Gaming grants assist local groups

Parent Advisory Committees (PACs) that provide support for extracurricular sports, arts, class trips and other school activities will share $11,334,300 in community gaming grants this year, funded by the B.C. government, Community, Sport and Cultural Development Minister Coralee Oakes said December 5th.

B.C. community gaming grants will provide a total of $11,216,800 to 1,435 PACs and $117,500 to 47 District Parent Advisory Committees (DPACs) in communities throughout the province. Working in partnership with school staff, PACs and DPACs strive to enhance the educational experience for students at B.C.'s public and independent schools.

Community gaming grants help schools purchase items such as sports equipment and musical instruments to provide additional learning opportunities for students.

Gaming grant applicants must be the PAC or DPAC for a school that delivers the K-12 curriculum. There must be at least two parents willing to be accountable for the funds. Applicants can contact Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch at 250 387-5311 for advice about applications.

"Schools in British Columbia provide an excellent quality of education for children and youth in communities throughout the province. Community gaming grants help enrich the school experience with appropriate extra-curricular opportunities that parents can support through PACs and DPACs working together with teachers and school administrators," states Community, Sport and Cultural Development Minister Coralee Oakes.

"We know parents contribute directly to the success of their children, and their involvement in the education system plays a pivotal role in each community. These B.C. Gaming grants provide funding to local parent advisory committees so they can purchase playground and sports equipment, musical instruments and also support other opportunities for students," added Education Minister Peter Fassbender. Quick Facts:

- The Province distributes $135 million in community gaming grants to benefit over 5,000 local organizations representing virtually every community in the province.

After taking the chair, the new president thanked members for the work they did during the past year, giving particular thanks to Dan Kastor. The president thanked all those who let their names stand.

Routine end of the year business was disposed of, then committees were formed. Due to an excellent turnout of members, and their willingness to volunteer, most committee convenors were designated at the meeting. Lisa Carleton will be in charge of Junior Fair, a task she has done for several years, Jennifer Bernard and Heather King will manage the concession. Rayleen Brewer will take over Building #2, which houses the fruit, vegetables, home canning, eggs and baking exhibits. # Flip Of The Coyne

by Spencer Coyne

December is finally here. With it comes the great countdown to that magical day on December 25th. As an adult Christmas can lose its magic. It isn't the same as it was when you were little and the anticipation of Christmas morning got you up at the crack of dawn after laying in bed all night waiting to hear Santa in the living room. The older you get Christmas seems to fade. You look forward to the time off from school if you are in school or maybe you get a day off if you are lucky enough to have a job that closes for Christmas, but for the most part Christmas becomes another statutory holiday and a chance to have a turkey dinner.

And then kids enter your life. I love Christmas again. I love that it is a chance for our family to all come together and eat together. I love the sounds of the kids all playing together. It is just a great day to sit and relax with family and enjoy all the great things in life. The older we get the harder it is for our family to all come together. Some of us don't live here anymore. Coordinating schedules so we can all be visiting with family at the same time gets to be difficult, but we still make the most of it.

This year the excitement for Christmas is growing by the day. We have started our advent calendars and we are doing an advent calendar of books this year. Our son gets up every morning and the first thing he wants to do is open the calendar. I have a feeling that his excitement has less to do with how many days are left until Christmas and more to do with getting that little piece of chocolate inside. Every night he asks if we can open the new book. He loves it. We open the book and one of us reads it to him before bed. He also gets to use the book as part of his daily reading homework for school, so he loves that part too. This year will be the first time our daughter will really experience Christmas. Last year she didn't really get it, but this year she knows something is going on. We have been watching some of the Christmas classics on TV at night together and this year all the ornaments on the tree are going to be homemade. She has been helping make them in her own way and she loves it.

Christmas to me is about spending time with the ones you love. We love spending time together and that is what is great about the Christmas season. We get to spend time together even if it is only a day or two when all the kids get together and are playing and the rest of us are sitting around the kitchen table visiting. There is nothing better. It is these very moments that our kids will remember and will take with them when they get older. It was these same family gatherings that made me want to settle down in Princeton where my family was. When I moved away it didn't take long for me to want to come home, and if I was going to have a family I wanted that same experience for them. We always looked forward to Christmas morning. Even as teenagers we would have a big family breakfast then goof around all day. We would play Nintendo or go sledding. We would just go and do stuff together. Then at the end of the day we would have a big family dinner. This was Christmas and it still is. It is what I hope my kids remember more than anything about Christmas when they have their own families. This Christmas, enjoy being with the ones you love, be it relatives of friends. It is the people who you call family that make the holidays special so enjoy them.

