ayor reviews three years

As the November 17 meeting was the last public meeting of the current Town Council, Mayor Frank Armitage reviewed projects and priorities of the past three years. He noted many projects were completed and some are in progress. He said the Town of Princeton is in good financial condition and pointed out it is one of the few B.C. municipalities that is debt-free.

Mayor Armitage listed a number of achievements during this term in office, such as the new Parks and Recreation plan, the new engine for the antique fire truck, the paving of numerous streets and Old Hedley Road, improvements to water and sewer infrastructure, and the acquisition of the airport property.

He specifically mention the application for a satellite boundary expansion to include Copper Mountain Mine and stated there would be no liability to Princeton if there were a tailings spill like Mt. Polley, as such situations come under legislation governed by two provincial ministries. This application is under review by Cabinet at this time.

Following the annual meeting, a business meeting was held to deal with ongoing matters regarding the activities at the exhibition facility. Princeton Riding Club reserved dates for use of the indoor arena: December 7 - jumping lessons; December 14 - open trail obstacle practice.

On December 21, Princeton Riding Club plans a Christmas Carol Ride during the afternoon. The riders will tour residential areas and go to Ridgewood to sing carols from horseback. This will be the second year for this event.

There was some discussion regarding the motor sports proposal if the Association could have found enough horses to hold a race, the Town declined providing a $20,000 guarantee for start-up, and the government funding was eaten up by Hastings Park, leaving only $11,000 for Princeton. The Interior Horse Racing Association is all but defunct.

The upcoming annual general meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, December 16, will call for election of a Board of Directors. President Karrie Crucil will not take that position again for health reasons. A treasurer will be needed, and two additional directors. If these positions cannot be filled, another annual general meeting will be scheduled, as required by law. If that meeting fails to elect a new Board of Directors, and fails to attract enough members to provide a good volunteer base, the present Board will begin the process of dissolving the Association.

Lung Month includes radon test reminder

Exposure to colourless, odourless radon gas is the leading cause of lung cancer after smoking. Radon is a radioactive gas that comes from the breakdown of uranium in the ground.

It can seep undetected into homes, schools, workplaces and other buildings through cracks in the walls or foundation.

"Radon gas is accountable for up to 16 per cent of lung cancers. We suggest all BC homeowners test their home's radon levels," says Marilyn Lawrence, Volunteer BC Lung Association Director for Princeton.

When radon is released into the atmosphere, it gets diluted. But if it finds its way into your home it can accumulate to high levels, and that's when it can become dangerous. Being exposed to high doses of radon over a long period of time is a serious lung cancer risk.

"Should British Columbians be concerned about radon exposure?

Yes, absolutely. Should they panic?
No," says Britt Swoveland,
Provincial RadonAware
Coordinator for the BC Lung Association.

"Virtually every house in BC contains some radon. The question is, how much? The only way to know for certain, is to test."

Measured in becquerels per cubic metre (Bq/m3), Health Canada recommends home radon levels not exceed a safety threshold of 200 (Bq/m3).

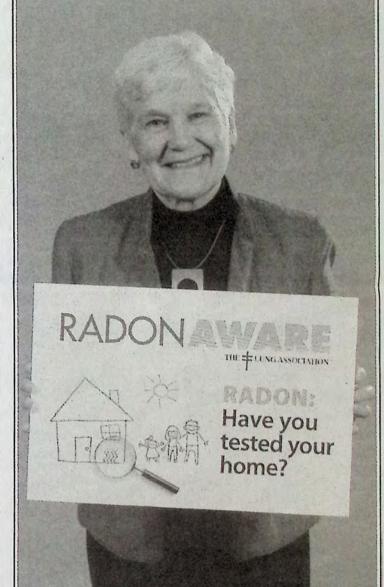

As there is no known safe level of exposure, the BC Lung Association recommends making every effort to minimize home radon levels.

"One house can have radon levels next to zero while the house next door can be off the charts," continued Swoveland.

"And if your radon levels are high, it's not hard to fix. A certified radon mitigation professional can reduce radon levels in most homes by more than 80 per cent for about the same cost as other common home repairs, rarely more than $1,500 to $3,000."

