, "the measurements would be used to compare the air quality in Princeton to provincial objectives and other communities."

A total of 48 of a possible 61 filters (or 80%) were "correctly exposed and analyzed" in the time period, which began January 2011.

The data collected from the filters in Princeton were compared with measurements recorded in Merritt and Kamloops on the same dates, using the same instruments.

"Data shows that in fall and winter PM2.5 levels are significantly higher in Princeton than in Merritt or Kamloops," Adams explained.

Conversely, during the summer and spring months levels in Princeton are very similar to the measurements recorded in Merritt and Kamloops.

"The annual average was 10 micrograms per cubic metre in Princeton, where the BC objective is 8," Adams stated.

"Annual averages in Merritt are about 8.5 and those in Kamloops were from 5 to 7, depending on the year."

Adams says the levels recorded in Princeton "are high enough to be of concern" and pointed out that Princeton is the only community in the RDOS, which measured higher

Chamber, Town enter into agreement

The Town of Princeton formalized an agreement with Princeton & District Chamber of Commerce at the May 7th meeting of Town Council.

The motion made by Councillor Frank Armitage, and seconded by Councillor Marilyn Harkness will see the Town of Princeton enter into a three-year Fee for Service Agreement with the Chamber for the provision of visitor information and town promotional services. The fee is set at $25,000.00 per year.

There is currently no agreement in place although the Chamber has been providing these services for a number of decades.

"Entering into a service agreement sets out the standard of service the Town of Princeton expects and provides certainty during the term to the Chamber of Commerce on annual funding," states CAO Patrick Robins in his report to Town Council. Chamber representatives, Deputy Mayor Jason Earle and Robins reviewed a draft agreement April 16th and April 23rd.

Funding for the services has been based upon an annual Grant in Aid request from the Chamber of Commerce. The Fee for Service Agreement fixes the fee at $25,000.00 per year over the next three years.

Council approves transit agreement

The Town of Princeton approved the BC Transit annual Operating Agreement between the Town and Princeton & District Community Services at the May 7th regular meeting of Town Council.

The motion made by Councillor Marilyn Harkness, seconded by Councillor Frank Armitage, approves the operating agreement for the period from April 1, 2012 to March 31, 2013.

The Town of Princeton and BC Transit share the cost of funding a public passenger transportation system, which is operated by Princeton & District Community Services. BC Transit's yearly operating agreement and budget must be approved by both Town Council and by Princeton & District Community Services prior to its year-end.

"Costs and revenues are expected to be marginally less than last year," states Deputy Treasurer Shirley McMahon in her report to Council.

In 2011/12 the municipal share of costs was $81,185.00, offset by budgeted revenues of $34,000.00. The 2012/13 budgeted municipal share will total $81,055.00, while revenue is expected to be $34,340.00.

Placing Old Age Security on a Sustainable Path

Canadians are living longer and costs for the Old Age Security (OAS) are rising. On April 1, 2023 the Government of Canada plans to start raising the age of eligibility for OAS and the Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS) from 65 to 67.*

What does this mean for you?

64 or older as of March 31, 2012

You may still obtain OAS/GIS at age 65

63 or younger as of March 31, 2012

The age of eligibility for OAS/GIS will change gradually between 2023 and 2029

Starting in July 2013, Canadians who are eligible for, but not yet receiving OAS will have the flexibility to delay receiving it in exchange for a higher monthly amount at a later date.

The number of working-age Canadians for every senior is decreasing**

Flip Of The Coyne

by Spencer Coyne

It is not every day you get to meet and know someone who actually inspires you to be better. I feel extremely fortunate not only to have met a person like that but to have been able to call that person a friend. Even though I only knew Mayor Thomas a short time, the time that I did spend with him inspired me.

When he believed in something, you felt his energy and you became consumed by it and believed that there was nothing in this world that was out of your reach. The more I spoke to Fred, the more I believed and the more optimistic I became about, not only my future, but the future of our community.

Fred's leaving us is a hard pill to swallow. I am still numb. Fred had a vision for our community and it was and remains a vision I believe in. Fred may have had one of the strangest campaign slogans, "Who Is Fred Thomas?" but it sure was effective. By Election Day, it was hard not to overhear people talking about this new guy Fred Thomas who was running for Mayor. I think it goes to show who Fred Thomas the Mayor of Princeton was. Fred was open and accessible, and most importantly, when Fred said something it was because it was what he meant.

Going back to Fred's vision for Princeton, I think it is the same vision most of us have for our community. Fred believed that Princeton needed local business, industrial and residential development, education, arts and tourism development and fiscal responsibility.

