Princeton contributes $750 million

BC Premier Christy Clark spoke to a fair sized crowd in downtown Princeton May 13th. She was in town to celebrate Copper Mountain Mining Corporation's annual Mining Days event and spoke on the tax contribution made by the Town of Princeton.

She asked those in attendance, "Do you know how much money Princeton sends in taxes to British Columbia and Canadian governments?" Following two guesses she answered her own question, "$750million."

The Premier went on to discuss the importance of mining in today's world despite opposition from those who feel resources should stay in the ground. She admitted that the world is changing and with it will be a greater demand for such things as more internet.

The Hudson's Bay Company 1849 Bridge Trail is not only a recreation trail that stretches across the Cascade Mountains from Hope to Tulameen but it was of great historical significance in the development of British Columbia and the creation of Canada. Much of this ancient route was originally used by Aboriginal peoples for millennia. It was a series of survival trails that they used to trade and to gather and hunt for food.

During the fur trading era various trails were connected and improved to used be by the HBC horse brigades as an overland passage to move the rich furs from the north to the Pacific Ocean.

One of the oldest and most used routes was the section of the Hudson Bay Brigade Trail from Hope to Tulameen as it was the main line of communication (in what is now the province of British Columbia) from 1849 - 1860.

.. continued from Front Page these gentlemen have since passed away but they were so pleased to see our generation enjoying the fruits of their labour. The highlight of the day was the arrival of the Backcountry Horsemen of BC, in full brigade style, leading pack horses. They had left Fort Langley National Historic site 9 days earlier. In 2009 the western section of the trail was located that went west of Palmer's Pond towards Hope. A group was then formed consisting of the Hope Mountain Centre, Backcountry Horsemen of BC, government agencies and other interested people in the HBC Trail. As a result of that meeting a detailed plan was developed to resurrect the entire HBC trail over the next five years. The western section of the trail had been lost in the paperwork but sections were still visible on the ground.

Since starting the project in 2010, many organizations, government agencies, individuals and groups have contributed financially. With this financial assistance, backed by thousands of volunteer hours, this goal was achieved.

The last two years was the final push towards completion of the trail and it resulted in a 74 kilometre continuous route over the Cascade Mountains. Some sections that were lost to industrial activity and private ownership had to be re-routed enabling the completion of the main route of the fur traders through the formidable Cascade Mountains of British Columbia.

Come out to Tulameen on Saturday, May 21st and help celebrate at the official re-opening event. Some highlights will be white water canoes, horse brigades, HBC booth and costumes, bannock and black powder guns!

The event is being held at the eastern trailhead kiosk, 3 kilometres out the River Road from Tulameen at 1:00 PM.

James Douglas known as The Father of British Columbia once stated, "It is a great relief to have established the practicability of this route to the interior through the formidable barrier of mountains which separates it from Fraser's River while it will have the effect of imparting a greater degree of confidence of our own operations, it may also have an important bearing on the future destinies of the country at large; a triumph, probably the last of the kind reserved for the Fur Trade." (August 7, 1850 in a letter to London, HBC Chief Factor James Douglas reported to headquarters of the HBC Company in London).

GSAR receives swiftwater and tracker training

Princeton GSAR Swiftwater team members spent the weekend of May 6th to 8th on the Tulameen and Similkameen Rivers honing their swiftwater rescue skills with the regional response SOSSAR (South Okanagan Similkameen) Swiftwater team. Members practiced all aspects of water rescue from river behaviour/hazards to tethered and free swimming, rafting response, and entrapment escape. Lindsay van Genne, one of the team members that attended said, "It was scary fun to jump into the river when it was SO high, and then having to swim a person to shore untethered was the hardest thing that I've ever had to do, and I'm a lifeguard."

Congratulations to Slim, Clint, Pete and Lindsay on certifying as Swiftwater techs.

The Princeton GSAR's trackers

also attended a BC Tracking Association Advanced Tracker course in Comox. On the Friday evening members reviewed the Advanced Tracker criteria and discussed techniques. They then spent the rest of the weekend working on a variety of tracking scenarios such as missing teen runaway/possible abduction, and overdue mushroom pickers.