To order a radon test kit, to find a certified radon mitigation and learn more about how radon affects your lung health, go to the BC Lung Association's website identified as RadonAware.ca or call the BC Lung Association toll-free at 1.800.665.5864.

Marilyn Lawrence, Volunteer BC Lung Association Director for Princeton, encourages BC homeowners to test for radon gas. Exposure to the colourless, odourless radioactive gas is the leading cause of lung cancer after smoking.

Councillors defeat meeting motion

Councillors Kim Maynard and Doug Pateman did not like changing the time of Council meetings and defeated a bylaw motion at the November 17 Town Council meeting.

The motion was introduced to adopt a new procedural bylaw, but the only change that raised objections was changing the time of Council meetings from 7:30 PM to 7:00 PM.

This matter will be re-introduced on December 15 to allow the new Council to decide.

The inaugural meeting of the new Town Council will take place on December 1 at 7:30 PM. At this meeting, the mayor and councillors will be legally sworn into office. There will be a brief reception and refreshments, during which the public is invited to meet the new Council.

Jingle bells, jingle bells, jingle all the way... Hold on a minute! It is still November, isn't it?

It is still November, but it is also Black Friday, Christmas light up, and midnight madness this week which means we are kickstarting the Christmas shopping season. Soon there will be Christmas concerts left, right and centre, and that means time to spend with family and friends and soon it will be Christmas morning. Let's get back to the shopping part of the Christmas season again. Princeton, like most of North America, will be participating in Black Friday sales, and that means this weekend's light up should see some great deals at some of the local retailers.

Black Friday, which is really more than just one day now followed by Cyber Monday (usually a weeklong e commerce sale), has become as big in Canada as it is in the US. Almost all Canadian retailers participate in Black Friday now and it has been paying off, not only for the retailers but consumers with sales that rival, if not beat, Boxing Day sales. Princeton will have its share of sales this weekend, and not just because of Black Friday, but thanks to light up too.

As retailers stay open later on Saturday night, there will be sales, customer appreciation, and other things happening in local shops.

Now you might be saying to yourself, "Why does any of this matter? It's simple. You can not only get your Christmas shopping done or a chunk of it, you can also do it locally. By shopping locally this year you can help support the local economy. When you spend $100 locally it will create $45 in secondary spending. This local multiplier effect is what keeps the local economy alive. When you take that $100 out of town it is really hard to get it back into the local economy because someone else has to come into our community and spend that extra money to replace the money

This year's light up will be on Saturday November 29. There will be craft fairs at the Legion. Stores are staying open late, Black Friday sales will be happening. There will be local vendors at the Christmas Store on Vermilion Avenue so there will be a bunch of shopping opportunities for you and your family. Last year I did about 98 percent of my Christmas shopping here in Princeton. This year I plan on doing the same if not more.

Most of the stores will try to get items in for you that are not in their regular inventory so you might not get that instant feeling of gratification from buying something, but you can 'still get it in time for Christmas, and what better time than during great holiday sales?

The Chamber of Commerce is hosting the light up again with events at Veterans' Square starting around 3:30 in the afternoon. The shopping passport will be taking place again so get your stamp on with your favorite retailers, and let's not forget that Copper Mountain Mine is sponsoring the Horse and Wagon rides this year. There will be lots to see and do and I am sure there will be more in the paper about it. Check for ads from local retailers to see what kind of deals might be happening and get out and shop, but more importantly show some community spirit.

It might sound like a lot but if we all tried to Think Local this Christmas. I bet everyone in town could get at least 50 percent of their shopping list completed in town. It would be one heck of a way to end 2014, and a great way to kick off 2015 for our local economy.

Harkness ends council term

Councillor Marilyn Harkness sat at the Town Council table for the last time on November 17, as her term in office ends this month. She took the opportunity to thank Council members, Town hall staff, and those who voted for her. She also thanked the press for their fair reporting.

"I have enjoyed the past six years," she stated, but later said she was running out of energy. Mayor Frank Armitage said Councillor Harkness had been "a breath of fresh air" and had always represented the town well. He thanked her for her hard work, and for her thrifty recommendation not to hold an election to replace Councillor Jason Earle when he resigned.