Who can argue with any of that? Fred Thomas the politician believed we needed to work together to achieve our goals. This is one of the qualities that appealed to me when I first met Fred.

I will never forget the first time I met Fred. We met at a local coffee shop he wanted to discuss local issues with me after I had started the Princeton and Area Issues group on Facebook. Fred and I stayed in contact after that and we had a great many discussions and every one of those discussions inspired me to once again step back into public life.

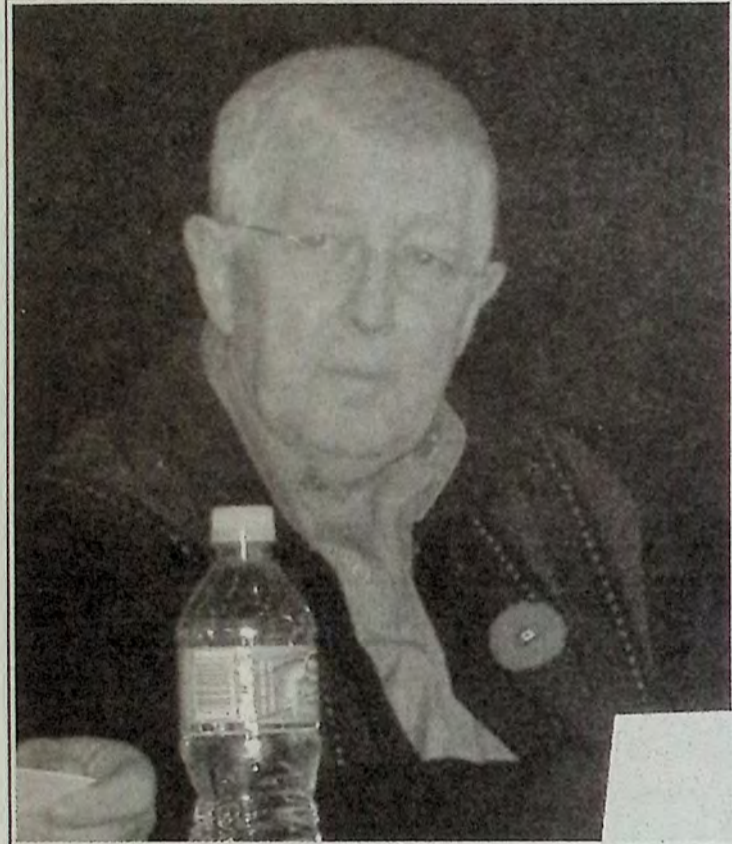

I can honestly say if it wasn't for Fred's belief in a functioning hospital and 24/7 Emergency Room I would never had gone to that first meeting on April 12th that would eventually lead me to the position I am in now. It was Fred who gave me hope that we could get our hospital services back and it was inspiration he gave me through his energy that inspired me to fight back against the closures.

We lost a great man when Fred left us. His seat will be a hard seat to fill by whoever decides to take the plunge and run for mayor in the by-election. I hope that the next mayor and especially the current council will stay the course and work to see Mayor Thomas' "ideas become a reality" as Councillor Earle put it.

It would have been exciting to see what Princeton by the end of Mayor Thomas' term would have looked like. I can only imagine, but that vision is still possible and bright. I think one of Mayor Thomas' legacies will be that he brought people together.

Thank you, Fred for your dedication to Princeton. Thank you for listening to the people. Thank you for your friendship and thank you for sharing some of that contagious energy that inspired so many of us.

Fred Thomas listening to a response during the All-Candidates Forum last November at Riverside Centre. *

WATER RESTRICTIONS

Water Restrictions will be in effect May 15, 2012.

By conserving today, we reduce the need for expanded facilities and costly upgrades to the water system.

What are the rules?

- Lawn sprinkling regulations are in effect from May 15 to September 30 every year.
- There are four stages of restrictions, each stage allowing less water use.
- Stage 1 comes into effect automatically on May 15 of every year unless more stringent water conservation measures are needed. Stages 2, 3 and 4 are implemented according to the severity of the water shortage. Each level requires increasingly larger reductions in water use.
- Residential, multi-family, commercial, Industrial, institutional and public properties are all required to follow the regulations.

Stage 1 Restrictions will be in effect May 15th.

- Even numbered civic addresses may water on Wednesdays, Friday and Sundays.
- Odd numbered civic addresses may water on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
- No watering is permitted between Noon and 6:00 pm.
- Watering is not permitted on Mondays.
- Washing of boats or motor vehicles with a hose is permitted only if using a hose with an automatic shut-off device.
- Public sector entities are restricted to three days per week at any time.