On Sunday's scenario, a mock 2 car accident was staged and members had to determine how many possible occupants there were and where they went. As an added twist, one of the instructors came wandering out of the bush hysterically screaming where is my baby! Members quickly found all subjects and the 'baby.' It was a great weekend of training. Congratulations to Jim, Scotty, and Randy on recertifying at the Advanced Tracker level. Flip Of The Coyne

by Spencer Coyne

Have you ever wondered, "What is a community?" I have always considered myself part of a community, but recently my participation (and the participation of many others) has been put into question. Dictionary.com defines community as "a group that could share a cultural or historical heritage, a social,

What does a giant Jenga game and FortisBC have to do with teaching? It was one of the many stops throughout Princeton featured as part of the annual Amazing Literacy Race held May 12th. Princeton Leaders for Literacy host the event which continues to grow in the number of participating businesses who become part of the race/tour. * religious or occupational similarities." The definition included groups that shares a common interest and is distinct from other groups. Princeton is a community. It does not matter if you live within the Town proper or within the administrative area known as Area H. Area H is as much a part of the Regional District as is the Town of Princeton. The Town of Princeton is a part of the RDOS, just like Area H. The difference is in administration. The Town is administered in a different way than Area H.

Some claim that those who live within Area H do not represent the will of the Princeton community. I don't know about you, but my postal code is VOX 1W0, and when asked where I live, I say 'Princeton,' not 'Area H.' If people from Area H have no right to speak within the Town boundaries, then I guess all those landowners and business owners who pay taxes and buy licences and pay fees to the Town of Princeton don't represent Princeton. All those who work in _ Princeton, from the shops downtown to the industries within Town limits, to the Hospital and Public Works, don't represent Princeton either. Even two of our four Town Councillors live in Area H as do a few of the Town of Princeton's managers. Residents in Area H do not see themselves as being separate from Princeton. We are part of the everyday fabric of what makes up Princeton.

It hurts the community when people try to divide it along imaginary lines. When it comes from our politicians, it hurts even more. If the community is to grow and prosper, they cannot segregate the rural residents who spend their money in Princeton, invest in property within Princeton, own and operate businesses inside Princeton, employing workers who contribute to the local economy. We need to be united as one community to ensure that Princeton grows and is prosperous. I understand that it can be frustrating at times when 'rural' residents are outspoken, but it is because we are passionate about our community just like you. We want to see Princeton succeed and we want to see opportunity for the community to grow, just like our neighbours within the town boundaries. People should regard the enthusiasm forcontinued on Page 6

Letter from Heaven

To my dearest family, some things I'd like to say But, first of all, to let you know, that I arrived okay, I'm writing this from heaven. Here I dwell with God above, Here, there are no more tears of sadness. Here, is just eternal love. Please do not be unhappy just because I'm out of sight. Remember that I am with you every morning, noon and night.

That day I had to leave you when my life on earth was through, God picked me up and hugged me and He said, "I welcome you. It's good to have you back again; you were missed while you were gone. As for your dearest family, they'll be here later on. I need you here badly; you're part of my plan. There's so much that we have to do, to help our mortal man."

God gave me a list of things that he wished for me to do. And foremost on the list, was to watch and care for you. And when you lie in bed at night, the day's chores put to flight, God and I are closer to you...in the middle of the night. When you think of my life on earth, and all those loving years, Because you are only human, they are bound to bring you tears.

But do not be afraid to cry, it does relieve the pain. Remember there would be no flowers, unless there was some rain. I wish that I could tell you, all that God has planned. If I were to tell you, you wouldn't understand. But one thing is for certain, though my life on earth is o'er, I'm closer to you now than I ever was before.

There are many rocky roads ahead of you and many hills to climb: But together we can do it by taking one day at a time. It was always my philosophy and I'd like it for you, too: That as you give unto the world, the world will give to you. If you can help somebody who's in sorrow and pain, Then you can say to God at night... "My day was not in vain."

And now I am contented...that my life was worthwhile. Knowing as I passed along the way I made somebody smile. So if you meet somebody who is sad and feeling low, Just lend a hand to pick him up, as on your way you go.

When you are walking down the street and you've got me on your mind, I'm walking in your footsteps, only half a step behind, And when it's time for you to go...from that body to be free, Remember you're not going... you're coming here to me. - anonymous

Clean As A Whistle

My Turn....

Okay, so let's assume for a moment that the aquatic wellness centre (I'm going to just call it a pool for now) is a done deal. This beautifully designed, within our budget facility will sit in just about the centre of the downtown core. Our office, by the way, is technically the epicentre of Bridge Street, but that's a different story.