Councillor Harkness received applause from Council and those attending the meeting.

Racing Days

35 years. Shops would decorate their windows and store fronts in a horse racing theme. The weekend combined foot races, a raft race on the Tulameen River, a softball tournament, a golf tournament, and the crowning of Miss Princeton. There were dances, a pancake breakfast, a big parade and numerous class reunions.

The past few years, have seen Racing Days shrink to a shadow of its former glory. The Lions Club dropped the raft race years ago due to insurance costs, but there is no Lions Club now to put on the pancake breakfast. The softball tournament is gone, although the golf tournament continues. The Youth Ambassador pageant is still in place, so is the parade, but a tourist coming to town would never guess by the store fronts that there was a community celebration in progress.

The business community abandoned Racing Days.

Is there a future for Racing Days? Princeton will make its decision next month.

My Turn...

Running Wild In The Back Stretch

This month marks the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Princeton Racing Days. There is no celebration, nor is there a cake. There is no parade or pages of historic photos in this paper.

The last general meeting held last week attracted only five members. There was no live horse racing last July at Sunflower Downs and still the organization lost money.

Has technology killed Racing Days or has it got to do with the focus on racing in the Lower Mainland as opposed to in the Interior?

I was the second President in the history of the organization and ended up being the second longest serving President of Princeton Racing Days. Even during my string of terms we knew the day would come when racing horses in Princeton could come to an end. In fact, while I was President the event dropped from a two-day event to a single afternoon of racing.

The problem has little to do with the dedicated volunteers who participated then or now. The problem revolves around money and always has. Horse owners typically chase the big money races. We thought we were really going places when we raised the minimum purses in the races to $1,000 per race when I was involved. Even that was a hard sell to many horse owners who chose to either race in Vancouver or travel to Alberta.

We lost a lot of horses to bigger tracks.

When I was involved the BC Interior Horse Racing Association had four member tracks with Princeton being the smallest. The BCIHRA worked hard not to compete against the big tracks on the West Coast but it eventually was the big tracks that succeeded.

Televised horse racing is a big deal in a lot of places.

The BCIHRA looked at it years ago. It just didn't make sense then to try to get people at your own event to bet on a race they were watching on an outdoor television screen. But the big tracks built large, fancy temperature-controlled viewing lounges and starting putting much of their effort on those kinds of bettors.

Live small town horse racing was dealt another blow with that.

I have always been amazed with the number of years live racing continued in our community based on the insurmountable odds against any significant success. Part of the local success has to go to local horse owners over the years who did not abandon their roots and raced at their hometown track as a way of giving back to their community.

Instead of celebrating fifty years of community pride, another local event is close to the end of their final race.

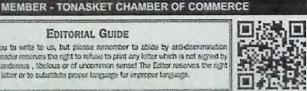

Sadly, there may not be any more luck in the horseshoe hanging over the doorway in the Princeton Racing Days office, either.

Community Services

Transportation Challenges in Rural Settings

by Lynn Pelly Executive Director Princeton & District Community Services Society

Community Services provides transportation services on behalf of the Town of Princeton, the Village of Keremeos, BC Transit, Interior Health and the Regional Districts. Service options have increased over the years and service is available in Princeton on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, between 8:30 and 4:00; to Penticton (via Hedley, Keremeos, Cawston and Olalla) on Monday, Wednesday and Friday (leaving Princeton at 8:00 AM). Fares in town are $1.50 one way; fares to Penticton are $8.00 return. This is an excellent, low cost service and available to all residents of Princeton and the other areas we serve.

However, there are many times when residents have appointments that do not fit within the current bus schedules. We are aware that there are many people in Princeton who are unable to attend out of town appointments because they do not have a vehicle or are not comfortable driving out of town. Many of these appointments are for medical reasons. It is of grave concern that anyone needing medical care outside of the community may not receive it because they have no way to get to their appointment. The Save Our Health Care and IH Steering Committees are aware of the need and have attempted to collect names of individuals who can provide transportation to those in need. Unfortunately, the few volunteer drivers we had were quickly exhausted by the high volume of requests.