Bylaw Enforcement Officers will enforce all levels of the water restrictions bylaw. A person who contravenes the bylaw commits an offence under the Offence Act and is subject to a fine.

For more information visit Town hall during regular business hours.

COUNCIL MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

May 7, 2012

- Brent Ashby of KPMG presented the 2011 Financial Statements.
- Council approved a Fee for Service agreement with the Chamber of Commerce for the provision of the visitor information services and promotional services.
- Associated Engineering was awarded the contract for the provision of and electrical, mechanical and air quality assessment for the Court House.
- The 2012 Financial Plan and Tax Rate bylaws were adopted. The Tax Rates Bylaw contains the tax rates for the Town of Princeton, the Okanagan Regional Library, the Regional Hospital District and the Regional District of Okanagan-Similkameen. Based upon an average single family residential property assessed at $187,547 in 2011 and $191,647 in 2012, the Municipal portion of the average residential property tax bill, would be $506.63 in 2012, an increase of $7.82 or 1.6 % above the average of $498.81 in 2011. It should be noted that the annual tax bill that residents and businesses receive includes these tax rates plus tax rates from the provincial government for school and policing taxes; tax rates from the BC Assessment Authority; and tax rates from the Municipal Finance Authority. Although the municipality delivers each property owner a tax bill with all of these itemized taxes, the Town receives only the tax amounts for general municipal purposes; this is approximately 40% of the total tax bill. The remaining tax amounts are remitted to the appropriate agency.

My Turn

Who Is Fred Thomas?

I think I was as stunned as most area residents who heard the news of the passing of Mayor Fred Thomas.

I can't recall the first time I met him, but I do remember he was 'that British guy' I would see periodically around town.

I also knew he was a customer of mine and read (and 'got') a lot of the between the lines stuff I sneak into many of my Editorials.

I first learned his name was Fred when the pool referendum started to build momentum. He impressed me from the get-go with his questions, observations and point of view – all of which were obviously well researched and based on fact and logic rather than dreams and imagination.

He started showing up in my office more frequently as we discussed the referendum and I enjoyed being able to talk about a project I honestly did not think the community could afford with someone who didn't try to convince me otherwise or accuse me of being negative.

One of Fred's best qualities I liked was that he wasn't negative. If he disagreed about something he gave you verifiable reasons for his stance. I have always argued that it's tough to disprove logic and common sense and Fred was the guy I liked most because that was such a big part of his fabric. He understood tangibles.

He had a level of integrity I admired so much that when he came to me with the news that he had just filed papers to run in the municipal election for the seat of Mayor I was, well, stunned.

Then when he approached me with his "Who is Fred Thomas?" election campaign I honestly thought he was so far in left field it sort of bothered and amused me at the same time.

It wasn't long after that when it dawned on me he had embraced what people were saying (Who is this guy? I've never heard of him) and turned it into a successful run in local politics. I didn't think he'd win at first, but once I got caught up in his infectious enthusiasm I would have been disappointed if he didn't.

As a Mayor, Fred faced an enormous uphill struggle from the very beginning, but he climbed that mountain methodically, one step at a time and overcame the obstacles.

Words others have used to describe Fred include kind, honest, dedicated, focused and a gentleman.

He never talked down to you, regardless of who you were. He listened to you and paid attention to what you were saying.

Although Fred served in public office for a very short time, I'm certain his efforts will have a lasting effect on our community.

It was a pleasure getting to know "that British guy" and I know I'm going to miss him a lot.

Frederick Joseph Thomas passed away on Friday, May 4th in Princeton General Hospital. A service will be held on Saturday, May 19th at 2:00 PM at the St. Paul's United Church Hall, refreshments to follow. Donations to the St. Paul's United Church will be accepted in his memory.

Rattling The Sabres Threatens All

editor@thenewsleader.ca

potential in Sendai, Japan, for a major nuclear incident unless Tepco, the owner of the Fukushima power plant that exploded a year ago, neutralizes its storehouse of spent fuel rods. This huge deposit of fuel rods needs to be buried the same way Chernobyl is buried, but Tepco shows no indication of doing anything about it in the near future.

Physicians against nuclear explosions say any 'small' nuclear war in the Middle East has the potential of the loss of life of a billion people, and not just in the Middle East. They did a study that showed such a war would alter the weather to the point where, in five years, crop failures would accumulate to the point at which people would begin dying of starvation in many places in the world. Ten years after this nuclear conflict, a billion people would have died of starvation.

In a starving world, the first to die are children. Such a conflict would wipe out children first, as children have the least resistance against starvation. The people who would die first are those who have the least resources. As food shortages increased, food prices would increase. Those who could not afford to buy food would die.