As the Save-On-Pool is being built there is going to be no shortage of community pride bursting from all concerned. Even local citizens will be strutting their stuff and pointing out how wonderful it is to be living in a tiny little town tucked in the bottom centre of British Columbia that has such a spectacular pool. It will make our community the envy of most out-of-town residents who drive past it after being directed to turn down Bridge Street thanks to the ginormous Save-On-Foods Welcome Sign on Highway 3.

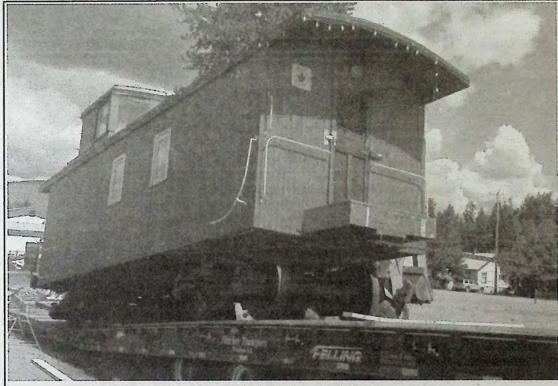

Who wouldn't be excited about what all the fuzz will be about once concrete starts to get poured, foundations laid and a structure starts to take shape in the Save-On-Pool construction zone. Once all the spit and polish is applied, wouldn't it be as great to see this jewel of an asset shine amongst the many other beautiful, shiny and clean downtown buildings and businesses with doors flung open to welcome the massive amount of foot traffic the pool will bring to the downtown core?

This reminds me of the downtown clean up project that was pitched around local businesses by the Town of Princeton and Chamber of Commerce. A few took the hint and did some tidying. Others looked at paint samples not sure what did or did not match with flashing neon signs and whether or not there were bylaws in place to help with the final colour choices. Ultimately, the downtown clean up program is a good idea due for a dusting off and some serious up selling.

Perhaps better than discounts on paint prices the Town of Princeton could, you know, dip into the Community Forest bank account a bit and devise some sort of facade treatment grant program to entice some business owners to get on board. The Village of Keremeos has put a facade grant program in place this year.

Here are the general details of their program: "Successful applicants will be provided with a 50% reimbursement grant up to a maximum of $2,000 per building project to improve the storefront facades of commercial buildings. Eligible improvements may consist of - but are not limited to - new exterior lighting, exterior architectural features, signage, awnings, new siding and facade painting. Projects must have a minimum total cost of $500 in order to qualify for this program."

Maybe Town Council will do the same in order to prepare the downtown core to more or less match the quality of the Save-On-Pool. It would be nice to have a completely beautified downtown core once the pool is open for business as the cosmetics will go a long way in attracting interest in our community and showing our community pride.

"The world is changing and we are going to need more electric cars and what do you need for electric cars? You need copper and every other mineral that's out there. What do you need for your iPad, your iPod, your Google glasses? All of those things require the minerals that we mine here in British Columbia - that you mine here in Princeton."

Clark went on to point out that, "the changes in the world don't mean we need less mining - the changes in the world mean we need more mining in British Columbia."

Two Candidates Oppose Globalism

Dawn Johnson editor@thenewsleader.ca

The American presidential race is heating up in unexpected ways. Two candidates on opposing parties are gaining the votes of Americans despite heavy pressures of the ruling elite to stop their rise to power. The two candidates are Bernie Sanders, Democrat, and Donald Trump, Republican. A vast body of American voters are prepared to support them due to their stand on globalist trade treaties.

Both Sanders and Trump have expressed opposition to the Trans-Pacific trade deal known as TPP and the European Union – American trade deal known as TTIP. The candidates' opposition is based on past experience in which such trade deals cost American jobs as corporations moved manufacturing to places where wages are low, unions are non-existent, and environmental protection laws will not interfere with corporate profits.

The supposed front-runner, Hillary Clinton, is fighting an uphill battle to retain her position as the most likely candidate to be nominated for the election to run for president on the Democrats' ticket. Bernie Sanders is drawing more and more of the delegates' votes. Clinton is in an awkward position, as many people will remember her statement last year when she said NAFTA (North American Free Trade Agreement) had not been good for the American economy.