The high price of fuel in Princeton has been a subject of much debate. I've heard about it in many places I go around the community and read about it often online.

The reoccurring theme appears to be a belief that since we live in Princeton, we are being gouged by the local gas stations.

I know enough about the situation to say the people working at local gas stations have little do with the cost, although some of them have to put up with various forms of verbal abuse. As far as I can tell, most local customers are aware of this and are quite polite to those working at these businesses.

From what I can tell from my contacts is that station managers do not control pricing, either. Apparently, the pricing is dictated by someone (normally a district manager) who does not live in the Similkameen and makes the decision based on a number of different variables ranging from the current price of crude oil, the day of the week, what they had for lunch and how much fuel remains in the underground tanks you drive over to get to the pumps.

What got my attention last week was a semi-organized effort online to boycott local gas stations in a rotating basis to send a message to those in charge.

What a great idea just before Christmas!

That smells like vigilante justice to me and I can't help but wonder how much thought was really put into such a plan. How were they going to get the word out about which gas station was NOT being boycotted and which ones were? How were they going to stop the flow of traffic to the targeted stations from out of towners?

There is a way to get your message across and although e-mails and letters take longer, when mailboxes and inboxes get flooded on a daily basis, it's hard to ignore why that is happening. I think the energy focused on 'sending a message' would be best used in actually sending those messages the old-fashioned way.

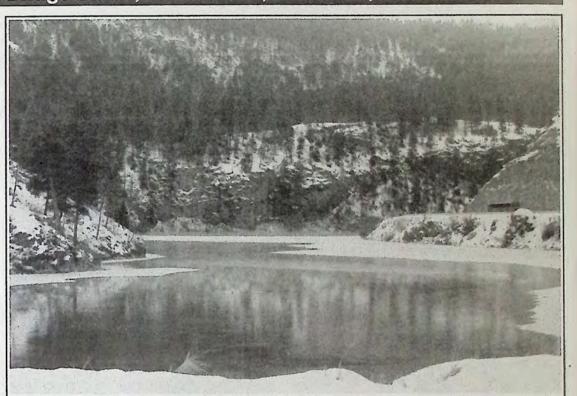

Besides, if a boycott of local gas stations actually takes place, what's next? I don't like the prices of some of the local restaurants in town. Let's start boycotting them on a rotating basis.

Oh, there are a couple of local business owners I hear are trying to run the town. Let's start boycotting them, too.

While we're at it, let's quit supporting some local charities because they want too much and school programs because we get taxed too much for them already.

That's why it is so important to be careful what you wish for, especially if you are in business in the community and are supporting any form of vigilante justice as it has a way of coming back to bite you.

Yup, Yellow Lake is freezing over. How many more sleeps before the ice is safe we can only conjecture. The aerator is busy humming away in the middle of the lake (around the bend from this picture) so that the fish can breathe easy this winter. Photo: Arlene Arlow

Letters and E-Mails Received This Past Week

To The Editor,

My constituency office in Castlegar has recently heard from many concerned seniors who did not receive their pension cheques as usual in October and November. When my assistant followed up with Service Canada, she was told that the SC regional offices had received thousands of complaints from seniors who found themselves in the same situation.

Service Canada explained that they suspended the pension payments of individuals who have not updated their mailing addresses, whose T-4 pension slips had been returned to Service Canada as "undeliverable," and who Service Canada could not get hold of in any other way. Unfortunately, this heavy-handed approach has meant hardship for many seniors who rely on their pension cheques for the basic necessities of life. It can take Service Canada upward of seven business days to release a cheque once they are able to make contact with a pensioner. In the meantime, rent cheques are late, cupboards are empty, and people are panicked because of money shortages.

When my assistant questioned the need for such extreme action, she was told that this "T-4 return policy" was implemented for "security reasons," so that cheques did not continue to be sent to an individual who was deceased, or had moved away. This may sound reasonable, but the reality is that some of the seniors my office has spoken to have had no such changes. They are being punished because of an administrative situation that could have been handled much more simply.

One constituent wrote to me about her experience when she contacted Service Canada: "I spoke with a very polite man but the only reason he could give me for the 'glitch' was that I could not be found because they had no physical address-really. I was born in this country, I have lived my whole life in BC, I have worked from the age of 18 years in BC. I retired in 2001 and have been receiving my pension cheques uninterrupted. The last time I moved was 1981."