Food costs are escalating now due to the high cost of petroleum fuel. The higher price of food begins with the higher cost of producing food and then continues to escalate with the higher cost of transportation. As food scarcity increases, the food will go to the highest bidder in the market. Food is sold as a commodity in a market where the highest bidder wins. This would affect food prices worldwide.

As to radioactive contamination, which would create an increasingly high level of cancer and other health disorders, we are living with the results of nuclear contamination now. The effects of nuclear contamination do not show up for many years. Adults have the ability to resist the effects until old age. Children are affected first. Right now, radioactive contamination is suspected as the cause of hundreds of infant deaths in North America as a result of the Fukushima disaster. Adults may not show any signs for the next 20 years.

To add to what is known as 'background' contamination, there is the residue from Chernobyl and the 2,053 nuclear explosions since 1945, more than 1,000 of which took place in southwestern United States. Russia exploded more than 500 nuclear bombs in many locations in Russia, and Britain and France detonated nuclear bombs in the South Pacific region. There is scarcely any place on earth where radioactive fallout has not contaminated the environment to some extent.

This latest round of threats of war should bring all of us ordinary people to our feet to shout against our governments. I cannot think of one ordinary citizen of any country who is ready to enter any sort of war, let alone a nuclear conflict. It is past the time when the ordinary people of the world united to tell the rich and the politically powerful that we simply want peace and prosperity. If all of the money spent on military capability were to be spent on keeping people fed, housed and healthy, would our world be a better place to live?

Now that we have the ability, through internet, to create a worldwide consensus and worldwide citizen action, what is stopping us from taking our own kind of action?

The Middle East, that place where nobody has been happy in the past 2,000 years, is currently the focus of a lot of sabre rattling. For our younger readers, this means a show of military strength meant to intimidate the other guys. In today's situation, the threat is nuclear war because Iran may be acquiring nuclear capability.

The United States has moved military deployments to positions that could strike Iran from several different directions. China has issued a warning that it will intervene if such action takes place, and Russia has indicated it would join the fray. India, a nuclear capable nation, would strike against Pakistan and call down the wrath of Russia and China. Europe, of course, would side with the United States. On and on it goes, one nation threatening another in a war not yet declared. This is major international brinkmanship over a territory where nobody knows who is going to raise the next alarm.

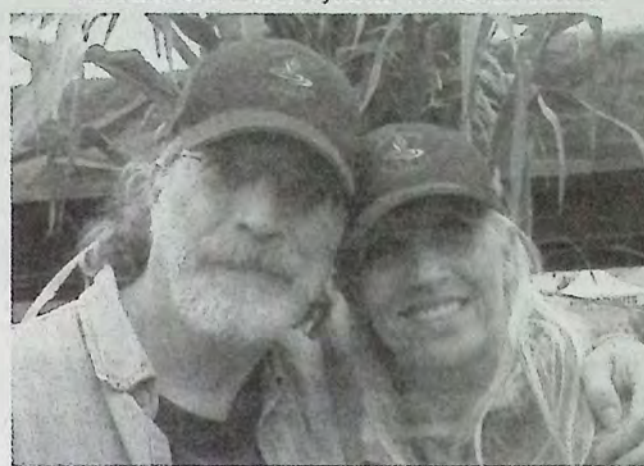

In the meantime, there are dire warnings from physicians who have worldwide organizations opposing any nuclear activity. They are already alarmed at the

About 25 local merchants and community leaders met in Keremeos April 30th. The "Smart Host Mini Fair" put together by the Similkameen Country chamber featured loss prevention tips and information from the YMCA, CIBC, Citizens On Patrol and Cpl. Gallagher of the RCMP. ## Electoral Area '6' Report

Director Angelique Wood

Pro or No Park vote at the RDOS
 Many voters took the time to send e-mails and leave phone messages expressing their opinion about the park issue in our area. Thank you all for the time and consideration you put into your correspondence. My "in box" was equally divided by those of you who felt that we need this park and those of you who reject the park.

Arguments both for and against the park were equally heartfelt, with the overwhelming sentiment that people want the landscape protected. By this I mean that people who want a park believe that a National Park is the only way to save this part of the Similkameen from the pressures of development, which is encroaching from both the west and east, while those who oppose a park believe the only way to maintain this place the way it is to prevent any development at all, and not "open the gates" to tourism and the invasive footprint of more bodies entering these pristine lands. Both sides of this argument believe equally strongly that their method is the only way to save this endangered landscape and way of life.