Donald Trump has shocked the political media by the support he has received, not only by the general public, but by the branch of the Republicans known as the Tea Party. Trump has criticized the trade agreements in his usual style, which is point blank, by stating the past trade agreements cost American jobs and if he is elected president, these trade agreements will be changed.

Both Sanders and Trump have tapped into a growing dissatisfaction with current and past administrations. I think of Abraham Lincoln's statement "You can fool some of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time." It looks like the American voters know they were fooled once but do not want to be fooled again.

Trump has carried the criticism of past administrations even further than trade agreements. He has criticized foreign policy that led Americans into wars that cost Americans a lot of money. Trump has criticized foreign policy right back to the first President Bush, and has been greeted by cheers and increasing support.

This is a most unusual election campaign for the United States. The typical election platitudes are gone. Trump's version of speaking the truth is resonating with the American electorate, and appears to have given Bernie Sanders the courage to say the kind of things Americans have not heard in decades during a presidential race. When two candidates are saying similar things, then maybe there is a whole lot of truth in what they are saying.

When Trump first began his campaign, he was treated as a clown by the major media. Bernie Sanders was largely ignored. However, neither candidate's support can be ignored. The American voters are speaking out by choosing to support candidates who are saying those who have led the nation in the past have led it down the wrong road.

The globalist geniuses who created the TPP and the TTIP did not anticipate the kind of opposition now being expressed by the American people. Part of the opposition is based on the secrecy of the wording of the trade agreements, past and present, which have prevented the average citizen from participating in the decisionmaking process.

Part of the growing support for Trump and Sanders is based on the average American citizen having learned, through alternative news sources, what these agreements are really saying. With the widespread availability of computers and internet, the news the corporate-controlled major media won't touch is featured in articles on internet. American voters are now smarter than they were 20 years ago, thanks to independent journalists.

The 2016 American presidential campaign appears to be a game changer. I am enjoying watching the fallout as the 'establishment' people are forced to run harder and spend more to no effect. Perhaps the rebellious spirit of the American people is on the rise again.

Flip Of The Coyne

Sometimes we need a small reminder that Princeton isn't just about the imaginary line that divides administrative areas. If we are truly a community, then we are much more than electoral areas. If we see that, we realize that we are stronger, united working towards a prosperous community together. It is together that we built this town, it is together that we built the Museum, the PXA grounds, the Fall Fair, Racing Days, the Rodeo and the service clubs that have given so much to the community asking for little to nothing in return. It is together that we volunteer to keep our most beloved alive. It is together that we will move into the future and it is together that we will see Princeton grow. We as a community will always rise above the politics of us versus them. When it comes to Town and Area H, we have been one community for 156 years and we will be one community for another 156 years.

It has come to my attention that I made a mistake last week, a very embarrassing one at that. I forgot to give a source for my quote of Councilor Tjerkstra's interview. It came from "Residents happy with quality of life, survey," May 4th issue of the Similkameen Spotlight written by Andrea DeMeer. It is with a red face that I apologize to Ms. DeMeer for my omission. I am usually on top of things like this and I am deeply sorry to her and the community for my mistake.

Pets 'n' Vets

Make Your Visits Less Stressful

Many pet owners dread taking their pets to the veterinarian because of the stress on the pet regardless of the type of visit. Veterinarians also don't like seeing their patients stressed when they come to visit. Unfortunately, this is a large number of our patients because they only see their veterinarian for vaccinations or when they are sick, so it is not a very familiar experience. On top of that, stressed animals leave scent signals that other pets pick up on, not to mention the fact that they can become stressed when they smell other species. The good news is that there are very simple ways to make your visits to the vet less nerve-wracking for you and your pet.

A good first step is to get your pet used to going for a vehicle ride. Many only go for car-rides when they are going to the vet. During the drive, they have plenty of time to get worked up, knowing that they are going to the vet. If you drive past the vet clinic randomly without stopping in, your pet won't always associate the drive with a trip to the vet. This is especially important for cats since they rarely go on rides in vehicles.

Once your pet is used to going for vehicle rides in the area of the clinic, you can start stopping in randomly for visits. Most clinics encourage pet visits but you should always double check first. If it is busy, please respect the other patients and stop by another day.