Community Services has agreed to maintain a list of people who would be willing to periodically transport others to medical appointments, primarily in the Okanagan area. We envision a "friendly neighbor" program, where a person could indicate the times they would be available to assist their "neighbours" in getting to their appointments. Details regarding compensation for things such as gas and parking would be determined by the two parties involved. Community Services would only be the "connecting" service, providing names of those willing to transport individuals to appointments to those needing to get to an appointment.

We are aware that Keremeos operates a more formalized and very successful "volunteer driver program" and our hope is that this may be something Princeton will eventually have in place. Until then, we are hoping concerned community members will come forward to assist their neighbors. Volunteers could limit their availability by destination points, days, times or seasons, to better suit their needs and preferences. The more "friendly neighbors", the less demand there would be on any one individual.

Persons interested in becoming a friendly neighbor/volunteer driver, can call 250-295-6666 and leave your name, contact number and level of interest or commit-

What Putin Said In October

Dawn Johnson editor@thenewsleader.ca

On October 24, 2014, Russian President Vladimir Putin made a speech at the Valdai International Discussion Club in Sochi, Russia. The point of this conference is the open and honest discussion of matters of international concern. Unlike some meetings of world significance, this meeting was open to the world press (a Canadian journalist was there), and the journalists were free to ask questions of the speakers.

Putin's speech emphasized the need to have honest negotiations between nations in order to resolve matters that can create conflict. He spoke of the need to understand a world increasingly unpredictable and therefore unsafe. He frequently referred to the partnership formed by the three world powers after World War II, and the need to retain a responsible balance of power in order to avoid more conflict between and within nations.

"Objectivity and justice have been sacrificed on the altar of political expediency," he stated.

He did not mince words in criticizing the United States and its 'satellites' (count Canada here) for violations of Article 2 of the United Nations Charter, which states each nation shall have the right of self-determination. This means nations should not interfere in other nations' internal politics. He refers to American interference in Libya, Iraq, and Syria.

Putin lashes out at the way people are informed about what is going on.

"Total control of the global mass media has made it possible when desired to portray white as black and black as white."

Putin wants a return to international consultation as outlined in international law before any nation takes action against another, whether for humanitarian, political or economic reasons. He uses the ongoing problems between Israel and Palestine as an example, saying Russia has an interest in both nations, and every effort should be made by all parties to find a resolution to the problems.

The U.S. involvement in the creation of terrorist groups was criticized by Putin as he reminded his audience it was the support of the Taliban in the Soviet-Afghan war that led to the formation of Al-Quaeda and now ISIL in Syria.

Putin is critical of globalization when it means the supremacy of one super-power nation. He advocates for economic prosperity for all nations in a spirit of economic cooperation and lawful trade agreements. He stated Russia's goal is to be economically selfsufficient (the fewer imports, the stronger the economy).

At the end of his speech, he was questioned about the military action in Crimea and in Ukraine. He stated the people of Crimea went to vote on whether or not to join Russia, and there was no effort to prevent anyone from voting. In fact, voter turnout was over 95 percent, and the majority voted to join Russia. As to the overthrow of the legitimate Ukraine government, Putin said he advised the

Ukraine President Yanukovych

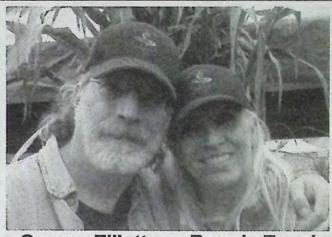

Putin told his audience how dangerous the world has become in terms of weaponry, and says there must be international negotiations once again to disarm nations. He commented on the U.S. ignoring previous disarmament agreements, but also mentioned the danger of terrorists and unstable nations having the type of armaments which can inflict major damage.