I have been accused of "taking the easy way out" by not voting at the RDOS where the proposal was made that this local government ask the province to re-engage its talks around the National Park. In fact, by choosing NOT to vote on this question, I was acknowledging that this decision should NOT sit with me; I feel the decision to engage in discussions about this issue should be made by the landowners and stakeholders directly involved. The Federal government, which holds the purse strings to decide the values of this land should be talking directly with the ranchers and First Nations who will be most affected by the decisions which unfold.

Whether the rest of us believe a park is a good or a bad thing is, in my mind, irrelevant until those most impacted have had a fair opportunity for a meaningful dialogue. This would mean that the studies that are ongoing and which have been completed should be available for public view, and informed decisions which consider the various impacts can be made by all of us. We will all win when a good deal for everybody is struck and that is not impossible. The guidelines and rules around what a National Park includes are decided by people, implemented by people and can be influenced by all of us.

I have seen great National Parks which include hunting and gathering and have prevented invasive development - Tombstone Park in the Yukon is a great example. The Trondak-Gwichin people, descendants of the First Nations who were displaced in the 1800's by the 40,000 people the Gold Rush brought to Dawson City, saw a new threat to their way of life in the nineties by a proposed pipeline which would have disrupted the caribou migration upon which they depended for their livelihoods.

In this case, by asking the Federal government to protect the lands in perpetuity by creating a park, the

First Nations "saved" the land from the pressures which non-natives had been subjecting it to since their arrival in the 1800's. However, when they struck their deal with the Feds, the canny Trondak-Gwichin made sure to protect the values they held most dear, so hunting and gathering is entrenched in the "deal" so that one travelling through this park today will see Ford pick-ups in the middle of the tundra while a family spreads out on hands and knees picking alpine blueberries. This, to me, is an example to learn from: let us examine what we want to maintain, and be very careful to realize what we will give up if we don't work to manifest it.

There have been some very compelling arguments made about agricultural land and our ability to feed ourselves, and these points resonate very strongly for me in this time of increased awareness about the unhealthy food supply created by giant agri-business. We are incredibly lucky to have the access we do to healthy livestock and fruit and vegetables grown right here in the Similkameen.

Having grown up in the farming community of Chilliwack, I know what a threat DEVELOPMENT is to ALR lands. It happens. Thinking that farmland will remain that way forever is misguided: it only takes the right people with enough money to be interested in sticking up a subdivision and Voila! it happens. It would not surprise me if the future included residences ..... continued on Page 23

Angelique Wood - Hedley

On Thursday, May 3rd work began in earnest on the redirection of greens waste in Hedley to the construction of a working compost pile - a Hugelbeet - which will be constructed over the next month and monitored as a new way to deal with the volumes of yard waste which are currently either hauled to the dump, illegally dumped up Twenty Mile Creek, or burned in backyard barrels.

The best thing about a Hugelbeet is it is an immediate way to start building soil in an area which has been compromised by enormous piles of tailings, left over from the heydays of mining in Hedley.

The work crew included Doug Bratt as a driver picking up bags of leaves throughout town, and Shannon and Donna Gauvin using their muscles to load trailer after trailer of trees and branches up to the newly established yard waste sorting area.

Vickie Hansen worked to re-pile the waste which others had left before the Hugelbeet sorting area was really in production, since as organizers our biggest concern is that uninformed residents assume that the "old burn pile" is active again.

We were able to gather a great deal of the waste which was left out as the RDOS greens pick up was slated for Friday, May 4. Doug Bratt confirmed with the "Garbage man" that he only got two or so bags of leaves, so we can congratulate ourselves on diverting an enormous amount from the landfill - thus reducing greenhouse gases - and working towards a healthier future for the families living here in Hedley.

We do ask that those of you who ARE able-bodied shift the greens waste yourself - or offer to help with hauling when there is a truck nearby; there were lots of people who did not cut their branches down to a manageable size, and left enormous piles for the very gracious and giving volunteers to deal with.

Though it is typical of human nature to take advantage of the kindness of others, this project is intended to build a new model of cooperation where people are actually accountable for their actions.

We appreciate your vision and assistance in making this exciting project work for everyone.

Put A Spring In Your Step!

(NC)—If there were ever a reason not to lace up your shoes for a walk, the arthritis pain experienced by more than four million Canadians would seem to be it. Research shows, however, that walking is one of the best forms of physical activity for people with arthritis. It puts less stress on your joints and is considered safer than running. Walking also allows you to stretch those back and leg muscles and joints that can become stiff from sitting.