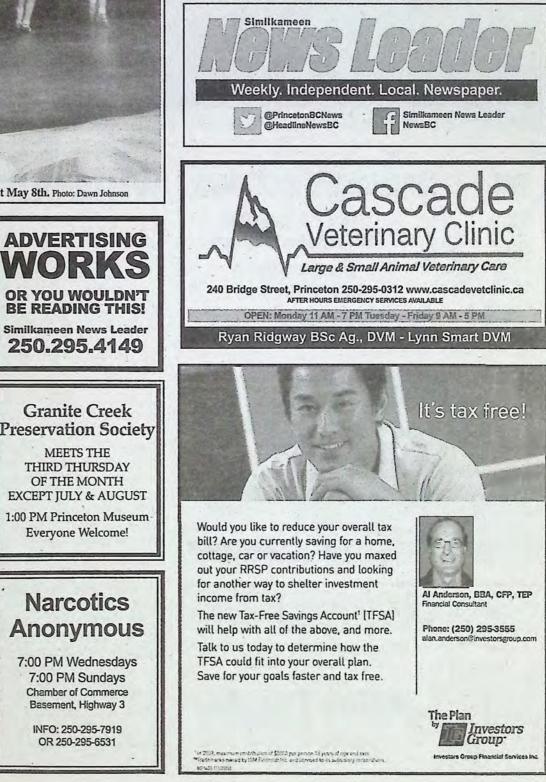

Here's a tip: Stopping in for a weigh-in is a great, low-stress visit to get your pet over their fear of the veterinary clinic. It also lets you keep track of your pet's weight, preventing future joint problems.

Your veterinarian should also be a part of making sure the visit is as stress-free as possible. First and foremost, they should be calm and try and let the patient become comfortable with them. Secondly, their clinic should be set up to reduce stress. Many veterinary clinics offer separate exam rooms and kennel areas for dogs and cats if they have the room for it. If their building is too small, they can utilize pheromone diffusers, much like plug-in air-fresheners. These pheromones are the same as those released by relaxed animals, and cover the scent of previous stressed pets.

Other clinics offer house-calls, either as a fully mobile clinic or for a slight service charge. By bringing the veterinary care to your pet's own environment, they are not stressed over being in a new place with other animal smells.

By working together, your veterinary team and you can help get your pet over their fear of the veterinary clinic, making it a more enjoyable experience.

Living Past 100

Protect Young Men's Sex Drive

Studies done in Italy and the United States have shown the use of, and addiction to, pornography is causing erectile dysfunction (ED) in men aged 15 to 25. Studies done prior to 2010 showed an ED level of a maximum of three percent. Current levels are 1,000 percent higher in an age group noted for being at its sexual peak.

Researchers found the influence of internet streaming of pornography has increased the availability of pornography to young men. For those who become addicts of porn, the problem is their inability to become sexually aroused except by porn. One out of every three young men found it difficult to become aroused with a real sexual partner, making a bonding sexual relationship impossible.

The bonding sexual relationship is the foundation of marriage and raising children. A good bonded relationship includes not only sexual pleasure, but intimacy, sharing of deep affection, and sharing of goals, plans, emotions and responsibilities. When a young man's perception of sexuality is based on images of fake relationships, and when sexual arousal and satisfaction occur as a single response dependent on a computer, there is just one person and a machine involved. There is an absence of real intimacy with a real pariner.

The problem of addiction to pornography has real life consequences in the sense that the natural social environment of young people, that is, social interaction leading to finding a life partner, is hampered by the inability to successfully form a bonded relationship. Sexual expression is isolated in a relationship between the man and his computer. This is unnatural, and researchers found more and more young men are seeking help to end the addiction.

As in all addictions, the goal is to stop the addictive behaviour. This requires treatment in a specialized environment. As pornography addiction is a new social behaviour, treatment facilities are not readily available.

Auseum seeks your input

by Rika Ruebsaat

After the enthusiastic show of support at its Annual General Meeting in March, the Princeton Museum & Archives wants to channel that energy into planning for the future.

The Princeton Museum & Archives Society invites you to join them for a 'Tea and Talk' session on Thursday May 19th at 7:00 PM at the Museum. This will be an opportunity for Museum members and enthusiasts to get to know one another and to share ideas. The Museum Manager and the Museum Board generate most of the ideas for how the Museum is run. This session will be an opportunity for them to have more and richer input. If you have ideas of how the Museum can be made even better, the Museum would love to hear them. Even if you're not sure you have any ideas they would still love to see you there.