I would encourage any pensioner who has not received their cheques to contact my Castlegar office for assistance, 250-365-2792, or toll free at 1-800-667-2393, e-mail: alex.atamanenko.c1@parl.gc.ca.

researchers who were brought to the United States after World War II. Like many Nazi scientists, these researchers were spared conviction as war criminals by agreeing to share their knowledge with the American government. Crystalline Brucellosis was first manufactured in late 1945, and first reported to the U.S. government in a document dated January 3, 1946. The development of the crystalline invader is well documented in a book by Garth and Nancy Nicholson called Project Day Lily. Further information can be found in a book titled The Trillion-Dollar Conspiracy page 109 by Jim Marrs, a book called the Brucellosis Triangle and on the net under godlike productions, Origin of Chronic Disease in America.

There are around 200 different strains of mycoplasma, most of them harmless, but this manufactured crystalline mycoplasma is extremely infectious and was meant to be a bio-weapon. Unfortunately, the military was enthusiastic about this bio-weapon and began doing human tests both in the United States and Canada, with the cooperation of both governments. It is estimated that now, 75 years later, all of us have this infection somewhere in our bodies.

mycoplasma hides inside cells where it does incredible damage leading to symptoms of chronic fatigue syndrome, rheumatoid arthritis, fibromyalgia, multiple sclerosis, and Lyme disease. Some strains of HIV have been linked to crystalline Brucellosis mycoplasma. The Gulf War syndrome is believed to be this type of infection, released by Saddam Hussein who had been given it by the American military (yup, weapons of mass destruction). The nasty little crystal has also been linked to Alzheimer's, diabetes. Parkinson's, bipolar disorder, Crohn's colitis, lupus, and myalgic encephalitis.

Not everyone will suffer immediately after contact from carrying the crystalline Brucellosis. Expert researchers say the infection can 'sleep' for 10, 20, or even 30 years, then suddenly emerge due to trauma, poor health from another infection, or through poor lifestyle.

mimics the symptoms of so many other diseases, the average physician rarely suspects crystalline Brucellosis as the source of a patient's disease. The best clue to diagnose the invasion of this bioweapon is the absence of any disease pathogen in lab tests, blood chemistry and tissue cultures.

There is no cure for the crystalline invader, but there is treatment. The treatment is vitamin therapy combined with eating very clean food containing no pesticides or hormones, and eating a diet that does not allow any preservatives, additives, or refined products, no drugs and no alcohol. This is a detoxification program.

A great deal has been written about this mycoplasma pathogen, but you are not going to read about it unless you know where to look for it. I knew nothing about this until I began to research Ebola as a bio-weapon. The reason we do not know about these bio-weapons is that we were never intended to know. Crystalline Brucellosis production was a top secret military operation and we can thank only the whistle blowers for finally telling us what we have paid for in tax dollars and poor health.

In the Antarctic, the penguins had farther to walk on their trek to the sea this year as Antarctic ice expanded a great deal. # RDOS seeks quotes

The Regional District of Okanagan Similkameen (RDOS) operates the Oliver, Okanagan Falls and Keremeos Landfills. These landfills provide residential and commercial recycling depot services.

The RDOS is seeking qualified commercial haulers for the rental of recycling containers, collection of recyclable materials and processing of the materials for the recycling market at the Oliver, Okanagan Falls and Keremeos Landfills.

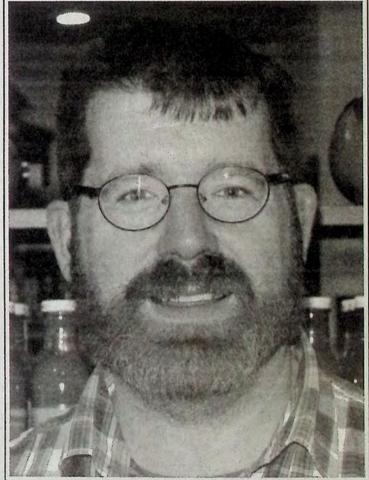

Selection will be based on the submitted quote and demonstrated experience and expertise in the design, fabrication and installation of similar products. Closure of this RFQ is 3:00 PM, Friday, December 12th.

Plastic bags and polystyrene containers will be diverted to another collection system and recycling of these items is not required through this RFQ. This RFQ does not require the recycling of container glass and this material will be deposited at the individual landfill where it is collected.