The United States saw Putin's speech as an attack on the American government and particularly on its foreign policy, but one of the things Putin said was a warning to the Americans that their interference will lead their country into serious difficulties just from trying to control politics through intervention. Putin's speech was lengthy, but worth reading. If you want to read it for yourself, Google Putin speech Valdai 2014. It will give you the Russian President's view of what is going on in our world. Update

I have been a 'global warming' doubter for several years. Recent statements (November 2, 2014) on CNN by John Coleman, cofounder of Weather Channel, calls global warming a hoax and the biggest scam in history. Coleman says the government paid only those researchers prepared to say there is global warming. In Russia and Denmark, scientists are warning of 15 years of global cooling, ending in 2030. Recent NASA satellite photos show the Arctic Sea freezing at a faster rate than normal, and Siberia had its shortest summer on record. The ice mass in Antarctica grew considerably this year, and Australia broke records for low temperatures this past winter. If you Google global cooling, you will discover a number of sites on this topic. One site states bluntly the earth has not risen an average one degree in the past decade as forecast by the International Panel on Climate Change (IPCC).

At the beginning of these stories I mentioned that in Grade 9 our class was required to do an aptitude test and my test determined that I was to be either a cowboy or a preacher. That time has come after my studies I became a preacher and became known by some as the cowboy preacher.

So my stories will be mixed from now on. We began our ministry in Kelowna. One day I made

It was early in the morning so I had time to fit them. The method was easy and always seemed to work for me. The procedure was simply to put on the boots, pour a cup of hot water into each one and wear them all day. It had to be a warm day and they would dry and hold their new shape.

Great idea, huh!

Well it came time to make my appointment for lunch and on the way I realized I didn't have any cash. I went to the bank and got into the lineup. My feet squishing as I moved along the line. When it was my turn to move up to the teller I was having trouble finding my bank information as this was not my local branch.

As I was searching my pockets for something to give the teller I looked down and saw a large yellow puddle around my feet and freaked out! It didn't look good and I didn't dare look back.

The teller finally gave me some cash and I got out of sight as fast as I could wondering what all the people were thinking. I pictured the janitor coming to clean up because no one else would go to that teller.

I never ever walked by that bank again. My boots turned out just great but next time I'll stay on the farm until they dry.

How to Put on a Pirate Show in Princeton...in Ten Weeks

Crimson Tine Players' presented the 'Press Show' on the afternoon of November 16th. I don't believe I have ever attended one before and was a bit amazed that I was the only member of the press who had the time to be there. I had originally planned on taking my wife Brenda along but she ended up out of town visiting family so it was just me, one former actor and Costumer Sue Alton that the play was performed

I was a bit disappointed that it wasn't a Dress Rehearsal as I was really looking forward to snapping photos of all the actors in their outfits. I was tipped off late in the previous week by Director Rhianfa Riel that it was not going to be a Dress Rehearsal as there was still a couple of issues remaining with at least two of the characters' cos-

With that information I decided not to take my camera.

I wasn't really expecting anything more than any of the previous rehearsals I had attended over the past couple of months, but I was wrong.

The Press Show was the first time I saw the entire play from front to back with all the singing parts. There were also a couple of scenes that take place during musical numbers I hadn't seen before, either. In all, I still enjoyed the performance and once again, found all the jokes as funny now as they were the first few times I had heard them.

There was still no heat in the theatre, which I am convinced, had a slight affect on the performances of the actors. I seriously doubt they were nervous about me being there as they had seen me many times already.

In fact, I'm pretty sure they couldn't see me anyway with the bright stage lights in their faces.

A number of elements in the play were improved greatly from the previous week and I saw even more progress with lines. Without giving away much in the way of details, I would have to say the biggest improvement on stage was with Taylor Gibb. She plays the role of Junkman Jake and without a doubt has the most difficult dialogue of all. During the Press Show she nailed lines she had been struggling with before.

I am not sure how a full house is going to be able to hear all of the dialogue as there is music playing underneath some of it. This is one of the challenges Riel has been trying to resolve. If I had any say in the matter I would mic a couple of the quieter cast members and leave it at

The choreography made a lot more sense to me seeing how the songs fit into the play instead of broken up and focused on as separate rehearsal parts. The overall story in the play flowed a lot smoother and it was becoming quite clear that the actors were getting very comfortable in their roles.