Over the past few years the Museum has been very busy. The Society's most time-consuming activity has been keeping the Museum open to the public - fulltime during the tourist season with the help of summer students, and part time the rest of the year. The Museum would love to extend its opening hours during the off season but without a full-time manager and a large enough pool of volunteers this has not been possible. Any ideas that could remedy this situation would be most welcome.

One of the Museum's most highprofile activities, especially among local residents, has been its public presentations. Recently the Museum hosted several very popular presentations by Joe Smuin about the Kettle Valley Railway as it runs through Princeton. Last summer a presentation on the Princeton area's fossil history attracted a standing room only audience. In the fall the Museum hosted a presentation on 'Soviet Princeton,' a book Jon Bartlett and I wrote about the 1932 Princeton coal miners' strike. If you have ideas about presentations you would like to see, the Museum would love to hear them.

The basement of the Museum is a treasure trove of artifacts and archives. The artifacts are all catalogued but are in need of detailed and ongoing organization. The archives, especially the newspaper collection, need to be digitized. Paper deteriorates over time and eventually the written records of our local history will become inaccessible. Digitization will preserve them and will also make the contents of the archives much more user-friendly for researchers. At the moment, anyone searching for information about a topic must ask the manager to find the appropriate documents. Then they need to search through the documents to find what they need. With digitization they can type in a key word relating to their research and immediately find all the relevant information. Digitizing the archives is expensive so any fundraising ideas towards this project would be enthusiastically received.

Another focus of the Museum is education. School groups come to the Museum to explore and experience our local history. It would be wonderful to enhance these activities by producing resources for teachers or setting up visits to schools for historical presentations. The Museum welcomes any suggestions for improving and expanding our educational footprint.

These are just a few of the activities that the Museum is involved in. Please come to the 'Tea and Talk' session on May 19th to share your ideas. Refreshments will be served.

Vermilion Forks Field Naturalists

Visiting Wolfe Lake in Early May

by Janis Wright, VFFN

Ten Vermilion Forks Field Naturalists were delighted to host 20 birding members of the Langley Field Naturalist Club on an outing to Wolfe Lake, Saturday, May 7th. Led by Tip Anderson, our group was so large we did a head count every half hour!

We began our trek after signing a giant thank-you card to Pat Parsons, who graciously hosted us, in absentia, once again. Then we crossed Wolfe Creek, heading east, and hiked along narrow trails through dense deciduous growth and marshy grasses, all the while listening and watching for birds. We were not disappointed, with a count of 30+ species, including Belted Kingfishers, Buffleheads, a Golden Eagle, a Spotted Sandpiper and a Mew Gull.

We made our way past a beaver lodge, and spotted several turtles basking on a log in the lake. Beyond the bush, we traveled through older coniferous growth and made our way to more open territory as we circled the lake. The visiting naturalists were charmed by the beauty of the area and entertained by the tall tales told by Tip. It was a hot day, and most of us sought shade when we returned to the picnic area after our 7 kilometre trek.

Despite the 32 degree weather, we roasted a few wieners over a campfire! It was lovely to relax and mingle with our very amiable guests. These visiting birders were in Princeton for the weekend, and were shown other 'hot' birding spots by Cathy and Ed Lahaie, our own local experts. We hope to meet with our new friends again soon!

Our next field trip will be a 6-hour hike to Sheep Station on May 21st, led by John Henry. Please phone 250-295-7154 to confirm participation and meet at Billy's Restaurant at 9:00 AM with food and drink. Our next meeting will be held Tuesday, June 8th, 7:00 PM at Riverside Centre, when Wendy Hawkes, of the Lower Similkameen Indian Band will be our guest speaker.