To find out more about the requirements of this RFQ, visit the RDOS website at www.rdos.bc.ca.

While pastoring in Kelowna we purchased 14 acres next to an equestrian centre. There was a small mountain behind our farm and weather permitting I would spend most of a day at the top preparing my sermons.

This week I was home alone and decided to do my studies at home. After three or four hours I wanted to take a break. Esther had bought me a new horse and I hadn't done much with it so decided to saddle it up and try it. My mind being focused more on my sermon than the horse, I took the horse through the gate and mounted the horse - that was the last thing I remembered!

Some time later a lady who was riding at the equestrian centre noticed the horse grazing on our farm with the saddle and bridle on and thought she should investigate. She found me unconscious and called for an ambulance.

I came to with the paramedic hanging over my face calling my name and was finally put aboard the ambulance and taken to the hospital. Another friend went to the church and told Esther what had happened and she came immediately.

It wasn't the first time I had been bucked off but I had work to do with this horse. I had landed on my head and had a concussion so stayed in hospital for a couple days and gradually got myself together again.

It's said, "All in a day's riding," not exactly what I had anticipated for that day but thankful for the girl next door that found me also.

Beat Christmas Guilt

The Black Friday shopping day may have caused depression in some people. Some people feel guilty that they cannot give big luxurious presents, and others feel guilty about spending too much on a credit card, knowing, deep down, the bargain price will be eaten up in credit card interest rates.

There is a growing movement in North America to change Black Friday to Green Friday, in the interest of health and well-being. Green Friday does not mean you should not go shopping if you want to, but you should shop for only those things you really need, or for those Christmas gifts that will make a real difference in the life of the person receiving the gift. Another part of Green Friday shopping encourages shoppers to buy only those items which can be re-used or recycled, including the packaging.

An example of Green Friday gift shopping would be to select a gift such as shortbread in a tin. The tin can be re-used or recycled, and food is always a welcome gift.

Giving green gifts reduces guilt about gifts by knowing the gift given is not going to damage the environment, but will bring pleasure.

It may surprise you to learn the Royal family frowns on extravagant Christmas gifts. They do try to find unique crafts to give, often purchased at craft fairs, and may include hand-knitted items, home-made jams and relishes, hand-woven articles, carvings and any country craft item, such as a hand-painted scarf. Although this is a policy of the Royal family, it fits in well with the Green Friday philosophy.

Christmas shopping should be a pleasure because it should be motivated by the spirit of giving something that will bring pleasure to the person receiving the gift. Here is the story of one such gift. A friend of a poor elderly woman discovered the old woman was using a plastic crate to sit on while taking a shower. The friend gave her a proper, safe shower seat. This unlikely gift was received with joy, as the old woman was able to shower in comfort for the rest of her days.

Plan ahead to how you will feel in January. Will you feel guilty and depressed about too much debt, or will you feel happy that you made others happy?

Posse split weekend gan

Princeton Posse hosted two KIJHL games over the weekend in Princeton Arena. On Friday, December 5th the North Okanagan Knights were in town.

Princeton opened the scoring in that match at 13:16 of the first period with an unassisted goal by Connor Sloan.

The Knights tied the game at 11:17 of the second period with a goal scored by Austin Garrington with assistance from Layne Greene and Zackari Andrusiak.

With former Posse player Curtis Sexsmith still serving part of a Roughing penalty, Princeton's Bradly Palumbo and North Okanagan's Jordan Passmore went off to serve a pair of minor penalties each at 9:06.

That put Princeton in a power play situation for less than a minute and that was more than enough time for Princeton's Kurtis Klinger to score a go ahead goal on the power play. The unassisted goal was scored at 9:35.

Princeton widened their lead to 3-1 at 8:18 with another Kurtis Klinger goal, This one included assists from Trevor Pereverzoff and Eden Dubchak.

The third period saw another Princeton goal at 16:31 (Connor Sloan from Brandon Workun).

The period was not short on excitement as a scrap between Princeton's Eden Dubchak and North Okanagan's Kelsey Byrne with just 1:13 left to play put both players in their dressing rooms with 5-minute Fighting penalties and Game Misconducts. North Okanagan scored a power play goal as a result with 32-seconds left in regulation time (Austin Garrington from Thomas Pattison and Jordan Passmore) but there was not enough time for a comeback.

Final score: Princeton 4, North Okanagan 2. Shots on Goal: Princeton 34, North Okanagan 26 with Princeton out shooting the Knights 13-4 in the second period alone.