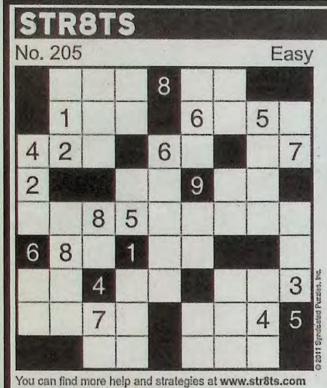

We've also found a great deal of interest in the play in our office. As you will probably know a Free Admission ticket was published in this paper in our November 11th issue. Last week we had a number of people in the office picking up extra copies of that issue and remind you we still have a few available.

Alannah Boisse of Century 21 Horizon Realty is providing the Free Admission ticket, as she wants to encourage you to experience live theatre in Princeton. If you do end up using one of her Free Amission tickets. please be sure to thank her some time for it!

Like Sudoku, no single number can repeat in any row or column. But... rows and columns are divided by black squares into compartments. These need to be filled in with numbers that complete a 'straight'. A straight is a set of numbers with no gaps but can be in any order, eg [4,2,3,5]. Clues in black cells remove that number as an option in that row and column, and are not part of any straight. Glance at the solution to see how 'straights' are formed.

Posse blast Dynamiters

Princeton Posse hosted Kimberley Dynamiters November 15th.

Princeton wasted little time getting on the scoreboard with a couple of hometown boys getting the honours. Princeton's Morton Johnston got the goal with an assist going to Bradly Palumbo. The second period saw the Posse take over on ice with Bryan Kromm scoring an unassisted goal at 19:44 followed by another unassisted Posse goal scored by Colton St. John at 15:34.

The Dynamiters took advantage of a power play at 7:31 to score their first goal of the game. Princeton's Cooper Prechel had served only a few seconds of a Delay of Game penalty when Keenan Haase popped a shot past Posse goalie Bailey Stevens. Assists went to Tyler Klingspohn and Jordan Busch.

The Posse responded at 2:59 with a power play goal of their own scored by Colton St. John. Assists were awarded to Kurtis Klinger and Brandon Workun.

After two periods it was Princeton leading 4-1 on the scoreboard and 22-

16 on shots on goal. Kimberley was also trailing the Posse in penalties but barely at 9-8.

The third period saw Princeton widen their lead with a goal at 16:21 (Estevan Hale from Trevor Pereverzoff and Tyler Ehlers) and another, this time unassisted, at 15:12 scored by Trevor Pereverzoff.

Kimberley added a power play goal at 10:24 when Thomas Cankovic was halfway through a Cross-checking penalty. Credit for the goal went to Jonas Gordon with no assists. The Dynamiters added one more unassisted goal by Jason Richter at 7:07 but could not take control of the period although they held Princeton to just two shots on goal in that frame.

Final score: Princeton 6, Kimberley 3. Shots on Goal: Kimberley 25, Princeton 24. Kimberley went 2 for 7 on the power play (28.6%) compared to Princeton's 25.0% performance (1 for 4). Penalties in Minutes: Princeton 13 for 37-minutes, Kimberley 10 for 20-minutes.

News Leader Sudoku 533

HOSHI SUDOKU - About The Puzzle

Sudoku - also known as "Number Place" - is a logic-based, combinatorial number-placement puzzle. The aim of Sudoku is to enter a number from 1 through 9 in each cell of a grid, most frequently a 9x9 grid made up of 3x3 subgrids. Each row, column and region must contain only one instance of each number. This Sudoku variant is called "Hoshi Sudoku". It contains six large triangles. The numbers 1 to 9 must be placed into the cells of each large triangle. Every line of any length - even uncontinous - must contain every number not more than once.

Saving Downtown Princeton...

...An Ongoing Series by George Elliott

What has the holidays got to do with saving downtown Princeton?

Well, for most of the retailers serving your community it is their single busiest time of the year. While Boxing Day sales are not typically fashionable in Princeton, the weeks leading up to Christmas are in many cases an opportunity for some local businesses to salvage an otherwise slow or dismal year.

I would be lying if I didn't say our Christmas Issue wasn't one of our biggest papers of the year. In fact, the way it works for us our two biggest papers are exactly six months apart - Christmas and

I will have to give the Princeton

& District Chamber of Commerce a great deal of credit when it comes to putting a focus on the need to support local business. Spencer Coyne has put a ton of effort into the monthly 'Shop Local' program and I see it as an extension of the annual Light-Up Celebration.