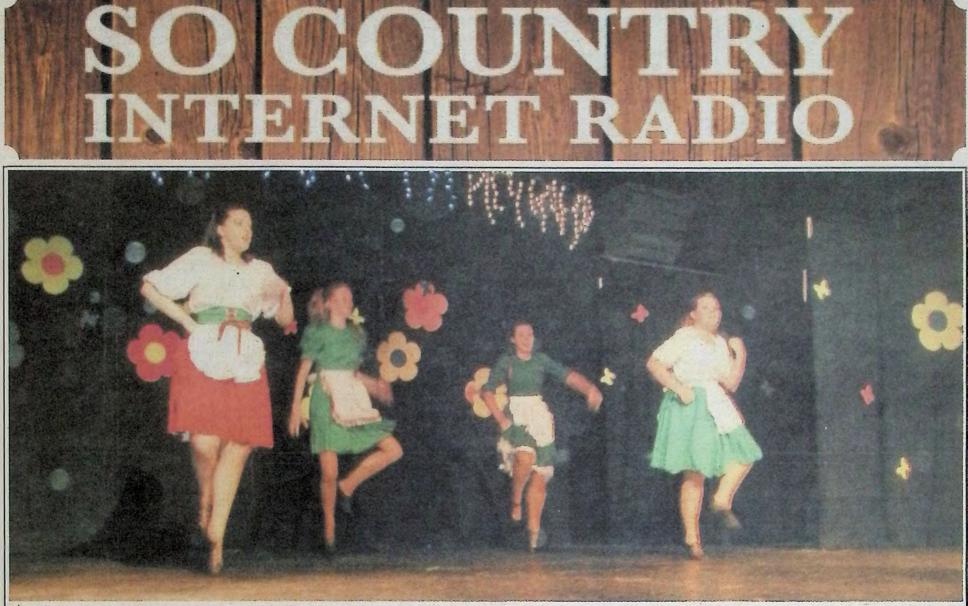

Please join us for field trips and/or meetings and check our website at www.vffn.ca for all information regarding our club.

Saving Downtown Princeton...

...An Ongoing Series by George Elliott

Two key pieces of the puzzle fell into place last week.

I'm talking about the puzzle that will eventually solve the economic woes of the Town of Princeton. The move of the caboose to a highly visible location along the Trans-Canada Trail suddenly makes the promises made by Town Council seem a bit more real. Let's face it, they had to do something to show they are serious about the plans they have for our community.

The other puzzle piece was the opening of the new Upper Similkameen Community Market.

From what I have heard from more than one of my.contacts involved in that project, the quick turnaround caught many by surprise - including members of Town Council. Regardless of who said what to whom, we should be embracing these changes because, for a change, nobody is saying that something can't be done "because we've always done it this way."

So why do I think these are important parts of a bigger puzzle?

First off, the moving of the caboose makes way for the giant information sign that will sit on Highway 3 at the foot of Bridge Street. It will have a lot to do with traffic flow into the downtown core. I don't care how big it is, the politics surrounding the deal or anything else related to the sign. I know it will work.

I do think you will find some signage bylaws will suddenly change or get amended to accommodate the 3-storey, bright, flashing structure. I say this simply because if you venture downtown late in the evening you will discover little in the way of bright, flashing lights due to outdated signage bylaws.

The Town of Princeton has expressed more than once a willingness to be flexible when it comes to some bylaws. I heard this with my own ears during numerous meetings between town representatives and business owners/operators at Riverside that ended once recommendations were shared with our elected officials.

Secondly, as for the new market, it was no surprise to me whatsoever that 'band land' became the new home of the weekly activity. It could have been downtown providing a magnet to the retail core, but parking was probably the main issue. Regardless of whether or not you agree with me that these two changes are going to be beneficial to our community, at least something is happening. As for the hinted-at wellness aquatic centre, I think we all need to take a giant step backwards and look at Princeton from the eyes of someone who has never been here before. Do you find it attractive? Sure, the downtown core is looking better and there are some really, really nice features to our town. Would that be enough to make you suddenly move here?

I have stressed before the need for upgraded infrastructure to attract and retain population. It's more than sewers and water. It's a whole lot of things that define the character of our community. I'm not in the least bit worried about how an aquatic centre, if that is the overall goal to fill the former Overwaitea Foods property, is going to be built in Princeton. Building it is the easy part. Funding will be available and now taxpayers will not have to foot the bill on buying the property for such a venture.

Lower Similkameen artist shows work

Lower Similkameen Valley photographer Cecelia Louis-Ralston is showing some of her work this month. The show, "From Where I Stand" is in the Kelowna Rotary Centre for the Arts and runs to the end of May.