Penalties in Minutes: Princeton 11 for 33-minutes, North Okanagan 9 for 29-minutes. The Posse went 1 for 5 on the power play (20.0%) while North Okanagan finished the game 1 for 7 (14.3%).

The Saturday night game on December 6th saw Fernie Ghostriders in Princeton Arena.

Fernie scored first at 17:07 of the opening frame (Tayler Sincennes from Dylan Robertson and Calvin Tilsley) and Princeton tied the game at 8:45 (Trevor Pereverzoff from Kurtis Klinger and Brandon Schaber).

The home team took the lead with 1:50 left in the period with a goal scored by Destin Robinson who had some help from Jamison Ree. Fernie tied the game at 2-all with just 27-seconds left (Doan Smith from Cole Keebler and Justin Peers).

The second period saw Princeton go ahead again at 14:19 (Brandon Schaber from Kurtis Klinger and Konnar Dechaine).

Fernie tied the game at 3-all with an unassisted goal by Josh McCulloch at 9:35.

The Ghostriders went ahead with their fourth goal of the night at 2:13 (Justin Peers from Doan Smith and Cole Keebler).

The third period had one more goal scored and it was Fernie's Justin Peers who got it at 3:44. He had some help from teammate Doan Smith on the play.

Final Score: Fernie 5, Princeton 3. Shots on Goal: Princeton 24, Fernie 23 with Fernie out shooting the Posse 11-5 in the second frame and Princeton returning the favour with a 13-8 tally in the third period. Penalties in Minutes: Fernie 8 for 24-minutes, Princeton 7 for 22minutes.

Both teams were unsuccessful on the power play although Princeton had one more opportunity (8-7).

Funding applications are available online at StudentAid BC or through public post-secondary institutions. Applications are made directly to the institution.

Districts report that graduated adults enrolled in these basic courses are often non-English speaking immigrants seeking a path to further training or better integration into the B.C. workforce.

There was no funding for graduated adults prior to 2008. School districts

Saving Downtown Princeton...

...An Ongoing Series by George Elliott

This week I am going to shift gears a bit and take a look at one local service that is vital to the community.

You may not know it but the Town of Princeton landfill site is a very important factor in keeping the local economy humming. Imagine dirty streets filled with blowing trash and garbage cans overflowing on streets and in local neighbourhoods. We are so lucky to have regular garbage and recycle pick up at the curb in our community. In addition to that, we have an extremely well organized landfill site that accepts recycled material. Add to that the local bottle depot that also takes recyclables of what I would call office-related products (light bulbs, computers and a lot more) and you start to get the picture that there exists a team of operators that have done a lot to keep our environment cleaner than many other communities far larger than Princeton.

When I first moved here in 1986 I was impressed with the efforts of a very small group of dedicated residents who were operating the Princeton Recycling Depot and smile when I see that their original building still stands at the current landfill site.

What has also impressed me is how careful many of my neighbours are in separating their garbage from recyclables weekly for curbside pick up. I'll admit that I have never really considered myself 'green' having been raised in an era where we used a backyard burn barrel for a lot of things in Kelowna and I carried that tradition on to my home here the first few years I had my own home.

I give Brenda credit for all the separating but I do notice a difference. We barely have a half full garbage bag of garbage a week and that's not because we eat out all the time (we rarely eat anywhere but at home or work) but because of the act of separating for recycle.

Let me get back to the Princeton Landfill Site.

If the last free dump day weekend is any indication, we aren't the only ones recycling in the area. Stats released by the landfill operator indicated 347 vehicles passed through their gates on the Saturday with another 302 vehicles the following day. Out of those loads there were 52 refrigerators, 98 mattresses, 9 hidea-beds, four 100-pound propane tanks and 37 ten-pound propane tanks delivered to the site.

We took advantage of the no fee weekend and made a few trips with items that the garbage man would not pick up and were slowly filling up a corner of our yard. Just like us, you were probably doing the same thing and since we don't own a pickup truck, free dump days are valuable to us as we gather up whatever we've collected for such an occasion and get rid of it all in a single afternoon.

What I like about it is that when almost 650 other vehicle loads are combined with ours, it does a lot to clean up the streets and yards of our cute little town.

How does this save downtown Princeton?

I'm not sure about you, but when I travel to a different community I see certain things. One of my observations is usually how neat and tidy the downtown core is. Sure, there's going to be some flying paper but how clean the streets are says a bit about the civic pride of the community.