Before hitting the pavement, here are some tips from The Arthritis Society:

- If you have hip, knee, ankle or foot problems, you should confirm with your health-care provider that walking is an appropriate activity for you.
- Start slowly. Take on a routine that is manageable for you. You can gradually increase how fast and long you walk. By starting small and increasing intensity over time, you can gain motivation by achieving realistic results.
- Wear supportive and comfortable shoes. They should have flexible soles, good arch supports and inside cushions to absorb shock and space for your toes.
- Check out your planned route before walking it. Look for the best places to cross streets, stopping points for rest and landmarks that give you an indication of the distance you've travelled.

- Remember to warm up and cool down by strolling for a few minutes before and after your walk.
- Pace yourself. The speed with which you're most comfortable will depend on how you feel.

• Flat, firm, level surfaces are ideal. Steep or uneven surfaces might aggravate hip, knee or foot pain. Walking paths, malls and sidewalks are the safest way to go.

To learn more about managing arthritis, visit The Arthritis Society's website at www.arthritis.ca.

Living Past 100

The Gardener's Way To Health

The fastest growing hobby is vegetable gardening, which is the hobby of growing one's own vegetables, whether in a regular garden or in containers. Gardening has two health benefits: outdoor exercise and good fresh vegetables and fruit. Both benefits can lead to a longer, healthier life.

Vegetables are easier to grow than most plants, and smart vegetable gardeners gain almost instant results. For example, if you plant spinach, you are eating spinach in six weeks. Radishes arrive even sooner, and planting onion sets yields green onions very soon after planting. If you were to plant these three in a container now, in six weeks you would have ingredients for your home grown salad.

Some fruits and vegetables do very well in borders. Rhubarb, strawberries, kohlrabi, cabbage, raspberries and potatoes can be grown quite well in borders. Home gardens can accommodate berry bushes such as currants, Pembina plums, mandarin apricots and Siberian cherries. These plants can do well in borders providing grass is kept well away from the root systems.

Some people like to grow vegetables in raised beds. Any vegetable does well in a raised bed, but raised beds require more hand weeding, as it is more difficult to hoe in a raised bed. Raised beds do not offer the opportunity to use a rototiller, so must be dug up by hand.

Vegetable gardening requires a lot of work. In addition to raking, weeding, watering and harvesting, the gardener is busy bending, kneeling, dragging a rake or hose, and walking. A gardener needs flexibility, and a flexible body lives longer.

The biggest benefit to having a home garden is having the freshest vegetables available at a moment's notice during the summer months. Smart home gardeners do not use pesticides, so they feel more secure about what they are eating.

If you have never grown a vegetable garden or planted strawberries or currants, there is plenty of help available in gardening books, magazines and by consulting sales people at a garden shop or talking to other gardeners in your neighbourhood.

Posse elect new board members

Princeton Posse Junior B Hockey Club hosted their annual general meeting May 8th at Riverside Centre.

Financially speaking the club is doing fine. A profit and loss statement circulated at the meeting showed total income for the period July 2011 to April 2012 at $245,745.38 with expenses coming in at $270,275.15 leaving a deficit of $24,529.77.

The majority of the loss resulted in expenses related to the Posse bus charters with repairs to both busses totaling $11,110.36 alone.

Club President John Babiak remarked that although the previous season "went very, very well" thanks to a dedicated executive and volunteer crew, "on paper, the busses should almost not be ours."

Babiak went on to explain that with over $55,000.00 in bus charter bookings confirmed "the busses are going to be busy" which will eventually bring the club long-term benefits.

A total of four two-year term seats were up for election on the Posse Board which saw two Directors re-elected (Lorna Coyne and John Babiak) and two newcomers elected (Corry Oerlemans and Larry Legault). They will join five other Directors who still have a year remaining in their terms on the board.

John Babiak was appointed President for the 2012/13 season.

The Club will host a workshop on Sunday, June 17th at RockRidge Canyon. The event will start at 1:00 PM and will include a four to five hour strategy session with a bar-becue to follow. The event is expected to draw 50 to 60 participants.

If you are interested in being involved in the workshop, contact the Club President at 250.295.1788.

ARIES - This week begins with some emotional turmoil followed by feelings of not being loved, or perhaps feelings of sadness. These are temporary. What you really need to understand is your desire for freedom from constant demands made on you. Do what you must, then as you please.

TAURUS - You can be really self-indulgent these days, but you need to discipline yourself or it will affect your health. Your energy is climbing, you need to be active, and you should find things to do that take you outdoors where you can enjoy physical activities. Get off the couch!

GEMINI - You come into your own sign this week. It is time for you to improve your physical appearance, whether with diet, exercise, a new hairdo or a new wardrobe. You might also want to improve the impression you make on others. Home life continues to be hectic or contentious.