Cecelia was raised in the breathtaking Similkameen Valley until she left her community in her early twenties to pursue a degree in Fashion Design. During her time away from her home she worked in various jobs and industries that sparked her artistic passions but it was not until she returned home in 2009 and was inspired by a third generation photographer, William Pitcher that she was finally able to give voice to her inner visions through photography

In her words, "My re-emergence into my culture has been profound. I have learned the words of Sylix greeting and have had the honor of spending time with our elders. It is my role to create a photographic history which others will someday look upon as a record of the continuance of our culture and existence."

She is a featured artist in the Ullus Collective "Showing Our Art Work," and has shown her photographs in various locations around the Similkameen Valley and Penticton.

Her latest exhibit, "From Where I Stand," is being shown in the Great West Life Mezzanine Exhibition at the Rotary Centre for the Arts in Kelowna, and is dedicated to her Grandmother, Harriet Jameson and Elder Charlie Horse Squakin who inspired her to travel and experience the world, but to never forget home. It would be very easy to dwell on the darker parts of her First Nations existence; poverty, colonization and lateral violence. Cecelia seeks to live in the light by being a survivor, not a victim and shining that light on those she works with. She seeks to find the truth and individual beauty in every image, be it a subject's humanity or the power of a unique landscape.

Her philosophy - "Seize a moment in time and immortalize it for eternity."

Keremeos - Cawston - Olalla

A motor vehicle accident on Highway 3A at Olalla May 12th was followed by another one about 5-kilometres away the following day. Drivers are reminded to observe and follow posted speed limits. If you witness anyone driving erratically you are advised to record a licence plate number, details on the type and colour of the vehicle and to notify RCMP. Photo: Robert Wilson

RCMP report that on May 12th at 12:47 PM a westbound 2003 Corvette was travelling through Olalla on Highway 3A when an eastbound 2010 Pontiac G3 turned left in front of it. The front drivers sides of both vehicles collided as a result. According to Sgt. Harold Hallett of South Okanagan Traffic Services, "The 56 year old female driver of the Pontiac sustained moderate injuries and was transported to Penticton Hospital by ambulance. She is a resident of Hedley."

The 40 year old female passenger of the Corvette sustained moderate injuries and was transported by ambulance to Penticton Hospital. "The 60 year old male driver of the injuries and was airlifted to Kelowna General Hospital. He is in critical condition. Both occupants of the Corvette are residents of Osoyoos," adds Sgt. Hallett.

A Collision Reconstructionist from Kelowna attended the scene as well as South Okanagan Traffic Services and Keremeos Detachment.

Sgt. Hallett requests that anyone who witnessed the incident call South Okanagan Traffic Services at 250-499-2250.

Another accident took place 5-kilometres away the following afternoon. Motorists are advised to obey posted speed signs and traffic signals.

 open after it has been built and the novelty wears off. Our mortgage is paid off in two years. Possibly that'll be our cue to leave Princeton for someplace with better medical services and activities to keep us occupied. Those are infrastructure items as well and it is those kinds of things that add to what makes a community attractive. I don't fault our current Town Council for trying to make Princeton a better place to live. The sad thing is that the time bomb is ticking and more and more residents are running away to not get hit by any of the shrapnel.

Some are setting up roadblocks and hurdles to make it more difficult for these changes to take place. I know I'm tired of waiting for progress but that's the funny thing about progress - it takes time. How does this save downtown Princeton?

and take things a step at a time with anything related to infrastructure. That being said, it also doesn't hurt to try to see things in a positive light. Will a pool improve the town? Possibly. Will a pool increase the population? Possibly. Will a pool save Princeton? Possibly. No one really knows and sometimes we just have to step out into the unknown in order to push for change. I'm not convinced a pool is the answer but I do admit that it is most certainly part of the solution. With that in mind, I support the notion that a wellness/aquatic centre isn't going to kill the community. How much it'll help us is anybody's guess.

Local author finds clarity

As if he isn't already busy enough running one of the few remaining independent weekly newspapers in British Columbia, Princeton's George Elliott has written and published another book.

This is his fourth eBook and his most ambitious to date. Titled "Clarity: 365 Ways to Find Focus" this eBook is a year long collection of daily devotional readings.

Written over the span of six weeks in March and April of this year, the eBook has been available at Amazon for a month. It costs $8.88 US/$9.99 CAN and contains over 700 pages.

Elliott says he wrote the volume as a way to inspire and encourage others who may be dealing with different kinds of personal challenges. The eBook is built around many personal experiences of Elliott's that he uses to teach a simple and understandable lesson from.