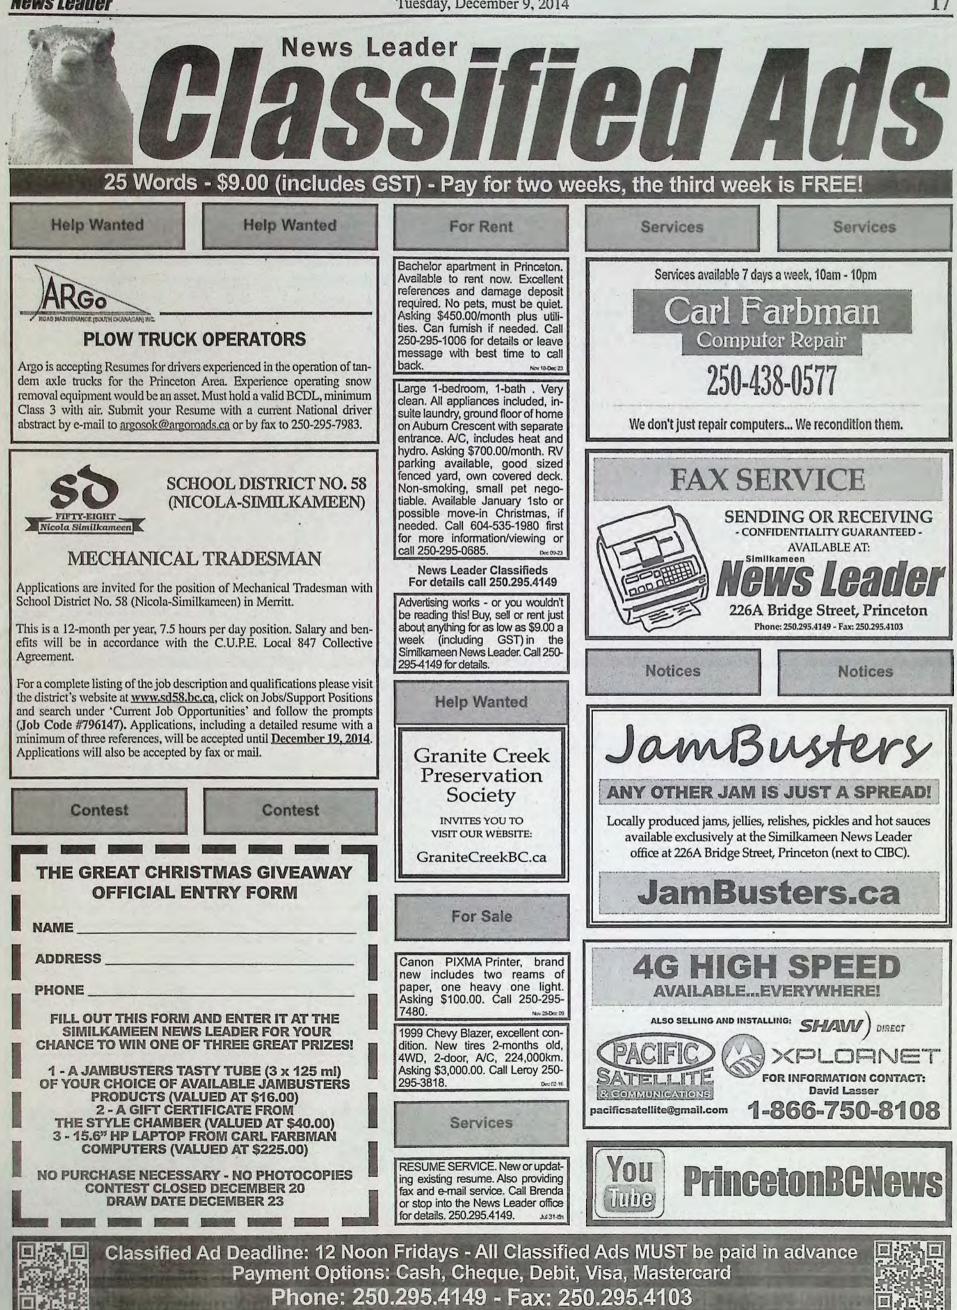

You can argue that town crews are hired to take care of those things, but what about garbage bins behind businesses and on private property? If you see a lot of junk lying around, that should be a sign of bigger problems.

With the combined efforts of Princeton Town Crew and private contractors picking up or collecting garbage and all things recyclable, it's a sign that we care about our community and hopefully visitors to the area pick up on that.