CANCER - This is your best time to look into yourself and discover what is going on under the surface of your mind. You will need to take time to be alone and just think about what you want and what you are doing. Avoid argumentative people, guard your tongue: ideas need no defense.

LEO - Spending time with compatible groups of people will enhance your life now. Activities with like-minded associates will bring pleasure. Money situation still needs sorting out. Career is demanding but rewarding. Be an example of cheerful hard worker and you gain.

VIRGO - You could have a tax or debt problem suddenly arise this week. Make sure your financial picture is in excellent order. Travel may be desirable but there may be some restrictions and it may not be much fun. Express your inner spirit this week. Energy continues high.

LIBRA - Some important financial decisions may be forced on you this week. You need to decide whether to invest more through debt, or stand pat and work through. Get good advice from experts. Do not squander resources on the promise of something big. Put it in writing.

SCORPIO - Mingling with friends brings you pleasure. This weekend could bring unexpected benefits from investments. You feel a need to drop some burdens and just have fun. Most of your limitations now come from a need to fulfill duties, and to care for health. Relax this weekend.

SAGITTARIUS - Career matters continue to demand action. Plans seem to be restricted by demands of work and health. Others are good to you now, accept their benefits with gratitude. If you feel stuck in a rut, take a little time this weekend to have fun. Changes come in July.

CAPRICORN - Work can seem more like fun these days, and you could charm the most difficult person. You can use creative talent to great advantage on the job. Health is good, but curb sweet tooth. You may want some time away from career demands, but be creative to gain freedom.

AQUARIUS - You can enjoy yourself in many ways this weekend. Take some time to just sit back and relax. Travel is restricted or difficult and you need to wait for change. You will have to take some time to look seriously into your inner self. Be realistic about money: conserve.

PISCES - Home is where the heart is these days and it is where you can enjoy yourself most. You may want to spend time with family, or improving home property, or just enjoying the rest and relaxation of being in your home. You may be tempted to spend, but do not take on any debt.

Mozzarellissima Mushroom Burger

(NC)—Perfect for summer get-togethers, this succulent dish is far from the typical cheeseburger. Packed with flavourful mushrooms and delectable cheese, it will have your mouth watering at first sight. More recipes can be found at saputo.ca.

Prep time: 15 minutes / Cooking time: 20 minutes / Serves: 4 to 6

Ingredients:

- 7 oz (200 g) white mushrooms, thinly sliced
- 6 to 7 green onions, finely chopped
- olive oil, to taste
- 2 tbsp (30 mL) white wine
- salt and freshly ground pepper, to taste
- 2 lbs (1 kg) ground beef
- 8 oz (250 g) Saputo Mozzarellissima cheese, cut in small cubes
- 1 head radicchio
- 4 to 6 hamburger buns

Directions:

1. In a pan, sauté mushrooms and green onions in a drizzle of olive oil. Deglaze with white wine. Once the wine has evaporated, remove the vegetables from heat and let cool. Add salt to taste.
2. In a bowl, mix ground beef, cooked vegetables, the Mozzarellissima and a drizzle of olive oil. Season with salt and pepper to taste.
3. Shape the ground beef mixture into balls and flatten them to form hamburger patties.
4. Cut the radicchio in half and brush with olive oil. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste.
5. Cook the radicchio on the barbecue for 2 to 3 minutes on each side, and the hamburgers for 5 to 6 minutes on each side, or according to your personal cooking preference.
6. Finely mince the grilled radicchio to garnish your hamburgers once they are cooked.

Tips: You can replace the white mushrooms with shitake or porcini mushrooms. You only need a small quantity of porcini, as their flavour is fairly strong. You can also substitute the white wine with brandy.

Wheelchair exercise opens eyes

Princeton Accessibility Committee conducted another successful wheel about exercise in downtown Princeton May 9th. The group last did such an event three years ago.

The purpose of the wheel about is to expose participants, who are not wheelchair users, to some of the potential hazards residents with mobility issues face daily in downtown Princeton.

It also celebrates successful implementation of wheelchair accessible features in various facilities in the community.

A handful of willing participants, including local business owners and municipal officials, were escorted by members of the Accessibility Committee through one of three carefully designed routes within two blocks of Veterans Square.

Various observations were noted and will be used in a final report to the Town of Princeton.

Princeton Accessibility Awareness Committee President Ken Carlson finished the day as the final medal bearer in the 25th anniversary Rick Hansen Relay end of day celebration in Princeton.

Carlson was transferred the medal on Bridge Street at Harold Avenue and was joined by friends, colleagues and Accessibility Committee members as he went down Bridge Street to Veterans Square.

A total of nine local businesses were presented Accessibility Awards by the committee recognizing their efforts in providing changes to their facilities to make them more accessible for residents with mobility issues.