If you are new to the area, or usually ignore this sort of activity, the Chamber of Commerce has hosted an annual Light-Up Celebration for as long as I've lived here. I seem to recall I was Vice President of that group the year I moved here (1986) and they were doing it back then and have been ever since.

At the time of my initial involvement there was a giant prize of a trip to somewhere exotic with a cash prize and participating merchants had draw boxes in their stores collecting entries. I am so glad that the Chamber eventually looked at the message that they were using at the time which was along the lines of "shop local to win a trip away from town and we'll give you money to spend there" and changed it to a .completely "support your local economy" focus.

It has not been an easy trip for the Chamber of Commerce I'm sure, but when you look at what they try to do to get residents to spend money in town you can't help but think they are trying to do something good.

But the Light-Up Celebration is really just a part of the puzzle.

I think the Passport Program they use is not an entirely bad idea, either. However, those merchants who may not participate because all they see are people just collecting passport stamps are really missing the point.

Here's where I shift into advertising mode.

There have been a few of my clients over the years that debate the value of advertising in a small town. My argument is very simple. "My job is to get them to your door. What happens after that is entirely up to you.'

This goes back to articles I've already written here about customer service. I've pointed out that we attempt to make contact with each and every customer who comes into our office. Even if they enter our door by accident we at least try to share a pleasant greeting and wish everyone a good day. We consider that good public relations.

If a Passport Program funnels people into a business they don't normally visit I would consider them "potential new customers" as opposed to "stamp nuts" or whatev-

When you consider the difficult year many local businesses have had you'd think anything that sent traffic through the door would be welcomed with open arms. It is with this in mind that I remind you to take note of the participating businesses in programs like the Passport or Shop Local campaign, as they are the ones who really want your business.

If you prefer to do all of your holiday shopping out of town you really owe it to your local storeowners, some of which may be your neighbours, to at least check out what they offer. You may be somewhat surprised with what you find available in your community.

How does this save downtown Princeton?

Again, it's simple. If you don't support your local business community, especially when they participate in programs meant for you to be a part of, you miss out on contributing to your community. Without supporting local businesses more of them disappear.

Storm blows through Princeton

Princeton Posse hosted Kamloops Storm November 21st. The Storm were three games into a winning streak and came to town with their Division leading 14-7-0-2 record worth 30 points. On paper the Posse looked pretty good in comparison having a 12-7-2-2 28-point record with a short one game losing skid.

We #25 Klinger

Kamloops scored first at 9:38 in the opening frame. Credit went to Marc Dumont with assists going to Brett Watkinson and Dexter Robinson.

Princeton tied the game at 6:17 of the second when team captain Kurtis Klinger popped in a shot. It would have been a big moment for his family as they were in the stands visiting during the American Thanksgiving break all the way from Santa Rosa, California. Klinger's father Scott has been in the Princeton Arena as well as to some road games already in the past couple of seasons but this was the first live game witnessed by Klinger's mother Julia, younger sister Emily and little brother Tristin.

To say the Klinger goal was significant would be an understatement as it put Kurtis at the top of the scorers list for this season's Posse with twelve

Kamloops broke the tie with a go ahead goal at 7:31 of the third period with Ian Chrystal getting the marker thanks to assistance from Brett Watkinson.

Princeton pulled goalie Stephen Heslop in the final minute thinking the extra attacker could earn them a tie and force overtime but it didn't happen.

Kamloops wasn't the only storm passing through the area, either. Snow finally arrived in the Similkameen and made its presence known during the game leaving roads and vehicles covered in thin blanket of snow and ice.

Final Score: Kamloops 2, Princeton 1. Shots on Goal: Kamloops 22, Princeton 18. Both teams were unsuccessful on the power play with Kamloops having only one attempt to Princeton's four. It was an extremely quiet night in the penalty box and the stats guy got off easy with only a total of five infractions for the entire match. Penalties in Minutes; Kamloops 4 for 8-minutes, Princeton 1 for 2-minutes.