It must be working, as whenever a tourist stops in our office the usual comment is something about how cute or quaint our town is. Never have I heard someone say that the downtown looked dirty – because it rarely does.

Climate Change And Skeptics - Part 2

In Part I of this column, I attempted to present overwhelming evidence that human activities are affecting global climate. The intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) is composed of over 2,000 atmospheric scientists from every major country. In 2001, the IPCC stated unequivocally that human activities are having detectable effects on the Earth's climate, on the atmosphere and the Earth's water.

Robin M. Mills is a graduate of Cambridge University and has worked for more than a decade in the fossil fuel industry, in petroleum geology and economics for Shell and for the Dubai government. Mills published Capturing Carbon: The New Weapon in the War against Climate Change? Columbia University Press, New York. 2011. In it he states, "Vested interests, certain big businesses, right-wing ideologues, self-appointed 'experts' in the media, ignorant or self-interested politicians, and scientists willing to prostitute themselves to the highest bidder, continue to repeat egregious falsehoods, objections to the idea of anthropogenic global warming that have been repeatedly demolished by science. They cloud the issue, literally, with propaganda masquerading as research. Many in the media, always in search of a controversy, help to fan the flames." However, whether global climatic change is real or is a hoax is proving to be immaterial. If global climatic change is caused primarily by the combustion of fossil fuels and fossil fuels are finite resources, then at some point fossil fuel depletion will render further fossil fuel consumption uneconomic. In other words, and we see this every day at the gas pumps, the price of fossil fuels is going to rise as the cost of recovering what remains of this finite resource declines. At the same time that fossil fuel prices have risen, the cost of renewable energy has declined to the point where many types of renewable energy cost less than fossil fuels.

A report published in Science in 2001 compared the capital cost of building a coal-fired and a windpowered electric plant of equal output. Capital costs were equal. However, the operating cost for a wind-powered plant was substantially lower because no coal mining, no coal crushing, no coal cleaning, no coal transportation, and no air pollution control is required for a wind-power plant. Since 2001, the efficiency and economies of scale have significantly further lowered the cost of wind energy. Since 2001, what has happened to the price of fossil fuels?

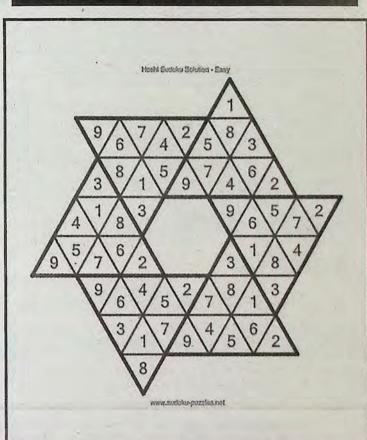

A paper published in Scientific American in November, 2009 described how solar, wind and hydro electricity could supply all the world's energy needs within thirty years at a lower cost and with more reliability than conventional energy sources.

The transition to renewable energy has started. Investing in fossil fuels or fossil fuel technologies today is as wise as it was to invest in clipper ships in the early days of steamers or in typewriters in the early days of computers. The fossil fuel era is winding down. If we build those pipelines, what will they be used for ten years from now?

The NDP rejects the claim of a fundamental contradiction between environmental health and economic growth. Developing green energy industries is an opportunity for a dynamic new era of job creation, building a competitive advantage for Canada in environmental technologies and practices, which in turn help foster innovations in manufacturing. Reshaping energy policy for the 21st century means moving away from fossil-fuel dependence toward a green energy future by investing in solar, wind, wave, and geothermal sources, working with provinces and territories to share clean energy; and ensuring energy conservation in transportation and building methods. We can make Canada an environmental leader on the world stage by honouring treaty obligations, incorporating strong environmental standards in trade agreements and ensuring Canadian companies operating here at home and abroad are held to standards and practices that reduce their footprint and leave local ecosystems in good health.

Own the seed, own the world

e. .

There has been a debate raging in Canada's Parliament over Bill C-18. It is a Bill presented by the Conservatives in 2013, and was debated on second reading. Bill C-18 has received little major media coverage despite the fact it affects all of us and runs counter to the environmental and social thinking of the majority of aware people in our nation and the rest of the world. The reason this Bill is not headline news is because it is the future of agriculture under discussion, and agriculture is not considered 'hot' news.

The BC Cattlemen's Association produced bumper stickers years ago that stated, "If you eat, you're involved in agriculture." Bill C-18, if passed as it is, will affect what you and your children will eat in the future.