Awards were presented to Belaire Restaurant, CIBC, Cooper's Foods, Princeton Library, Princeton & District Community Services, Princeton Museum, Senior Citizens Branch #30, Shoppers Drug Mart and Valley First Credit Union.

Quality you can afford.

Princeton is not alone in the province as the only other communities with higher than the BC target are located in the North Okanagan, but do have similar characteristics to Princeton.

"Small communities, in narrow parts of the valley with similar sources of PM2.5."

Adams says three sources have been identified in Princeton – open burning, wood heating and the pellet plant however, "we cannot yet tell how much of the measured PM2.5 comes from each of these sources."

Other speakers at the event included Dr. Michael Brauer from the University of BC who made a detailed presentation related to the long term effects of living in an environment with particulate matter as well as Glenn Smith the President of Princeton Co-Gen Industries who spoke about his business which is currently adding more and new filters to the local pellet plant.

Man agrees to Peace Bond

To settle a dispute, Rene Cherot appeared in Provincial Court in Princeton on May 10 to agree to a peace bond. For one year, Cherot will have no contact with Darcy Cherot or Dana Allison. He is subject to a weapons prohibition.

Crown stays charge

Carmeletta Holmes appeared for trial in Provincial Court on May 10 to answer to a charge of assault causing bodily harm. The trial did not go ahead due to the absence of the main witness, the complainant, who had been subpoenaed. Judge Shaw ordered a stay of proceedings in the case.

Judge orders $2,000 fine

Roman Drzewiecki, age 51, a Canadian now working in Peru, appeared in Provincial Court for a preliminary hearing on a charge of impaired driving causing bodily harm. On July 3, 2010, Drzewiecki made a left turn onto Bridge Street and very nearly hit Ruth Picketts, an 88 year old woman using a walker as she crossed the street. He came so near as to cause alarm and she lost her footing, falling and breaking a hip.

Drzewiecki parked, then went to her, apologizing, saying he had not seen her. He remained while the police investigated. During the investigation, police noted a faint smell of alcohol on Drzewiecki's breath, and his eyes appeared glassy.

He was given a breath test with the result of .10 and .12 readings. He was charged.

Instead of a preliminary hearing, Drzewiecki entered a guilty plea to a lesser charge of driving without due care and attention. Judge Shaw ordered a $2,000 fine, plus a $300 victim fine surcharge, and a six month driving prohibition.

Electoral Area 'G' Report

 crawling up the gorgeous untouched mountains on either side of the Similkameen. I don't like the idea, but it looks like it will happen if we don't take the time to prevent it.

I chose to live in the Similkameen because it DOES NOT look like the Okanagan. The few billboards dotting our landscape is a welcome rest to my eyes weary of neon, and our starry nights are unparalleled. I can find tasty blue grouse almost outside my doorstep and regularly sight mountain goats on the hills above Hedley. Many of the people I've met, both those who have lived here a long time and those who are newcomers, love THIS PLACE, filled with the saskatoon blooms and wild currants; soon it will be asparagus season, and when the freshet is over we'll eat trout for breakfast.

One of the most difficult considerations for me is that tendency we have as human beings to destroy almost everything around us and then look at our neighbours and decide that we want what they have. Alternatively, we decide they ought to do something that we didn't. That is the crux, to me, of this National Park argument. First Nations are well familiar with the tendency of non-natives looking at Reserve lands as a place to protect "Species At Risk."

The scenario goes something like this, and is equally applicable to the ranchers and hunters of the Similkameen too: You protect something by stewarding it, making trails through it, getting to know its secrets, making it better but not impacting it in a huge and destructive way. You may choose not to do much because you don't have the money to, or perhaps you don't have the desire to.

Then, your neighbours, who have either planted vineyards eradicating Burrowing Owl habitat or pulling up antelope brush to build houses, realize that their frogs, salamanders, and turtles are all disappearing and they look across the valley where some of those creatures remain. Now, since there are only a few creatures left, it's time to DO something.

Why is it, that the folks who have been practicing the values which preserved the place as it is, should not be allowed to decide their own fates, and if they chose, develop it, make money from it, and create the same future for themselves and their descendants that all those who wanted to make wineries on the slopes of the rest of the valley did?

Finding a balance in this delicate landscape is our challenge, made more difficult by the threat to family traditions and values of loving and living on the land. There are no easy answers in this difficult debate and I think there are merits to both sides of the argument. I believe that the reports should be made public, as they were paid for with taxpayer dollars. If anyone is to decide the fate of the area I believe those most impacted should be the place where the Feds start their conversations.