All Members of Parliament agree most of the Bill is good. However, there are two parts of Bill C-18 that have received serious opposition from not only MPs, but from farmers themselves.

Bill C-18 says farmers have the 'privilege' of saving and storing seed. The New Democrats want it amended to make it a right of farmers. This is critically important because Bill C-18 is about who can own and sell seed. Seed companies are in business to sell seed, and what they want to do is own the genetic make-up of particular seeds. It is like a patent on seeds. Anyone wanting to use that seed must buy from the owner, and anyone who is found to have produced crops containing that particular gene combination can be fined. This has gone on in the United States for several years and has resulted in the bankruptcy of many farmers.

This Bill would enable big seed producers to 'patent' seeds as intellectual property based on some process that altered the genetic make-up of seeds produced by that company and to be used exclusively by those who bought the seed from that company. This is what genetic modification leads to: control of the seeds and who uses the seeds. If farmers cannot save their own seeds, then they are a captive market, and seed producers can charge what they like for seeds. That kind of monopoly will affect not only what farmers pay for seed, but what everyone will pay for food.

There is another part of Bill C-18 regarding advance payment to farmers, and it has the potential of causing bankruptcy through a clawback clause if crops fail. What happens when a farmer cannot pay his debts? He declares bankruptcy, and his assets are sold. Who buys these assets? Today most of these farms are bought by major agricultural corporations, thereby causing a decrease in family farm operations. Further information on Bill C-18 is available on internet.

The annual Christmas Craft Fair hosted by the Princeton Secondary School Grads was another success. It features some amazing homemade and handmade gifts and products manufactured by area residents including local potter Ed Staples. All available spaces were rented to vendors, as is always the case. *

ects board new

of fair activities from the past. Members will be consulting people who may have been involved in the first few fairs to see if they have photographs which can be reproduced. The Women's Institute and Princeton Light Horse Club were part of the first fairs. Brian Ferguson suggested displaying some of the history of the first fairs using old newspaper articles.

The first fair was held in 1965.

There was a discussion of having bands play popular music from that era, such as the Beatles, Elvis Presley, The Beach Boys and Roy Orbison hit songs. The entertainment committee will look into this.

The next Fall Fair meeting will take place January 27 at 6:30 PM at the library, weather permitting. These meetings are open to the public.

Santa and the Sister City connection

The Sister City relationship between the communities of Princeton, British Columbia and Tonasket, Washington may be closer than you think. In addition to having two very popular rodeo events hosted in each community,

15

Santa Claus visited both Tonasket and Princeton over the weekend.

When Santa arrived in Tonasket on December 5th it was on top of a City of Tonasket fire truck. He turned on the lights to the official tree and visited with children at Founder's Park in the heart of Tonasket. He was surrounded by local ambassadors and rodeo queens.

Santa was in Tonasket to celebrate their annual WinterFest.

When Santa arrived in Princeton

September 7th (following a quick appearance in Keremeos along the way) he arrived riding on the top of a brand new Princeton Highway Rescue Truck. He sat and was entertained by children performing for him in Veterans Square in the heart of downtown Princeton. He was surrounded by local ambassadors. Santa was in Princeton to celebrate the annual Light-Up.

The only difference between the visits was that Santa has Mrs. Claus with him in Tonasket and after visiting with children there he (and Mrs. Claus) climbed into a partially dug out canoe made by Churchill Clark. Clark, a direct descendent of the 'Clark' part of the exploring team of Lewis and Clark, is working on the project in honour of his family's historic roots.

In Princeton, Santa was joined by direct descendants of John Fall Allison, the first white settler in the area.

You know that person on your shopping list that you just can't find the right gift for? You've given them socks, a tie and lottery tickets before but need something completely different this year. At JamBusters! we know exactly what that is like and that is why we created our series of Instant Hot Drinks. One is a Malted Hot Chocolate and another is Cafe Mocha with more coming.

All the dry ingredients have been pre-measured and mixed for you. In fact, there's enough mix in each gift pack that you will have at least two servings. The best part is that each JamBusters! Hot Drink Mix comes with a serving mug! Just add hot water and enjoy!

Warm someone up you know this holiday season with our very own Hot Drink Mixes. You'll be glad you did JAMBUSTERS IS MARKETSAFE CERTIFIED FOR YOUR SAFETY and you'll also be supporting a small home-based business as well. That's the part that warms us up!
